We, your staff, wish to extend our heartiest congratulations to you on the occasion of your Golden Anniversary in the shoe business. We are honored by being associated with you and we know you will not have a better boss. You are one who is always most kind and considerate, ready to give praise for work well done and yet ever understanding of our errors and shortcomings. The keenness of your judgment, your foresight, your guidance, as friendship and as a quality which we would truly obtain. You are to us a true example of a Christian Gentleman and we have learned much and profited by your close association. Your personality is your life. When we say we love you, Mr. Leslie, we say so with full meaning from the bottom of our hearts.

Mrs. Leslie, you are a lady of the same high ideals as your husband and your love and sympathy have played an important part in his success. Together you set a perfect example of the way a husband and wife should work and live in the partnership of life.

Humbly endeavoring to show to you both our high regard and as a memento of this great occasion, we present to you, Mr. Leslie, a gold shoe cuff link and to you, Mrs. Leslie, a similar gold shoe on a necklace. These gold shoes are a perfect pair just as you, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie are the perfect photo for Anniversary Today. With our sincere wish that God may Bless you both and grant you many more years of husband happiness.

Yours faithfully and affectionately

Former Employees of Leslie's

The following is a list of some of the former staff members who worked for Mr. William Leslie at his present location at 255 Front St., Belleville.

Mrs. George Watkin (nee Annie Fargey): Miss Fargey was one of first members of Mr. Leslie's staff. She was an experienced saleslady and was a great help to Mr. Leslie in those first difficult years. She now resides at 29 Cedar St., Belleville.

Arthur Hall: Mr. Hall was the first full time male employee on Mr. Leslie's staff. He played a big part in getting Mr. Leslie's business off to a good start. He is now conducting a general store business at Latta, Ont.

Mrs. Rose McNary (nee Lena Baker): Miss Bates was also one of the early employees. She was a member of the staff for several years, and was always very faithful and conscientious. She is now living at Avondale on the Trenton Road.

Miss Clara Youker: Miss Youker was a member of Mr. Leslie's staff for many years. She was a very capable saleslady, and had a host of friends in the city as well as in the village of Foxboro, which was her home town at the time. She is now living retired at Campbellford, Ont.

Allan Lennox: Allan started to work for Mr. Leslie the first day that the store opened. He was then only a small boy attending public school, but worked after school and Saturday until he graduated from High School. He then joined the staff as a full time salesman. Several years later he resigned to accept the manager-ship of Belleville branch of the Neighborhood Shoe Store. He is now living at 80 Highland Ave., and is the manager of Nelli's Shoe Store located at 214 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Leslie Lennox: Leslie also came to Mr. Leslie when he was a young boy still attending public school. He was on the staff working part time through public and high schools. After graduating he spent a year studying music in England, France and Germany. He is now living at 139 Bleecker Ave and is an accountant at Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corp.

Raymond Lennox: Raymond, like his brothers Allan and Leslie received his early business training from Mr. Leslie, also like his brothers he was a very fine boy, capable and willing and most congenial. He is now living at 156 William St., and is an accountant at Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corp.

Leslie Anderson: Leslie is Mr. Leslie's sister's (Gertrude) son from Manitoba. He came east several years ago and worked for Mr. Leslie for a short time after which he returned to Manitoba and now is a successful farmer near Carroll, Man.

Dr. Maurice Moore: Maurice worked for Mr. Leslie part time while attending Albert College. He later graduated from Queen's University in medicine. Later he accepted a position as administrator of William Backus Hospital at Norwich, Conn. He was a Major in the United States Army in World War 2.

Donald Wannamaker: Don worked part time for Mr. Leslie while attending the Belleville Collegiate. After graduating he was employed for a short time as full time salesman. He enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force and saw plenty of action over Germany and elsewhere. He came through the war unharmed.

Donald Williams: Don was a part time employee while attending Belleville Collegiate after which he became an employee of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Belleville. He lives at Cannifton.

Colin Cameron: Colin worked for Mr. Leslie for several years attending Collegiate, coming in after school, Saturday and holidays. He is now a student at the Belleville Collegiate and lives at 161 Albert Street.

Howard Hart: Howard worked part time at the store while attending the Belleville Collegiate. He lives with his mother at 341 Bleecker Ave., and is a student at the Belleville Collegiate.

Bud Bailey. Bud also worked for Mr. Leslie part time while attending the Belleville Collegiate. He is now living at Lindsay, Ont., with his wife and daughter and is an employee of the Canadian National Railway.

Glen Tripp: Glen was a full time salesman for Mr. Leslie for some time. He came from Bloomfield, Ont. He is now living at Brighton, Ont., and is an employee of the Canada Bread Co. Ltd.

George Dalnard: George came from Stirling, Ont., and was a full time salesman. He is now living at Hamilton.

Albert Hillman: Albert came from Prince Edward County and was employed by Mr. Leslie as a full time salesman for some time. He used to drive to work from his home in the county. He is now living at Kingston, Ont., and is an employee of the Aluminum Co. of that city.

Reginald Brockhurst: Reg was a Belleville boy and worked as a full time salesman. He was also very interested in music and had his own band for several years. He is now living retired, at 36 Hillside St.

Father Thomas Larkin: Tom worked for Mr. Leslie as a full time salesman. He later decided to go to university and now is curate at Brockville, Ont. He is a son of Mr. Henry Larkin and the late Mrs. Larkins of Plainfield, Ont.

Donald Sopic: Don worked part time while attending the Belleville Collegiate. He is now with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed at Ottawa, Ont.

Dr. James Allison: Jim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Allison, Herchimer Ave., and was associated with Mr. Leslie for several years working part time while attending Collegiate. He is now practising medicine at North Bay, Ont.

Dr. Lloyd Downey: Lloyd is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Downey, 248 Charles St. He also worked for Mr. Leslie after school, Saturdays and holidays while attending Collegiate. He later attended university and graduated in dentistry and is now practising at Kingston, Ont.

Mrs. Mae White: Mae was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkinson of 273 Charles Street. She is now married to Lional White and lives at 139 George Street. She worked for Mr. Leslie as saleslady during the war years.

Mrs. Betty Parham: Betty was also a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkinson, 275 Charles Street. She worked for Mr. Leslie while her husband was in the Royal Canadian Air Force. She is now living at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Miss Ida Kleinsteiber: Ida was employed as a saleslady for some time and is now living at Peterborough, Ont.

Mrs. Doris Oram: Doris is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lough of Prince Edward County. She is now married to Elgin Oram and lives on MacDonald Ave., Belleville. She was employed as a full time saleslady at one time, and come back several times later to help Mr. Leslie when she was needed.

Mrs. Ethel Shepperd (nee Ethel Turner): Ethel came to Mr. Leslie as an experienced shoe saleslady. She having many years' experience working at Helens Shoe Store, here. She is now married to Mr. William Shepperd and lives at 237 Charles Street. She is a sister of Mr. Robert Turner, manager of the Lincoln Shoe Store at Belleville.

Miss Ruth Twining: Ruth was an experienced saleslady having many years' experience in selling different types of merchandise in Belleville. She was employed by Mr. Leslie for a long time and was a valuable member of the staff. She is now living at 410 Bleecker Ave., and is a member of the office staff at the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corp.

Mr. Perry Everett: Perry worked for Mr. Leslie part time while attending the Belleville Collegiate and on graduating became a permanent member of the staff. He is a brother of Mrs. Bryson Leslie. He and Bryson enlisted in the Canadian army on the same day. Their both leaving at the same time left a gap in the staff that was hard to fill. After being overseas for about a year Perry returned to Canada to take an officer's training course at Brockville. Before returning overseas he was married to a very charming Point Anne girl, Miss Donalda Long. After the end of hostilities, and Perry received his discharge from the army, he become associated with the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada. His office is located at 249½ Front Street. He resides at Point Anne and has two children, Peter and Cheryl.

Mrs. Jean Murray – (nee Jean McMeachan): Jean is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McMeachan of Melrose, Ont. She held a due position on the staff as she was stenographer and saleslady. She was very proficient in all her duties. She was married last August to Mr. Lloyd Murray and is now living at Merriton, Ont.

George Olsson: George was on the staff as a full time salesman. He was a Belleville boy and had a large following for everybody knew and liked him. He lived with his cousin, Miss Helen Blair, 298 Foster Ave. After his discharge from the Canadian Army he received a position with the Dominion Government and is living at Ottawa, Ont.

Mr. Robert Mathews: Bob worked for Mr. Leslie part time while attending the Belleville Collegiate and after graduating he joined the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and is living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Mathews, Pine St., Belleville.

Mrs. Margaret Trousdale (nee Margaret Leslie): Margaret was not only a member of the staff for several years but also a member of the Leslie family as she is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leslie. Margaret graduated from Queen's University in 1940 with her Bachelor of Arts degree. Just at that time it was almost impossible to get sufficient help at the store to carry on with, so Margaret instead of taking up a profession acted as saleslady and assisted with the book work for about three years. In 1943 she was married to Mr. Noble Trousdale of Sydenham, Ont., and they now have two lovely children, Elaine and Peter.

Mr. Donald Vandervoort: Don worked for Mr. Leslie for a comparatively short time several years ago. He was then living with his parents on the Kingston Road. He is now living in Oshawa, Ont.

The Late Douglas Moore: Doug worked on the staff when Mr. Leslie first started in business, chiefly as part time employee as he had other business that occupied most of his time. Doug and Mr. Leslie were close personal friends, they having worked together for years at Vermilyea's Shoe Store. Doug would always manage to arrange his affairs so as to help Mr. Leslie at rush seasons. In the summer of 1948 Douglas died after a short illness. Mr. Leslie as well as a host of other people felt that they had lost a true friend. His widow and family are living at Rossmore, Ont.

Mr. Douglas MacDonald: Douglas was on the staff for sometime as a salesman. He was a good salesman and had a host of friends. He had a long and honorable war record, and was seriously wounded overseas. He is now associated with the Richard and Ryan Construction Co., and is living on Herchimer Ave.

Mr. Jack Mills: Jack was a full time member of the staff for sometime prior to joining His Majesty's services in World War 2. Jack was a good salesman and had a large following as he was a Belleville boy and well liked by everybody. He had a long and honorable war record. He is now an employee of the Dominion Government (postal department) and is stationed at Belleville. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mills, 18 Chatham St.

ON YOUR
50th ANNIVERSARY
IN THE RETAIL SHOE BUSINESS

It is probable that retail merchant contacts a greater variety of personalities than persons engaged in any other line of business. All people are consumers and, therefore, all patronize retail outlets.

To have been engaged in the retail business for half a century, particularly in the shoe business, which requires individual attention to each customer's foot problem, and to have earned the goodwill of your patrons, is a record of which you should be, and no doubt are, very proud.

As the manufacturers of the largest range of Foot Comfort Appliances and Remedies, our Company has always appreciated your efforts in making the public foot conscious in a big way. You have been a factor in the facts of foot economy becoming better understood and appreciated. Your co-operation in enlightening public opinion, among other things, is resulting in a Dr. Scholl's Arch Supports and Foottremendously increasing demand for Aids.

We hope that the people of Belleville will have the opportunity of continuing to be serviced by you and your staff for many years, whether it be FFoot Aids or Footwear.

Highly - Trained Staff Employed by Leslie's Shoe Store

Members Have Been Well Coached by Proprietor

Every proprietor and manager is aware that he cannot efficiently operate a business without a good staff and Mr. Leslie has always had just that. This has been achieved as a result of the expert teaching and guidance he has given them

Patience is personified in him and kind understanding is displayed when a sales person makes a mistake.

His present staff consists of:

Mrs. Emily Murray: A saleslady of several years' experience who is a good shoe fitter and has a pleasant way with customers. She has a big group of friends and is a much requested clerk by Leslie's customers. Mrs. Murray has three daughters and one son, Patricia working in Toronto, Geraldine, Joanne, Ray are still at home.

Vera Gilmour: The newest member of the staff who joined the sales group last July after part time employment at Walker Hardware. She fills two positions as stenographer and sales lady. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmour of 3rd Concession of Thurlow.

Arthur Hill: An employee who has been with Mr. Leslie since 1921 and is considered one of the best experts in shoe fitting in the country. He has a tremendous following and does a great deal of orthopedic work. He also is the store bookkeeper which is no small job in itself. Art and his wife Margaret have one son Jimmy attending Queen Alexandra School.

Hilton (Mac) McBurney: Next to Mr. Leslie, "Mac" as he is known to everyone, has the most years experience in the shoe business behind him. He came to Mr. Leslie's store in May 1946 after long service with the Canadian Department Stores for whom he was a shoe department manager for many years. He too is another expert and an exceptionally hard worker. Mr. and Mrs. McBurney have one grandson, Charles, by their daughter Marjorie, Mrs. Wesley Dew of Maple, Ontario, and one son, Allan, a scholarship student at Queen's University.

William Gilbert: While attending school Bill worked for some time after school and Saturday until May, 1945, when he became a permanent salesman on the staff. He is an ambitious worker and has a big job to do as the stockman as well as salesman. Bill is a popular young man with a large number of friends especially among the younger class in Belleville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gilbert, Sr., Everett St.

William White: A commercial student at B.C.I.V.S., Bill works after school, Saturday and holidays and is always willing to perform the many duties which fall his way. Although he is comparatively new in the business, Bill is showing good talent as a salesman. He lives at home with his parents on Dufferin Avenue.

Donald Leslie: The youngest member of the Leslie family worked after school and Saturdays when a student and on completing his course at O.B.C. last spring, Don came in the business. He is a keen young man who conducts his business responsibilities ably, and in addition to his other work, he does all the display and advertising work. He already has a sound knowledge of shoe fitting, a business which he likes very much. Don lives at home with his parents.

Bryson Leslie: Like his brother, Bryson worked after school, completed O.B.C. and began working permanently in the summer of 1938. He spent five years in the Canadian Army, four of them overseas. In action he was a lieutenant in the Armoured Corps Regiment, the Governor-General's Foot Guards. He, too, is a well trained shoe fitter and does a great deal of orthopedic work. With his brother, Don, Bryson co-manages the business carrying out the policies of their father while he is confined to his home. Bryson and his wife Ardith have two children, Billy and Joan.

Mishap in Barber Shop Gave Mr. Leslie Chance To Work in Shoe Store

give good service to his good customer, gave Will a glance meaning, "what's the matter? . having trouble?"

Will gave the chair a pull which lowered the back all right but all but threw Mr. Vermilyea from the chair.

Apparently it was this little incident which drew Mr. Vermilyea's attention to Will and on several occasions later the shoe man mentioned to Mr. Skinner that he would like to have a young man like Will Leslie in his shoe store. Mr. Skinner told Will one day Mr. Vermilyea would like to hire him and Will was pleased but he told his boss he felt obliged to stay with him at least a little longer.

Would Not Listen

Mr. Skinner would not listen to this and told him if he didn't like the shoe business he could always return to the barbershop. Mr. Skinner even offered to return the thirty dollars which Will wouldn't accept.

When Mr. Leslie approached Mr. Vermilyea about the job, the latter replied he would like to hire him but the salary wasn't so good. Will said he wasn't interested in the starting salary as long as he would be given a chance for advancement. Mr. Vermilyea agreed he certainly would give him a chance. Will started as a full time junior salesman at two dollars per week on March 17th, 1900.

From the first day, Mr. Leslie liked the shoe business and he made up his mind to learn the business thoroughly. He early realized that with Mr. Sid Vermilyea he had a good chance to advance providing he worked hard and proved his ability. This was his opportunity.

Always Kept Busy

He made himself busy learning the stock, becoming acquainted with the different styles, sizes and makes and learning the art of salesmanship. He always kept an eye open for a job that needed to be done—perhaps dusting boxes or opening shipments—as soon as he had a spare minute. So he kept himself busy all the time and it was quite noticeable to his employer he was doing a good job.

It came natural to him to know how to meet people in a friendly manner and he was always anxious to make a new friend. He was interested in each and every customer and he made a point of remembering new names and faces.

His growing knowledge of the business, his ability to give the best in service and his friendly, pleasing manner were the reasons responsible for his growing popularity and as time progressed more and more people were asking to have Will Leslie serve them.

Started as Traveller

Vermilyea and Son Shoe Store were jobbers as well as retailers and three or four of the staff spent part time travelling. Mr. Vermilyea decided Mr. Leslie would do well on the road as well as in the store so he began travelling in this district. Many a story he can tell of his experiences travelling, especially in the winter in the Bancroft and Maynooth district. This was cold hard work but he enjoyed it very much. Even now he looks forward to his two trips each year to see his general store customers in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties.

Operating a wholesale and retail business, Vermilyea's carried a large stock and their store was in the present location of Tamblyn Drug Store with warehouses here and there. For many years they had a warehouse on Campbell Street where Brown's Shoe Repairing Towncrier Report Shop and Templer's Flower Shop are now located. They also had one on Pinnacle Street.

Few Idle Moments

Opening shipments, marking them, putting the merchandise in stock—all shoes weren't boxed as they are now, but came in bulk —filling out wholesale orders and shipping them necessitated a lot of hard work. This work was done by the travellers and other members of the staff.

A considerable amount of shipments came via boat to the local dock and were carted in horse drawn wagons to the warehouse. Most shipments were packed in wooden boxes which made heavy handling.

To mention only a few of the sales staff who worked at Vermilyea's during Mr. Leslie's stay (March 1900-June 1919) were: George VanTassel (Arthur Hill's father-in-law), Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. Geo. Walsh, Albert Reid, Will Nesbitt and Edgar Vermilyea who returned to the business on coming home from World War I.

September 1918, William Leslie married Bertha Donaldson, only daughter of James Donaldson, who lived at home on the second concession of Thurlow. They took up residence on College Hill near where Mr. Leslie's parents were now living retired.

During his twenty years employment with Mr. Vermilyea, Mr. Leslie kept advancing continuously and he never once asked for a raise in salary. He was manager of the retail store for the last eight years he was with Vermilyea and Son Shoe Store. Mr. Vermilyea certainly kept his word in advancing Mr. Leslie and the latter proved his ability. His boss was an efficient shoe man and the excellent training which William Leslie received proved a great asset when he went in business for himself.

This is a brief outline of Mr. Leslie's history to the time he opened his own business. The story from here is told on page 15.

Large Number of Suppliers Extend Congratulations

The reader of this special golden anniversary section cannot help but be impressed by the large number of Mr. Leslie's suppliers who have extended their congratulations on these pages. They represent the leading shoe manufacturers and wholesalers in Canada and it is obvious that the relationship between these suppliers and retailer is much more than a business one.

Mr. Leslie enjoys a high reputation with them and he has just as high regard for those who supply him with the type of merchandise he so proudly carries.

A few of the manufacturers whose names are not shown have extended their regrets in not being able to put an ad in this issue owing to their policy of national advertising only and these have extended their congratulations in the form of personal gifts, flowers and letters.

Acknowledgment

The editor of the Ontario Intelligencer wishes to give credit to the Hugh MacLean Publications' magazine Shoe and Leather Journal for articles appearing in this special section. The articles are "History of Leather Making Dates Back to Earliest Days of Man's Civilization"; "Manufacturing Methods Have Changed in Recent Years" and "Development of Rubber Footwear Has Shown Great Changes in Past 50 Years."

DRY WET SHOES CAREFULLY

Fine shoes are not made to stand being wet but if dried under normal heat will stand it better than dried by a stove or radiator.

PROPER DRESSING FOR SHOES

Shoes look better longer when polished with the correct color and type of dressing so when buying a pair of shoes, pay the extra few cents for the proper dressing.

USE A SHOE HORN

The shoe horn is meant to be used for oils shoes as well as new ones—it prevents the counters from breaking down and the counters play a big part in the fit and appearance of the shoe.

KEEP SHOES REPAIRED

When you notice your heels are worn down slightly—perhaps an eighth of an inch—do you realize how much out of line your body is thrown from the knee up? Keep your shoes properly repaired.

METATARSAL PAD

Callouses don't grow without a reason—they are nature's protection and signal of weakness in the metatarsal arch. Have shoes properly fitted with the correct size of metatarsal pad.

BABY AND INFANT BOOTS

There is a big difference between baby and infants' boots. Baby boots should have a firm but flexible sole and worn from the time the baby starts to stand until walking alone. Then is the time to put infants' boots on the feet because they are made with hard soles which are necessary for comfort and support to the little feet.

WIDTHS MODERN IDEA

A variety of widths in shoe fitting is really a modern idea. Until early in this century shoes were made in one width only and now they are made from 5A's to EE's.

BEST SHOES MOST EXPENSIVE

To insure children's feet are fitted long enough to allow for growth and at the same time get full value from the shoes, be sure there is as much room between the end of the toes and the end of the shoe as the width of your thumb.

MEN STYLE CONSCIOUS

It used to be just the women who were style conscious about footwear. But not so today — the "Bold Look" in men's shoes doesn't have to take a back seat to the "New Look" for women.

Better Shoes and Proper Fitting Important for Children's Health

Johnny and Mary are important to their little folk in today's shoe picture. Retailers, conscious of the importance to children's health of wearing correct shoes, properly fitted, offer a specialized service, and parents are welcoming and supporting it.

For a healthier and more efficient nation, it is recognized more and more that foot health should begin in school, and so important is the correct fitting of shoes, that in the United States, Massachusetts, California and Rhode Island have recently passed laws making medical examinations of school children's feet compulsory.

Stresses Correct Measurement

When it is considered that chiropodists agree that badly fitted shoes cause more pain than all of man's diseases combined, the need for such education is readily seen. Besides correct shoes, should be emphasized proper fit—measurement of both feet for length and width, allowing from one-half to three-quarters of an inch from the end of the longest toe to the end of the shoe; remeasurement of feet at regular short intervals.

Pediatrists agree that regardless of the shoes children wear for outside activities, both boys and girls should wear oxfords to school. They hold instep and arch of foot together and give firm support to growing feet. Shoes too long are just as bad as shoes too short, and while it may seem like economy for Mary to wear big sister's cast-down shoes, in years to come Mary may find herself suffering from various foot ailments because of this so-called economy. "Shoes are perfect mates, but feet rarely are," which is one of the reasons why both feet should always be measured, and the size of the largest foot chosen.

Many Defective Feet

Figures are not available for Canada, but in the United States, a recent survey showed that 75 per cent of school children have defective feet; that 90 per cent of the defects are incurred by the age of 10, and 80 per cent by high school age; that the care of the eyes and teeth are emphasized while the care of the feet was formerly ignored. It is safe to say that Canada's percentage would not be much lower, in proportion to population.

The important aspect of the 1940 styles in children's shoes lies in their trend to style, and the fact that the fitting qualities and healthful features have not been sacrificed. The new shoes, though beautifully styled are made on lasts that conform to the needs of the growing foot. So important is this question of lasts for the growing foot, that Canadian manufac-

History of Leather Making Dates Back To Earliest Days of Man's Civilization

Ancient Methods of Tanning Used Until Last Century

An often quoted and generally recognized truism "There is nothing like leather" represents about the total knowledge possessed by the average person about a commodity which was quite certainly one of man's earliest manufacturers—and may have even been his first. This material has probably a wider and more valued range of utility than any other, and it contributes daily more to man's comfort and pleasure than materials about which we know so much more.

The use of leather is spread over many separate and widely different trades. A few of these are footwear, handbags, women's gloves, clothing, waist belts, straps, machinery belting, mechanical leather, saddlery and harness, upholstering, bookbinding, interior decoration, heavy and light luggage, sporting goods and equipment, fancy leather goods, fitted dressing cases, military equipment, etc. What a big variety! And how they differ from each other in appearance and in variety of types and quality!

All Came From Raw Skin

Every one of these is made from the same raw material—raw skin.

While it is true that leather is a manufactured knowledge of man, its basis is a product of nature, of fine structure and beauty.

There is nothing like leather, there never was and, it is fairly safe to say, there never will be.

The history of leather making is a long story of endeavor, craftsman's skill and pride, and scientific achievement. It goes back to the Neolithic and perhaps even back to the Paleolithic times, and one can find evidence of remarkable skill in manipulation at a very early date.

Leather articles were dug up from great depths, which experts believe date back to the Neolithic age. We are sure that at a later date Babylonia was an important centre of leather production, with a well developed technique. Details of processes and names of tanning materials have been found inscribed on clay tablets.

At that time the use of alum, gall nuts and sumac was already known, and there are indications that a type of combination tannage was employed.

It is also known that properly tanned leather was in regular use by the Egyptians, the Central Asiatics, the Chinese, the Greeks, the Romans and others.

Ancient Methods Long Used

The ancient methods employed by those people continued in use for many centuries and probably with little modification; in fact, very little progress was made from primitive times until the latter part of the nineteenth century, which saw the introduction of chrome tanning.

Today modern leather chemistry constitutes a special branch of the science. Indeed the leather industry requires of the chemist a diversity of knowledge which probably transcends the demands of any other industry.

The skins of living creatures from which leather is made are so complex in structure and subject to so many natural variations, and the turning of them into leather by modern method involves chemical processes so intricate in nature that every phase of the operation must be controlled by competent chemists in the laboratories of the tanneries.

The various types of leather mentioned in this article are, of course, manufactured by quite different methods.

Importance of Preparation

Up to this point, we have only referred to tanning which is, of course, the principal operation in leather making. However, the preparation of the skins before tanning, and the fat liquor, dressing and finishing process, after the skins have been tanned, are equally important and must be controlled by scientific methods.

It is quite true that the type of tannage will govern the specific character of the leather. A vegetable tanned leather will, generally speaking, have distinctly different features from any chrome tanned leather, but the quality of the leather is determined largely by the operations which take place before and after the skins have been tanned.

The truth of this is best indicated by the leather expert's hesitancy in giving an opinion without laboratory tests or analysis, when they are asked whether a given sample of leather is tanned with vegetable materials or with caromn, or with a combination of both of these standard agents.

Quality And Tanning

Of course, the characteristic attributes, such as water absorption, tensile strength, stretch, etc., are determined by the type of tanning, yet the appearance and feel of the leather can be made by the preparatory and final operations so similar that only laboratory tests would enable one to pass accurate judgment. There is no doubt the best indication as to the important bearing these preparatory and final operation necessarily have on the quality of leather.

Let us discuss now in more detail the general courses followed when converting skin into leather. As already indicated, there are three main phases which the skins must pass through before they represent a marketable finished material. First, the preparation of raw material for the actual tanning process, which includes the soaking in water or rehydrating of the raw skin, the removal of surface dirt and curing salt, the removal of hair by strong alkaline solution, the elimination of lime after the unhairing process (so-called de-liming) and finally, the bating process, which is purely biological action produced by enzymes which are active products secreted by bacteria.

The Beamhouse Process

During these preparatory operations, which are generally called the Beamhouse process, there are at least four different chemical processes combined with biological actions:

First: soaking in water. How simple it sounds, and yet how intricate it can be. For example, water itself varies in hardness, according to its source, and many carry bacteria which will attack valuable parts of the raw skin. Naturally these factors must be brought under common denominations with the care and advice of a competent chemist. When we consider the effect of the alkaline unhairing solution on the finished leather, the growth of bacteria in these solutions, the various temperatures promoting or preventing such growth, the importance of the place occupied by the scientifically trained chemist in leather making will be understood.

The control of the de-liming of an unknown variable quantity of lime, and the regulation of the bating (a purely biological process) is most complicated and very important.

A wide variety of machines, such as unhairing, scudding, fleshing and splitting machines are replacing today the old hand methods formerly used.

Hides and skins which have been so prepared are not yet leather: wet, they would still be subject to putrefication: dry, they would be stiff, horny and translucent. They must be tanned. The purpose of the tanning process is to bring about chemical changes which will render them water resistant and immune to putrefication, whilst reserving the fibrous structure from which ultimate strength and flexibility are derived.

Methods of Tanning

The usual methods of tanning may be considered under five headings:

1. Vegetable tannage through the agency of water infusions of tannin or tannic acid obtained from certain barks, woods, leaves and nuts(the latter item being called fruits).

2. Mineral tannage with salt of certain minerals, of which the most important are chromium and aluminum.

3. Oil tannage by the use of certain fish oils, of which cod oil is the principal one because it has the power of oxidizing.

4. Aldehyde tanning with formaldehyde or formalin, which is commonly used in the manufacture of glove leather.

5. Combination tannage e. g. mineral vegetable, or two mineral tannages.

The vegetable tannage is used for the bulk of sole leather, belting and harness leather, for bag cases and upholstery leathers, and also for the majority of light leathers for fancy leather work.

Some Agents Used

Generally speaking, vegetable tanned leathers have good substances and are well filled and comparatively free from stretch. There are innumerable varieties of vegetable plants supplying the tanning agent for this tannage. The more important varieties are sumac, chestnut, mirobolan, dividivi, oak-wood, oak-bark, oak-galls (knopperi), valonea, gambier, hemlock, quebracho, mimosa (wattle), mangrove and pine. Most of these materials are imported into Canada in concentrated forms as extracts. Unfortunately, Canada produces only negligible quantities of hemlock and it is the only vegetable tanning material produced in this country. However, the government is fully aware of this very dangerous situation and, in co-operation with the tanning industry experts, is investigating the situation.

Much work has been done to provide synthetic materials for tanning, and from reports received after the war from Germany and other Central European countries, it must be assumed that the efforts in this direction have been very successful.

Processed in Pits

Vegetable tanning is done in pits or in revolving drums. Each process has its merits, but because the pit tannage produces a better quality this method is adopted in almost every sole leather and belting leather tannery in Canada and the United States.

Light leathers such as calf, sheep and goat skins are almost exclusively tanned in the drum.

The first mineral tannage was without question the alum process, which process, as has already been mentioned, was practised in Ancient Egypt and Babylonia as is still in use today. The leather produced with this tannage is snow white, very stretchy and not at all water resistant. No new tannage was established for a thousand years but towards the end of the nineteenth century chrome tanning was introduced.

Chrome Tannage

Chrome tannage is much more rapid than vegetable tannage. The skins are tanned in drums in a chrome salt solution, the strength of the solution being gradually increased during the process. The operation is completed in a few hours.

A relatively small proportion of sole leather is used for tennis shoes and also for logger and safety boots. For the latter purposes hard grease and waxes are added to make the leather firm and waterproof.

The aldehyde tannage is used either in combination with vegetable tannage or alone. The leather produced is washable but is never as mellow as that tanned with alum.

The oil tannage had its origin in the earliest times, and the modern oil tannage may be regarded as a development from the ancient method. Present day oil tanned leathers are produced with the aid of fish and marine animal oil, such as cod-liver oil, seal or whale, with their oxidizing qualities when in contact with air. It is the products of oxidization which are responsible for the tannage. The process is known as "shamorying," from the fact that

No record of his career would be complete or accurate if it did not record his great interest and activity in the church. From the time he was a boy, William Leslie has been a most faithful member and worker.

In his younger days he was a regular attendant at Sunday School and sang in the choir. Until Union, he belonged to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and then he was active in John Street United Church until it burned down. He then transferred his membership to Bridge Street United Church.

An Elder in The Church

For many many years he has been an elder and is also on the Board of Trustees. His interest is not confined to his own particular church but he is always anxious to help any other Christian enterprise. His old home church affiliated by which his father, mother and two brothers are buried is one which he has been assisting for years, especially in the care of the cemetery. He has also done much work for the College Hill Sunday School.

William Leslie is a man who knows and understands the Christian Faith in its simplicity. A man who has always lived a Christian life and he sets a high example to those who are fortunate to know him. He is ever willing to help the other fellow and to practise the Golden Rule.

Shoe fitting in the old days was certainly not the science that it is today and in its present sense, it is relatively modern. Mr. Leslie was one of the pioneers in substituting shoe fitting for shoe selling and his theory is sound but simple. To be successful, a proprietor has not only to keep his old customers but has to make new ones. To keep old customers he must satisfy them—if satisfied they tell others who become new customers—and satisfaction in footwear, so Mr. Leslie early realized, is more than good dollar value and comfort minus no small thing.

He gradually and effectively bought shoes made on better-fitting lasts, shoes made in more than one width and shoes built with better built-in arch support. In earlier days this often presented difficult problems but he was insistent, and if one company couldn't make him the shoes he wanted he found another who could until at the present time he carries most of the best makes of shoes in Canada and is the local sole agent for practically all of these.

Carries Complete Line

For instance, in women's dress shoes practically every style is bought in five and some six widths with sizes ranging to eleven. In corrective footwear the size range he carries is even considerable larger. The story is the same in men's footwear, with sizes running to thirteen and larger for special orders.

He is never satisfied that his shoes are perfect and under his guidance Leslie's are still buying newer and better shoes so that his customers will be properly fitted. He keeps an accurate record file of all Dr. Locke customers and many others. This past month he introduced a record system whereby every child customer who gets a pair of shoes has a card on file with all particulars. This is a great service to the parents who want their children's feet fitted progerly.

Special Fittings

William Leslie has always made a specialty of fitting deformed, pale-maiod or ailing feet and there are hundreds of people walking comfortably today who, if it were not for his ability and patience might certainly not be so fortunate. He spends large sums of money annually on orthopedic supplies which are necessary for proper shoe fitting and these pads are properly fitted to the shoes at no extra charge.

The supplies, of course, are useless—in fact can be harmful—if not fitted to the shoe properly and he has spent many an hour training his staff in this line of the business.

Quality Important

Quality runs a close second to comfort in Mr. Leslie's idea of service and in his own store he refuses to sell a pair of shoes which are not guaranteed by the supplier as far as materials and workmanship are concerned. He insists that his shoes are not only properly made but made of the best materials available for the money.

In the form of recreation, he has been a great horse shoe player and when he was in better health he played a good game. He loves this recreation and has at his home a double court in excellent condition. His neighbors long ago got used to the ringing of the shoes night after night. He has set up many a court for contests at fairs and sports events and his knowledge of the rules and regulations are expert.

A friend will not talk with him long before the subject of horse shoe pitching is introduced to the conversation.

Business Prospered

And so his business grew and grew with the downs as well as the ups, new customers as well as the old ones came to his store in larger numbers, he continued to buy improved merchandise and trained his staff to be experts in shoe fitting until today he is the sole proprietor, of not only one of the largest, but best grade shoe stores in Ontario. He carries at the present time a very large stock which is absolutely necessary to operate his kind of business.

The war years through which we have just passed were trying ones for Mr. Leslie—as they were for many others—Many changes in his staff were caused by younger men joining the services; shoes became scarce, and of an inferior quality; while government controls were in effect.

Heavy Physical Strain

These and other difficulties meant an extra strain on an already over-worked man when he had reached the age to slow down a little and as a result his physical health has not been the same since. His elder son, Bryson, was away in the army and his younger son, Donald, was at school which meant he and his ever faithful Art Hill had the extra burdens to bear. His daughter, Margaret, now Mrs. Noble Trousdale of Sydenham, Ont., helped him out during this period in no small way.

Immediately after the war, Mr. Leslie was forced to ease off in his work due to ill health and since that time he has not been able to do too much physical work at the store, but his interest in his business and customers has never slackened.

Hope For Speedy Recovery

He is still the back bone of the business in its planning and operation and his sound judgment and business ability are its main stays. No other man or men could ever manage the business in the same efficient friendly and unique way that he has for so many years. Although at the present time he is confined to his home due to ill health, his good friends everywhere wish him a speedy recovery so that he will soon again be where he loves to be most—in his store meeting his friends.

History of Leather Making Dates Back To Early Days of Man's Civilization

It was formerly used for chamois leather.

The combination tannage is used for leathers where it is wanted to provide the characteristics of both of the tannages used in the combination. For example, many clothing, glove and shoe upper leathers are produced by combination of vegetable and chrome. In these cases, the vegetable tannage contributes fullness, and the chrome tannage, softness and water resistant.

Some washable glove leather is made by combining aldehyde and oil tannage; other glove leathers and shoe suedes by the combination of alum and chrome.

All the tannages referred to here, although the means may have differed, had one object, that is, to transform hides and skins into leather.

The basic properties of these tanned leathers are very complicated and require great skill. They have a very important influence on the nature of the finished leather. Depending on how they are performed leather may be soft and supple, porous or impermeable to air, waterproof or otherwise, smooth, suede, or with an embossed pattern. During these finishing operations, oils and fat, dyestuffs and pigments are applied to the leather. Finishes which give a bright (sometimes in the case of glace-kid, a glass-like) appearance are put on the surface, while in other cases, by the use of mechanical methods, the grain is buffed off and a velvety surface known as suede is the result.

Some Products Differ

This outline is necessarily only a very general and rough description as to how leather can be made, but it certainly cannot be considered as directions for making it. The main divergencies in conditions of tanneries must be taken into consideration when making leather. In addition, it should always be remembered that hides and skin are living materials susceptible to putrefication.

The many types of raw material, the various methods of curing the skin and other factors will, in most cases, call for adjustments in process. It can safely be said that no two tanneries, even if they are under the same management, that use exactly the same process, and it is also a fact that no two productions of the same kind of leather are alike when made in separate tanneries, even if they are under the same ownership.

Since scientific controls came into general use in the tanneries, much progress has been made towards improved quality everywhere, but taste, and individual opinion plus individual and particular requirements of the trades which use leather for their manufactured goods cause many tanneries to believe that they are producing the best type of merchandise. Opinions may differ, but whoever is working with leather and is aware of its properties will always agree that "there is nothing like leather."

Great Technical Advances

The history of leather making is a heroic story, indeed. For thousands and thousands of years it was the individual man who had to find new ways and methods; his skill, his art and his experiences were the sources of continuing developments, and it must be admitted that much has been achieved. However, it is only during the last hundred years, when real scientific progress and tremendous technical advances have been made and changed our lives and our whole aspect towards life that tanning became a science and leather making an industry.

For many thousands of years there was a stagnation in the development of most trades which had their origin as far back as the early times of primitive man. For example, agriculture, the earliest industry, made very slow progress which was based only on the more or less reliable experiences of the individual working the land or raising domestic animals. Only since the science, of chemistry and the making of machinery have been developed has the growing of agricultural products become a real industry. Even today, in far distant countries such as India and China, where science and technique have not yet penetrated, the very methods of the primitive man are employed in agriculture.

Similarly, the last hundred years has seen the change in tanning, and if mankind is granted peace and harmony for the next hundred years, the developments in the leather industry will pass the bounds of our present imagination. In all such developments, the Canadian tanning industry, well equipped and progressive as it is, can be counted on to play an important part.

GOOD EYE MEASUREMENT

If you think a half a size larger shoe looks much longer, you possess a good eye for measurement because the overall difference from heel to toe is approximately three-sixteenths inch. In other words a size eight is only three quarters inch longer than size six. The approximate difference in one width is about three sixteenth inch.

COMFORT AND STYLE

Too many people have a closet full of "Sitting Down" shoes. However it is necessary to have shoes which will get you home, too. Better shoes, properly fitted, can give comfort as well as style.

Unless the same last and make of shoe is worn the correct fitting is definitely not the same size in every shoe. The variation may be up or down as much as a full size and may be as proportionately narrower or wider. An expert—and only an expert—shoe fitter knows what size is required in each different shoe.

RUBBERS PROTECT HEALTH

Rubbers are a nuisance but they protect more than your footwear—your health.

The cheapest shoes today are the better ones and the most expensive shoes are the cheap ones—in the long run.

PREVENT BUNIONS

Bunions can be cured only by surgery but can be prevented by properly-fitted shoes.

NINE PLACES BURN IN $1,500,000 ROUYN FIRE

Hundred Persons Homeless But No Deaths Reported

All Forced to Flee Homes In Their Night Attire

Rouyn, Que., March 17 (CP)—preliminary estimates of loss in a fire which wiped out block of busy business establishments and made 100 persons homeless were fixed today at $1,500,000 as firemen poured water on the ruins of a substantial part of the city's commercial district.

A few hours after the worst fire in the history of this northwest Quebec mining town had swept four-business buildings and five dwellings, a pall of black smoke hung in the still below-zero air.

No casualties were reported after the blaze but a 72-year-old woman, Mrs. Dionne, was taken to hospital suffering from shock. Bedridden, she had to be carried out of her home. In Rouyn's last big fire here, Mr. Albert's hotel was destroyed with heavy loss of life.

Only a concrete fire wall prevented the flames from destroying the whole of one side of Main Street, Firemen called from neighboring Noranda helped Rouyn firefighters and volunteers. One time 50 men were working on the fire, dozens more as spectators.

The four two and three storey brick-fronted buildings housed the style shop, Betty's dress shop, Steadman's chain department store, Dubois billiard parlor and bowling alleys, Jean Poznier's jewelry store, the Home Grill, Miller's Department store, Eddie Rice's bowling alleys and Miller's men's clothing store.

The 100 persons who escaped in their night clothes, lived in 18 apartments above the stores and in five rooms behind the business block on Aberdeen Road.

They were given shelter by friends and in nearby hotels.

Police Chief Emile Dussault said shortly after fire started the patrols heard an explosion in one of the buildings owned by Mrs. A. O. Dubois. The cause of origin of the flames to spread out of control is holding an inquiry. Chief Dussault said.

The police patrols moved ahead of the flames arousing the sleeping occupants of the apartments.

Equal Division Of Night and Day For St. Patrick's

Toronto, March 17. (CP)—The weatherman chalked one up for St. Patrick today.

He said there will be day and night according to the sun occurs only twice a year, but it will happen exactly at 6:36 a.m. at 6:36 a.m. E.S.T., and will set at 6:36 p.m. E.S.T. tonight.

Most observers guess the Communists will not try river crossings until early April each month, probably the latter part.

LOOK FOR FOREST FIRES

Toronto, March 17 (CP) — A high forest fire hazard can be anticipated this year because on light snowfall, officials said. The average 18 inches of snow now covering Sudbury district will be insufficient to provide a good storage of moisture in the soil.

N. WALES SHAKEN BY EARTH TREMOR

Sydney, Australia, March 17 (AP)—A severe earthquake shook parts of New South Wales Wednesday night. The quake was not as violent as one experienced last Friday, but cracks in some buildings, started last week, were widened.

Country Folk Flock to Church As Story Spreads World is Ending

Frankfurt, Germany, March 17. (AP)— A minor panic gripped backward rural areas of Western Germany today over rumors of the 'end of the world'.

The rumors that today is the last day of mankind have been growing throughout Germany for the past week. They have been based upon a publicized prediction of an astrologer whom nobody can identify.

Most city dwellers went gaily about their work but reports from Bavaria said superstitious country folk were flocking to churches and making their wills.

In the Bayrische Wald (Bavarian Woodland), a furious blizzard Wednesday night cut electric power cables and caused considerable excitement, reports from Passau said.

The reports said altars were put up in homes and churches were crammed with people who prayed for hours and refused to be calmed by priests.

The official weather station at Ries near Passau said it had received many calls from frightened folk asking the exact hour of the expected catastrophe.

In Nuernberg a rumor circulated that today would bring the outbreak of a new world war but not the end of the world.

And in a Frankfurt cafe, a portly German bartender commented:

"The beer is flowing like usual and as long as the beer flows, the world is okay."

Hundreds Delay Italy's Entry Into Atlantic Alliance, Start Filibuster, and Strikes

Rome, March 17. (CP) — Communists delayed Italian adherence to the Atlantic alliance today by a filibuster in parliament. They also churned up strikes in Milan and Genoa in protest.

Strong police detachments were thrown around government buildings in Rome and the Central Piazza Colanna, where authorities and demonstrators have fought in the past. The Piazza, where rioting occurred Saturday, was kept clear by police.

One death resulted among demonstrators at Terni, a steel city 70 miles northeast of Rome. Police opened up with firearms on a crowd protesting the alliance and killed Alvino Trinelli, 31, and wounded three others grievously, the News Agency Astra said. Then police were hurt.

Communists and fellow travellers kept up the word battle in the Chamber of Deputies all night and today. It already is the longest filibuster on record in Italy. Premier Alcide de Gasperi has party of votes to assure adherence of Italy to the accord, once his Christian democratic party, a middle-of-the-road group, has the chance to vote them.

The Communist-led Chamber of Labor spread strikes—"spontaneous" they were called—in the Milan area. Dispatches said printing, Nearly all plants in the industrial suburb of Sesto San Giovanni, sometimes called "Little Stalingrad", were closed.

Factory workers, dockers and seamen struck at Genoa.

The Communist Organ L'Unita printed special editions in Rome and Milan.

Workers staged, heckled and jeered by Communist deputies and their Allied Socialists, conducted Wednesday night the government's declarations on its proposals that Italy join the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Luxemburg and perhaps others in the accord.

Barring unforeseen events, the noisy session is expected to continue until Friday.

The practice of "talking to death" measures was also used to delay the technical right of all deputies to speak for ten minutes at the end of a debate to explain why they are voting for or against the measure. This is known as a "declaration of vote".

Expect Same Tactics in Senate.

The delay in the Atlantic pact will probably go to the Senate today where the same filibustering tactics are expected to be carried out there by the 116 Communist and Neutral Socialist Senators.

There was a near-riot when Premier de Gasperi, a member of the middle-of-the-road Christian Democratic party, spoke. Women shrieked insults and the Communists beat their male colleagues, including Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti.

FILIBUSTER-TYPE DEBATE DEVELOPS IN THE COMMONS

Extension of Controls Is Bitterly Opposed

Ottawa, March 17 — (CP)—A filibuster-type debate against the government's method of extending wartime controls has blossomed in the Commons and promises a rough and stormy passage for the enabling legislation.

The debate sprang into full bloom Wednesday with George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, hammering again at the government's steps being taken and repeating his request that the government introduce separate bills dealing each control.

The opposition fight centres around the government's proposal to bring in one main bill to give life for another year to 10 main orders-in-council authorizing controls on lumber, steel, domestic rentals and the prices of bread, sugar, butter and other foods.

Mr. Drew, in an hour - long speech, challenged the administration to prove the existence of a general emergency that would warrant a government "drunk with power" to seek continuation of wartime orders in a single bill.

Largely Repetitious

In a speech largely repetitious of an early speech on the same legislation, he flung charges of "loose, careless and irresponsible powers and of "bureaucrats running around loose" at the government benches.

The two other speakers also were Progressive Conservatives — Harry Jackman (PC — Toronto Rosedale) and M. J. Lockhart — (PC — Lincoln).

As the debate mounted, Prime

Red Attempts To Cross Yangste Seen at Hand

Nanking, March 17. (AP) — Communist attempts to cross the Yangtze River appeared imminent today. At the same time Red up-rising in South China grew.

A government spokesman, Gen. Yang Wei-yi, announced 100,000 Manchurian troops had reinforced the Communists at Suchow, 180 miles northeast of Nanking. Also 180 Communist troops, under Gen. Chen Yi's command, China Communist armies were heading for crossing areas in the 200 mile bank of the river near Hankow.

The Communist radio signals were picked up by the tug Northside, whose direction-finder guided to the source. Skipper of the Northside's crew, Buck Young of Vero Beach, captained by Albert McDonald, a brother of Bill, arrived on the scene and the Vero Beach tug began bailing. Three Nets Into Lake

The Vero Beach crew $4,500 worth of nets and gear into the lake before the Satilla sank with the coal for boat.

The Ferrocliff's radio signals were picked up by the tug Northside, whose direction-finder guided to the source. Skipper of the Northside's crew, Buck Young of Vero Beach, captained by Albert McDonald, a brother of Bill, arrived on the scene and the Vero Beach tug began bailing.

City and District News

MRS. J. L. COOPER, JUSTICE OF PEACE

Succeeding Mrs. Mary Butler Schultz, who resigned from the position some weeks ago, Mrs. Letitia E. Cooper, city, has been sworn in as justice of the peace for Hastings county. Since early in the year Mrs. Cooper has been acting as magistrate's clerk at the county court house and recently was sworn in to act as justice of the peace.

S. B. UPPER ACCEPTS POSITION WITH HYDRO

Mr. Stanley Boyd Upper left yesterday for Toronto where he has accepted a position with the Hydro Electric Power Commission.

Mr. Upper who has been a resident of Belleville for the past ten years came to Belleville from Toronto as District Inspector of Electricity and Gas for the Department of Trade and Commerce. Last Saturday members of the staff assembled at his office to express regret of his resignation from the service and extended wishes for success at his new post.

Mr. Thomas made a presentation to Mr. Upper on behalf of those present.

SNOWDROPS BLOOM

Despite the snow and cold weather Mrs. Wm. K. Burrows, Dufferin St., has successfully raised a bloom of snowdrops.

This year Mrs. Burrows' plant bloomed on March 15, while last year the flowers were in bloom on March 17 and the previous year bloomed on the 13th of March.

Radio Inspector To Probe Cause Of Interference

Due to the number of complaints about radio interference in Belleville Mr. Argue, radio inspector, is now in the city attempting to find the cause of this interference.

Mr. Argue made a short tour of the city last night but met with little success in finding any of this interference. He will be staying at the Queen's Hotel overnight and anyone having any trouble with their radio is requested to call him tonight at the hotel. There is a lot of this trouble in Belleville and with a large response from the public something definitely may be able to be done to overcome this difficulty.

PICTON

County Council Asks Increased Old Age Pensions

Picton — An increase in old age pensions from $30 to $40 per month was requested by Prince Edward County Council, now in session here. Reeves J. K. Welsh and D. D. Reynolds, movers of the motion, said that present pensions do not cover the increased cost of living.

The province is also being asked by the county to increase government grants for medical care of indigent patients in hospitals to a minimum of $2 per day. Reeve Norris Whitney pointed out that hospital costs are increasing and county councils are being asked for more and more money to help maintain hospitals and remove deficits. The hospitals and municipalities greatly need assistance, he declared. Council voted to discontinue the bounty on foxes, effective March 31. The bounty was granted at the January session.

Crocuses in full bloom are reported in the garden at the home of Miss Lucy Wright. They are sheltered by the house.

Dr. C. A. Pudlow, who has been in Florida with his son, George Pudlow, for six weeks, is returning to town today.

THREE ARRESTED ON DRUG CHARGES

Toronto, March 17 (CP)— Toronto police arrested three persons on drug charges overnight. William Greenberg, 31, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of possessing drugs. Early today Edward Dobrowski and Martha Warren were arrested and police said they found five capsules of drugs in their residence.

Gifts Presented By Leslie's Staff On Anniversary

The staff of Leslie's Shoe Store visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Leslie Wednesday after-noon and presented each of them with a gold shoe—Mr. Leslie's on a gold watch chain and Mrs. Leslie's on a necklace—on the occasion of Mr. Leslie's Golden Anniversary in the shoe business.

After Mr. Hill read the address beautifully written by the hand of Mr. A. A. Ashley of Everett, Mass., he presented it to Mr. Leslie who was greatly surprised and touched. He made a very fine reply on behalf of Mrs. Leslie and himself. Then he was handed a copy of last night's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer and when he saw the second section, he was spell-bound and could hardly believe his eyes.

Knowing that their father would certainly want to give something appropriate to Mr. Arthur Hill as an occasion like this, his sons had a beautiful gold wrist watch which Mr. Leslie presented to Art. Mr. Hill was greatly surprised and appreciative in receiving this lovely present and he expressed his warm thanks for the thoughtfulness which inspired it.

It was unfortunate that five of the couple who were to attend this private presentation were unable to be present owing to illness namely Mrs. Arthur Hill, Mrs. H. E. McSmurry, Mrs. Emily Murray of Belleville, Mrs. Lynd and Mrs. Noble Trundale (Margaret Leslie and her husband).

Many bouquets of flowers, letters and telegrams arrived bearing congratulations and best wishes from friends. After the presentation a delightful tea was served and enjoyed by all.

Rush of Spring Work May Prevent Tapping

Lack of experienced farm help and the rush of other seasonal work may keep many farmers in the Belleville district from the sugar bush this spring, it was noted today.

Two Sidney township farmers who each year make quantities of maple syrup stated they undecided whether to tap their maples this year due to the high cost of labor. Also they stated the rush of other farm work may prevent them from tapping.

Shorter maple syrup making seasons in the past few years also is discouraging many farmers from tapping as this means smaller financial returns for their work.

However, at least one Sidney township farmer has already tapped his sugar maples. George Ketcheson, 5th concession, is reported to have hung his buckets in anticipation of an early season.

Whether there has been a sap run was not learned but the cold weather of the past few days undoubtedly will delay the beginning of the syrup making season.

Frank Edwards Heads Cycle Club

At a recent meeting, Frank Andrews of Bellleville, was unanimously chosen to be chairman for the Quinte Motor Cycle Club for 1940. To assist Mr. Andrews, genial Pete Schreiber was selected again for vice president.

Jimmie Kapino, popular business man of this city, will ably perform the duties of recording secretary, assisted by Bill Closson as treasurer.

The following were elected to fill other officers of the Club for this year, Don Cox, reporter; Ray Hay, quartermaster and road captain and Dionne Cardinal, Chas. McMurray and Bert Newman, First Aid attendants.

Again this year as in the past the Quinte Motor Cycle Club is sponsoring safe motor cycling.

The Farmer and Income Tax Problems Discussed

Monday evening was Farm Forum night again for the Foxboro group meeting at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Casler's home. Mr. Earl Bird, discussion leader, divided the members into two sections to continue the study of Income Tax. This week the topic was dealt with under the following headings:

Should farmers file income tax returns even when their income is not taxable?

What is their main difficulties in filling out the income tax form?

Can any suggestions be offered by which these difficulties could be overcome?

The Forum considered that farmers should file income tax returns because it would make it easier in case of death for others to settle the estate. It is equally fair for both the taxable farmer and the low income farmer. If farmers do not file income tax returns they do not know if their income is taxable or not.

Difficulties Outlined

Difficulties encountered were: It is confusing to get an accurate account to file as there are so many entries which enter into the accounts from one year to another. Again if one doesn't keep records it is almost impossible to remember many important items.

Some suggestions for overcoming these difficulties were: Farmers should keep a day book. There should be a sales tax on all manufactured goods including farm implements such as cheese, butter, eggs, pork, etc., and eliminate farmers' income tax returns. This might encourage production.

A questionnaire from CJBQ regarding farm programs was discussed and answered. Mr. Ronald Longwell gave a brief report on the meeting which he had attended in Belleville for the purpose of organizing the Quinte Co-Op Medical Service. Mrs. Harry Casler contributed an interesting contest. The hostess assisted by Mrs. W. Slater served refreshments.

The next meeting will be on March 21 at Mr.and Mrs.Murnerd Reynold's home.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Merrition March 17 (CP)—Believed to have started from an overheated stove pipe, fire early today destroyed the one-storey two-roomed frame house.

John Cloud, age about 70, and an unidentified friend of about the same age who lives with him escaped without injury. The house burned like kindling and even furniture carried outside burst into flames and was destroyed. Merrition volunteer firemen saved a double house on the same property.

ROADS BARE OF SNOW

Toronto, March 17 (CP)—Paved roads throughout Ontario were generally bare of snow today. Heavy gravel roads were snow surfaced and rough, the Highways department reported.

An overnight snowfall of four inches in northern sections stirring Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay, left 50 percent of the highways snow-covered. Similar conditions prevailed on roads from Belleville to Prescott where a two-inch fall was recorded last night.

CHARGE DISMISSED

Toronto, March 17 (CP)—Three charges against Bright's Wines, Ltd., for selling liquor to minors were dismissed today by Magistrate Frederick C. Cullen. Charges against three wine clerks were dismissed.

Magistrate Cullen ruled that Frank Peterpaul, 17-year-old Toronto boy who bought wine, looked older than 21 years.

Kilties Tie Mail-Toters In Novel Game

(Contributed)

"Bais, owis, and the things that go bump in the night" were treated to a thrill-packed sixty minutes of extra hockey at the Arena, on Tuesday night. Sharp on the hour of ten-thirty, the Letter Carriers met the Pipe Band in reply to an oft-flung challenge, and the clash could be heard for miles.

From the moment when Big Bill Hollard, referee, flung the puck down the ice in the direction of the Scottish net, in an original and striking form of faceoff, the fun was on, and no holds were barred. The players, none of what hampered by their swirling kilts, made a brave display as they tangled with their pasteboard-peeping opponents. The latter were considerably hampered by their mail sacks, which, traditionally, they refused to remove from at their necks, and the valiant but softwehzat unfortunate attempts of the referee to act as a second Postie goalie.

So fast and furious was the play, that at times it was difficult to obtain a clear picture of just who were on the ice. Inspectator claims to have counted not less than seventeen players engaged in action at one time. The odd number lends some credibility to his story. At the end of the final period, the score stood at an eight all tie, and both teams are clamoring for a rematch.

Lineups were as follows,—

Letter Carriers — Woods, W.; Balyx, R.; Balyx, H.; Carlery, M.; Gannon, R.; Burns, D., McBride, S. (goal); Woods, J. (goal).

Kilts Band — Browning, J.; Hanna, A.; Nickle, H.; Nickle, B.; Wager, W.; Smith, F.; Emerson, B.; Burns, A.; Clarke, J. (goal).

CONTRADICTORY

Procedure Described

On election night he stood in the hall keeping DRO's in line, the DRO's would hand their boxes and press reports over the table to Mr. McCabe.

Mr. McCabe would check the seals and call out the figures on the press report. Boxes which were not sealed were handed to two assistants who sealed them.

It was "ridiculous" of Mrs. Armstrong to say boxes were opened on election night, None were opened. No DRO's were sworn in as Mrs. Armstrong had testified.

He had not seen anyone change the reports handed Mr. McCabe.

Mr. O'Connor testified he was not the official agent of Mr. Porter but merely a worker in Mr. Porter's campaign.

He was present on the day of the official count to "see that Mr. Porter got a square deal."

Frank Frier, defeated CCF candidate and Mrs. Livingston made a tally of the votes as Mr. McCabe called them out.

Mr. Frost asked if he could suggest how the discrepancies arose.

"No. I don't know anything about it."

He heard the results as Mr. McCabe "hollered out." He did not make notes and had no idea how the votes were going. He heard the final results on the radio as some questions after 10 p.m. He had visited some 20 to 25 polls in the south end of the riding on election day.

These were the polls in which he had worked during the campaign.

Mr. McCabe had called off the figures to Mr. Frier and Mrs. Livingston but had never written down any figures himself.

Had Filed Affadavit

Mr. Frost said Mr. Frier had filed an affadavit with supreme court requiring production of documents relating to the election. In his affadavit he said he had reason to believe the returning officer had falsified documents. Mr. Frost asked if Mr. Frier could "throw any light" on how the discrepancies arose.

He said he could not.

Mr. Frost said Mr. Frier had come to the conclusion last June 14 that there were certain irregularities. "He had not discussed it with Major Lewis until Nov. 1.

Mr. Frier had turned the matter over to his counsel, Andrew Brewin.

"Was it the intention to delay this matter to a point where it would be embarrassing to the government of the day?"

"There was no such intention."

He had never got any advice in the matter from Mr. Jolliffe. He wanted to be sure of the evidence before taking legal action.

The St. George Constituency Association had met shortly after the official count at which discrepancies became apparent. Two of these C.C.F. supporters had been returning officers.

L. E. Wismer (C.C.F.-Toronto Riverdale) said Mr. McCabe had testified he appointed as D.R.O.'s supporters of all parties.

Traffic Charges Constitute Major Portion of Docket

Traffic charges for minor infractions of the Highway Traffic Act constituted the major portion of the docket at the county Magistrate's Court held before Magistrate T. Y. Wills this morning.

Several charges of driving without the proper lights or driving recklessly with offenders pleading guilty and paying fines and costs. One motorist paid $2 fine and $2 costs for driving without a tail light while still another paid $10 and costs for driving without proper brakes.

Hearing of a charge against Francis O'Hara of Port Hope of attempting to pass another vehicle when the highway ahead was not sufficiently clear, took up the major part of the morning proceedings.

The charge arose out of an accident on No. 2 highway on Mar. 2nd, when O'Hara was stated to have turned out to pass a truck parked along the side of the highway and in doing so struck a truck proceeding in the opposite direction.

Several Crown witnesses were heard, including Provincial Constable Thompson, and William Webb of Trenton, driver of the gravel truck, following which defence counsel E. Friesen of Port Hope moved for dismissal of the charge on the grounds the accused had been improperly charged.

Mr. Friesen claimed that under section 35-15 of the H. T. A. the accused could not be charged unless the vehicle had overtaken figures to a halt. Mr. Frier and Mrs. Livingston but had never written down any figures himself.

Mr. Frost said Mr. Frier had filed an affadavit with supreme court requiring production of documents relating to the election. In his affadavit he said he had reason to believe the returning officer had falsified documents. Mr. Frost asked if Mr. Frier could "throw any light" on how the discrepancies arose.

St. Patrick's Day

Toronto, March 17 (CP)—The time may be March 17, and the place may be St. Patrick's Street in downtown Toronto, but the Leprechauns will search long before they find an Irishman living there today.

There's only one, and she's a woman—Mrs. Jessi Oldryd.

The Manurs, Horowitzes, Chungs and Karchuks have taken over the homes whence lived the true sons of Erin—the O'Keefes, O'Hartys, O'Briens, Donnellys, Kellys and Fitzpatricks.

Mount Carmel Church used be old St. Pat's and the Good Saint's Day used to be an occasion for parades, songs and revelry.

But Paddy left his signature on the new Toronto. Some years ago—most of the houses still wear faded coats of green paint.

LUCK OF THE IRISH

St. Catharines, (CP) — The luck of the Irish hasn't run out on "Irish Mary" Caulfield.

Things looked dark when the 74-year-old woman's three-roomed cottage was damaged by fire last Monday night.

But Irish Mary will still don her bright green dress today when she saves for St. Patrick's Day celebrations each year.

A fund, started by Jacob Kaizman, a taxi company owner, and already $200 has been raised to put a new roof on the home where Mary has lived alone for 14 years.

GIRD ANNIVERSARY

Toronto, (CP)—For 63 years, St. Patrick's Day has meant something special to Mr. and Mrs. William Chester of nearby Rouge Hills.

Today the couple—he is 87 and she 84—marked the 63rd anniversary of their marriage at Port Union, Ont.

Mr. Chester retired four years ago after 27 years as police chief of nearby Pickering village.

Says Izzy, slender Mrs. Chester: "Married? I'll say I have been sweet. It doesn't seem that long."

WARMTH OF IRISH HEARTS

Detroit, March 17 — (CP) — It needed the warmth of Irish hearts today to dispel the chilling weather in Detroit's annual observance of St. Patrick's Day.

Even the 100 pounds of shamrock picked in Ireland 24 hours before and flown here perked up after exposure to Detroit's celebrating Murphy's, O'Briens, Sullivans and Madigans — not to mention well-wishers named Schultz and Colucci.

The shamrock, enough to provide boutonnieres for 5,000 transplanted Celts, are an importation by a resident, late of County Antrim. He will present them to all his visitors.

MASTHEAD IN GREEN

Webster, Mass. — (AP) — The Times, a weekly publication, today celebrated its 90th anniversary and printed its masthead in green.

Editor Laurenge J. Daley greeted his well-wishers with the Gaelic "caed mile failte"—a hundred thousand welcomes —to mark St. Patrick's Day.

MacArthur Denies Any Change Planned In Occupation

Tokyo, March 17 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today denied any prospective change in Japan's occupation regime and said he intends to remain supreme allied commander until the peace treaty is signed. His statement referred to recent reports of increased civilian control over the occupation.

STOLEN TRUCK RUNS INTO RIVER

Merriton, March 17 (CP)—A truck driver apparently got his signals mixed here Wednesday. A bread truck he had stolen toppled into the old Welland canal but he managed to scramble out of the cab before it crashed. The thief escaped unnoticed, and the truck was hauled out of the water.

"ACT OF GOD" SAYS EXPERT

Collingwood, March 17 (CP)—Mrs. John Winney, celebrating her 102nd birthday here today, does not think it is a "wonderful thing" to reach that age, but "merely an act of God."

Daughter of a pioneer physician of the Orangeville district, Mrs. Winney is mentally alert, keeps busy with sewing and even by radio. She has not been able to continue her handiwork lately because of failing eyesight.

Labor Group Will Boycott Penman Products

Brantford, March 17 (CP) — As the second month of the Penman Textile Workers strike in Paris drew to a close today, the Brantford Trades Union Federation, announcing that it represented 9,000 A.F. of L. and C.I.O. unionists in the Brantford area, stated that the federation had decided upon a series of measures to assist the Penman strikers.

A statement issued by the Federation stated that at a meeting Wednesday evening its members had endorsed a motion to place on the "unfair list" all Penman products turned out in Paris.

It was decided to send a letter to all Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor councils throughout Canada, urging them to take similar action and to put Penmans on the list of companies unfair to organized labor.

After hearing a report from the Paris strike committee, the Federation decided to call an emergency meeting of the Brantford Trade Union support committee for next Sunday evening.

This committee, which organized the recent cavalcade of Brantford sympathizers to the scene of the Paris strike, has before it other proposals for support to the strikers.

The Federation's statement said Leonard Lear, secretary of the Brantford Trades and Labor Council and Charles Ward of Local 444, T.W.U.-C.I.O. president of the federation and others had pledged their full support to the strike.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

One of the great days of the year is St. Patrick's Day. At this time the world can feel the spirit that guides Irishmen and can find in the songs and music of the Irish charms that reveal the rich spirit of this race. Everything of beauty and goodness to be found among the Irish, their history and their traditions, surrounds the celebration of this day.

Irishmen at home or in lands afar, in the United States and Canada and in other countries mark this time. Festivities and ceremonies gather about the time to make this feast day one of the most memorable in the Christian calendar. Today is heard the plaintive and exquisite music of Erin such as is expressed in the music and words of the lyric, "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls." Today this people gifted with the most richly endowed natures and finest national tradition celebrates the patron saint; who has left on history and especially on Ireland the evidences of his loyalty and devotion to the faith he held.

Irish gaiety, Irish humor and charm of character find their full expression at this time for the affections of the people are deep and enduring.

Here in Erin St. Patrick found a fertile soil for his missionary endeavors. His life of devotion and dynamic missionary zeal radiated from the very spirit of the faith he expressed. He became the greatest builder of churches in all the history of Christendom. He was a leader of intense vigor and courage and one of the greatest laborers for the cause of the Christian faith.

Fittingly it would seem is the anniversary at the time when after the winter's reign spring is about to burgeon into new life and new growth, the time of the year's revival after the rest of winter.

TRAGEDY ON HAMILTON BAY

Four young boys, full of the spirit of adventure, so characteristic of their years, were the victims of one of the most tragic stories ever told, a story of drowning when their home-made raft, made of old airplane pontoons and planks, broke up and allowed them to go to their deaths beneath the waters of Hamilton Bay. Inspired by the love of adventure and make-believe, motives which would, had they been spared, have gone far to make their careers successful, they started on their voyage of "treasure-hunting." But tragedy came upon them and the elements claimed their precious lives.

The story is one of many a pathetic story told in the news. It is one to which every human being naturally reacts. Unfortunately nature's harsh law ruled and it came about that their craft gave way. It is thought, by the movement of the waves, the bay being very choppy at the time they set forth from the shore on their quest. The raft they built without knowledge of natural laws concerning safety yielded to the forces of nature and they were plunged to their deaths.

Those lads had an enviable spirit, made up of enterprise, love of achievement and of romance. Such spirit has made success of many of the great men of great craft by which they trusted their lives held together, they probably would have had an afternoon of rare experience, of mixed fact and fancy, which might have led them on to notable careers.

Four homes mourn the passing of these boys in their innocent pleasures. The tragedy is that they were attracted to the water and the pleasure it can bring to adventurous childhood, as one can see anywhere especially in summer with youngsters playing with small boats whether at home in a lubful of water or on the bay or lake shore. Their sad story may serve to help save the lives of others by drawing attention to the risk that lurks in the waters. Many a boy and girl and man and woman have lost their lives through drowning because they did not realize the risk they were taking on the water and in their exuberance of spirit took chances in situations where caution might have saved them.

Parents and families everywhere who read or heard the story of this tragedy doubtless took occasion in their homes to point a moral or lesson on the fatal ending of the lives of these spirited lads.

The king-becoming graces are justice, verity, temperance, stableness, bounty, perseverance, mercy, lowliness, devotion, patience, courage, fortitude. — Shakespeare.

The culminating point in all administration is to know well how much power, great or small, we ought to use in all circumstances. — Montesquieu.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

St. Patrick was a Roman youth, long centuries ago.
He heard some angels whispering: "To Ireland you should go."
So he went to study Latin, and he learned to be a priest.
Now millions keep his birthday with mass and prayer and feast.

He walked among the people as his Master did before,
His heart was filled with pity as he went from door to door.
Now with the saints he's gathered under Heaven's triumphal arch,
And the living keep his birthday on the seventeenth of March.

Oh, neither fame nor fortune could have won his love like this.
The crown that he is wearing oft the proud and mighty miss.
But while his church is standing, at the altars where they pray,
The humble and devoted still will keep St. Patrick's Day.

Norwegian People Write Off Lunch, Shorten Work Day

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Oslo (CP)—Regardless of the clock, afternoon doesn't exist in Norway when it comes to lunch does.

Both have been written off in favor of a short, continuous working day, an early dinner and a long social life everyday.

The "morning" a Norwegian's working day, begins about 10 a.m. and lasts just long enough for dinner at noon. Lunch, Lunch is almost unheard of—it's the vanished meal.

Norwegians, in their amiable, leisurely way, work through the customary North American lunch interval although callers then may be invited to a neighboring cafe for coffee and a "smorgrod" the national open-topped sandwich, today dressed with delicatised herring or under a salad.

Service is poor and Norwegians good-naturedly blame their waiters as the slowest and most impolite in the world. Both are under-statements.

Waiters, paid by a compulsory service charge varying between 10 and 15 per cent, expect an additional 10 per cent generosity from patrons.

But street-car and bus conductors are polite to a fault. Conductors descend to help passengers in and out.

Bright City

Oslo, with one-sixth of Norway's 3,000,000 population, is a city without a boundary zone, gay and bright store windows lend a deceptive air of gaiety.

It has little night life apart from a vigorous theatre—eight stock companies—and a good weekly symphony concert. There are no night clubs. Movie theatres show films at five, seven and nine o'clock and customers may not enter after a performance begins.

"Good" eating places abound, if you like fish, but most Norwegians entertain at home.

Family celebrations are second nature. Each family has at least one large flag which goes up to mark birthdays, christenings and deaths, anniversaries, personal and national. The slightest suggestion of the government's Neighbors share joys and sorrows and the whole streets' flags droop at half-mast or exult together.

The Norse are keen athletes, who say "hail our life is spent on skis and the other half in walking." Even their business day leaves them free for evening hikes into the mountains or fjords, for ski trips in winter, and for walks in summer when offices close at three and don't open on Saturdays.

Stolen Goods In Gift Shop Claim of Police

Peterborough, March 17 (CP)—A man said by police to have sold stolen articles in his gift shop here, Wednesday was in custody in connection with a $4,000 robbery in Montreal.

Arrested during the weekend, the accused man's name as Harold Arthur Billings, alias Murray Keyes, William B. Stacey and Delaney Stacey. Police said valuable articles found in his possession, including antiques, silverware, Ming vases and chinaware, were similar to those stolen from a Montreal art dealer.

He was turned over to police at Brantford, where he also faces charges. Police said he is suspected of offences in Ottawa, Toronto, Sudbury and Galt.

Police said he moved from town to town and started business as a photographer or dancing instructor.

HOPPERS' JOB IS ELEVATING

Custom dies hard in Merrie England, and although most of the hop-fields are now operated by modern methods and machinery, the practice of still walking lives on in some places. Two veterans of the Kent hop-fields, Bert Wood, 69, and Phil Black, 60, are on their stilts here tying the lines on which the hop vines will entwine themselves. A woman assistant ties the strings at the foot of the poles. Hops are used in beer production. Kent is among the world's foremost hop producers.—Central Press Canadian.

4 Children Burn At Kapuskasing; Mother in Barn

Kapuskasing, March 17 (CP)—Four children were burned to death on an isolated backwoods farm yesterday while their mother was milking.

Killed were Jean Paul Perrault, 4, and his brother, Antoine, 3½; Morris 18 months and Roger, six months.

Their mother was away from the house approximately 30 minutes.

Neighbors, attracted by shouting from the roof of the house, but were unable to put out the fire in time to rescue the children.

The family lived 22 miles from the Northern Ontario town.

The father, Paul Perrault, was working at a lumber camp.

Mrs. Perrault left the children sleeping in the small frame farmhouse while she went to do the chores in the barn. She first noticed the fire when she came outside of the barn with the milk pails.

Mrs. Perrault said she rushed up to the cabin door but couldn't get inside because of the fierce flames. The only water available to use on the fire was under four feet of snow and attempts to chop the blaze with snow proved fruitless.

The family moved into the district only recently.

Mrs. Pandit New Ambassador Of India to U.S.

Lake Success, N.Y., March 17—(AP) — Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, India's delegate to the United Nations assembly and also the Dominion's ambassador to Moscow, has been named ambassador to the United States, India's U.N. spokesman said Wednesday. She succeeds Sir Benegal Rau, who has been recalled to India to become chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank.

Letter to the Editor

Radio Interference Found Exasperating

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I was glad to note in your issue dated March 16 that "A Discouraged Listener" had taken up the cudgels on behalf of all those who suffer from radio-noise interference in Belleville in general and the East Hill in particular. You are also to be congratulated on making it an editorial comment.

This very morning I tuned in CFRB at 9.30 to hear Gabriel Heatter the early newscast. Nothing could be heard except a confused cacophonous rattle — and the same applies to every other station across the dial.

On Sunday night last, nothing intelligible could be heard from 6 o'clock. Our radio squealed like a cross cat, then changed to a noise like a cement mixer in operation, then it got worse and gave out explosions like a Diesel engine being tuned up after being out all night. And then the family exploded — loudly and long.

If it is Hydro interference, then surely the local management could remedy this state of affairs. In any case something should be done to allow the many radio owners to obtain clear reception.

NOT EVERY DOG WITH FITS MAD

Some able veterinarians deny the existence of rabies in dogs, said Fayette C. Ewing, M. D., when the "authorities" were swapping up a mad dog scare in his lousiana community. The doctor went on to say some other interesting things in a communication to the Jour. A. M. A., 7/24/37.

Having engaged in breeding dogs Dr. Ewing had exhibited his animals at dog shows for considerably more than a decade and so he probably knew what he was talking about.

The local newspapers co-operate with the veterinarians and health department people who also put on the mad dog scare, with sensational headlines and stories of many dogs running amuck and biting children and stock. And they add Dr. Ewing, that when hydrophobia is rarely heard of.

Dogs' heads are sent to the office designated by the health department for examination and "I have yet to hear of one that was not reported positive for hydrophobia."

In all his forty years of dog breeding and exhibiting (he never passed a single year without exhibiting), Dr. Ewing never knew or heard of a professional handler of dogs or an exhibitor having hydrophobia from his animals. Many of these handlers who make the dog show circuits with the animals of many sportsmen do not believe there is such a disease as hydrophobia. These handlers are frequently bitten, but they generally regard a bite as a mere incident in their work.

Although many dog handlers and some veterinarians deny the existence of rabies, Dr. Ewing did not agree with them. He did not doubt the safety and advisability of the single large dose of living virus injected into an animal to "vaccinate" or immunize the animal against rabies—as the health authorities," veterinarians and virus manufacturers were compelling dog owners to have for their dogs, through the instrumentality of a social entanglement the politicians being always willing to co-operate with the right people.

Epidemics of "running fits" have occurred for years through out the dog world. Dr. Ewing saw it in his own kennels repeatedly. Young, high bred dogs, under excitation or physical exertion, suddenly act wild, barking and yelping violently, and then seeking some dark corner, lie in cellar in which to hide. Within half an hour the trouble subsides, the dog is dull and stupid and recovers. In the next day or two the performance may be repeated. This is sufficient to inspire, the cry of "mad dog", and once the dreadful idea is passed to an outsider it is quickly bulld into the monster outbreak of hydrophobia.

Running fits in dogs are due to decrivation of thiamine (vitamin B1), according to John W. Patton, Michigan veterinary. Dr. Patton kept dogs on a diet adequate in all nutrients except thiamine. The dogs soon began to lose food, weight and low weight. Then they would tremble a moment, develop piloerity, into a quiet though nervous animal within 4 hours, and from there into a normal, playful puppy. Dr. Patton suggests that if owners do not feed meat they should see that the dog gets a daily ration of B1 to supplement the canned or dry vent running fits.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HUMILIATE NO ONE

The hurt is deep in one who is humiliated. Why is that so? Why is it done? Why do we do anything by which, through word or act, we humiliate? Is it an inward wound? That's the mystery, perhaps, in the fact that being humiliated by someone else.

Pilate, in two ways, the man who causes it is lowered in self-respect, and the one humiliated elevated in spirit.

Humiliate no one — and you will be a friend to many. Be kind. Few, however, ever escape being humiliated many times, and "I" and again, but every strong character rises above it, especially in the truly great. The most historic figure has been humiliated by a lesser one, schooling himself in humility, over the latter.

To be humiliated is the presence of another — or many — is to be thrice, and more, humiliated. The cut sinks deeper. When are we to learn brotherhood—kinship with our own? Lincoln was often humiliated by those about him. Their strut and brazenosity, however, was plotted out by the light of his unbiased understanding.

A child is easily humiliated. Its sense of pride is almost natural. Whenever the honesty or sincerity of another human being is questioned, that one is humiliated and hurt in heart. It is impossible to humiliate the damage done. Often it results in the loss of a friend. Jesus' dog was his faithful friend the dog feels humiliation.

Pilate was humiliated before Pilate — but he answered in silence. Jesus knew humiliation. Pilate couldn't understand. The best defense for humiliation is just this silence. Silence has this about it, too, it helps to heal the humiliation. Not that a man can do so well.

Many a one has been humiliated by careless gossip, falsehood or by deliberate remarks solely to embarrass that one. The fine services of many a public man have been humiliated at by those who would curtail his influence. But the only ones who are seriously hurt are the ones who do the humiliating. Humiliate no one. Lend a helpful hand!

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Policemen are more liable than most people to develop delusions of persecution, if not of grandeur. Invested with the dignity or majesty of the law and garbed in uniform, they are not quite what they would be if they were otherwise might be a fair store window or a target-hand-to-hand likely to swell up.

A clergyman once told me that when he puts on ordinary civilian clothes — as he sometimes does — he feels an instantaneous change from the personality he wears in the clerical black-and-white. A plainclothesman told me that after wearing the uniform for fifteen years, he felt utterly insignificant for a few months after he changed.

Another factor in the delusions of grandeur policeman suffers from is the ingratiating attitude even the coolest of us adopt the minute we address a cop. Most of us are ashamed of that; even if we don't feel it, we discover ourselves being deferential to a big lug who probably can't spell chalcedony, much less pronounce it. (I just found out, myself.) And this creepy attitude of people not part must have an ill effect on the policeman's ego.

Policemen are not easily recruited. In this age of uncanny IQ tests, I suppose they choose the homely security and stability type. The police force must be level-headed to begin with. A police chief told me that, whenever he was allowed any choice, he preferred to recruit men who had large families—brothers and sisters. They were less likely to be spoiled lads with brothers and sisters to keep them cut down to size.

Lots of modest education and moderate intelligence who have walked beats for ten years, and who can handle with tact the sorts of misfits and malefactors, and meanwhile remain kindly and unstarched in their attitude, is a man worth our respect. For he is the perfect policeman.

THE WHITE WHALE

Herman Melville, who wrote Moby Dick, the story of the white whale, is at last coming into his own. His stock is rising in the cool reception which his writings at first received. His death was almost unnoticed. Now, literary critics are beginning to say that he was one of the great prose writers of all time.

Most youngsters read Moby Dick and like it because it is a bang-up good adventure story. But Moby Dick is a great disquisition on the nature of evil. It abounds in symbolism. The white whale is the evil which afflicts human life, and Captain Ahab is the courageous but blasphemous man who attempts by his own efforts to destroy the evil. In the end it destroys him.

At the beginning of Moby Dick, there is a powerful sermon by Father Mapple, in the Whaleman's Chapel at New Bedford. The preacher reveals the sin for which Ahab did not learn. We have to put life with its evil as well as its good into the hands of God. "I leave eternity to Thee," cries Father Mapple, "for what is man that he should live out the lifetime of his God?"

Have your children read Moby Dick and exult in its adventure. Then read it yourself and ponder its overwhelming spiritual mes-

Expect Meat Ration Cut of 20 Per Cent In Great Britain

London, March 17 — (AP) — The meat ration will be cut by at least 20 per cent in 10 days, food industry experts predicted yesterday.

They blamed the cut on failure of Argentina to fulfill her contract for the delivery of beef.

The reduction, industry spokesmen said, would be from 10 pence to eight pence (16.5 to 13.2 cents) a person each week.

At current prices, that is just about enough for one meal, with perhaps enough for stew or soup left over.

In addition, each Britisher may buy two pence worth of corned beef weekly. Food sources said this likely would remain in effect.

SHOCK FOR ELEPHANTS

Port Elizabeth, South Africa—(CP) — An engineer's invention, a "repulsometer," to electrify fences of elephant enclosures proved highly successful when tested recently. Inventor S. Fitzpatrick said that once an elephant received a shock it will never return for more.

For rolling down the river—or the highway—combin ed houseboat and trailer made by the Sail-Craft Co. at Lakefield, Ont, accommodates four persons. Outboard motor drives it through water; for road transportation, wheel boxes have been included to fit a specially designed trailer.

Newfoundlanders Proud, Colorful Maritime People

By DAVE McINTOSH
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. John's, Nfld.—(CP)—When Newfoundland becomes Canada's 10th province, Newfoundlanders aren't going to turn into Canadians overnight. In fact, it's not likely they ever will, except in name only.

A many Newfoundlanders leave their native land as stay here. But no matter how poorly their living standards may compare with Canada and the United States they always speak of their country with pride and affection.

The 320,000 Newfoundland people spring from English, Scottish and Irish stock, with a sprinkling of French. They are intensely loyal to Britain and whenever she gets in trouble Newfoundlanders nearly fall over themselves in their dash to the colors.

In the Second World War thousands of Newfoundlanders joined the Canadian army as the quickest access to a fighting front. Those not in Newfoundland units always considered the Canadians alongside them as merely an adjunct to the real fighting force. This could probably serve as good an example as any of the Newfoundlander's unrelenting independence.

The reasons for this independence are not too difficult to trace. The Newfoundlander, living on a rocky, sea-battered island, has had to work incredibly hard to wrest a living from the sea. It is only during the last few years that he has become aware of the wealth that lies under his marshy, wooded country.

A Hardy Race

Compared to the average Canadian, the Newfoundlander is poor. He has had to work in the cold fishing boats when he was 10 or 11. This, in turn, has meant that he has not received the education that most Canadians get. Because nearly all goods must be imported he has only a nodding acquaintance with things like milk, fresh fruit, vegetables and meat, two suits of clothes, a washing machine, a radio and a refrigerator.

Nearly all the population is scattered around the coast in little fishing hamlets that can be reached only by boat or dog-team — such as settlements along the Strait of Belle Isle — not at all in winter.

Education is jealously guarded by the various religious groups. Thus, in one little community on the north coast there are three or more than 200 persons living there can find four little schools, each of a different religious denomination. In scores of the island's 1,300 villages there is no school at all.

Adult education is beginning to take a hold but the districts are so scattered and hard to reach, teachers so scarce, that it falls short of what it might be.

Near the start of the last decade, 23 per cent of the population made less than $100 a year. There were only three hospitals. Along the vast reaches of the west and north coasts there was not a single hospital. Commission government did much to improve these conditions, among other things, but much remains to be done.

Hospitable and Colorful

With all this, the Newfoundlander has never given up in his eternal struggle with the sea. He has not conquered it — but neither has he lost.

Because existence is dependent on co-operation, one finds the Newfoundlander an extremely hospitable person. Though it may not be a great deal, he will share what he has.

He is a more colorful person than his Canadian brother. He can spin a salty yarn or sing a song that is not borrowed from American movies. Here are a few of them: "A Great Big Sea Rove in Long Beach," "The Star of Logy Bay," "The Wreck of the Steamship Florizel," "The Greenland Disaster," "The Squid-Jigging Ground," "The Six Horse-Power Cosker" and "When the Outport Member's Family Comes to Town."

Years ago Sir Cavendish Boyle, one-time governor of Newfoundland, wrote the stirring "Ode to Newfoundland." "A Canada" will never entirely replace it.

Here is its second verse:

"When blinding storm-gusts fret thy shore,
And wild waves lash thy strand;
Through spindrift, swirl and tempest roar
"We love thee, wind-swept land."

British Bettors Getting Ready For Hectic Year

By MICHAEL O'MARA

London, March 17 — (CP) — Britain's bettors are getting out their tattered black notebooks, sharpening their pencils and peering into their farm books again. Bookies are spraying their tonsils in preparation for another season's hard work. The 1960 flat-racing year is starting.

The game of winner-picking — of which the vast bulk of the British public never tires — is Britain's favorite sport and one of Britain's biggest businesses. Millions are sunk in the 45 racing plants in the United Kingdom. Thousands more are sunk in wealthy owners' big stables. The bloodstock business often turns over £2,000,000 in a year.

A week later comes the most important steeplechase of the year — the Grand National steeplechase over four miles and 856 yards at historic Aintree — and this with the Lincolnshire Handicap the "spring double" on which thousands of pounds are annually wagered. A parlay on two outsiders that come up might bring a backer odds of 10,000-1.

After that, the hunting public will turn to the first of the year's classic contests for three-year-olds — the One Thousand and Two Thousand Guineas run at the end of April at Newmarket. A favorite for the fillies' mile may be the speedy Ballisland and most likely there like the chances of the big grey, Aebrnant, in the Two Thousand.

For the Derby in June at Epsom, three colts are being talked up in the pubs and clubs —the King's Berrylands, Lord Derby's Swallow Tail and William Woodward's Brown Rover.

Express Alarm Over Minors' Use Of Intoxicants

Lindsay, March 17 — (CP) — Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan and police here are becoming alarmed at the increasing number of minors consuming liquor. After 17-year-old Bill Burke of Lindsay said a fine of $100 for illegally having beer at a local dance hall. The Crown warned that the next teen-ager so convicted would be liable to from one to three months extra in jail if he did not disclose where the liquor was obtained.

Entrancing Designs in Spring Styles Displayed at Fashion Show Sponsored by Hospital Auxiliary

"Lovely femininity," the keyword for spring 1940 was emphasized in the Spring Fashion Show presented by the Women's Hospital Auxiliary before capacity audiences in the auditorium of the Capitol Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The large pedestal baskets of beautiful white calla lillies, with pastel-tinted snapdragons and potted ferns at each wing, coupled with the heavy wine-red draperies, made a most pleasing background for the charming models and their display of smart suits, ensembles, luxurious furs, gracefully tailored coats, pretty frocks and exquisite evening gowns.

Mrs. George H. Stobie, charmingly gowned in navy-blue moire, with matching hat, whose sharply-tilted brim was accented by a long cluster of white flowers, and wearing a sparkling piece of costume jewellery, was commentator. Her comments added much to the enjoyment of the fashion show.

Fullness in Back Featured

The general trend in the suits, afternoon dresses, and ensembles, was for slim skirts, with fullness at the back, with average length of the 13 or 14 inches from the floor. The necklines in most cases were not extreme, though one or two featured a narrow, slim, deep neckline, with the general accent on the pockets and cuffs, which were ornate with button or braiding trim. Coats for casual wear mostly featured generous fullness at cut for the back. Plaids appear to be coming into popular favor.

The show was opened with the introduction of the individual models displaying a group of stitty coats. The first was that modelled by Miss Agnes O'Connor, who showed a pretty turquoise corduroy raincoat with detachable hood, wearing under it a navy blue sport suit featuring the boxy jacket, so suitable for the average business girl. Another utility coat was a Printzess, one hundred per cent pure camel hair, which was worn over a shepherd plaid light weight wool dress, with white piping in all cuffs, a Fashion Preferred, exclusive with McNabb's. A light leghorn hat, and brown purse with matching umbrella completed this ensemble. This was modelled by Mrs. Jas. Forrester.

Coat with Hood

One of the famous Deacon coats of Grenfell cloth, in a soft blue shade with brown tweed lining, a felt hat, and blue bag, was worn over a tailored print dress, which was also an exclusive feature of McNabb's, and displayed by Mrs. G. K. Currie. An outstanding number was that of the shower-proof coat by Daymac, worn over a Scotch wool plaid skirt with a match with matching umbrella completed this ensemble. This was modelled by Mrs. Jas. Forrester.

Swagger Coi

A Mayfair shortie with extreme fullness at the back, accented with grosgrain trimming, worn over a black and white print dress by Vanity Mode, was enhanced by a white hat banded across the crown with black velvet ribbon. The skirt of the dress was plain in front, with the fullness at the back, and also on the blouse. This ensemble was modelled by Mrs. Walter Harden. Mrs. Carcallas was dashing in a lovely yellow coat of Harris Tweed by Hurlbut-ham, worn over a two-piece dress of imported Paris print with jet buttons down the front and on the pockets. A black hat and purse completed the picture, making the whole a costume that would lift anybody's morale. This is a Frenchshire model.

Three-piece designs were featured in suits, some in Glen Checks; others in soft shades of British Linton Plaids; John Barr material; Glen Check Worsted Reid's Eye, and the well - known Linton Tweed. Of this number, one in particular was a garment of unusual beauty, which was a three-piece outfit in the Bird's Eye material. The odd shaped pockets were carried through in design in the cuffs and in the pockets of the suit under the coat. Another suit of outstanding merit was a three-piece in mandarin gold; with this was worn a hat in Chinese red felt fur, purse and gloves matching the scarf and hat, making one lovely picture. Still another suit worn by Mrs. Edgar Buchanan, was of Glen Check worsted by Langhurns, and beautifully tailored, displaying fine workmanship in the matching of the plaids.

Good Coat Display

Among the many separate coats modelled were several of outstanding merit. One in particular was of unusual beauty in Navy Mayfair, having unpressed box pleats through back, and accented by a fine belt with gold trimming. This was worn over a Fashion Preferred blue model gown with a miniature print design; full in the back with pleats in front with a lovely neckline. Another outfit which highlighted the Navy and Mayfair show, consisted of a fitted navy coat featuring buttons all the way down the front, over a dress, Fashion Preferred, the skirt of which had many rows of fine tucking. An unusual styling was shown in an imported velour with contrasting facings, featuring the raglan shoulder, deep armhole and button trimming. This was worn over a dress of iridescent striped taffeta and highlighted by the bustle back, a Vanity Mode model.

Luxurious Fur Coats

The fur coats, both shorties and long, were outstanding in the luxuriousness of their fur and beauty of design. The most shown was of natural muskrat in a soft, silver shade, full length with cocket collar, and full cuffed sleeves. Another was of deep brown Alaska sealskin and lovely; with this was worn a green hat with matching bag and gloves. Still another was a beautiful cut of striped beaver, showing shades of brown and silver, and accented by a shawl collar. Another coat was in three-quarter length of grey Russian lamb; a durable smart, becoming coat.

The informal party dresses comprised several lovely models in one piece, and two pieces. A pretty rose crepe frock, suitable for a junior debutante, featured draped trimmings at the centre front, waist line, exactly right for smaller figures. A two piece frock of moss brown displayed the picture necklike, inspired by South American designers. The contrasting trimming of sash and cuffs, with matching hat and mitts, gave a touch that made this a perfect ensemble. For the slimmer figure was a navy dress with rows of shirred ribbon trimming across the skirt. This was worn with a green hat, brilliant costume jewelry at the neck, and a floral throw piece.

Formal Evening Gown

The formal dress display was ushered in with a white taffeta floor length gown enhanced by soft draping of the skirt caught up at right side by two full-blown white roses. A dress of loveliness was one of soft blue crepe, floor-length, having a bertha collar which is so flattering trimmed with matching lace. This was a Lawrence Spencer original gown. Another dress of midnight blue taffeta was in jacket effect with bouffant skirt trimmed with ruching on both jacket and skirt, giving the modified Empire effect line, and at the waistline. A beautiful off-shoulder gown was also displayed in soft taffeta, with ruffles encircling the bodice to form a shoulder spray with a necklace scintillating stones.

The wedding scene was beautiful in every detail, and the gowns almost beyond description for their loveliness. The guests arrived singly; the first, Mrs. Harden, wearing an unusual shade of apple green, combined with matching lace, highlighted by the tiered skirt at the back with rows of lace. The next guest, Mrs. Forrester wore a beautiful model in gray crepe with matching taffeta diagonal frill across the skirt. A blue crepe gown was worn by the third, Mrs. Buchanan, having a side draping of chantilly lace. The fourth guest, Mrs. Currie, wore a Fashion Preferred model in grape with self applique, accented with pink chiffon. While the bride's maid in matching hat and jacket, and carrying a basket of spring flowers; the other in lovely soft blue with matching hat, also carrying a basket of spring flowers, preceded the bride, Mrs. Faulkner in her gown of shimmering white satin, simple in design and rich in styling, and featuring a front panel outlined by lace, long sleeves, and finger-tip veil of embroidered tulle illusion, brought a delightful fashion show to a close.

Thanks Expressed

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Shapiro, by Mrs. Stobie, on behalf of the Auxiliary, for his untiring efforts year after year, in making the Spring Fashion Show the success it has always been; hoping that he will make as many friends in the place to which he is going, as he has made in Belleville.

Mrs. Gilbert Scott, President of the Hospital Auxiliary, who was attired in a lovely sea-foam blue dress, with navy accessories, gave a brief outline of the work as carried on by the Auxiliary, its objectives, and achievements.

The exhibitors who contributed to the success of the show were, J. A. McNabb, Limited, for dress suits, and sportswear; Miss Maude Campbell, millinery; Grant Ashley for furs; McIntosh Bros. for all handbags, and gloves; Angus McFee for the costume jewellery which enhanced the gowns, coats, suits and dresses; Lettimer's Drug Store for the cosmetics which added the necessary glamour; Greta Wray Salon; Vogue Beauty Salon, and Leeman's hairdressing, and Berber and Sona, for the flowers.

A vote of appreciation was also extended to Mrs. William Warham who so kindly supplied the musical background throughout the show; to the stage committee, Mrs. R. E. Peterson, Mrs. R. H. Tanner, and Mrs. Malcolm Ross; to the ticket committee, Mrs. A. H. Ketcheson, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. H. F. Alford; to Mr. D. Marcus for the splendid display of Northern Electric for their assistance, and to Mr. Forhan for the spotlight.

Bouquets of red roses were presented to each of the models, to the commentator, and to the pianiste at the end of the fashion review by Mr. K. J. Schulman, the proprietor of McNabb's.

Program Music Theme of Talk

Members and guests of the Albert College Guild had a rare treat in store for them when they held their March meeting in Holloway Street United Church.

The theme was "Music" and was carried through the entire program. Mrs. Perkins based the devotional period talk on Psalm 96 and said in part, "Music expressed song and emotion. Go leave music as we know from how much music there is in the universe. Angels hymned the good-will message to men".

Col. Reginald Dowin, M.C., of Albert College staff, and choirleader of Holloway Street United Church, who spoke on "Program Music" was introduced by Mrs. E. M. Hubbs as the author of "Musical Technique". He spoke briefly on "absolute music" and contrasted it with "program music". Several illustrations were given, the speaker explaining what the composer wished to convey and then each number was played in a masterful style.

The numbers included: "The Shadow Dance", by Edward MacDowell. illustrating 'In My Garden Leaves Flickered"

"A.D. 1622" written to illustrate the composer's idea of the crossing of the "Mayflower".

"The Brook"

"Prelude No. 15" by Chopin, known as the Raindrop prelude.

"Prelude 32", Chopin.

"Valse Triste" by Sibelius.

"Finlandia", illustrating rough and rugged Norway.

"Wedding Day" by Grieg.

Appreciation was expressed by Mrs. Weese.

The guests were graciously welcomed by Mrs. Perkins and the appreciation of the Guild to Holloway Street ladies was expressed by Mrs. Lattimer.

A short business period was conducted by Mrs. Northcott, following the opening.

Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

Period of Mourning for a Widow

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I am a young widow. How long is it correct for me to wear mourning? And what color may I wear in summer, full mourning?

P. B.

Today there are no rules for the wearing of mourning, no definite code as there used to be. Now whether or not one wears mourning at all, and if so for how long, depends on the individual's choice and feeling. However, in a general way modern usage suggests that a widow wear mourning, either full mourning or half mourning, for between six months and a year; sometimes full mourning is worn for the first few months and then half mourning. Half mourning is any combination of white with black (for example, a white collar on a black dress, white gloves with a black suit, and so forth), or any shade of gray. Since all-white is as "deep" mourning as all-black, in summer the all-white clothes are often worn by those in mourning or sometimes very light weight all-black clothes in the daytime and all-white in the evening and in the house.

A Charming Idea . . . Notes of Announcement of the Marriage

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

Our wedding is to be a small formal one, at our home. Of course we want it to be the "perfect memory," with every detail although as inexpensive as possible, as correctly and as charmingly done as possible. With such a wedding it seems to me inconsistent to send formal marriage announcements. So I am wondering if I might properly with notes to all our relatives and friends not invited to the wedding, "announcing" that the marriage has taken place. I have never seen this done, and would like your reaction to this idea. If this could be proper, when should the notes be mailed?

A charming idea, entirely correct, exquisitely thoughtful! It will be a task, of course, but one that will be vastly rewarding, with so endearing personal gesture to those so happily remembered. These notes-of-announcement, just like formal announcements, should be mailed as soon as possible after the ceremony has been performed.

Should Not Invite Minister Who Cannot Perform Ceremony

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

My daughter is to be married soon, and since her prospective bridegroom is a divorced man, she cannot be married in our Anglican church. Therefore the marriage will take place in a non-Anglican church. We would like to have our own minister, whom we know very well, come to the reception. Would it be all right to have our own minister come? And must we also invite the minister of the church in which the marriage is to be performed (we don't know this minister personally?)

A. T.

I am positive that under these circumstances your own minister would prefer not to receive an invitation to the reception. He would, I believe, feel that since he could not perform the ceremony in his denomination, it would be inappropriate for him to attend the wedding reception. On the other hand, if the reception is for more guests than the members of the families, you should, courteously, invite the minister who is to perform the ceremony and his wife, if he has one, to the reception.

Beige Wool Greatcoat

Smart and Feminine

By VERA WINSTON

SKETCHED FOR today is a cover-all of diagonal weave wool in beige that is smartly bulky without losing its feminine air. The classic collar and revers are high placed above the single-breasted closing. The shoulders are soft and take a sloping line. Flaps placed high on the bodice simulate pockets. The waistline is minimized by capacious pockets with flaps to extend the line. A brown calfskin belt and buttons complete the detail.

Some women's prejudice against glasses is senseless

Unpleasant emotions have a deplorable effect upon the eyes, as they have upon the nervous system. Crying spells cause the fleshy setting to swell and prolonged sorrow robs them of lustre. Fortunately the chronic weepers have about disappeared from the land. Women are too proud, these days, to blubber, to acknowledge that anything has them down. The 'good old cry' was an indulgence of the Victorian age.

Warnings of loss of vision are many. Fine print cannot be read; ordinary print may appear blurred. There is often a desire to close the eyes and rest them. The lids may itch or twitch. Pains in the back of the head may signify that all is not well with the eyes.

Strong, healthy eyes carry on without complaint. When they protest, it is high time to find out what is wrong with them.

The prejudice some women have against glasses is senseless. Specs do not always make a woman look older or academic. Sometimes they give her a distinguished appearance, especially now when there are many different styles of frames and lenses from which to choose.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Eyestrain spreads crow's feet

Many women who bawl and complain about their beauty sorrows brought their griefs upon themselves. As if old Mother Time doesn't hand us enough of them! Feminine feet are deformed because of ill-fitting shoes. Once-slender figures acquire strange bulges because a woman will not curb her appetite or take sufficient exercise. Hair lacks lustre because it needs the invigorating strokes of the hair brush. Wearers get the worrier's face, which is not pretty. Some of the ills born of sheer vanity are shameful, won't wear glasses, and so grow themselves a flock of turkey tracks.

You may believe it or not, but it is true that impaired eyesight that is not remedied by specs may change the shape and character of the eyes. The change in contour is due to the effort of the lids to assist in the adjustment of vision. They are the shutters of the optic camera; they partially close to keep out the light, causing the eyes to appear narrow and uninteresting.

Eyestrain may bring smarting of the lids; sometimes inflammation sets up or the eyes become bloodshot. When such conditions are present, the nervous system may suffer. There may be undue fatigue or tension that will disappear when the eyes are given relief.

Eyestrain causes squinting; squinting sends the delicate tissues surrounding the eyes into tiny folds that soon become established furrows. Then what? They are there to stay, to constantly remind one whenever one glances into a mirror.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters and Answers

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old, and care for a girl who goes to the same school as I do. I want so much to ask her to go out with me, but she seems to have a date with another fellow who doesn't care for her.

Would it be proper to ask her for a date, and if she refuses, should I continue trying to date her or let it drop?

"Date Worries"

Dear "Date Worries":

Of course it would be proper to ask this girl for a date, and I should think that if the other fellow you mention shows no interest in her, she would be very glad indeed to accept your invitation.

Moreover, if you are really interested enough to want to get to know her better, you shouldn't be discouraged if she turns you down the first time but try again. Don't be persistent enough to annoy her, and don't try to rush her, but just let your occasional invitations show her that you like her and the chances are that sooner or later she will respond.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 20 and have worked in a dress factory for over two years.

There is a boss at the factory who is very nice and friendly. He asked me to go out with him and I did, and he told me he loved me and wanted a divorce from his wife. He is 38, but he says age doesn't matter to him as I am with him. We had an affair.

What I don't know is whether I should keep going with him as he wants me to, or should leave town, for I am losing lots of friends because of going with him!

"Grateful"

Dear "Grateful":

It seems to me you yourself should know the answer to your question. What you are actually asking is, whether you should keep on doing wrong or stop it.

If you haven't got the will power to stay away from this man any other way than by leaving town, I certainly advise you to do it.

But it seems to me that you would be more likely to gain back your friends' confidence in you if you stayed right where you were and started living differently.

New Canadian DPs From Europe Like Country

Toronto, March 16. (CP) — After working a year as domestics, 27 new Canadian girls Tuesday night talked about "freedom" with a two-fold meaning.

Not only were they living in a free country, but now they were able to choose their own vocation. As Toronto's Mayor Hiram McCallum presented them with certificates showing they had completed their contracts as domestic workers, they looked ahead to jobs and eventually marriage.

Most will go into factory work for at least a year.

"We liked domestic work, but in factories we will learn English quicker", commented a graduate pharmacist. "And we get more money in factories."

Money is of utmost importance to almost all the girls.

From a monthly salary of $35-$55, they were sending funds or parcels to relatives in Europe or saving what they could to bring relatives to Canada.

The main problem of Anna Curkan, pretty 27-year-old former stage dancer, is regaining her health and earning enough money to pay for the care of her 10-month-old baby. She was married in Europe and had her first child six months after her arrival in Canada.

"Canadians are friendly, but you get so terribly lonely in a strange country all by yourself," Anna said. "Of course I'd like to dance again, but there are so many other things."

Vera Kempe likes Canada because "I'm not like an animal waiting for parcels now. I'm sending them, and I don't have to care what Father Stalin thinks of me."

"Canada is wonderful—to Europe you have to worry about how to keep fat, but Canadians worry about how to keep slim."

South Hastings District Y.P.U. Holds Meeting

On Sunday last, the Young People's Unions of the United Church in South Hastings District held their annual Fellowship Sunday in Foxboro United Church. There were two services —afternoon and evening. The theme of this year's service was "Witnessing for Our Faith".

A short worship service, led by Beta Christie and Doug. Rose of the Carmel-Foxboro Y.P.U., with Don Williams at the organ, created a receptive atmosphere for the afternoon session.

The theme speaker was Rev. R. H. Rickard, B.A., M.R.E., who led each young person present to think more earnestly of the challenge given by Christ when He said, "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem and in all Judaea, and in Samaria and unto the uttermost part of the earth".

Following this theme address, three discussion groups were formed in which problems and questions arising from the address were discussed. These were led by Rev. C. A. Perkins, Rev. H. H. Hillis and Rev. J. J. Evenson.

A period of quiet recreation, taking the form of a Bible quiz, and led by Wilhelmine Huffman was enjoyed by all.

The district president, Margaret Hillis, presided over the afternoon session and the fellowship banquet which followed.

The evening service was in charge of the minister, Rev. A. L. Shorten, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., assisted by two members of the district executive, Reta Christie, fellowship convener and Don Williams, boys' work.

Special music was provided by members of a Young People's choir. The film, "My Name is Han", depicting the work of the Christian Church in China, was shown, following which Mr. Shorten presented a challenge for greater Christian service, while the picture "The Light of the World", was flashed on the screen, followed by "The Head of Christ".

The pronouncing of the benediction brought to a close another very worthwhile and uplifting fellowship Sunday.

MARSARAGA W.M.S.

The March meeting of Massassaga W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. M. Davidson with 11 present. Mrs. H. M. Wallbridge, the vice president, in charge, used the program suggested in the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Jose read parts of the message from the World Council of Churches meeting in Geneva.

Collection of $4.20 was received.

The study book chapter, "The Christian Church in China" was prepared by Mrs. Wallbridge, who led the study with other members assisting by questions and readings.

This chapter deals with the central purpose of missionary work, the planting of an indigenous Christian Church. Through the centuries the church has survived political upheavals and revolutionary changes. It has lived on through many years of war in China. It will live on. The church and missionaries in China need the understanding, prayers and support of the home church.

Mrs. Davidson read "Gains in the Church" and Mrs. W. Jose read "Losses in the Church".

The "Do you Know" quiz was answered by Mrs. E. Jose, Mrs. R. Valleau, Mrs. Hillman and Mrs. Boyle.

The hostess and assistants served refreshments and all enjoyed a social time.

Portugal Will Likely Join Proposed Pact

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Diplomatic authorities predicted today that Portugal probably will join the proposed Atlantic Security Pact despite Portuguese objections to parts of the conclusion and other matters.

Portugal's chief objection appeared to be its expressed determination not to make any treaty commitment which would commit it to grant peacetime bases to a foreign power in the Azores Islands.

The government also emphasized that it would not join any group of powers which would have the authority to decide by vote that it should grant bases.

The position of the United States and other pact countries on this point, as previously expressed also to Iceland and Denmark is that the treaty will provide a "framework" in which the base issue can eventually be worked out.

Optimism among treaty negotiators here as to Portugal's eventual lining up with the other Atlantic powers rested on two things. First, there was the ready assurance to Portugal about bases. Second, there was the declaration in the embassy statement that "the Portuguese government was one of the first governments to express satisfaction on the idea of a pact of the Atlantic Nations."

Portugal with the Azores, the island republic of Iceland, and Denmark with Greenland all occupy strategic positions in the North Atlantic. Iceland and Denmark have been under the question whether they would be compelled by the treaty to grant peacetime bases to the United States. They have been assured that they would not be.

Meanwhile, the countries which have been drafting the treaty in secret meetings at their ambassadors here with Acheson, concluded their work Tuesday. In addition to the United States, Britain and France, those already in the drafting line-up are Canada, Norway, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. The other four now generally expected to join this group in time for the initial signing ceremony here Friday are Italy, Iceland, Denmark and Portugal.

Eskimo's World Lacks Problems of Modern Life

BY GRAHAM TROTTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, — (CP) — When the little woman comes up with the perennial request for a fur coat, don't tell her to "go jump in the lake." Instead, stump her by asking, "who do you think you married — an Eskimo?"

In the land of the Eskimo, fur coats never lead to domestic trouble. Hubby makes a life work out of hunting for furs.

In fact, the life of an Eskimo is a better retreat than being a member of the French Foreign Legion for those who despair of this modern civilization and the worldly and domestic problems that go with it.

After talking with veteran Hudson's Bay Company post managers one gets the impression that Utopia is not an imaginary place, but is found in the frozen wastes of the Canadian north. The only real worry there is one of survival. But that is universal.

War, dictators, housing, money, capitalists, marriage, bringing up children, bathing — and fur coats all present their varied problems to the civilized. But not to the Eskimos.

Wars or dictators do not trouble Eskimos in their sleep. Their tribes don't fight. All tribe decisions are made for the good of all by common agreement. The nominal leader of a tribe is the best provider for family groups. There is no profit motive.

Housing is no problem. There are no worries about lack of materials, high costs of help or property lines. The Eskimo simply locates a good patch of crusted snow, cuts it into blocks and builds his own prefabricated dwelling in a matter of a few hours. And he builds igloos whenever and wherever he chooses, which is quite often.

Money is not the root of evil because it isn't. It doesn't exist. The Eskimo turns in his furs and skins to a trading post where he obtains credit to buy goods.

"Eskimos have only two vices, tea and tobacco," says one fur trader. "They smoke from the cradle to the grave."

Therein lies one of the secrets of bringing up children. They give the kids, cigarets to keep them quiet," he says. Eskimo children are exceptionally well behaved, he adds, and it is almost unheard of for a parent to strike a child.

It is true that Eskimo girls once were considered a liability and were done away with. In this respect civilization taught the Eskimos a virtue. The girls now are valuable help to their mothers in sewing clothes and cooking while junior learns father's hunting ways on the trail.

Amazing Voyages Aboard 'Girl Pat' Recited in Book

New York, March 16 —(CP)— Capt. Dod Orsborne says he was a British intelligence agent when he earned his reputation as a pirate and sailed the Girl Pat across the Atlantic.

The adventure-hunting soldier of fortune tells the story of his amazing voyage and other adventures in a book entitled "Master of the Girl Pat" (Doubleday), published here recently.

It is a description of espionage, sabotage, pearl-hunting, a safari to kill a man-eating tiger, warfare and escape from a Japanese prison-camp through a river full of crocodiles.

But Orsborne's story of the Girl Pat is the highlight for Canadian readers who remember the epic voyage. It began, he says, as his second trip for British naval intelligence. The first had taken him through the Mediterranean before the Spanish civil war began. He tells of blowing up some Italian planes destined for France, which put him in wrong with both Italians and the Spanish fascists. He says he got in wrong with the French by dumping overboard some rifles also headed for the Franco forces. On the way home he was jailed by suspicious Spaniards at Corcubion, on the Atlantic coast, but broke jail and escaped.

"I was much too impulsive and much too inclined to get into trouble and to get well known to ever become a really good agent," Orsborne admits. He had to argue hard to get a new assignment. His orders were to go to Gibraltar, with no landings en route.

Instead, he headed back to Corcubion, tricked the Spanish count who arrested him into giving him money and supplies to help France, then sailed south along the African coast. A Spanish cruiser opposing France paid him to blow up a railway bridge near Safi, in French Morocco. Orsborne says he was told that Spain was being built with German capital, so Franco's troops could be moved quickly from the Spanish Sahara to Morocco for an invasion of Spain.

A call at Dakar, just after the explosion, to meet another British agent was almost his undoing. One of his crew deserted and tipped the French authorities that Orsborne was "La Capitaine Solitaire," the nickname the French gave him. Only a storm saved the Girl Pat. She was hit once by a French naval shell before the gale hid her from pursuing ships.

The crewman who deserted had left no compass or charts aboard. There was no fuel and little food. By the time the storm ended Orsborne and his mate — Hector Harris, Ginger Stephens, and his brother, Jimmie Orsborne—were 500 miles southwest of Dakar.

He sailed westward instead of back to Africa, he said, because the trade winds would speed him across the Atlantic. He estimated the trip at two weeks. Actually it took 16 days to Devil's Island. By that time Orsborne and the crew were too weak to stand and sailed the boat by crawling on hands and knees.

Sequel to the trip was a 13-month sentence at Wormwood Scrubbs, British prison. Orsborne infers he wouldn't have been tried if the Admiralty could have admitted it had any connection with him.

The last few chapters of Orsborne's book is largely devoted to an unsuccessful effort he made after the Second World War to sail again across the Atlantic from east to west. He and a Spanish stowaway, who sneaked aboard his little Lovely Lady while she was in La Coruna for supplies got only within 1,200 miles of North America before being picked up, starving and battered, by a United States freighter.

4th Sidney—Another interesting evening was held in the 4th Sidney community hall on Friday evening. Mrs. C. Vermilyea was the convener of the committee in charge of the supper at 7.30 which everyone enjoyed. While the ladies cleared the dishes away, Rev. C. W. Neelands led the children in folk dances.

Mr. Hugh Gray was chairman for a very interesting program. A duet by Harold and Jack Rushnell; an Irish dance by Sandra Read; a solo "Danny Boy" by Anna Corinne Gray; a chorus "Lavender Blue" by the junior boys; a chorus "Ten Little Indians" by grade 1; a reading by Mrs. George Tucker; a guitar and mouth organ number by Everett Phillips; a reading by Miss Lois Benedict; a solo by Joan Jeffrey.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, a former resident of this community was asked for a few words. In her remarks she brought greetings and wished the association many more happy evenings together.

Dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening with refreshments being served at the usual time.

CAT RAISES ALARM

Bienfait, Sask.—(CP)—Charlie Brooks claims his life was saved by his cat when a recent fire destroyed his dry-cleaning business. He said the cat, disturbed by the smoke, came to his bedroom in the back of the shop and scratched at his bed-clothes until he wakened.

TWO In-laws and marriage recommended by Gretrude young couples. The young suitor moves in with the in-laws, proves his worth at hunting and building a home and then carries wife over the threshold of their own little igloo. The actual marriage ceremony still is very uncommon. Marriages no longer are arranged by parents.

The Saturday night bath does not produce childish tantrums. The Eskimos dispense with bathing all winter to preserve natural body oils that help to shield them against the cold.

MELROSE

Melrose, March 16 — (Special) —Mrs. Wm. McMechan had the misfortune to fall and injure her knee. Friends hope it will soon be better.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jeffrey entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alex Allison and children, of Carmel, on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Arthur English visited her mother and other relatives at Forfer recently.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Badgley lately had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. McCabe and Donald, just home from a few months' stay in Florida.

Rev. A. W. Lougheed and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Macfarlane were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. A. W. McLaren.

Farm Forum was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lazier.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Lazier entertained the latter's mother, Mrs. Cuthill of Napanee, over the weekend.

The Kibitzer

The questions in my mail bag act as a bridge barometer. They tell the trend of ability. And many players are definitely stepping out of the elementary.

A letter points out that slam bidding has become scientific and reasonably accurate. Then the observer inquires: Why is it that so many soundly bid slams are defeated or difficult to make?

The answer is in two parts. One cause can be from an unexpected split of unseen opponent cards. The other can be from what is known as a duplication of values.

A sound bidding system is based on this general rule: Of unseen cards, an even number most often splits unequally; an odd number as equally as possible.

Times are when the division of opponent cards is abnormal. As when five cards break four and one or five and none. Then is when the most accurate bidding may find itself in trouble.

Duplication is another worry. A pair sees enough tricks; high and short cards. One player may count shorts in a suit. His partner may count highs in the same suit. Result, duplication.

There could be ace and king and queen of a suit for a count of three. Partner could have a void in the same suit for a count of three. Result is a count of six in a suit that produces only three tricks.

No warning of this may appear in the bidding. As in the case of this deal:

	NORTH
	♥K 7 5
	♣7 6 4
WEST		EAST
♠J 9		♠Q 10 8 6
♥Q J 7 5		♥8 3 2
♦Q 9 5 3		♦10 9
♣Q 9 5 3		♣8
		♠10 8 2
	SOUTH
	♠None
	♥A Q 6
	♦A K 10 7 6 4 3
	♣A K J

South became the declarer at a small slam contract of six diamonds. Opening lead from west was the three of clubs.

The bidding counted two north spades for ace and king; three in south spades for shorts. But north may not even get in to take two spades. Plan to overcome this.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 17 — (AP) —Shake hands with Max Baer the actor — if you don't mind risking loss of your hand.

We find the mammoth champ in his dressing room on the "Love is Big Business" set.

How does he like the thespian art?

"Why, is the softest racket in the world. I've been hit in the head for 30 years, but I can do it. I shoulda stuck to this all along."

Baer had his first fling at emoting in "The Prize-Fighter and the Lady" in 1933. He co-starred with Myrna Loy.

"I coulda had a career out here, I guess," he says in his rumbling bass. "But I was a fresh young punk and I thought I could become champion."

As a matter of fact, he did, by knocking out Primo Carnera in the 11th round at Long Island City. A year later, the crown was tipped off his large head by Jim Braddock.

Acting is Easier

"This acting game is much easier," he says. "Although I guess a lot of actors around here are finding out it ain't so rosy these days. You gotta know your stuff or you don't work.

"Me, I'm lucky. I saved my dough. So if I don't get a job in pictures for a while, I can live on my annuities."

Baer tells about his little (five-feet-seven) brother Buddy, who is playing a singing date in Baltimore.

"He's got a great abritone," Max says proudly. "I've been talking to him about maybe doing a brother act. I'm not going out with Rosenbloom again.

He refers to Slapsy Maxie Rosenbloom. The two Maxes teamed in comedy act and last season were the Lunt and Fontanne of the saloon circuit.

ONE BOY RETURNS

London, Ont., March 17 (CP)—One of two boys reported missing to police has returned home.

David Taylor, 14, who left his home at nearly Lambeth March 14 has returned home.

Still missing is Peter Marson, 16, missing from his Kingston home since March 2. Kingston police believe he intended to visit London.

AT THE BELLE — Those who fondly remember 'Lassie Come Home' and 'The Green Years,' will equally enjoy the new MGM Technicolor picture, "Hills of Home," opening today at the Belle Theatre. Edmund Gwenn, Donald Crisp, Tom Drake, Janet Leigh and the screen's wonder dog, Lassie, are the principals in this fascinating story.

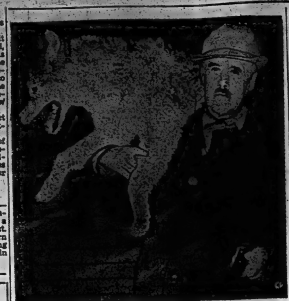
Remodeling Plan Arouses Citizens Of Salisbury

Salisbury, Wilts., England, March 17 (CP) — A proposal to remodel the ancient town of Salisbury roused its citizens to protest until they were told the changes mightn't take place for 500 years.

Dr. Thomas Sharp, one of Britain's most famous town planners, prepared a massive report dealing with problems of Salisbury's future growth, its traffic congestion and shortage of building space. A certain amount of demolition was envisaged.

Salisbury, the biggest market town in southwest England, has been a thriving centre since the 13th century when it was founded by residents of "Old Sarum," who forsook their original homes on a windy hilltop.



Thousands of tourists visit it annually to inspect its aged, crowded buildings and famous cathedral. Sharp bemoans the lack of "slack places" where relief roads could be built to handle modern traffic, and the similar dearth of "free but hitherto obscured sites" where new buildings could be erected.

These problems could be met only by levelling some of the existing buildings.

He opposes industrialization of the town, which thrives as a distributive centre, although conceding that a few small factories would widen opportunities for local youths.

NEW RADIO OFFICE

Owen Sound, Ont. — (CP) — Offices and studios of radio station CFOS moved recently to a new location on 9th Street East. The station now has a modern and efficient a radio broadcasting centre as any small city in Canada.

WOLF HUNTING MAYOR—Spurred by loss of farm animals during the past two years, residents of St. Hilaire, Que., organized a wolf hunt to clean up a band of the grey animals ravaging the district. One of the successful hunters was Mayor Leopold Roley who is shown holding on his shoulders the animal he shot. (CP Photo).

Shore Jobs Tempt Sussex Fishermen

By NORMAN GIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Hastings, England — (CP) — Too many of Hastings' young fishermen are trading rubber jerseys and putting on the blue suits of office workers — and, say old salts, the industry is dying out.

"Young men nowadays would rather go dancing in town than do an honest day's fishing," says 83-year-old Tom Martin, father of the Hastings fishing quarter. "I'm disgusted with the lot of them."

Answered one of the young men: "Our fathers spend day after day, week after week, and year after year at sea, working like slaves. At the end of a week they are lucky if they bring home £3 ($13) — chicken feed which we could easily double in safe jobs ashore. Why, then, should we be expected to follow in our fathers' footsteps?"

Joe Coglan, 33, spoke in the same fashion: "I started life as a coal miner," he said, "but changed to fishing. Sometimes I wish I'd stayed in the pits. There is no money in fishing today. I'm hanged if I'll let my children go to sea when they grow up."

Youth Not to Blame

White-bearded William Bettes, Hastings fishmarket superintendent, who is 65, declared: "Our kind are dying out fast. It's a sorry thing, but I don't know as I can blame the younger folk. There are lots more easier ways of earning a living, with considerably less risk involved.

"If fishermen were paid in proportion to the hours they work and the risks they run, the situation might yet be saved."

Many Hastings fishermen take a second job in their spare time to help out the family budget. One is Bert Harwood, 35, who drives a truck when he is not out at sea and sometimes makes more money on road than he can by fishing.

"Very often we are at sea for several days without catching a speck," he said ruefully.

Jim Strangeways, 27, whose family have been fishermen for three or four generations, said: "Fishing is in my blood and I'd rather fish than do anything else in the world. But, with a family to consider, I often think I should take up something that offers a fair wage for a fair day's work."

Whitehall Notebook:
Cripps' Budget in April Likely to be Slap as A Caress

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 17 — (CP) — If anyone but Sir Stafford Cripps was Chancellor of the Exchequer, budget forecasts would be as bright as the flowers of spring.

But his April message to the taxpayers is as likely to be a slap as a caress, although the election is only 15 months away.

The Chancellor expects to end the present year March 31 with a surplus on hand. His revenues have been so buoyant that he probably will stay in the black despite expenditures of £3,210,000,000 ($894,000,000) higher than anticipated when his 1948-49 budget was prepared.

Election worry

With an election at hand, and persistent grumbling over high taxes, this should point to easier times in 1949-50. Labor backbenchers, concerned about their re-election prospects, want concessions to advertise the government's concern with the welfare of ordinary folk. But they feel no more cheerful about Sir Stafford's methods than do the non-political innocent bystanders.

The Labor men would like a reduction in the purchase tax, now ranging from 33 1/3 to 100 per cent of the wholesale price on less essential consumer goods including much electrical equipment, numerous textiles, drugs, tottery not used for food, and cutlery.

Smokes Still High

Then they would like something done about the amenities of life. Sir Stafford, a persistent smoker himself, appears content to leave cigars at 2s 6d (70 cents) for 20 with other tobacco high in proportion. This means a working man who smokes 20 cigarets a day may spend a quarter of his income on tobacco.

Business men complain that continued high income tax, limitation of dividends and purchase taxes put brakes on venturesome aggressive methods they believe necessary to develop export business.

They would like to see profits tax on retained profits eliminated with arrangements for losses as well as profits over a period of years taken into account when income tax is calculated.

Latest Regulations To Aid Trapper

Severn Falls, Ont. (CP)— Six days a week, Clarence Marshall puts his pack on his back and tramps 18 miles to inspect his traplines.

He finds it's paying off. The Ontario lands and forest department this year selected his trapping area as a model trap line.

The Northern Ontario trapping area was split up last year, with each section allotted to a different trapper. Mr. Marshall's area has 25 lakes dotted through its 18 square miles and he is concentrating on building up its beaver population.

He is the only one allowed to trap there. And he can't trap anywhere else.

"There is a future in trapping now," he says, "for we can build up stock in our own zones, knowing we are working for our own benefit."

He has trapped for 16 years near this town near the eastern shore of Georgian Bay. He lives with his wife and six-year-old daughter in an abandoned railway station.

Mrs. Marshall works nearly as hard at trapping as her husband. She accompanies him on the trap-line in the spring and fall, spending the winter fleshing, skinning and stretching the hides.

Mr. Marshall has nearly 200 snares and 400 traps.

Right now, he's after fox, wolf and bears. He believes these animals deplete the stocks of smaller fur-bearing animals. He doesn't intend to trap any lynx during the three or four years and is feeding them and helping repair their dams in the meantime.

LUMBER KINGS WIN

Ottawa, March 17 (CP)—Pembroke Lumber Kings Wednesday night captured the Ottawa and District Senior Hockey Association championship by shading Cornwall Calumets 6-3 in the fifth game of their best-of-five total-point series. They now advance into the first round of the Allan Cup playoffs against Sydney Millionaires.

MUNICIPAL PET

Kenora, Ont. —(CP)— Bambi, a year-old deer, walks through the main streets of this town without fear, scrounging sugar lumps and other delicacies. He spends the nights in a wooded spot inside the town limits. The fawn pays no attention to dogs.

FILIBUSTER-TYPE

Minister St. Laurent gave notice that he will seek adoption today of a motion to have the chamber sit mornings and Saturdays to ensure passage of the legislation before the month-end. The control orders will expire if extension is not approved by March 31.

In the opening stages, Mr. St. Laurent said he hoped the chamber could take its Easter recess from Friday, April 8, to Monday, April 25, but warned that there was some urgent legislation before the House which might necessitate a shorter holiday.

Finance Minister Abbott said he could not state the government's attitude toward a possible request that Canada give most-favored-nation treatment to Japanese textile imports.

Return to Debate

The Senate returned to the Throne-Speech debate and heard Senator L. A. David (L—Quebec) assert that if Canada assumes the right to amend her own constitution, special provision should be made to ensure that the official status of the French language could be changed only with Quebec's assent.

Senator W. M. Aseltine (PC—Saskatchewan) touched on wheat and held that western producers are receiving less than the sum paid them by the government for contract wheat because of charges of freight, elevator space and handling.

In the Commons, Justice Minister Garson entered the discussion briefly to answer questions from opposition members and said there were no extensive changes in the control orders.

The main change was that the Prices Board no longer would have power to fix prices except on commodities still under price ceilings—butter, sugar, molasses, bread, flour and certain kinds of fruits and vegetables.

Called Dangerous

Mr. Drew said it was a "dangerous" thing for parliament to declare that a general emergency still existed because that act would give the Federal Government the right to invade any field of provincial rights that it wished. It also would affect the ability of the courts to protect the people.

There should be specific statutes for specific controls and emergencies.

Mr. Jackman held that the Progressive Conservatives were not opposed to controls which were in the best interests of the people. But they did want the government to show that an emergency existed to warrant the continuation of some of the measures it was seeking to extend.

Mr. Lockhart urged the government to abandon its controls except in "very emergent" circumstances.

One in Ten Families Woman-Supported

Toronto, March 17 — (CP) — Making sure that women receive the same pay as men if they do equal work is the job of Mrs. Marion Mack.

She is the administrator of the Equal Pay Bureau of New York State, which for five years has enforced an equal pay law.

Here to address a meeting, she said in an interview Wednesday night that the argument that a man needs higher wages than a woman because he has a family to support is out of date. She added that in the United States, one of every 10 families is supported by a woman.

SWEDISH COMMUNISTS FOLLOW PARTY LINE

Stockholm, March 17 (AP) — Sweden's communists Wednesday night followed the party line declared in several other countries and said their sympathies would lie with the Soviet Union in the event of war. The statement was read in both Houses of Sweden's Parliament.

GARSON DECLINES TO GIVE OFFHAND OPINION IN HOUSE

Question Raised by Diefenbaker With Respect to Orders-in-Council

Ottawa, March 17 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson declined in the Commons Wednesday to express an opinion on whether the government has the power to bring the tax changes in the budget into effect by order-in-council.

The question was raised by John Diefenbaker (PC — Lake Centre) who referred to speculation set off by announcement that the budget will be brought down next Tuesday and by the government's decision to lengthen the sitting hours of the chamber. There has been speculation that the moves indicate an early general federal election.

Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"I was wondering whether or not under these emergency powers it is considered by the minister of justice that once the budget has been introduced, without it being passed by parliament, the subsequent passing of an order-in-council could make effective its recommendations."

Mr. Garson replied:

"I have been in the legal profession for 40-odd years and I have never yet acquired the habit of answering questions of the type asked by honorable friend like a slot-machine.

"If my honorable friend wishes an opinion on that I shall be glad to confer with the law officers of the Crown and produce it for him, but I regret that I cannot feel responsible to produce it at a moment's notice at the present time."

The exchange occurred during study of a resolution providing for the extension of some of the war-time emergency controls.

Mr. Diefenbaker took the floor again and said:

"I think the allusion to a slot-machine is about the best thing I have heard in reference to orders-in-council. When the think of the thousands that have been turned out, the slot-machine allusion is most applicable and most pertinent.

"But still that does not answer my question. The experience in the past has shown that the government has not been too careful about exceeding its powers when passing orders-in-council, even when those powers are granted by a statute passed by this parliament.

"It was because of that fact that I asked the question and the uncertainty of the reply gives me the answer that I was endeavoring to get."

Four Persons Suffer Injuries In Car-Truck Collision

Listowel, March 17 — (CP) — Four persons were injured, one critically, in a car-truck collision last night near this town some 30 miles north of Stratford.

Arthur Stephens, 33, driver of the car, suffered fractures of both legs, a fractured pelvis and severe scalp wounds. His 42-year-old wife has possible rib fractures with severe face and scalp lacerations. Mrs. Rita Carson, 43, a passenger in the Stephens car, suffered a broken forearm, a broken nose and multiple cuts. All three come from nearby Gorrie. Clifford Bray, 20, of Brussels, the truck driver, suffered scalp and facial injuries and possible rib fractures.

All four injured are in Listowel hospital where their conditions is reported today as fair.

Police said the collision occurred when the truck swung out to pass a car driven by Mrs. John Sproule of Listowel which turned off on a side road.

Sudden War Would Find Russia With Strongest Fleet in Pacific

BY RUSSELL BRINES

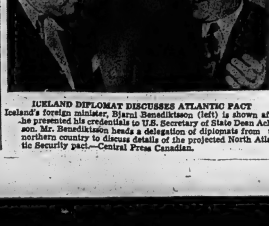
Tokyo, March 17 — (AP) — Sudden war in the western Pacific would find Russia with a larger fleet than the United States.

The Soviet Far Eastern Fleet—increased since the end of the war —now includes six cruisers, a number of destroyers and between 72 and 100 submarines of all types.

However, American naval officers are inclined to agree with a recent opinion the Soviet fleet is far behind the times.

Nevertheless, there is a feeling in naval circles that the vast job of keeping the sea lanes open from Hawaii to beyond the Indian Ocean is being done on a shoestring.

The strongest American force in this area is the Western Pacific Fleet now in China waters. Its future disposition depends on events. A small force of destroyers and minesweepers operates from Japan as part of the Far East Command. This command includes the Pacific islands stretching from here to the Philippines.



Even with this small force, United States naval strength out here is being reduced — partly in line with the "Europe first" strategy.

The skeleton bases in the Philippines and Okinawa will be reduced further for reasons of economy.

Pearl Harbor in Hawaii remains the key of Pacific naval strategy — linked by comparative mobility to Asian outposts. The reduced Pacific fleet is based in Hawaii. Part of the cruisers and destroyers are drawn from it will be assigned to the Atlantic fleet and the remainder will be deactivated.

Navy authorities said drydock and repair facilities at Subic Bay in the Philippines will be curtailed further. The naval air station at Sangley Point in Manila Bay virtually will be abandoned.

Another air installation will be abandoned on Okinawa to be replaced by an ordnance depot maintained by a small force. Naval bases on Guam and Saipan will continue as supply — but not strategic centres.

NEW COUNTRIES INVITED INTO ATLANTIC PACT

Denmark, Iceland, Italy And Portugal Included

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Denmark, Iceland, Italy and Portugal were invited to join in a North Atlantic security pact.

Representatives of the four already have been in contact with American and other Atlantic power officials to discuss the alliances, designed to curb aggression.

Inclusion of Italy was a triumph for France and the United States.

The American and French governments argued that Italy's prowestern outlook and her strategic position in the Mediterranean made it necessary to include her.

In Rome, communist members of the Chamber of Deputies protested inclusion of Italy with Latin-American republics to protect the new world from aggression.

The State Department announced that the international treaty, said signing of the treaty would take place in April.

It would commit each of the signatory powers to join in resisting an attack on anyone of them. Each would decide for itself whether it would use armed force in meeting the attack.

New Wheat Pact Will Exclude Soviet Union

Washington, March 17 — (AP) —A new international wheat agreement with Russia left out of negotiations Wednesday in Canada, the United States and Australia, currently the world's wheat exporting problems here.

Charles Wilson of Ottawa, chairman of the six-member exporters committee, said the decision was made because the Soviet Union was not willing to accept an export figure of less than 75,000,000 bushels a year.

The other exporting countries felt that Russia should be limited to 50,000,000 bushels annually, he said.

F. Sheed Anderson of Britain, chairman of the importers group, told a reporter he expected his group to reach an agreement within a day on whether to accept the new offer made by the exporters.

The offer would pledge them to supply 450,000,000 bushels of wheat a year for four years at a maximum price of $1.80 a bushel.

The minimum price would be $1.50 the first year, $1.65 the second then drop 10 cents a bushel to a low of $1.20 in the fourth year.

In addition to the United States, Canada and Australia, the offer includes two minor exporters, France and Uruguay.

Wilson said the decision to leave Russia out is final. He said that the Soviet Union, Sergei Borisov, made no objection and did not indicate any willingness to withdraw from his previous stand.

He said that if Russia were permitted to supply 75,000,000 bushels a year, the three major exporters "would be giving up markets against their will to satisfy the will of our importers."

Delegates from Britain, Finland and Czechoslovakia declined to say whether they will participate in the agreement without the Soviet Union.

Shamrocks Flown To Berlin Irish Folk

Berlin — (Reuters) — Airlift planes today flew in shamrocks for the Irish community here, celebrating their first St. Patrick's Day in blockaded Berlin.

Although there are fewer than 30 Eire citizens in the German capital, there are an estimated 300 Irish — Americans serving with the United States forces and military government.

ARMISTICE LINES FOR JERUSALEM ARE AGREED UPON

Use of Roads and Accessibility to Holy Place Left for Future Discussion

Rhodes, March 17 (AP)—Israel and Trans-Jordan agreed Wednesday night on armistice lines dividing the holy city of Jerusalem between them. They left the issues of mutual use of roads and accessibility to Holy Place for future settlement.

The agreement, based on their Nov. 30 truce lines, covers the entire Jerusalem sector. It establishes an armistice line that starts at a point near the village of Al Walaja southwest of Jerusalem, cuts through the Holy City and swings back to the west, completing a semi-circle, an Israeli spokesman said.

Discussion of the reduction and withdrawal of forces in the entire Jerusalem area is scheduled for today.

Meanwhile, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations mediator, announced that U.N. observers have found no basis for Trans-Jordan complaints that Israeli and Egyptian clashes recently in the Aqaba area.

He said it has been established that Israeli troops moved south of the Gulf of Aqaba, occupying the hamlet of Ras El Nagb on the Israeli side of the Trans-Jordan border, but that the move was accomplished without a fight.

Although agreement on the armistice demarcation lines marks definite progress, the road to peace in the Holy Land still is strewn with many obstacles.

Reports from Tel Aviv said Israel is angling for a corner of the western edge of the Arab - held Jenin - Nablus - Tulkarm triangle in north-central Palestine. This section was awarded to the Arabs by the U.N. partition plan.

Both Trans-Jordan and Iraqi forces occupy the triangle, the Iraqis garrisoning the western sector in and around Jenin.

Armistice agreement between Trans-Jordan and Israel, and between Syria and Israel, would leave the Iraqis stranded in that area, their lines of supply and withdrawal cut off.

This is just one of the many specific problems which enter directly or indirectly into the armistice talks here.

Family Imports Shamrock

Toronto, March 17 (CP) — Eighty cents brought a touch of old Erin to the Conroy family today. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conroy and their six children were invited to a shamrock from Ireland because "it just wouldn't be St. Patrick's Day without it."

BEAUTIES NOT BEASTS

Bilford-on-Avon, Warwickshire, England — (CP) — Girls who want to be carnival queens don't like parading before judges on a platform and being awarded points "like prize beasts at a livestock show," says G. E. B. Richards, chairman of the carnival committee.

UNITED STATES BACK-TRACKING ON MAIN DEFENCE

Strategy in Light Of Cold War Revised

Pearl Harbor, March 17 (AP) —Only four years after winning mastery of the Pacific from Japan the United States is back-tracking its main defence line on this great ocean to its own west coast.

Pacific commanders here believe discussion, but obviously the line they would like to man and hold is as far from the United States mainland and as close to Asia as possible.

Under present and contemplated budgets, however, forces left for the Pacific are low enough for maintenance of a district line.

With priorities concentrated on Europe, the Mediterranean and elsewhere, the Pacific's role in the cold-war strategy seems even more secondary than during the war.

American military observers here—where the memory of Dec. 7, 1941, is still green—agree the United States west coast's industrial and plane-producing belt would be the prize target for an enemy surprise attack by long-range bombers or submarine-launched guided missiles.

Alaska, another controlling factor in Pacific deployment, they feel the best defence that can be afforded there is the attempt to concentrate major defending elements right on the potential targets and in Alaska.

Steady cutbacks in air and naval strength in Hawaii and the westward are evidences of this. Others include:

Last week Admiral Dewitt C. Ramsey, Pacific fleet commander, announced that headquarters Pacific air headquarters were moving from Hawaii to San Diego, Calif.

The air force is sending back to the mainland its 31st fighter wing, its last in the Pacific command.

Air intercepting forces Hawaii has left are National Guard squadron of 25 propeller F-47 Thunderbolts and a navy all-weather fighter training unit.

In the event hostilities break out with Russia, no carrier or battleship is based in Hawaii, in fact, only two first-line carriers are operating in the Pacific. Both are in Japan and Yokohama are based on the west coast.

Although the Pacific fleet command refuses to disclose the number of warships deployed in the Far East it knows that the Chinese and Japanese waters there are not more than four cruisers, one small escort carrier and a small force of destroyers.

Observers note that the Pacific fleet enemy could project a serious threat against the U.S. mainland as American forces there are scattered. They would be hours to cope with any potential new threat to the west coast they face.

GIVEN BOUQUET BY FANS

Niagara Falls, March 17 — (CP) — Niagara Falls own Marines Smith, appearing in a skating carnival here, was presented with a bouquet of roses Wednesday by Mayor W. A. Houck of the border city.

The mayor headed a delegation of home town fans who flew to Toronto to see the performance of the local boy. Saturday carried off second place in the North American novice roller-skating competition at Philadelphia.

Airmen Finance Apartment Block to Beat Housing

BY WILLIAM BOSS

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Oslo, March 17 — Norway's airlike any other European city, has a housing shortage. But members of the Royal Norwegian Air Force took matters into their own hands a year ago. Now, just outside the city a 150-apartment development is taking shape and the first families already have moved in.

Four of the six officers in one block have Canadian wives and the girls — all from Ontario — say the proportion will be as high in other units. The romances grew while the men took wartime training at Little Norway, outside Toronto.

The women are Mrs. Shiela Gilmour Stene, Ruth Gibson Wasler and Margaret Matchett Wold, all from Toronto, and Pat McDowell Hagglund of Midland.

Their husbands, with 146 other airmen formed a housing corporation. Each subscribed an agreed amount of money.

The Norwegian government cooperated by making land available, providing an interest-free loan and awarding priorities for materials.

Opened in February

The first flats of five and six storeys, with single storey garages, were finished in February, just as Mrs. Stene returned from a six-month holiday in Canada.

More than 30 former Canadian girls are today as proud of their Norwegian citizenship as of their Canadian background — being born to a "Viking Club" on the spot. Their main complaint is that the diet, while adequate, is dull.

"In 1946 it was more varied for a while," said Mrs. Wasler, "but this last year it has got thin again. They tell us that by 1953 Norway will be on her feet. If that is so, then we'll think it was worth it."

The Canadian women say the price of staples in Oslo is the same as those in Canada, but because Norwegian salaries are lower the money does not go as far.

Say Son Attempted Murder and Then Ended His Life

Sydney, N.S., March 17. (CP) — A 53-year-old father today lay critically wounded in hospital here after, police said, his knife-wielding son tried to kill him and then committed suicide.

Police said 20-year-old Fred Hambly of Montreal enjoyed his father's hotel room Wednesday night. Minutes later, persons in the lobby heard a scream. Frank Hambly lurched from the room shouting "Don't let him get out." He weaved down the corridor and sank to the floor in a pool of blood.

Police said they later found the son dying in the hotel-room floor. He had been slashed four or five times around the heart and died shortly after police arrived. A home-made knife with a seven-inch blade lay near the body.

A note was found on Fred Hambly's body. Contents would not be revealed until an inquest March 31.

The elder Hambly was also from Montreal. He was stabbed several times in the stomach.

Frank Hambly and his wife, Edith, were planning a divorce police said. From this stemmed a complex motive for the attempted murder and suicide.

66 War Orphans Reach New York

New York, March 17 — (AP) — They trooped down the steps from the plane, a little hesitantly, carrying small bundles.

Everything they owned was in those boxes.

There were 66 of them, war-orphaned children who brought here from Germany to enter foster homes.

They were tots in caps and knitted hats of khaki wool. Their clothes were neat, but mostly outsized hand-me-downs.

"Is this really America?" asked Romnata Franka, when it was over and over again.

Few of them spoke English.

WESTERN POWERS ACCUSE RUSSIA OF RE-ARMING

Breaks Peace Treaties Commitments Claim

London, March 17 (AP)—Western powers accused Russia and three of her satellites Wednesday of going back on their commitments.

Britain declared Communist-ruled Bulgaria Romania and Hungary, now in the Soviet bloc after wartime partnership with Germany, were secretly re-arming, in violation of their peace treaties, with Russia's connivance and support.

The United States State Department in a note to Moscow made public Wednesday, accused Russia of violating at least six treaties. The countries in return all German war prisoners in Soviet hands by end of 1948. It renewed a demand that they be turned loose.

France and Britain sent similar notes, the state department said. The British note estimated at least 200,000 German P.O.W.'s still are in Russian hands. Russia contends she was never bound by any agreement to repatriate the captives of last Dec. 31. The United States Britain and France contend the Big-Four foreign ministers reached such an agreement in April of 1947.

State Minister Hector McNeil told the House of Commons Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary are guilty of "flagrant violations of the peace treaties" in rearming and he said Britain will take the matter to the United Nations.

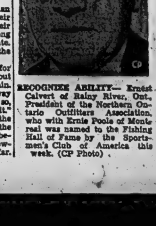
Beyond Specifications

Bulgaria and Rom, his have already increased their armed forces beyond treaty specifications, he said, and Hungary is reported spending her military strength.

McNeil said all three have turned down a British-American proposal to limit aircraft to their armed strength on the ground that Russia one of the Allies concerned in the treaties, did not join in the request.

McNeil reiterated previous charges that the three countries have violated treaty provisions guaranteeing freedom of speech, press, religion and public meetings to all citizens and that political parties, churches and newspapers are being liquidated for refusal to go along with the Communists.

In response to questions, McNeil said British will press for introduction of the health and treatment of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the Roman Catholic primate serving a life term in Hungary after conviction by a "People's" court.



He said the British Charge D'Affaires in Budapest has been unable to obtain reliable information regarding the Cardinal's health since the pre-trial treatment of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the Roman Catholic primate serving a life term in Hungary after conviction by a "People's" court.

The British government's note to Russia on the prime minister situation was delivered Tuesday, as was that of the United States.

Hints For Dad On Baby Care

London — (CP) — "Bringing up father" is the aim of a code of behavior issued by Middlesex County Council entitled "Father's Share in the Children's Care." Mothers get them at clinics and are told to pass them along to their husbands.

Hints include: "Don't give baby a dummy (comforter)... Don't tell mother to feed the child just to quiet it at night ... Don't shatter baby's eardrums with the wireless or choke it with tobacco fumes."

The booklet also advises father to take mother a cup of tea in the morning to help start the day well.

Further advice is given against reading fairy tales that are too lurid characters or incidents. And finally: "Don't play with their toys when they are itching to use them."

Experts Discuss Qualities Needed for Good Mothers

By MARIENNE ISSAK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, (CP) — Do women of the United States make good mothers. A number of top psychologists, child welfare workers and educators say they don't.

One speaker at a recent meeting of the National Commission on Children and Youth was Dr. George D. Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois. He said the American girl who attends college shuns all courses on home economics and child psychology. Instead she takes "miscellaneous liberal arts courses" which usually leave her an expert on nothing.

Modern women don't take their homes and children seriously enough, he said.

"They don't think their home job is very crucial and quickly get bored. They are failing to make the home a centre of culture for the family. In how many American homes do you find a mother teaching her children anything artistic or trying to instil in them an appreciation of good music? Instead, she sends them to the movies."

Katherine Lenroot, head of the United States Children's Bureau, put part of the blame on the schools. She said the name "home economics" scares girls away, and that the courses are not made sufficiently interesting or challenging.

Dr. George S. Stevenson, medical director of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, said children have become a liability instead of an economic asset.

"Parents want children as much as they ever did. But the emotional interest in children has to sustain the greater devotion to them... We are in the process of evaluating children in different terms than did our grandfathers and grandmothers."

Blanche Hennig

Ruby Hurley, a New York welfare worker who is vice-president of the National Commission on Children and Youth, blamed the hurrying situation.

"When you live doubled up in a tiny apartment or sub-standard house, you are bound to find it hard to be interested in home-making," she said.

But not all the speakers were critical of American mothers.

Clyde E. Murray, head of the Workers Union Settlement, said: "The American woman is doing a magnificent job of raising her children. So what if she does not know how to cook very well when she gets married? She learns in a hurry."

Dr. Stoddard expressed belief the country's social workers and youth experts have failed to give the public an accurate picture of the needs of American youth. American parents had not been educated to their responsibility in this matter.

A record increase in births in the United States has intensified the problem. In 1947, of the country's 144,000,000 citizens, 45,000,000 were children under 18 years of age. Nearly 4,000,000 babies were born in that year—the highest number in any year of America's history.

Screen Kisses Routine Matter For Movie Wife

By GENE HANDSAKER

Hollywood (AP)—Ever wonder what a movie wife thinks when she sees her handsome husband passionately kissing other women on the screen?

Brenda Marshall used to blow her top or, as she says, flip my lid. It terrorized me. Her husband is William Holden.

Driving home from the preview of one of Bill's love scenes, she'd say: "Well, how did you like it?" Brenda snapped bitterly, "since you kissed that Claire Trevor!"

Bill was silent and angry for several miles. Finally, he snapped, "Is that all you can say about the picture?" There followed. Bill says, "one of our worst fights."

The problem was "a big fighting point," Brenda adds. "I'd roam all night of whether a picture was good." One day she visited his set and planted herself where he'd see her when he went into a clinch.

"Anything to throw him," Brenda admits. Bill led her aside and said, "Get off the set. You're upsetting my leading lady."

This was several years ago. Brenda has become reconciled — even proud. "After all, which could be more intriguing than to be married to a big romantic star?"

It didn't annoy her a bit when three New York telephone operators, on their afternoon off, recently made a party-line call to Bill at a Manhattan hotel. They wanted to talk with their movie hero. "As long as it's the females who are being aggressive," Brenda smiles. "Now, if it were the other way around . . ."

It did annoy her that Bill never complained about her own movie love-making—with Errol Flynn and others. "She didn't do bad," Bill admits. Enough for the forthcoming "Whispering Smith" Brenda has defied about her career to bring up their children. He calls her by her real name, Edna.

The Holdens live in the big homestead-lot-of-lawn suburb of Toluca Lake, in the San Fernando Valley. Among the Holden three youngsters—11 to 2 1/2 years—are in nighties and bathrobes on a living-room floor, being cajoled by blackface comedy on television.

No actor is a star to his own kids. Youths who come to the door for Bill's autograph get, to 11-year-old Virginia, "silly." Fan magazine photos of the Holdens are noted by the children without comment. After attending "The Man From Colorado," five-year-old West (short for Peter Westfield) said merely that he had seen "a western picture."

Bill prodded. "Did you see Daddy in it?" Disinterestedly: "Yeah, I seen you."

West reported sadly the other day, "Rickey (a playmate) says you're nothing but an actor." Bill retorted, "Tell him his father is nothing but the vice-president of an oil company!"

Mrs. R. Robson Addresses Roslin W.I.

Roslin—The March meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Chisholm with twenty-seven ladies and seven children present.

The president, Mrs. Chisholm, presided and the meeting was opened in the usual way. Mrs. Chisholm read a poem "If You Think You Can". The secretary reported the district Meetings to be held in East Hastings on March 30th, at Melrose, on May 9, and the Institute Picnic on June 15th. Meetings to commence at 2 p.m. and to continue to 4 p.m. Subject to be discussed, "Personality and Dress".

The Roll Call was answered by each lady giving her maiden name in full.

Conveners of Standing Committees reporting were, Miss A. Willson Agriculture, and Canadian Industries, with "Clover Seed Reports". Mrs. Meeks on Home Economics with an article on "Sewing" and a number of household hints.

Mrs. W. Slingerland on Publicity and Mrs. K. Sharpe on Social Welfare and Health, her subject was "Nursery Crimes".

Mrs. A. Gray on Citizenship with an article about the "Three Rs in Citizenship".

Mrs. D. Chisholm convener of the Blue Bird Institute, outlined the plan reported.

The remainder of the program was in charge of the leader, Mrs. W. Harrison, who gave a paper on "Canada's Part in the World Today". "Divided We Fall", giving an example the wild animals on migrating travel in packs and the birds in flocks when they migrate. The leader stressed the necessity of co-operate', 'together' and 'work'. In speaking of unity she said: "When all are united world peace will be a permanent fact".

Mrs. W. Slingerland led in community singing of several well-known Irish songs.

The guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Ross Robson, Halloway, was introduced. In her opening remarks she brought greetings from Phillipston-Olden Women's Institute, of which she is a member and told of the opening of the Ontario legislature, which she had attended and especially this year's opening which was just a little different from former years. With the new Premier, Prime Minister Mr. Kennedy, minister of agriculture, new opposition leader, the Hon. Farquhar Oliver, a new Speaker in the House, the Rev. T. M. Davies, and a number of new members.

She described the arrival of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Hon. Ray Lawson and the Royal salute and the bringing in of the mace, denoting that parliament was in session. Mrs. Robson also told of the reception given in the evening by the Lieutenant-Governor Lawson and Mrs. Lawson.

On Friday evening, she had attended a reception given in honor of Colonel George Drew and Mrs. Drew, the retiring premier, at which time they were presented with two paintings, one being done by a well-known local artist, Mr. Manley Macdonald.

There were also afternoon teas given by the Speaker's wife, every Thursday afternoon, while parliament is in session, for the members' wives.

The speaker told of a federation of Agriculture convention in Toronto which she had attended and stated that the province is divided into zones, with key-women attending from each zone. We are in Zone 4. Their findings were lack of medical care and nurses in the province. The hospitals report full classes but there is a great demand for more nurses.

Mrs. Robson suggested that the county health unit be studied.

In her concluding remarks she spoke of a Home and School Club she had attended at which time high school entrance pupils were presented with their diplomas and she thought how nice it was to recognize the public school entrance pupils as they are starting out in life, instead of acclaiming them when they had made their mark.

Miss Harrison thanked Mrs. Robson for her very interesting talk.

The topic for the day "Courage Conquers All Things", was ably given by Mrs. R. Clare, who said, "Courage is what it takes, it takes courage to keep a secret, to do the thing you fear, such as public speaking". She mentioned a number of well known explorers and persons who by their courage and examples have made a name in the world—Columbus, Wright brothers, Churchill, Roosevelt, Fleming, Banting, Madame Curr. She also mentioned the blind, "They also serve who stand and wait".

A trio "Silver Threads Among the Gold", was given by Mrs. White, Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Gray.

The hostess and her assistants served dainty refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Outaize Girls Are Junos Now

London, (CP)—British women will soon be likened to goddesses of ancient times.

Soon the old - fashioned dictum that "O.S." (outsize) and "W.K." (the "above average" figure) will cause no more blushes. Instead, names of ancient goddesses will represent each range of size.

"Juno," deity of women, matrons, chiloibirth) will represent size 46-50 bin, 42-46 bust, 38-36 waist, with 16 ¾ to 18½ neck-to-waist measurement.

The tall and slender will be "Diana," the huntress—35-43 bin, 32-36 bust, 30½-34 waist with neck-to-neck measurement 18 ½-17½.

"Venus," goddess of beauty, is for the average figure—36-40 bin, 34-38 bust, 32½-36 waist, with neck-to-waist 15¾-17.

The "not-so-tall" won't feel slighted when known as "Phoebe" (grandma of Apollo) —36-43 bin, 32-41 bust, 26 1/2 waist, 14½-15½ neck-to-waist.

Are you short and plump? Now nice to be called "Chloe" (the blooming, protector of the green fields)—bin 43-50, bust 36-43, waist 30-36½, neck-to-waist 15¼-15.

Recalled Verses 100 Years Later

London, (CP)—Mrs. Ann Parish celebrated her 104th birthday by reciting an eight-verse poem she learned 100 years ago.

When 100 years old Mrs. Parish broke her leg. Doctors shook their heads, but she recovered and has since led an active life.

She reads, knits, goes for walks, smokes three cigarets a day and enjoys an occasional drop of sherry.

Vancouver Pioneer Recalls Schooldays

Vancouver, (CP)—When Mrs. Alice Crackanthorp, only survivor of the first class of the first public school here in 1872, went to school crackin' knuckles was part of the curriculum.

Twelve pupils were needed before they could open a school so Mrs. Crackanthorp's young four-year-old sister was recruited for an early start.

Born in 1864, Mrs. Crackanthorp was the first white child living in the area now known as Vancouver. The early school she attended had one room, one teacher and was heated by a small wood stove.

Remember That Night

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

It was during the brief silence that followed that a dusty car with a Maryland license drew swiftly into the driveway. The brakes ground harshly. Every one turned, seeing a tall, lanky, dark-haired girl in a rumpled white linen suit emerge from the car and slam the door.

She walked straight to where Karen and Phillip and Tommy stood. Some of the guests, hearing popular music, had moved toward the door. But they stopped. Every one, including the servants, stopped. There was no mistaking the girl's anger. There was no doubt that she had driven long and hard.

Tearing a ring from her finger, she threw it on the grass at Tommy's feet.

"There's your ring!" she cried. "And that's what I think of being engaged to you! I wasn't invited tonight. I wasn't even supposed to know you were having a party, tonight. But I did know in time to drive up to tell you that you can't be engaged to me and have parties for a night club girl at the same time!" Her dark eyes flashed upon Karen. "You don't care if they're engaged or even married as long as you have fun, do you!"

Rooted where she stood, Karen said clearly, "I didn't know Tommy was engaged."

The girl laughed. "Didn't know! It's been in the papers! Don't you read the papers! Everybody must know that our engagement has been announced. He bought this place for me. Everybody knows but you, and you don't want to know!"

She looked at Tommy. "I would not marry you if you were the last man in the world. Iceland don't play second fiddle to girls out of night clubs. Keep your house and your ring and your money! Or — or give them to her!"

As swiftly as Marion Leland came, she left. The dusty car door slammed, and the roar of the motor died down in the distance.

Over the grass terrace there was not a sound. It was as if more than a hundred people had lost their voices.

Then without a word Tommy bolted toward his car and drove off. And it was Phillip who bent down and picked up the expensive diamond ring from the grass.

Karen shuddered and looked around, seeing scowling eyes everywhere. They knew! They had seen the newspapers! They knew! She knew!

It took every ounce of courage and strength for her to move. But leaving Phillip, she walked into the house and up the steps to the dressing room for her coat. And though she did not realize it, she was not walking straight and in the dressing room she caught hold of the door to steady herself when the room began to spin. She was too stunned to cry. She was nearer to fainting than ever before.

As she came out wearing her white satin coat, she paused at the top of the broad white stairway. Phillip was coming up.

"Karen, I'm so sorry. May I ..."

Something in her snapped. Her mouth trembled but still she did not cry. Never in her life had she been so angry or so hurt as she was now.

"You knew," she said. "You knew all the time that Tommy was engaged to that girl. I didn't know! Why didn't you tell me!"

Phillip seemed about to speak.

"Oh, I won't believe you, Phillip! All those people downstairs think I'm the kind of girl that girl called me, a girl out of a night club who doesn't care if she goes out with men who are engaged to be married! And to you — I'm a novelty. I've always been a novelty to you! This is something else to amuse you! You feel so far above me. People don't hurt you because you're important—"

Her eyes kindled with sudden anger.

"I think you are being unfair, Karen."

She could not control her voice speaking her rushing thoughts.

"You think I'm unfair, do you! You think I have no right fighting for a chance to prove myself! You think I have nothing to offer. You don't know that I'm a better right for wanting to be an actress than most girls! My mother was an actress! But I've failed. A girl with ambition isn't some one to be encouraged. She is an object of amusement to people who have made the grade and who've forgotten when they were struggling! Tommy was supposed to introduce me to a producer and I've put all my hopes in that. But when a choice came tonight, he ran after the other girl. And I've lost the only chance I've had! You can't break into this business unless you know somebody and I—I've met the wrong people!"

Her voice was choked. "You've won, Phillip. I'm going back to Harriston — not to a boy who wanted to marry me before I came — but back to selling dresses!

For a moment they just looked at each other, her eyes dark and stormy; Phillip still angry at being misunderstood. Good Lord, what kind of person did she think him to subject her knowingly to such humiliation! And Tommy had run off and left her...

"You've had bad breaks, Karen."

RATED MOST VALUABLE PUPPIES IN THE WORLD

Already showing a fondness for the piano are these Maremma puppies, a rare Italian sheep dog breed, owned by Mrs. Alexander-Couldrey of Essex, Eng. Because of their rarity, they are rated among the most valuable pups in the world. "Lens of Sam-Quay" their mother, has won over 30 awards at shows as well as a silver cup. Incidentally, the "little fellow" on the extreme right in the picture looks as though he resents the intrusion into his piano lesson.—Reuterphoto from Central Press Canadian.

Dislike him! If only she could say, "I love you, Philip. And I'm sorry. Maybe you didn't see Tommy's engagement announced in the paper, I didn't. Maybe you missed it, too, because you've been working hard on your play — the play I want is to be in."

But she did not say anything and together they went down the steps. People on the terrace stopped and stared as they went past.

Phillip opened the car door and she slid in. He gave the chauffeur her address.

"Good night," he said. "Or is it good-bye?" His quick smile made her heart ache. "If it's good night, then we'll probably meet again. It seems we can't escape each other. But if it's good-bye, then I hope you find happy back in Harriston and that you forget you met me — the wrong people."

"Good-bye, Philip." Thick, choked words.

After the car had passed between the high iron gates, he stood for quite some time, his thoughts far away.

Tommy returned alone. Phillip did not wait for him to get out of the car before he went to him.

Tommy held up his hand. "Wait a minute. I know what you're going to say. I've made everything. But I thought sure you'd seen the papers. It was splashed all over and I'm in a sweat mess with Marion and her family."

"You've always gotten out of everything," Phillip said severely. "Now you straighten out your own mess. It doesn't concern me. But what does concern me is that you left Karen to face all those people. You didn't consider her feelings! I've done favors for you, Tommy. I've gotten you out of more than one jam. This is one time you can't let me down. Whether you make up with your fiancee or not, you've got to take Karen to see Carrie Tappen. You've got to be in New York when he gets back to town!"

"Why don't you take her?"

Phillip shook his head. "She wouldn't go with me! She would not accept any favors from me. She hates me! But she mustn't go back to Harriston, and you've got to keep her from going back by calling her tomorrow morning."

"And get in worse with Marion and her family! You don't know her parents. They'll raise a terrible row!"

"That doesn't concern me. That is your affair ...You wanted to know Karen. You sent her flowers and went up to the roof almost every night. Now you want to let her down! This is one time you aren't going to get away with it. She isn't," Phillip said with emphasis, "to go back to Harriston."

Tommy's lip curled. "You're in love with her! Why don't you admit it?"

Phillip stepped back. "If I did not know you were a spoiled kid with too much money, I'd slug you out of the car for a remark like that. You know I'm not in love with her!" Turning away, he went back to the house. A few minutes later his green car drove off.

Roxanne was asleep, her blonde hair spread fanlike on the white pillow. Poor brave little Roxanne. Karen thought, who sang heartbreak songs in a cheap night club to people who neither knew nor cared about the unhealing wound in her own heart.

At dawn Karen was curled up in a chair by the window. Her anger had died. To go or stay, she wondered. To go defeated or to stay and fight. Last night at Tommy's was a hideous nightmare. But if she stayed, and fought, she would be defeated in the end anyway. What was triumph as an actress when Phillip returned from England with Lilyan Kane? Phillip would probably be married. She had said, "Good-bye, Phillip." Then let it be good-bye...

THOMASBURG

Thomasburg—The funeral of Miss Ella Kerr took place on Monday afternoon from her late home to Thomasburg United Church where service was conducted by the Rev. F. C. Beazer, rector of the Anglican Church, due to the illness of the Rev. R. N. Burgess. During the service Rev. Mr. Beazer sang a solo.

Acting as bearers were Messrs. William Morton, Harry Kennedy, Joseph Chappelle, Ervine Bateman, Earl Jones and Fred Coulter.

The late Miss Kerr had been in failing health for some time. Her death occurred on Saturday morning. She had lived in this community all her life being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Kerr.

Surviving are four sisters and three brothers besides several nieces and nephews, namely—Miss Phoebe Kerr and Mrs. John Mitchell of Toronto; Mrs. Samuel Woodward, of Trenton; Mrs. Charles Knight, of Sidney; Mr. Edward Kerr and Mr. Silvon Kerr, of Belleville, and Mr. Robert Kerr, Thomasburg. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Car Runs Away

An unusual accident occurred one day recently, when a consignment of groceries was left in front of Brough's General store, and after he went in the store, the car crossed the highway going through Mr. Ross Wilson's fence, across the garden, coming to a stop as it hit an apple tree. Considerable damage was done to the engine.

Mrs. W. E. Elliott opened her home on Tuesday to the ladies of the United Church when they quilted a quilt for Mrs. Howard Thompson. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. William Calberry, who underwent an appendectomy in the Belleville General Hospital, recently, was able to return to her home on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Deming is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coulson.

Many residents of this community are confined to their beds with the 'flu.

THE WAY TO SURE SUCCESS

Even if you are an expert, you'll be extra-pleased with the simplicity and yum-yumness with this recipe. And if you're a beginner, you'll find with Swift'ning and this recipe, it's easier to bake fine cakes than you imagined! Watch for the Helping Hands! They warn you where there is a chance of mistake!

Preparation: Have all ingredients at room temperature. Preheat oven and set at 375°F. Line bottoms of two 8-inch square (or 9-inch round) layer cake pans with waxed paper.

Ingredients: (Use standard, level measures)

½ cup Swift'ning
2 cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsps. baking powder (if mixture type)
1 tsp. salt
Spoon lightly into cup.
¾ cup milk
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Step 1: Put Swift'ning in mixing bowl. Sift in flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add milk and vanilla. Beat for 2 minutes—by hand, using about 150 strokes per minute; or at medium speed of electric mixer. Helping Hand: Scrape batter off sides and bottom of bowl frequently while mixing. Helping Hand: Adjust 2 minutes, scrape beaters or spoon and mixing bowl thoroughly.

Step 2: Add the unbeaten eggs. Beat 1 minute. Scrape beaters and bowl thoroughly. Continue beating 1 minute. Pour equal amounts of batter into prepared cake pans. Bake about 30 minutes. Helping Hand: When cake is done it will spring back quickly when pressed by the finger. Cool on cake rack 15 minutes; loosen sides carefully with spatula, invert on rack; remove paper. When thoroughly cool, fill and ice. Decorate with whole blanched almonds, tips dipped in melted chocolate.

Mocha Frosting for ½ cup Swift'ning layer cake bowl. Sift in 3½ cups confectioner's sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons cocoa. Add an egg and 1 tablespoon black coffee (cold). Beat until blended and fluffy.

Look for the words "Double-Acting" on the baking powder tin.

SWEET BUNS
Tested Recipe from the Purity Flour Cook Book

1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. salt
½ cup scalded milk
6¼ cups (about 2 lbs.) PURITY FLOUR

Soften yeast cake in lukewarm water. Combine sugar and shortening, add egg and salt and beat well. Add scalded milk and cool to lukewarm. Add yeast and 3 cups flour and beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place, free from draughts, until double in bulk. Punch down and let rise again until double in bulk. Shape into buns, place in greased pans, cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes.

FRUIT BUNS—Add 1½ cups currants or raisins, shredded citron peel, if desired, and 1 tsp. cinnamon to dough after first rising. Shape into buns, place in greased pans, cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes.

CINNAMON BUNS—Roll dough out to a long narrower sheet, ½ in. thick. Brush with melted butter, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, roll up like a jelly roll and cut into 1½ in. slices. Place in greased pan, cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes.

Swedish Capital Is Hushed City To Western Ears

By WILLIAM ROSE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Stockholm (CP) — Over Stockholm hangs a hush that is almost eerie to western ears.

The switch of electric buses is the loudest street noise. Automobile horns are banned.

Even the bars are quiet. Tables are set at decorous intervals. Drinks must be accompanied by food, if only a sandwich. Women get smaller drinks than men and service stops when a patron has bought a government-prescribed limit — unless he leaves the bar and returns.

Liveller are the teetotal cafe-dance spots which charge a fancy $1.25 for biscuits and tea or coffee. Customers go individually. All are expected to dance, and number of each sexes admitted is kept equal.

Streamlined street-cars run in three-car trains. Married women and their children get free transportation for one holiday trip a year on the near-silent electrified railways.

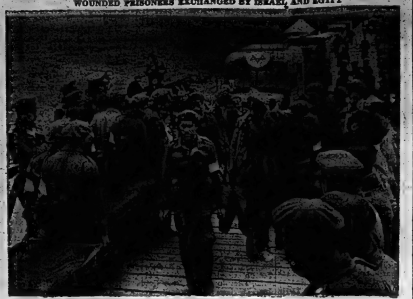
Baltic's First Subway

Stockholm is building its first subway line. Svesbergen, a main thoroughfare, has been excavated inside out, the railway system is being laid and then the whole street will be patched back around it and prepared. The line should be completed in 1952.

Swedish meals begin with small servings of herring and boiled potatoes. One explanation is that this stimulates the appetite, another that the habit formed during a famine when there was nothing else to eat.

Swedes, like Russians, toast one another frequently during meals, but the visitor never "skols" his host or hostess in case they become incapable of carrying on.

Most downtown barber shops have women barbers. Men sometimes are seen under driers after receiving permanent waves, perhaps a result of the female influence.



Swedes can pay virtually any kind of bill at the post office, including fire rent, theatre, hospital, doctor and dentist bills.

NAVIGATION OPENS

Buffalo, March 16 — (AP) — The lake freighter Perseus moved out of Buffalo harbor early today, marking the earliest opening of the harbor's navigation season since March 12, 1925.

The Perseus had 7,000 tons of pig iron aboard and was headed for Detroit. It was planned to sail the ship at midnight, but lack of navigational aids in Lake Erie prompted the daybreak sailing.

Top Soil 'Can Easily be Wasted Unless Precaution is Taken'

Woodstock, Ont., March 16 — (CP) — North America has "exploited and destroyed" its forests and soils by careless farming and deforestation, water and wind erosion, Dr. C. J. McConkey, professor of field husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College said yesterday.

He said top soil in America "can easily be wasted away unless we take every precaution now and in the future to preserve it."

Dr. McConkey, who served as a United Nations official in China and helped distribute food and farming supplies in Europe after the war, spoke at the Oxford County Seed Fair here.

He warned that America was more vulnerable to erosion than Europe because much of the American forests had been cut.

"Our rainfall often comes in heavy, eroding rains of two to four inches, and heavy thunderstorms which cause soil erosion, not like the gentle misty rains of Europe and Britain which do no harm.

"We . . . have turned thick sod over, cut it up with a disc, harrowed it, made a fine seed bed and grew wonderful crops of wheat and oats, but we disturbed the balance of nature. In less than 10 years of this treatment, the prairie soils were drifting like snow . . .

He said crop yields in Ontario remained stationary, but soil fertility was dropping. It was necessary to use more grass and legume fixtures in crop rotations to prevent runoffs and give fibre and fertility to the soil.

Brighteners

Pittsburgh, March 16 — (AP) — A man's failure to cash a recent cheque held up settlement of a bankruptcy suit for seven months.

A divided cheque for one penny went to Ferold Morrow of North Hollywood, Cal., last August. He never cashed it.

As a result, the federal district court couldn't close its books on the affairs of a defunct dressmaking firm.

So, asked counsel for the firm, wouldn't the government please take the penny?

Judge Nelson McVicar accepted on behalf of the United States government.

Framingham, Mass, March 16—(AP) — The Framingham National Bank is making it easier for their left-handed depositors to spend money.

An official of the bank said left-handed cheque books now are available to its southpaw customers.

The book opens just the reverse of the standard types.

Indiana, Pa., March 16 — (AP) — Robert Smith, a justice of the peace who thinks "every man ought to be married," furthers that belief by tacking his fees on the instalment plan.

Since setting up in business six years ago, he has performed marriages on the "pay as you can" basis for about 150 bridegrooms.

Smith says there's nothing unusual about a penniless bridegroom — "not if you know miners." His territory covers a population of 15,000 in a dozen coal-mining communities.

"It isn't that they don't have any money. It's just that they spend it before they get it. They set up housekeeping on credit and it's only natural to pay for the marriage the same way."

Sportsmen's Show Opens Friday At Coliseum

Toronto, March 16 (CP)—The magic carpet of the outdoors unrolls at the coliseum here Friday when the second annual Canada National Sportsmen's Show gets under way.

Calculated to raise the temperature of those afflicted with spring fever, the bustling carnival of field, stream and lake sports is geared to attract a record attendance of 200,000, says General Manager Loyal Kelly. Last year it drew 96,000 during its eight days.

There's something for everybody among the more than 250 exhibits. A fast-paced wonderlike show in and around the 80,000-gallon portable swimming pool will feature highly-trained animals, including a seal that mimics, does acrobatics and juggles and trained bears that ride bicycles, walk tight ropes and roller skates.

For the ladies there's an "all-Canadian" fashion revue, giving advance showing of next summer and fall sports wear. For the fisherman-and hunter there are demonstrations of fly-casting, retrieving dog exhibitions and a showing of conservation and wildlife.

Marine Show Bigger

The boat and marine show will be largest ever held in Canada. It includes virtually all types of boats, engines and marine equipment, including Miss Canada III, the speedboat which at Picton, last year travelled 119.000 miles an hour in set a world's record for Gold Cup class boats.

Backbone of the exhibits part of the show will be the latest in fishing tackle, boats and marine supplies. There's a dog show, a cat show, Indian and Eskimo villages and demonstrations by experts in the arts of golfing, archery, badminton and other sports.

More than 1,000 photographs related to forest and stream and to animal, bird and fish life of Canada will be shown in the competition and exhibition of outdoor photography.

Proceeds of the sportsmen's show go to conservation. The Toronto Anglers' and Hunters Association, initial sponsors of the enterprise, will use receipts for its program of conservation of wildlife and outdoor resources.

ROSLIN

Roslin—Dr. J. D. Empson and Mrs. Empson spent one day last week in Toronto.

Master Donald White spent last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Collins, Belleville.

Mrs. Albert Clare spent Thursday night with her mother, Mrs. Coulter who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Channon and Douglas, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Delyea and Mr. and Mrs. F. Elliott.

Mr. Wm. White while working for Mr. W. H. Chisholm suffered a badly lacerated nose and forehead on Wednesday, when was struck by a plank. The accident occurred while he was loading lumber on the C.P.R. siding in Tweed. Mr. White was taken to the office of Dr. M. C. Dales where seven stitches were necessary to close the wounds.

Woman's Auxiliary

The March meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. Sills with sixteen present.

The vice president, Mrs. H. Sills presided and the meeting was opened in the usual manner. Miss A. Wilson gave the scripture reading and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. F. Meeks.

Roll call was answered with a Bible verse containing the word "blessed". Plans were made to have Tweed A.Y.P.A. present their play "Don't Darken My Door" in Roslin, this latter part of the month.

Mrs. W. Gingerland leader for the evening was in charge of the program. Miss Rita Slingerland gave a reading. Changes in the wording of the, members prayer were discussed, and Mrs. Clapsaddle read an article explaining the changes and the reasons for these and Miss L. Wilson read the prayer in its new form. Rev. P. C. Bezzar closed the meeting. Later the hostess served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

A broadcast of interest to friends in this community was heard on Sunday morning when Mr. Peter Smith, a young Canadian pianist was heard in a piano recital over CBL from 10.30 to 11 a.m. Sunday morning playing selections from Beethoven and Brahms. Peter is studying music in New York at present and is a son of the Venerable Archdeacon F. A. Smith and Mrs. Smith of Belleville.

LOSES APPEAL

Toronto, March 16 (CP)—Wallace Antler of Sudbury lost out in an attempt to have a reformatory term made concurrent with his 10-year penitentiary sentence. Ontario court of appeal dismissed his written appeal which asked that a reformatory term of one year, imposed in Toronto April 22, 1947, for receiving stolen property, and a Sudbury sentence of six months for bigamy be concurrent with a 10-year term for armed robbery.

Schoolgirl Killed By Passenger Train

Sudbury, March 16 — (CP) — Six-year-old Shirley McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McNeil, of Sudbury, was killed today when struck by a passenger train. The child was crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway Sault Line tracks on her way to school. She was thrown about 10 feet by the impact, suffering severe head and face injuries. A taxi took her to hospital but she died shortly after admittance.

Aussie Policemen Scour Tough Area on False Report

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — One of the most dramatic manhunts in Australian criminal history was started early in January by a false alarm, but it cannot be stopped for at least another six weeks.

The man-hunt is taking place in the unexplored heart of Arnhem Land, and there is no way to contact the police party till it returns to civilization in from six to eight weeks time.

The hunt began when a report reached Darwin police headquarters that a native chief had been speared to death in central Arnhem Land. The spearing of a native in that part of the world seldom calls for more than a report and an attempt to bring the culprit to justice, but in this case the reported victim was Raiwalla, head of the Mildingji tribe who has been described by anthropologists as the "greatest aboriginal of all time."

Now Raiwalla has turned up at a ranch 300 miles south of Darwin with only a couple of ribs broken from a fall from a horse.

The patrol that went out in search of his "murderer" left Darwin in January with the intention of crossing Arnhem Land, if it were necessary to get their man. If they complete the journey they will be the first white men to make the crossing from north to south.

Continue Search

While the party plunge on through crocodile swamps and vermin-and-snake-ridden jungles unaware of the false alarm, Raiwalla told Darwin police the story that led to the belief that he had been killed.

A spear-throwing episode began when Raiwalla and his wife caught up with a native from a neighboring tribe who had stolen one of their daughters. Raiwalla had tracked the native through Arnhem Land for weeks before he finally caught him.

When they met they began to throw spears at one another till the thief lost ground and hurriedly made off into the bush—closely followed by the "stolen" daughter. No one was hurt, but the story got around by "bush telegraph" that the famous chief had been killed.

Raiwalla has been in the public eye for years. He assisted Dr. Donald Thompson, the anthropologist, when he was investigating a particularly brutal native massacre of a number of Japanese and Malay trepang fishermen at Caledon Bay in 1930. During the war he helped organize natives for aircraft spotting.

On the debit side of the old chief's life is a murder rap in 1930. Raiwalla was convicted and sentenced to death, but was reprieved and served five years before he was paroled.

Greek Communist And Mother Face Complicity Charge

Athens, March 17 — (AP) — Police have formally accused a Greek Communist journalist and his mother of complicity in the murders of George Polk, correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The charges against Gregory Staktopoulis and his mother, Anna, were read to them in their police cells in Salonika. An informed source said they are booked for trial starting April 11.

Polk was bound hand and foot, then shot through the head, and his body thrown into Salonika Bay last May. He apparently was lured to his death with promises of an interview with the former Greek Communist leader, Markos Vafiades.

Public Prosecutor Christis Moustakis in a report to the court preliminary to trial of the two accused said "there is no slightest doubt Polk was assassinated by Communists." Police seek another Communist, Adam Mouzenidas, whom they have named as the actual slayer.

Asks Reopening Of Probe of Russ Atomic Spy Ring

Washington, March 17 — (AP) — Representative Harold Velde (Rep.-Ill.), who is a former agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, demanded yesterday that the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives reopen an investigation of "Scientist X" and a Russian "atomic spy ring".

The committee is understood to have new evidence.

Now a committee member, Velde was in the F.B.I.'s sabotage and counter-espionage division from 1943 to 1946.

During that period, he said, "a Russian espionage ring was uncovered which was perhaps the most treacherous known in history." He said Scientist X, identified only as a former California University professor, was involved.

The committee looked into atomic spying in secret sessions last year. Velde was one of the witnesses, before he was elected to Congress.

Later the committee issued a report listing atomic espionage and the Scientist X case as unfinished business.

Harry Croll, Key Club Pres. At Convention

Washington, March 17 — (CP) — One hundred Canadians are among the 2,000 youths meeting here March 25 and 26 for the annual convention of Key Clubs, the high school service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International.

Among the Canadians are Glenn Bulmer, Windsor, International vice-president of Key Clubs, and Harry Croll, Belleville, an International trustee.

HOUSEWIVES, NOTE!

Wait for it—but no crash came. Glasses, cups and mugs fall from the tray, but nobody cares because they are some of the "new" unbreakables made in plastic. New varieties of plastics in original fresh pastel shades has now reached a point at which many articles previously available only for the export market are at last to be released for the home market in Britain. An exhibition of the new ware, held in London, proved of great interest to housewives. —Central Press Canadian.

Board of Control Dissatisfied With Reception

Toronto, March 17 — (CP) — Dissatisfaction was expressed by the board of control over the reception given visiting mayors and reeves by Attorney-General Blackwell Tuesday.

The delegation of mayors and reeves were protesting "the steamrolling" of the new fire and police bills.

Mayor Hiram McCallum said at the conclusion of the meeting that he forwarded a personal letter to Premier Kennedy urging the legislation be delayed for further consideration.

"The question of municipalities losing autonomy is important enough to be held back," he said.

Controller David Balfour said he was "amazed" at the stand taken by Mr. Blackwell.

"Here a member representing a Toronto constituency stands aside and permits this thing to go through," said Mr. Balfour.

Controller Saunders added that "I certainly don't think the Attorney-General is out to help the municipalities."

Mayor McCallum said he was disappointed in the government's action and told the board he sent personal letters to all members of the legislature explaining the city's view on the legislation.

ONE GOOD TURN . . . .

Edmonton — (CP) — The big-heartedness of Edmonton city police boomeranged recently when a destitute man, allowed to sleep on a police-station bench, stole a constable's civilian coat. The culprit was caught and given six months in jail.

If you were the General Manager of A&P Food Stores...

What would you do to make your A&P a better place to shop?

Have you ever said to yourself, "If I were the General Manager of A&P, I know what I'd do"? I think there are many A&P customers who would like the opportunity to express themselves on the subject of their A&P. I really believe that from your side of the counter, you know A&P best. That's why I ask your opinion. You can help to make your A&P a better place to do all your food buying by sending me your suggestions... criticisms... and opinions. For instance, what about our service? Is it as courteous and helpful as you would like it to be? Is it prompt and efficient, too? Do you always find all items plainly and correctly price-tagged — as they should be?

What in your opinion are we doing that we could do even better? Or what are we not doing that you feel we should do?

I INVITE YOU TO WRITE AND TELL ME HOW YOUR A&P MAY SERVE YOU BETTER

We of the A&P want to make our stores the finest places of all in which to shop. That is why your suggestions, criticisms and opinions will be gratefully received and acknowledged. You see there are thousands of employees of A&P in Canada jealously guarding the A&P reputation for courteous, honest, and efficient service. They never want to fail you in any way, but if they do, I am sure that they, as well as I, would appreciate your writing me.

She needs YOUR help...

Out on a far frontier a woman is about to give birth to a baby. At a far northern outpost a man meets with a serious accident, or a little child is dangerously ill. Medical aid may be hundreds of miles away, but fortunately a Red Cross Outpost Hospital is within reach to minister to those who need hospital care.

The Red Cross needs your help in financing 75 Outpost Hospitals; in supporting and extending the free Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service; in assisting disabled veterans in providing relief in case of flood, fire or disaster; in helping the sick and suffering everywhere.

The Red Cross is YOUR Red Cross. The work it is doing can only be done with YOUR help. This work must not be left undone. Give generously.

Red Cross services also include Treatment for Crippled Children, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water Safety, Women's Work Assistance, etc.

When considering your donation, remember that this year the Canadian Red Cross needs 2 Million Dollars—40% more than the previous appeal.

This is YOUR work — GIVE!

Wellington on the Lake

A HINT OF SPRING

There is a hint of Spring in these mild days—
A suitable message to the waiting trees
Though yet the ice lies deep o'er lake and stream,
Though elders shiver in the evening breeze.

There is a message to the sleeping earth
To wake again to life and growth and song,
Though all unseen her heart's pulse beats and stirs
And Spring delays her coming oh so long.

And is my heart more dull than all of these
To catch the forecast of returning Spring?
Can it not feel the surge of newer life
And find within a glad new song to sing?

—Helen B. Anderson.

A MESSAGE TO FRIENDS IN FLORIDA

I send you word, you who are far away,
That o'er the meadow that lay brown and bare,
The snows of March are drifting all the day,
Filling the foot-path o'er the meadow where
The children lingered in their winter play.

But these are things that you have known before,
The whirl of March, the bluster and the blow,
Rattling the windows and the latches door,
Blinding the view with clouds of swirling snow.

But lest you forget beneath a sky of azure,
The music of the March wind's fitful strain,
The fires of sunset when the day is done,
Hopes that stir the winter heart again—

I send to you this word on spirit wing,
That you may feel with me the hope of Spring.

Scientists Study Cancer Research at Atomic Plants

By FRANK CAREY

Washington — (AP) — Atomic chiefs plan to study some research "quickies" as possible treatments for cancer. These studies are ray-emitting substances which can be produced in atomic energy plants as by-products of the "burning" of uranium.

Their ray-emitting power is short-lived. The practical radiating power is gone in a matter of seconds, minutes, hours or days, depending upon the substance.

They are such will-o-the-wisps in the radiation sense that it is impossible or impractical to distribute them to researchers around the country to see whether their rays could be used safely and effectively against cancer.

So the Atomic Energy Commission has a plan to set up clinical cancer research hospitals right near the places where the quickies are produced. The idea will be to have cancer cases brought to those places so that if any of the short-lived radioactive substances show promise they can be used before their rays "decay."

One such hospital already is being built at A.E.C.'s Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago. Others are planned at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and at the Brookhaven plant, Long Island, N.Y.

The short radiating careers of the quickie substances are in contrast with those of various other radioactive substances produced in atomic plants. Some of these latter substances have radiating lives ranging from months to thousands of years.

Important but "Lazy-Livers"

One of the most important of these long-livers is carbon-14, which has a "half life" of more than 5,000 years. That means that in 5,000 years, one half of its radiating power will have been lost through "decay," in another 5,000 years one half of the remaining radiation will have been lost, and so on.

Radium, which is a naturally-occurring radioactive substance, has a half life of 1,000 years.)

But some substances that radiate power have rays that are far too penetrating for safe use. It is not radium in the form that is such a highly radiating power for internal use in effective quantities — carbon-14, for example.

(Although radium is sometimes allowed to remain in body tissue, it is not radium in the form that has a half life of 1,600 years. A gas called radon, a breakdown product of radium, is used. It has a radiating life of only 133 hours; hence it is safe to leave it in tissues in certain cases.)

For some time, the Atomic Energy Commission has been distributing three substances free of charge to cancer investigators.

These are: Iodine-131, which has shown promise in the treatment of cancer of the thyroid and has a radiating half life of eighty days, phosphorus-32, which can modify — but not cure — leukemia. It's half life is a little over 14 days; sodium-24, which has a half life of slightly more than 14 hours. A drawback to sodium is that, unlike iodine and phosphorus, which tend to concentrate in particular areas of the body, it becomes distributed pretty generally.

SURRENDERS TO POLICE

Harold Bate, 22, sought by three police forces for six days in the Holland Marsh, is in police custody after surrendering to Reeve C. T. S. Evans, Bradford, Ont., lawyer. Bate was sought by police of York county, Newmarket and provincial forces after a 90-m.p.h. car chase which ended in the death of Norman Edwards, 17, of Newmarket, and serious injuries to Donald Douglas, 19. The two youths were killed or injured in the crash of a car stolen from a Beaverton, Ont. minister.—Central Press Canadian.

1331 Foxes Killed In Victoria Cty. In Three Months

Lindsay, March 17 — (CP) — There are 1,331 fewer foxes running loose in Victoria county as a result of the $5 bounty paid by the county during the past three months. A total of $6,655 was paid out in fox bounty from November to February with $1,800 going to Verulam township hunters who shot 800 foxes. Twenty-seven wolves have also been killed in the county.

Fireman Injured In Smudge Blaze

Kitchener, March 17 — (CP) — One fireman was injured and loss of "thousands of dollars" occurred at the Doon Twines here Tuesday night in a smudge blaze.

Firemen poured water on the fire for three hours and yesterday it was still smouldering.

The fire, believed caused by a cigarette butt, made it necessary to move 400 bales of jute from the store room to get at the blaze.

Fireman Fred Busch is in the K-W hospital after falling off a cement ramp and injuring his back.

The firm had a similar fire in 1938 when the loss was $38,000.

SIX OF CREW RESCUED

Miami, Fla., March 17 — (AP) —The British sloop Alliance sank about 25 miles southwest of Puerto Rico Tuesday night but all six men aboard were rescued, the United coast guard reported.

The men were removed from the distressed vessel by the Pocono, a United States navy cutter, and later were transferred to the coast guard's cutter Pandora.

The Alliance, about 60 feet long sank but remained awash, and the Pandora was reported standing by.

SMALL BUT HEAVY

A cube of gold measuring 14.1 inches, weighs a ton.

CANOEISTS FROM PRAIRIES

Vancouver — (CP) — Vancouver will have a new canoe club this summer made up of transplanted prairie canoeists who miss the sport. Canoeing has never been popular here although plans for regattas are a dime a dozen.

Kingston Nylons Win Senior "B" Group Title Defeating CNR Diesels in Fourth Game

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

A flaming Gerow-Catlin-Partis front line sped through a demoralized CNR Diesels team practically at will in Kingston last night to give the Kingston Nylons the Senior "B" group championship of the district and the right to represent this part of the area in the playdowns. The score was 12-3.

The Nylons won the group title three games to one defeating the Diesels 7-6 in the opener; taking the second 11-3 and dropping the third game here last Saturday night by a 5-4 count.

After the opening minutes of the first period when Diesels' Leo Goyer counted on a pass from Tim Williams, Nylons rammed home four goals in succession. The game was not three and then. The Kingston team inspired by the encouragement of a packed arena, shoved home two more in the second frame and then in the fury of their attack and riding high on the crest of victory pushed the demoralized Diesels into the discard with a six-goal splurge in the final frame.

Hard Fought Game

It was a hard-fought game and the score does not by any means indicate the difference between teams. But it must be added that Nylons, playing perhaps over their heads went on to win a convincing victory. They were full value for their win and the plays deserve it.

The Diesels fought back brilliantly, but Nylons matched them stride-for-stride, check to check. Udy Udall in the Nylon nets and Warrior Leffort in the Diesel line played spectacular hockey. The Gerow-Partis-Catlin line, the more or less dim light of the schedule against Diesels came into their own last night. The brilliant trio flashed sensational hockey and the Diesels defence was more or less impotent against their flashing forays.

Gerow led the scoring parade with three goals and four assists Partis got himself a hat trick with four helpers while Joey Catlin added and abetted his team-mates with a pair and two assists. And in case you are interested this far McKeown and Harold aided the cause with one each.

There was no denying this fast-skating Nylon team. It is doubtful if they play such sensational hockey again this season. (Perhaps the Legionaires please note).

They backed up their goalie Udall with consistent checking, traveling both ways and overall were spectacular in their speedy and cool-mouth threats.

Diesels could have no alibis in the game. The ice in the Jock Harty Arena, was as usual watery and perhaps that was a more or less aid to the Nylons. It's about time the powers-that-be in Kingston see that ice is at least playable. But those Kingston teams are probably used to it.

But there is no doubt, not even in the minds of the hundreds of Belleville fans some of whom were admitted to the arena due to the absence of many of the local gang who probably had not the Nylons in action before, at followed the crowd, and got precedence over the visiting firemen. But Nylons were far the better team. They proved it last night with their hard checking both ways and the almost consistent Durnan-like ability of Udall in the nets (and if Nylons are giving away two-stretch or any other garments, they should not forget this spectacled goaler). He should be good, he's been around quite a bit, they tell us.

But that is what Diesels have "had it," beaten by an all round better team. There is no unseemliness over the spilled hockey milk.

Leo Goyer, Semark and Doug Bastedo were the marksmen for the Diesels. LePort also played an outstanding game, but he couldn't do it all.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

We won and we lost. The CNR Diesels bowed out of the Senior "B" picture in Kingston last night before a flaming Nylons team. The Rockets Junior "B's" sent the smart Kingston Barons home under a cloak of elimination with their third straight victory in the group finals series.

Diesels have no regrets after last night's game. Four hundred of us watched, journeyed with them to cheer them to that all-important fourth game victory. But they hadn't reckoned with an inspired Nylon team who won a well-deserved victory over the Trainmen by virtue of ability on the ice. That is all there is to it. Nylons were by far the better team on the night's play and they fully deserved their victory. And we add our congratulations. To the victor goes the spoils. (Hope you're listening Peterborough).

It seems the Rockets juniors do battle with the North Toronto Lions come soon. That should be a thriller. And to digress a moment about Diesels are back in the hockey roundhouse, why should not the fandom of the city revert to the gang of junior youngsters who have won thirteen straight games. They're all that is left from a Belleville OHA playdown viewpoint.

Back in the historic village of Marmora one-time stormy centre of many a Hastings County political battle; home of scions of hardy Hastings pioneers, and jumping-off ground for hundreds of hunters and fishermen annually, there's a new topic abroad. Not exactly new in a sense, as the trusty villagers have been talking about it since Jack Frood sent his legions abroad, and the handsome new arena reared its shapely roof above the first covered ice-surface there in many moons.

But the topic, hockey, if you will, has taken on a newer and much more interesting hue for the first time in the long seventy-odd sports history of this mid-Hastings community, the village has been divided in town, councils installed, eyes agleam, and arguments at the ready. For, as you have probably heard, the Marmorians boast two smart teams which spent headed for provincial championships. As a matter of fact, the Midget "C" squad reached the provincial finals the other day defeating the smart Stratford team in a two-goal series, and they now face Fergus for the midget "C" championship of Ontario.

The big brothers, champions of the Trent Valley Hockey League by virtue of conquest, are well along the trail that leads to the Intermediate "C" title. They defeated the pack of Campbellford team in two straight and are ready for the next barrier to their hopes for the crown.

But to get back to the half-pint pockets of this hockey-inflamed community, the youngsters under the tutelage of Coach Mel. Rochefort and Manager Percy Gray, have climbed hockey heights hitherto unscaled by former teams of the village. Defeated and derided on certain record, probably are unequalled by any Midget "C" team in the province. And if they win the championship banner, it should constitute a record for hockey efforts for midget teams of Ontario.

They won their district group against Madoc, Tweed with the Belleville Gunners Midget "B" entries. They speed measures, lasting and tying one. Inspired by this initial success and with every body from Reeve Vincent Lynch to the caretaker of the armed village lads supporting them, the youngsters started down the tough titular trail. They have won five rounds including the semi-finals series, three of them being the hard way. They defeated Lakefield in two straight victories, lost one game to Napanee, but won the round in the second game. Norwich Victims in three straight performances along by virtue of a second game victory. Bradford defeated them 9-4 in the first game, but the Marland mites reared back for victory at home with a sparkling 9-1 win to take the round. Brandridge lost to them in two straight games in the semi-finals and now they await the powerful Fergus bevy of youngsters.

Manager Percy Gray informed this corner that the team will go to Fergus on Saturday night, as far as he knows now, with the second game coming off on Monday night or Tuesday of next week. Both should be thrilling battles as championships of any nature see the best talent in their classes clash for the supreme honor.

So if your pathway happen to lead to Marmora, don't start talking politics. Don't air any opinions on labor-management. Don't start any rumbles of what the Kremlin would do to the White House in a game of political cribbage. Don't discuss marriage, divorce, the Labour Control Act, or the levels life of an oyster. You will be wasting your time. You'll be met with blank stares. Not because the villagers are a bunch of dumb clucks—far from it, they're simply not matters of much more importance on their collective minds.

If you're anything to sell, start talking hockey and Memorial Centres. That's a pair of nails you can hit squarely on the bottom every time, inhabitant. And you'll be by any chance you should mention the midgets front line of centre Tommy Brooks and wingers Gerry Maslin and Bill Brewer, with the odd plug for defencemen Ray Darragh and Bill Brown, you can have the Community Hall, the town pump and three years free hunting. Then add a good word for the sensational work of goalie Bill Drummond, the fourteen-year-old Durnan of the village who is playing his first year in organized hockey, and you'll get the freedom of the village, a year's free board at the leading boarding house, a personally conducted tour of Algonquin Park with all expenses paid, two cheese factories, completely equipped, a private lake in Marmora Townships, with cutlass and boats thrown in, and a ten-year supply of chewing gum.

Rockets Take Junior 'B' Series In Three Straight

It looked for a while like Kingston might win two playoff games in the same night until those hot and hopin' Rockets Juniors got warmed up here last night. The local team came from behind a three-goal deficit to defeat the Kingston Barons 9-5 and take the series in three straight games.

After being down 5-8 and 8-4 by the Belleville squad the Barons tried to stage a comeback and ran away with a 3-0 score in the first period, but the Rockets were dead against it and made the visitors toe the mark when they went on a second period scoring splurge.

Pete Jones was the hero for the winners with his brilliant plays, scoring three markers and setting up another. He has been the top scorer for all three games and has also done a lot to help teammates Hogan and Nolan who are in the running for the teams' top honors. Hickey, hard-hitting Tom Schrieder was a solid blocker and used his 185 pound frame with telling effect on the opposing forwards. He has been one of the team's greatest mainstays.

Put on Great Display

"Jumping Johnny" Green put on a great display for the local rooters, tallying three times in the scoring spree in the second stanza to help his team take over the lead. Don Semark was back in the game after sitting out Monday night's game and scored a goal unassisted.

Cliff Aitken carried the load for the losers, netting two markers and setting up another. Bill Godwin was another key man, scoring the first goal unassisted and lending a hand on three others.

The last chapter of the game promised to be a hectic affair but the officials kept the game well in hand and handed out 11 penalties equally to the twenty that were given in the first game. Two of these were minor gave to Nolan and Godwin when they staged a short but sweet brawl in the last period.

The Rockets now go on to meet the North Toronto Lions and the first game of this series will be next week when the Rockets make the trip to Toronto.

The teams—

Rockets: goal, MacKay; defence Schrieder, Taylor; centre, Trussell; wings, Green, Wright; subs, Hogan, Jones, J. Semark, Nolan, Graham, Barrett, Bone and D. Semark.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 17 (AP)—Word from New York Giants' training camp is that Leo Durocher is getting excited about a kid outfielder named Gail Henley. Gail's former teammate at Southern California, Wally Hood, is still chucking for the Yankees, although he likely will return to Newark, . . . and Big Frank Quinn from Yale is attracting favorable attention from the Red Sox. He'll stick and not just because he's a bonus player. . . .

Flying Dutchmen Take Marlboros In Fifth Game

(By The Canadian Press)

Like the boxer who comes back after being on the ropes, Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen can't be counted out of the Ontario Hockey Association title hunt yet.

Within one game of being eliminated, the Dutchmen got up off the canvas for the second time in a row Wednesday night and overpowered Toronto Marlboros 7-2 to pull within one game of tying the best-of-seven series. Toronto now leads the round 3-2 after holding a decisive 3-0 edge at one stage.

Sixth game of the series will be in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

In the Junior "A" final series, Barrie Flyers won their third straight game as they downed Toronto Marlboros 5-2 in Barrie in their best-of-seven set. They meet in the fourth game Monday night.

At Waterloo, the Dutchmen fought through a tough game marked with 23 penalties of which they took 10 and clinched the victory in the third period by scoring four times.

After a scoreless first period, Toronto went ahead before the second stanza was one minute old. Flash Hollett tallied on a screened, blue-line shot that netminder Marcel Paille never saw.

Then the Dutchmen caught fire. Billy Flick started them off at the 14-minute mark when he finished off a pretty play with Ted Grasser and Mickey Roth. Grasser got Kitchener's second goal minutes later. Milks Dunlop gave them a 3-1 edge when he scored with two minutes left in the period.

Score Three In Third

In the third period, Billy Carick, Bobby Bauer and Bill Dinning each scored once. Then Johnny McCormack finished off the Toronto scoring when he connected minutes later but Flick got that back.

At Barrie, the Flyers split two goals in the first period, came back in the second with a 2-1 edge and then outscored the Dukes 2-0 in the final period.

Bobby Bingley, George Burcham, Reat Chevrefils, Don Ashbee and Stan Long tallied for Flyers. Larry Regan and Ron Hurst accounted for Toronto's goals.

The Dukes took an early lead in the first period when Regan tallied at the 15-minute mark on a pass from defenceman Hugh Bolton. Then the Flyers evened it up on Bingley's goal.

Early in the second session, Burcham and Chevrefils scored to give the Flyers a 3-1 margin. Hurst dives back for the Toronto squad and cut the lead when he converted on a three-way scramble with Lorne Firie and Moe Leland.

However, Ashbee and Long made it decisive when they notched a goal each in the third period.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

About 32 Teams Fighting For Hockey Titles

(By The Canadian Press)

If you're trying to pick winners for the two Canadian amateur hockey titles, it'll be a tough job. Some 32 teams are raising a lot of sticks to bedcord the playoff picture at present.

In the Allan Cup playoffs, 13 senior teams remain in the hunt. And 20 junior clubs are fighting it out for the Memorial Cup.

In the Eastern Canada Junior loop, the powerful Halifax St. Marys, who won their fourth straight Maritime title by defeating Charlottetown's Prince of Wales College, are standing by to take on Ottawa district champions — either Ikberman Rockets or Ottawa St. Pats. Ikberman is leading the best-of-seven series, 3-2.

Meanwhile, Montreal Royals and Quebec Citadels are waiting to begin their final series for the Quebec junior title.

The Ontario Hockey Association's big gun appears to be the defending provincial champion Barrie Flyers, who lead their best-of-seven final series against Toronto Marlboros 3-0.

The O. H. A. winner will clash with either Porcupine Combines or Cambridge Combines for the all-Ontario championship. Porcupine is deadlocked with Falconbridge 1-1 in a best-of-seven series.

In the western Canada division, Brandon Wheat Kings are favored to come out on top. They are leading Winnipeg Canadiens 2-1 in a best-of-seven series.

Champions Tied

Last year's Memorial Cup champions, Fort Arthur Bruins, are tied with Fort William Canadians, 1-1 in their best-of-seven series for the Thunder Bay title.

Saskatchewan will be represented by either Regina Maroons, Moose Jaw Canucks or Prince Albert Mintos.

Three teams still are in the running for the Alberta championship — Edmonton Athletic Club, Wetaskewin Canadians and Calgary Buffaloes in the final.

British Columbia junior teams do not participate in Memorial Cup competition.

In the Allan Cup race, Ottawa Senators are favored to win the Quebec Hockey League playoffs, in which six clubs are competing. The other teams are Valleyfield Braves, Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, Montreal Royals, Quebec Aces and Sherbrooke Saints.

Pembroke Lumber Kings won the Ottawa district title Wednesday night by defeating Cornwall Calumets to take the best-of-five series 3-2. They now will meet Sydney Millionaires.

Miners Waiting

Waiting to play the winner of the O. H. A. senior series between Marlboros and Kitchener-Waterloo are the North Bay Miners, champions of the Northern Ontario Association.

In the west section, British Columbia's Trail Smoke Eaters and Kimberley Dynamiters will meet next week in their best-of-seven final series. Regina Capitols and Edmonton Flyers have yet to begin their best-of-seven series for the Alberta-Saskatchewan title.

Fort Frances Canadians and Fort Arthur Bearcats are fighting it out for the Thunder Bay title. Currently they have won a game apiece in their best-of-seven series.

Winnipeg Nationals and Winnipeg A.A.A. start their best-of-five set for the Manitoba title tomorrow night.

League Leaders

(By The Canadian Press)

Robertson May Play With Leafs Says Con Smythe

(By The Canadian Press)

Bobby Robertson, defenceman with Toronto Marlboros Seniors, is being held in readiness for a tryout with Toronto Maple Leafs, managing-director Conny Smythe said today. On a lend-lease basis amateurs are permitted to have three trial games with 3 National or Hockey League Club without losing their status.

At the same time the Leafs' boss just about gave up hope of seeing right winger Hershey Wilder in the Stanley Cup playoffs which start next week. Howie broke a big toe three weeks ago in Chicago and is not expected to be ready for action until mid-April.

Andy McFie's Kingston Curling Club rink Wednesday night won the Wing-Standard trophy, premier award in the annual Kingston Curling Club Bonspiel. The McFie rink edged out a foursome skipped by J. G. Hooper, also of the Kingston Club, 6-5. Percy Kitch of Lindsay, Ont., and Bob McMillan of Kingston bashed the finals in the Dourdier Trophy competition, the second try event.

Hamilton Tigers and Owen Sound Mercurys, two Ontario Hockey Association teams knocked out of the Senior A playoffs, will see action at least once more before hanging up their skates for the season. The two will play an exhibition game in Owen Sound Saturday and the proceeds will go to Sound hockey defence man Ted Pollock, who is ill in hospital.

Frank Byrne, general-manager of Quebec Citadels, said Wednesday arrangements are being made to have the club's home games in the provincial junior final with Montreal Royals played at Chicoutimi in the Lake St. John district. Both the Citadels and the Aces, Quebec's Senior Club, lost their home ice Tuesday when the Colisseum was destroyed in a $1,000,000 fire. The Aces lost all their equipment.

At Houston, Tex., Joe Louis scored a technical knockout over Elmer (Violent) Ray in the fourth round of a scheduled six-sound exhibition bout Wednesday night. The heavyweight champion, who recently announced his retirement, dropped Ray best as the third ended.

Hawks Cool off Boston Bruins, Tighten Race for Second Spot

You can't accuse the Chicago Black Hawks of not trying—and that's for sure. The fortiers Hawks haven't thrown in the towel yet by a long shot, although no one would blame them much if they did.

Wednesday night the Boston Bruins, with a chance to practically clinch second place in the National Hockey League, fell victims to the vanished fire-power of the Hawks who drove from behind for a 4-3 victory.

This was cheering news for the idle Montreal Canadiens woo now have a fair chance of overtaking the Bruins. With three games to play to Boston's one, the Habitants trail the Bruins by two points. If Montreal wins all three, they're home. If Boston drops its one remaining contest, Canadiens need win only two of theirs to hit the higher bracket.

In the only other game Wednesday night, the champion Detroit Red Wings plastered a 6-2 defeat on the hapless New York Rangers. The loss, coupled with the Chicago triumph, cost the Blueshirts all chance of rising out of the league cellar.

Conachers Pet on Show

The no-relation Conachers, Jimmy and Roy, almost beat the Bruins by themselves. Jimmy fired the tying and winning goals, his 25th and 26th markers of the campaign, while Roy notched one counter and gained an assist on the other. Jimmy Peters, Paul Ronty and Milt Schmidt collected the Boston goals.

Tied 3-3 going into the final period, the Hawks attacked in waves and their sorties paid off at the 11:38 mark when Gus Bodnar deflected Pete Babando's wild pass onto the stick of Jim Conacher who blasted a shot past Frankie Brimsek from close range.

Ted Lindsay, adding further ammunition to his bid for the all-star left-wing berth, was the hero of Detroit's victory.

Terrific first period two goals and made the player for two others —all in the third period.

The other Detroit marksmen were Pete Horeck, Georgs Gee, Pat Lundy and Sid Abel, while Rangers tallies went to Tony Leswick and Wally Stanowski.

Tonight - Toronto travels to Montreal to meet the Canadiens in a game that means much to the Habs bid for second place.

Connie Mack Figures His A's Have Good Chance

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 17 (AP)—At the age of 86, Connie Mack sits in Philadelphia Athletics' dugout and talks about one more pennant.

If an Irishman can't be optimistic on St. Patrick's Day then life isn't worth living. Mack is both Irish and optimistic, starting his 49th season as manager of the A's.

"At first I thought Cleveland had it clinched but I changed my mind," said Mack in his annual second guess, "I think we have a chance along with New York and Boston. Cleveland has to win again to prove that its a good team.

"Our club is about the same good defence but we don't hit. Our pitching is fine. I never saw an infield that could throw as good as ours.

"The main change is reserves. Injuries hurt us last year when we surprised you fellows. Sam Chapman was out a month. Elmer Valo was out two different times. Then when Eddie Joost hurt his hand in August we were done for. Now we have Wally Moses and Mark Wright to fill in as outfield reserves and pinch-hitters.

Many experts' faces were red last year when the A's climbed into the American League race and remained there until late August. On paper they didn't rate but they were there all the way until Joost was injured. They finished fourth.

Mack's fine defensive infield of first baseman Ferris Fain, second baseman Pete Suder, shortstop Eddie Joost and third baseman Hank Majeski is intact. Reserves will be Ted Davis, Nelson Fox and Hank Majeski, product of Windsor sandlots who played last year with Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League.

Barney McCosky, Sam Chapman and Valo make up the regular outfield.

Mack has six starting pitchers of two of them, Canadians—Lou Brissie (14-10), Joe Coleman (14-12), Phil Marchildon (9-15), Dick Fowler (13-8), Bill McGhan (4-7) and Carl Scheib (14-8). Charley Harris (5-5) figures for relief. Marchildon is from Penetanguishene and Fowler from Toronto.

Buddy Rosar again is the No. 1 catcher.

FEED FOR DEER

Wawanosa, Man. — (CP) — The local Game and Fish Association recently outlined a scheme to distribute feed to deer during the three weeks in March when natural food is still buried and the animals are in their weakest condition.

Indians Clinch Third Playoff Spot in Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Springfield Indians clinched third place in the Eastern Division and a spot in the American Hockey League playoffs Wednesday night with an 8-5 victory over Philadelphia.

Providence and Hershey have already captured first and second place respectively.

Bill Gooden collected three goals for Springfield, while Mike Nardussi, Remp Trudell, Arnold Lemieux, Leo Curick and Vern Lister potted the others.

Phil Hergesheimer and Steve Wochy got two goals and Harry Pidhirny one for Philly.

In the Western Division, Buffalo Blazes downed Cleveland Indians 4-3.

Les Douglas, Floyd Curry, George Pargeter and Ray Garlepp scored the Buffalo goals while Roy Kelly notched a pair for Cleveland and Danny Sprout added the other.

Pittsburg Hornets rammed home seven goals in the third period to hand Hershey Bears a 10-4 thumping in Pittsburg.

Johnny O'Flaherty, Rudy Migay, Bob Dawes and Frank Mathers each scored twice for the Hornets, while Les Costello and Sid Smith garnered the others. Arnold Kullman, Herbie Lewis, Gordon Bruce and Johnny Bottos tallied for Hershey.

St. Paul Beaten After 19 Games Without Loss

(By The Associated Press)

Dallas knocked off the St. Paul Saints 4-3 Wednesday night to end a St. Paul streak of 19 games without a loss in the United States Hockey League.

Tom Rockey and Joe Bell each scored twice for Dallas.

Omaha and Minneapolis prolonged their battle for the third playoff spot in the Northern Division with a 2-2 tie at Minneapolis.

Stan Smith and Roger Gagne gave Minneapolis a 2-0 lead in the first period last night, but Omaha counted single goals in the second and third periods to emerge with a tie.

PETERBOROUGH HORSE WINS

Phoenix, Ariz., March 17 — (AP) — Stewart Worthy nosed out Joeedale Maid in a photo finish last night to win the feature mile Classified Pace in harness racing here, posting a time of 2:07 2/5.

Driven by Clint Hodgins, the Peterborough chestnut gelding returned $5.80, $3.20 and $2.80. Joeedale Maid set the pace at first but faded slightly at the far turn, finishing in a burst of speed to nearly overtook Worthy. Worthy. Sultan Hanover was third.

Training Camp Notes

(By The Associated Press)

Billy Rigney, New York Giants' infielder who collapsed during a game Sunday, was expected back in uniform today. Rigney was treated in hospital for a mild condition.

Johnny Mize, who has been nursing a bruised knee, also figures to be ready for action within a day or so.

Outfielder Jeff Heath, last Boston Brave to holdout, is due in camp today. He agreed to terms by telephone from his Bow, Wash. home Wednesday and said he'd take the first available plane. It is reported Heath received around $20,000 last season.

Philadelphia Athletics have every reason to believe Sam Chapman's spectacles are gone for good.

Last season, fielder Chapman donned glasses in an effort to improve his hitting. This year, he's cast them aside in hope that his eyes have overcome a temporary weakness. Wednesday Sam came through with a winning triple in the last inning of an exhibition game.

Bob Feller of Cleveland Indians still is by far the hardest-working player in any training camp. Some even feel that the big right-hander might overdo it slightly.

Clad in a rubber jacket, Bob runs back and forth across the outfield for hours, batting only now and then to flog on his arm and do strenuous calisthenics of his own devising.

Sudbury Wolves Win Contest

London, March 17 (CP)—Canada's Sudbury Wolves defeated Eariscourt Rangers 8-1 Wednesday night in a rough exhibition hockey game during which four players were banished with major penalties for fighting.

Bill Dimock led the Wolves with a pair of goals and Don Munro notched the other. Alf Harvey scored the Rangers' goal.

Munro and Wally Sullivan of the Rangers tangled in one fight and each was sent off for five minutes. In another battle between Barney Hillaon of the Wolves and Harvey, each drew a major and Hillaon got an extra two minutes for arguing with referee Dinty Moore's decision.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK! By R. J. SCOTT

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop and ma were reeding different parts of the Sunday paper, and I was looking out the living room window at the bum weather getting still bummer, and I wished I was allowed out even with a cold, and I asked Aw heck, why I dont see why I cant go out.

Just listen to that boy, ma said to pop. I'm worn to my wits ends trying to make him see why he has to stay in. I wish you'd talk to him, she said.

With pop did, saying, Benny, it's nice and warm and dry and comfortable in here, isn't it?

Yes sir, I said, and pop said, That's what I thawt, and I've also got an idea that it's damp and raw and uncomfortable outside. Am I rite or am I rong? he said.

Rite, I said.

Which he probably was, and he said, Well now, your valuable little sistern happens to be full of strepdjitjitter germs, which are also known as common cold germs because they have the common touch and would just as soon invade an saloman as an artichoke. Well now, when Strepptojitter germs are nice and warm and comfortable, they're lulled into a false sense or security and doze off and never wak up again, but when they are exposed to cold damp weather they lash themselves into a mathematical frenzy, and they divide and multiply as though their lives depend on it, which indeed they do as a matter of fact, and your cold gets worse because it has a billion more Strepptojitter germs to get worse with. Are you convinced? pop said, and I said, Yes sir.

God, pop said, and I said, Well can I go out for a while just to prove you're rite so nobody will even have to argue with me the next time I get a cold?

Not being quite the end of the subject.

Brighteners

Trenton, N.J., March 17—(AP)—Assemblyman T. James Tumulty Wednesday called on the New Jersey State Legislature to kick "the Red snakes out of New Jersey as St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland."

Tumulty, a Democratic representative who is co-sponsor of proposed anti-Communist Legislation, made the comment as he urged adoption of a St. Patrick's Day resolution. This resolution called for congratulating the sons of Ireland on Today's holiday.

Tumulty also publicly called off his legislative feud with Republican Hugh Mehorter, saying "St. Patrick's Day is the time when Irishmen and Tumulty's should bury the hatchet."

Glendale, Calif., March 17 — (AP) — This is the story of a waif in no clothing.

Miss Veda Davis, 23-year-old motor police that a youth drove his car along the curb Wednesday night, and asked her politely "which way is Monrovia?" At first noticing only that he had a crew haircut she replied: "About two miles that way."

Then she saw that a crew haircut was all the young man had on. He started sheepishly out of the car, apparently more interested in getting to Miss Davis than Monrovia.

She dashed into a nearby house and called police. The nudist fled.

Los Angeles, March 17 — (AP) — Hard-boiled Irishman who must celebrate St. Patrick's Day in jail because he took a wrong turn out on a toot.

Police booked Wednesday that Edward O'Sullivan, 28, strolled down to the railroad yards, spotted a diesel engine, climbed aboard and applied the throttle. He was charged with tampering with a locomotive.

Railroad officials said the excursion landed yard traffic.

Judge Louis J. Kaufman said 180 days.

RAWDON

Rawdon—Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes entertained Miss Annie Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy of Madoc on Sunday.

BILL TO EXTEND

Called Thin Edge of Wedge

C. W. Cox (Lib.-Fort William) described the bill as "the thin end of the wedge of taking over power that properly belongs to the elected representatives of the municipalities."

F. D. Robinson (CCF-Port Arthur) said municipalities had asked for help with social services and education but not in running police and fire departments.

Enlarging on remarks made Wednesday to the mayors and reeves, Mr. Blackwell said the country was faced with "a command and continuous possibility of a national emergency." Fire brigades were not equipped to meet such an emergency. There were 96 different kinds of hydrants and couplings in the province. All should be uniform.

Gordon Ellis (CCF — Essex North) described the bill as "half-baked and improperly presented." And E. W. Walker (Lib-Welland) said it would discourage qualified men from running for municipal office.

Mr. Blackwell said municipalities had "of their volition" permitted organization of fire departments for collective bargaining. In 1947, it became apparent that there was some attempt to oust "responsible" leaders of the International Firefighters Union (A.F.L.) and supplant them by leaders who favored elimination of the "no-strike" clause from contracts. The government had amended the Fire Departments Act to provide for compulsive collective bargaining. Since municipalities were forced to bargain collectively with their employees, they were entitled to support from public funds.

New table for fishermen—always on the lookout for finer aids to angling in infinite variety—including a stub castor of novel spring design which Jack Sutton of Simpson's demonstrates to Mary Kelterborn.

"If "a calamity" struck one community facilities of other municipalities would be "practically useless."

If federal, provincial and municipal governments allowed this situation to continue "they will live to be damned by the people of this province."

Mr. Blackwell said he had discussed this situation with federal authorities.

J. G. Brown (L-Waterloo North)—said the question of bargaining rights of municipal employees was a matter for the Labor Department and had "nothing to do with the administration of fire departments in a municipality."

Enjoys Relief At Last From Nervous Indigestion

Suffered 2½ Years, Gas, Cramps, Sour Acidity, Got Headaches, Nerves on Edge, Could Not Sleep. Tells How Syntona Helped Her.

Every person in this city and vicinity who suffers with stomach disorders, bloating gas, burning, belching and sour acid risings after meals can benefit by the experience of other local men and women by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. After using Syntona, many symptoms such as headaches, nervousness, backache and painful joints and muscles quickly clear up and the whole system takes on a feeling of new strength and energy.

Here is the recent experience of Mrs. Mitchell Bowman, 140 Augusta Street, Hamilton, Ont., who said:

"For 2½ years I suffered constantly with nervous indigestion. After my meals, I would have awful gas, cramps and sour acid risings. I was troubled with frequent shocking headaches, backache, and my nerves were on edge. I had pains in my eyes for long after going to bed at night. My energy seemed to have left me entirely and I felt completely fatigued with the least effort.

"I tried everything I knew of, but got no relief. Then, one day not long ago, I read about Syntona helping other people and made up my mind to get some. From the very first bottle I could see some improvement, so I kept on taking it. My food began to digest better until I could eat all my meals once more without having gas, bloating and sourness afterwards. Now my nerves are calmed down, I sleep well and wonderful relief short and sure free of headaches and backache."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it can help you, too.

PLEADS GUILTY TO ALL CHARGES

Sudbury, March 17 — (CP) — "I plead guilty to the whole works," George R. Lewis, 23, of Toronto and Hornepayne, told Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in court here when he faced charges of possession of two cheques, Three Safecrackers Escape With $300

Toronto, March 17 — (CP) — Three young safecrackers escaped with $300 from Spring Service Ltd., in midtown Toronto early yesterday after binding the night watchman with electric tape.

John Fraser, 55-year-old watchman, told police the three men entered the premises when he answered a knock on the rear door. They tied him with tape and opened the company safe with an acetylene torch, knowing them to be stolen, and two of forgery. The cheques worth $137.54 and $222.38 had been stolen from Mrs. Martha Salkfeld, of Sault Ste. Marie. He was remanded one week for sentence, while his record is check-

ONT. LEGISLATURE ADOPTS BUDGET BY 45-34 VOTE

Provincial Treasurer Predicts Higher Exemptions in Federal Budget

Toronto, March 18 — (CP) — His 1949 budget adopted after three weeks' debate, the Ontario Legislature today continues consideration of government bills as a prelimnary to a drive to prorogue by March 31.

That drive is expected to start in earnest next week. The House, which got along without night sittings for nearly three weeks at the start of the session, plans to sit Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost closed out the budget debate with a prediction that the federal government's March 22 budget will announce, besides higher tax exemptions, the start of universal, old-age pensions payable without a means test.

Throughout the debate, opposition groups demanded that the Ontario government raise the base monthly pension to $40 from $20.

"This government is far from satisfied with the old-age pensions," said Mr. Frost. "It feels that satisfactory results can be obtained only if a basic pension is paid universally and not through a means test, the same as family allowances."

Declaring that he was going to make a political prediction, he then gave the House his federal budget forecast.

The Ontario budget, providing for current expenditures of more than $200,000,000 was approved when the House by a vote of 45 to 34 adopted a motion to go into committee of supply to consider the estimates.

Reject CCF Amendment

By another 45-to-34 vote, the House rejected a C.C.F. amendment which would have expressed disapproval of the budget for not making a provision for a prepaid and subsidized hospital care plan.

Labor's John W. Foote, (PC-Durham) former army chaplain who won the Victoria Cross during the Dieppe beaches in 1942, bolted party lines to urge a $40-a-month old age pension and restriction of liquor sales. Other afternoon speakers were Morton Park (CCF Toronto Dovercourt), Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver and CCF

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Mar. 18 (CP)—Synopsis: Polar air from Northwestern Canada has taken charge of the continent in its grip and there is no sign of a let-up in the current cold weather spell. However, the spring storm centers are developing well south of us and moving off the Atlantic coast before recurving northward. Typical of such a center is the one over Virginia this morning which is causing cloud and brings the lower lakes and the storm moves eastward the skies will clear this evening and it will be mainly fair Saturday but unday will continue cool, and fair weather is expected.

WILL STAND TRIAL

Santa Monica, Calif., March 18 (AP)—Betty Ritchie, 24-year-old sweetheart of Gerard Dennis, was ordered Thursday to stand trial April 7 on a charge of receiving stolen property. Dennis, a native of St. Catharines, is in a White Plains, N.Y., jail, charged with many jewel robberies.

Ottawa, March 18 (CP) — The Canadian National Railways had a 1948 deficit of $33,532,741, it was shown in the company's annual report tabled today in the Commons.

The report, tabled by Transport Minister Chevrier, showed gross operating revenues at a peak of $491,269,000 and operating expenses of $464,739,970 for net operating revenue of $26,529,980.

The deficit was brought about by charges for taxes, equipment rents and bond interest — the latter amounting to $44,839,850.

It was the biggest deficit for the national line since the pre-war years. During the war, it had a series of surpluses.

Vernon Welch Gets 10 Years At Second Trial

St. Thomas, March 18 (CP)—Vernon Welch, 26, today was sentenced to 10 years for manslaughter — the second time he has been convicted in connection with the poison death of his wife in August, 1947.

It was the same sentence as imposed a year ago by Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven after Welch's first conviction for manslaughter.

As Welch was being led from the court, he swore at the two police officers — Det. Ben Milligan of the Ontario Provincial Police and Chief Constable Harold Henderson of Aylmer — who investigated the case.

Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder, in passing sentence, said: "I suggest, Welch, that if you should be feeling sorry for yourself, you should recall the agonies in which your poor wife died as a result of your carelessness and negligence.

Light Sentence Would Not Serve

"I feel the ends of justice would not be served with a lenient sentence."

An Aylmer court jury Thursday found the former Aylmer fish store proprietor guilty of the charge. Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder said he was "thoroughly in accord" with the verdict.

Welch, who could not be found at the time of his wife's death, was arrested in a Toronto military barracks in November, 1947, and brought to trial here on a charge of murder. The jury reduced the charge to manslaughter and he was sentenced to 10 years.

Welch was later released from Elgin county jail here and was picked up in Toronto the following day. He received an extra year's sentence for the escape. An appeal was allowed on the manslaughter conviction and a new trial ordered.

Crown evidence at this week's trial was that Mrs. Welch, who had been under medical treatment for anaemia, died from strychnine poisoning.

Montgomery Criticizes Planning For Campaign in Sicily and Italy

(Editors note: Don Whitehead, who won a Pulitzer Prize for his news book by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery on the African and Italian campaigns of the British Eighth Army, served with those forces as an associated Press war correspondent.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, March 18 (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has fairly criticized unified planning for the war campaigns in Sicily and Italy.

The soldier-turned-author said in a book published today:

1. The original plan for invading Sicily in which the Canadian Army played a prominent part, "was unsound." Then Gen. Eisenhower finally accepted the Montgomery plans.

2. The Italian campaign bogged down because the peninsula was invaded without a "pre-determined plan" of action.

Viscount Montgomery gave his post-mortem in "El Alamein" to the River Sangro," published by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., of New York.

The text of the book is as precise, austere and cocksure as its

ITALIAN CHAMBER SUPPORTS PACT BEATS FILIBUSTER

Backs Government in N. Atlantic Alliance

Rome, March 18 (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies, beating down a dogged leftist filibuster, voted today to authorize the government to negotiate Italy's adherence to the North Atlantic defence alliance.

The vote on the resolution of confidence in the government's foreign policy was 342 to 170.

The powerful Communist-Socialist leader, Pietro Nenni., said Italian adherence to the pact would be an invitation for the invasion of our country."

The filibuster ran three days before the matter came to a vote.

No new disturbances were reported. However, at Trastevere, a steep town 70 miles from Rome, a 24-hour general strike was called to protest police action Thursday in which one person was killed and six injured.

At 9:30 a.m. today there were still 38 Communist and fellow-traveller deputies waiting to speak in the parliament talkathon. Each claimed the right to explain his vote against the alliance.

That's what leftist deputies have been doing for the last two days and nights, with the Chamber in continuous session.

Leaders Fatigued

The continued filibuster virtually assured that the vote of confidence asked by the government in its stand for the North Atlantic agreement would be decisive. Speech after speech was made public today.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi, whose Christian Democratic party has enough voters to assure favorable Chamber action, appeared tired as he returned to his seat on the government's bench.

Palmiro Togliatti, Communist leader, also looked fatigued.

The Assembly attendance fluctuated as some deputies left the floor to snatch a little sleep. To avoid a possible Communist maneuver for a quick vote when the attendance was low, about 300 of the Assembly's parliamentarians were listed to speak. They are not expected to exercise their right, however.

Former Hungarian Officers, Civilians Reported Arrested

New York, March 18 (CP) — The New York Times said today in a Vienna dispatch that a number of former Hungarian officers and "their alleged civilian accomplices" have been arrested and will soon be made defendants in a large-scale "American espionage trial by Hungary's Communist-led government.

The arrests were made partly as a result of evidence gathered by political police when they raided the Budapest apartment of Baroness Pongracs, who is prominent in Hungarian Roman Catholic circles, the Times said. She was arrested with her 18 - daughters and 40 other persons who have "dropped in to see her in the course of two days."

Parents and Nine Children Homeless After Flash Fire

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet, Herchimer Ave., and their nine children ranging up to 16 years, are homeless today following a flash fire which late Thursday afternoon completely burned their small dwelling.

The mother and children who were at home at the time of the blaze escaped from the burning home but practically all the household furnishings and clothing owned by the family were burned.

Bookkeeper at the Acme Plumbing and Heating Co. of the city limits, Mr. Herb Lindsay was first to see the fire. Looking out the back window of the plumbing shop he saw the flames racing up the tar paper exterior of the dwelling.

Race to Scene

Mr. Haycroft and J. E. Campbell, business partners in Acme Plumbing, raced 150 yards to the scene of the fire and notified Mrs. Brunet who was not aware her home was afire.

The children were quickly bundled up and carried outside while Mr. Haycroft and Jr. Seames hurried upstairs and carried out two younger children who were playing in the upstairs room.

Having come to Belleville from Montreal only last November after the fire which left this small home in Thurlow township, the Brunet family had recently had purchased new clothes and furniture. Only the clothes worn by Mrs. Brunet and the children were saved from the fire. There was no insurance.

Local Dept. Answers Call

Members of the Belleville Fire Department were called to the scene but hampered by the lack of water were unable to do anything to prevent the flames from completely devouring the small home.

Brunet, an employee of Northern Electric, came here from Montreal, and unable to obtain accommodation, built the small home for his family. Apparent permanent accommodation could be secured. The dwelling was covered with tar paper and was very quickly destroyed.

The fire apparently started outside the dwelling from a pile of packing cases which were piled near the corner of the house. When first seen this pile of packing cases was blazing and had spread to the house.

Members of Mr. Brunet family were given shelter for the night at homes of various neighbors in the vicinity until Mr. Brunet can secure other accommodation for his family of nine children.

Will Build New Home

Although they had lost everything in the fire which quickly razed their small home, the Brunet family today were encouraged when employees of Northern Electric volunteered to build them a new home over the weekend.

Mr. Brunet stated that already he had drawn plans for the new home, which will be built immediately to the south of the present dwelling. All his carpenter tools and nearly 100 pounds of nails which he had purchased to build his family a permanent home, were lost on the fire.

"I'll go back to work later today" stated Mr. Brunet. "People have really been kind."

He is confident that early next week his family would be again back in their own home.

Mrs. Brunet was of the same opinion. "We were fortunate that none of the children were lost," she said. "And the people have been so kind."

Drew Withholds Pact Comment

Ottawa, March 18 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in the North Atlantic security pact but withheld specific comment on the pact Thursday night after the government has explained its terms.

The opposition leader, who has been in possession of the treaty text for more than a week, will discuss his stand on its terms in the House debate after the government has made a statement on it.

The reason for his discussing it in detail now, he said, is that the effect of any pact on Canada will depend on the interpretation placed on it by the government.

Smuggling Shows Allied-Counter Blockade Pinches

Berlin, March 18 (AP) — Increased smuggling attempts show how closely the Allied counter-blockade is pinching the Soviet zone of Germany, a United States military government report said today. The report said this contraband seized at the border included motor car parts, high-grade tools, steel, motor vehicles and farm equipment.

Highlights of Pact

Washington, March 18 — (AP) — Highlights of the proposed North Atlantic Treaty:

STATED PURPOSE — "To safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principle of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

SPONSORING COUNTRIES — Britain, the United States, Canada, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Norway. Italy, Iceland expected to join later.

KEY PROVISION — "An armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all."

If that happens, each party pledges to "assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force . . ."

What constitutes such kind of an attack would set the alliance in motion? — "An armed attack on the territory of any of the parties in Europe, or North America, on the Algerian departments of France, on the occupation forces of any party in Europe, on the islands under the jurisdiction of any party in the North Atlantic area north of the Tropic of Cancer or on the vessels or aircraft in this area of any of the parties."

How does it affect the U.N.? — "Any such armed attack and any measures taken to meet it must be reported "immediately" to the U. N. Security Council. Three countermeasures also limit the Security Council's action when the necessary measures to restore and maintain international peace and security."

FIRST STEPS — The member countries propose to build themselves up to the point where they can hope to resist armed attack by (A) providing each other with "continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid." (B) "Taking military help from the United States) — and (B) seeking to "eliminate conflict in their international economic policies" so as to "encourage economic collaboration between any or all of them."

STEP-BY-STEP — The members will establish a council to consider ways of carrying out the treaty. The council will set up any subsidiary bodies it deems necessary, specifically and at once a "defence committee" to recommend measures of self-help and exact steps to be followed in event of attack.

DURATION — Twenty years, with provision for reviewing the treaty after it has been in effect for 10 years.

NEW MEMBERS — By "unanimous agreement" the signers can invite to join "any other European state in a position to further the principles of this treaty and to contribute to the security of the North Atlantic area."

CANADIAN DOLLAR BECOMES PIVOT OF BITTER DEBATE

Govt. Plans to Operate Board Two More Years

Ottawa, March 18 —(CP)—The Canadian dollar became the pivot in the Commons Thursday of a government defence and an opposition attack anviling about the Canadian dollar's plan to keep its exchange control board operating for two years.

Progressive Conservative speakers, led by J. M. Macdonnell, official opposition financial critic, urged the government to withdraw the "unrealistic" policy of parity from the dollar and allow it to find "true economic" level, thus increasing the flow of United States capital into this country.

Finance Minister Abbott rejected the suggestion and said the government had no intention of offering the dollar at "bargain basement" prices to attract capital because to do so inevitably would mean a 101per-cent boost in the prices of goods imported from the U. S.

Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia), speaking for the Social Credit party, felt the exchange board should be kept operating because much longer than two years because of commitments under the Bretton Woods agreement and the Bretton Woods financial pact.

Mr. Abbott sought by a motion — ruled out of order — to have the House approve the dollar from parity and continue the board for only one year with modifications necessary to enable representations to the International Monetary Fund for an orderly readjustment of currencies "realistic" level.

Other speakers included Rodney Adamson (PC — West York West), David Croll (L — Toronto Spadina), Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC — Macleod, Alta.), Gordon Graydon (PC — York South) and A. L. Smith (PC — Calgary West).

In the opening stages, the Chamber adopted a government motion to lift immediately the control legislation is passed and heard Prime Minister St. Laurent heartily suggest Progressive Conservatives were conducting a political filibuster against the control bills.

Hopes to Produce Red Canary

Sault Ste. Marie, March 18 — (CP) — What started as a hobby 10 years ago for Seaton Weeks, 27, has now grown into an aviary filled with nearly 200 canaries, the winning trophies for his normal-colored birds Weeks now hopes to produce what no other breeder has done — a red canary. He has developed some pigmented birds and by breeding with a bird imported from Switzerland, a black hooded bird Slakin, he hopes to get the red pigment by next year.

Charges Three Indians Robbed and Slain

New Delhi, March 18 — (AP) — India, charging that three Indians were robbed and slain recently by Dutch soldiers at Djambi, Sumatra, has made representations to the Netherlands embassy here. An informed source said it was an oral protest and Dutch authorities are awaiting a written note.

CANADIAN DOLLAR BECOMES PIVOT OF BITTER DEBATE

Govt. Plans to Operate Board Two More Years

Ottawa, March 18 —(CP)—The Canadian dollar became the pivot in the Commons Thursday of a government defence and an opposition attack anviling about the Canadian dollar's plan to keep its exchange control board operating for two years.

Progressive Conservative speakers, led by J. M. Macdonnell, official opposition financial critic, urged the government to withdraw the "unrealistic" policy of parity from the dollar and allow it to find "true economic" level, thus increasing the flow of United States capital into this country.

Finance Minister Abbott rejected the suggestion and said the government had no intention of offering the dollar at "bargain basement" prices to attract capital because to do so inevitably would mean a 101per-cent boost in the prices of goods imported from the U. S.

Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia), speaking for the Social Credit party, felt the exchange board should be kept operating because much longer than two years because of commitments under the Bretton Woods agreement and the Bretton Woods financial pact.

Mr. Abbott sought by a motion — ruled out of order — to have the House approve the dollar from parity and continue the board for only one year with modifications necessary to enable representations to the International Monetary Fund for an orderly readjustment of currencies "realistic" level.

Other speakers included Rodney Adamson (PC — West York West), David Croll (L — Toronto Spadina), Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC — Macleod, Alta.), Gordon Graydon (PC — York South) and A. L. Smith (PC — Calgary West).

In the opening stages, the Chamber adopted a government motion to lift immediately the control legislation is passed and heard Prime Minister St. Laurent heartily suggest Progressive Conservatives were conducting a political filibuster against the control bills.

Hopes to Produce Red Canary

Sault Ste. Marie, March 18 — (CP) — What started as a hobby 10 years ago for Seaton Weeks, 27, has now grown into an aviary filled with nearly 200 canaries, the winning trophies for his normal-colored birds Weeks now hopes to produce what no other breeder has done — a red canary. He has developed some pigmented birds and by breeding with a bird imported from Switzerland, a black hooded bird Slakin, he hopes to get the red pigment by next year.

Charges Three Indians Robbed and Slain

New Delhi, March 18 — (AP) — India, charging that three Indians were robbed and slain recently by Dutch soldiers at Djambi, Sumatra, has made representations to the Netherlands embassy here. An informed source said it was an oral protest and Dutch authorities are awaiting a written note.

North Atlantic Pact Tabled In House of Commons

Parliament Will be Asked To Approve Before Signing

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 18 — (CP) — A draft treaty pledging Canada, the United States and six European countries to stand shoulder-to-shoulder against aggression and to keep themselves strong enough to resist it, was made public here today.

The 1,000-word "North Atlantic Treaty" text, written in nine months of negotiations in Washington, was tabled in the Commons at 11 a.m. EST.

Members of the House of Commons and Senate received the text simultaneously. Parliament will be asked to approve the text prior to a conference in Washington, possibly April 4, when the treaty, as finally approved, will be signed.

Debate on prior approval of the draft will provide an opportunity for parliament to suggest changes which may be made at the signing conference.

Original negotiators are Canada, the United States, United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg and Norway. The latter coming in only in the last stages.

They have invited to the final conference Ireland, Denmark, Italy and Portugal which are expected to become original signatories.

Two Effective Articles

The treaty draft sets forth in its preamble faith in the United Nations Charter principles, a desire to live in peace and a determination to safeguard the signatories and their people in freedom under democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law.

It pledges the signatories to work together and consult in an effort to maintain peaceful methods of settling disputes and to "eliminate conflict in their international economic policies" and encourage economic collaboration between any or all of them."

The effective articles are three and five in the 14-article document. The third pledges the parties to "self-help and mutual aid" to maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

The fifth declares that "an

Advises Purchase Of Suburban Area For Planning

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—Representatives of 100 provincial municipalities have been warned against possibilities of unbalanced communities in Quebec to lure new industries from the boundaries of Ontario municipalities.

Col. F. J. Lyle, director of the planning and development department, trade and industry branch, said Thursday that Quebec's selling job was producing results which reacted to the detriment of Ontario.

One way in which Ontario municipalities might compete, said A. E. K. Bunnell, consultant to Ontario's community planning branch, would be to acquire suburban property. Any community which ignores long-term planning is backward, he said.

Threat of German U-Boats Only Thing That Frightened Churchill in War

New York, March 18 (AP) — Winston Churchill says that the only thing that ever frightened him during the war was the threat of German submarines to British supply lines.

Churchill, writes in his War Memoirs that against the U-boat peril "the high and faithful spirit of the people counted for naught."

The wartime Prime Minister of Britain discusses the deadlines of the submarine attacks in the last instalment of the second volume of his War Memoirs.

In the winter of 1940-41, after the air battle of Britain had been won, Churchill says, "Slowly, but drawing lines of charts" disclosed the "potential strangulation" threatened by the U-boats.

Nazi submarines and planes based in France forced all British shipping to go around northern Ireland and enter Britain through the ports on the Mersey and Clyde Rivers.

Churchill describes 1940 as the "most splendid" and "most decisive" in British history—a time when "we had defied the tyrant at the height of his triumph.

Seize Cylinder Holding Uranium Substance

Mexico City, March 18 (AP) — Reporting a confounding contradiction marked the story today of the seizure of a small cylinder containing a uranium substance, possibly stolen from an atomic laboratory in the United States.

The Mexican secret police said the capsule contained pure uranium 235, the stuff from which atom bombs are made.

Attorney-General Francisco Gonzalez De Vega said later, however, the cylinder contained only an ingot of refined uranium having no explosive power, and not enough of the material to be of much use to anybody.

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington said none of its plants or contractors had reported the loss of any material essential to the making of an atom bomb.

Radio Reception Trouble in City Cleared Up

A patrol of the city last night with officials of the Department of Transport, Ottawa, reverted to an Ontario Intelligencer reporting that radio reception was good.

The patrol was made as a result of numerous complaints regarding reception interference especially on the East Hill district of the city.

Severe interference was noted on an earlier patrol and the main source of trouble was located at the corner of Charles and Bridge Streets. Public Utilities Commission officials were notified and the condition rectified.

Several telephone calls were received by the officials at their hotel while the offices of the Ontario Intelligencer received a number of letters regarding the interference.

The Department of Transport officials pointed out that in future all complaints regarding radio reception interference be forwarded to the offices of the Radio Inspector, Kingston.

Sources of interference discovered by the officials on their patrols were not uncommon, with the exception of the one at Bridge and Charles Streets. Interference here generally is of a brief duration and can generally be traced to the use of electrical appliances. The officials pointed out that much can be done to improve radio reception if users made it a point to check all home electrical appliances.

NO VESTS FOR FIREMEN

Peterborough, March 18 (CP)— Firemen here won't be issued vests with their uniforms in the future. City council decided to supply only coat and trousers because a survey revealed that out of 48 men of the department only four wore the vests. "Why should we buy vests to hang up in a hall of clothes closets," Alderman Miller said.

Deer Hound Badly Injured By Shot in Back

A valuable deer hound owned by Mr. Jack Way, College Street was seriously injured yesterday when he was shot through the back by some unknown party.

The dog had been away from Mr. Way's premises only for about ten minutes when he crawled back with what appeared to be a .22 bullet through the upper part of his back.

Dog catcher Thomas Thorne reported today it was extremely doubtful if the animal from the gunshot wound that investigation will be made to determine the party responsible for the shooting.

Central Cigar "Stogies" Top Major 'A' Bowling

The Central Cigar team in the Major A Bowling League stoked up their trundling stogies at the Bowl-O-Drome last night and when the fumes had cleared they had taken the measure of the Lawn Bowlers 7-0 with the high aggregate score of 3401. Bowlers rolled deep.

Belleville Golf maintained their slim lead at the head of the league standing turning back the CNR team by a 5-3 score. Callaghan's team which is fast breathing down the Golfers' necks defeated Electrons 5-3 while the Golf team handed York Trading a 5-2 setback. Northern Electric in the remaining game of the Thursday night session defeated CNR 5-2.

Herb Martin of the "Stogies" was high individual scorer with a triple of 788 and single of 355. Five others bettered the 700 mark.

The scores:

Central Cigar 7 pts.	3401

Brigade Answers Three Alarms Within 24 Hours

Three alarms inside the city and one in Thurlow township were answered by the local department within the past 24 hours, the three calls in the city being but for minor blazes.

The call to Thurlow township was to Bleecker Ave., where the small home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet burned to the ground. Firemen checked the blaze for a time but were forced to stand by and watch the flames burn their water supply gave out.

The other alarms answered by the department were to 199 Macdonald Ave. for a chimney blaze; to Borden's Ice Cream plant on Station Street, where an oil burner got out of control, and to 243 Front Street over the Guild restaurant where there was an overheated stove. No damage was reported as result of any of the three minor blazes.

Stolen From Car Goods Abandoned

Would-be thieves who broke into a car owned by William Wallace Bleecker Ave., when it was parked at the rear of the McCarthy Theatre, must have suffered a sudden attack of cold feet Thursday night.

Mr. Vantassel had parked his car and when he returned he found it had been entered and a considerable quantity of clothing had been stolen. Missing were a woman's raincoat, two ladies' jackets, shirts, and 200 pairs of socks.

The missing articles were recovered a short time later at the rear of the income tax office where the would-be thief apparently had left them.

Four-Day Fair Will be Held In This City

The board of directors of Belleville Agricultural Society really got down to business Tuesday evening with the president, Mr. Harry Rollins in the chair. They decided upon holding an four-day fair on August 15-16-17-18. The Belleville Fair was the fifth in standing in the Province of Ontario last year for attendance for Class 'B' Fairs and it is expected that this year's will be better than this year, as the other fairs that were ahead of them, held their fairs for at least five full days.

There will be a "thrill" show Monday afternoon and evening, the first day, along with three full days of horse racing; Coaldrin's midway has already been signed up for the occasion fresh from the fairs in the west and the Province of Quebec.

One of the highlights will be the free admission for all children twelve years of age and under on all days of the fair.

The Kinsmen's Club intend to sell tickets on a 1949 Pontiac deluxe sedan which will be drawn on the last day of the fair. As the Kinsmen's Club is a local organization that will be the only draw of that kind allowed during the fair.

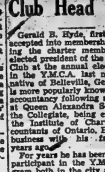
The Hon. Harold Scott has already advised secretary Eric Denyes that a large scale display of fish and wild life will be on exhibit during the four days of fair.

The directors and also the ladies directors have been appointed for the year, with the aim of strengthening the board.

Mr. Ben Bleecker who was recently appointed the first vice president of the Fair's Association reported on the convention held in Toronto during February.

Clamp Down On Bike Riders On Footbridge

Local police are clamping down on persons found riding bicycles on the footbridge over the tracks on the footbridge proper, it was indicated today with summonses having been issued to three offending youths. The youths were assessed $4.50 for their neglect in riding their bicycles instead of pushing them down the gangway.



Police Chief Walter Probert warned that police will keep a close watch on the footbridge and also in the footbridge proper for persons riding bicycles and that offenders would receive summonses. At the same time the police chief noted that it was against regulations to ride bicycles at any time on city sidewalks.

Gerry Hyde Elected Y's Men Club Head

Gerald R. Hyde, first Y's Man accepted into membership following the charter members, was elected president of the Y's Men's Club at the annual election held in the Y.M.C.A. last night. A native of Belleville, Gerry, as he is more popularly known, studied accountancy following graduance at Queen Alexandra School and the Collegiate, being enrolled in the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario. He entered business with his father four years ago.

For years he has been an active participant in the Y.M.C.A. program both in the city and at the Moira Lake Camp. He played basketball for the "Y" and the Collegiate and has coached the "Y" girls team. He has been an active member of Bridge Street United Church and is the secretary of the Men's Club.

Interested in Politics

He is known as a keen interest in politics being secretary of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Association for the past four years and vice president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario for the past two years.

He is taking an active interest in community life being a member of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce and the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club. He is a Mason, member of the Orange Order and single. Elected to the office of vice president of the Y's Men's Club is Ross Booth, treasurer for the past two years. Mr. Stan Booth came to the staff of the Bank of Commerce from Cobourg three years in 1.33 of the second round.

Willis Hutchinson, a Belleville boy who served in the Navy during the war, was elected secretary.

Treasurer for the year is Bryson Leslie, another Belleville product, well known in the shoe retail business founded by his father.

To Renovate Auditorium

Squadron Leader Frank H. Nicholls, construction engineering officer, Eastern Air Command, R.C.A.F. Trenton, was named chairman of the club. One of the major projects of the club now underway, for which he is responsible, is the complete modernizing of the Y.M.C.A. auditorium which will better serve the youth of the community for social and recreational purposes.

Gordon (Bud) Trill past district governor of Y's Men and past president of the local club was named chairman of the social committee. Lyman Trill was a member of the Peterborough club before his transfer here by the Bank of Commerce.

Rev. Ronald Ams was named chairman of boys work. His knowledge and interest in Y'ouths activities and the International convention at Long Beach, California, last summer qualifies him.

Oscar Wagar was named chairman of program. A member of the Income Tax staff, he has been a member of the club since 1945. A Queen's graduate in arts and theology, work in the program field comes naturally to Oscar, whose spare time is devoted to preaching and ministerial duties.

OBITUARY

JOHN SCOTT McKIBBON

After a short illness the 17-day-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McKibbon, R.R. 3, Belleville died in Kingston General Hospital on Thursday afternoon. A private service was held at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home and the final Friday afternoon by the Rev. C. A. Parkinson of Hollowy St. United Church.

Interment was in Mount Evergreen Cemetery at Trenton.

Referee Awards Senos Decision Over Glen Dafoe

Officials did not take very kindly to the swinging flat-handed punches of Trenton's Glen Dafoe at the R.C.A.F. boxing show held in the station sports hangar the other day and awarded the main bout to Eddie Senos, R.C.A.F., Aylmer, near the end of the second round.

Dafoe, it appears, did not heed several warnings of the referee with regard to alleged kidney punching and promptly got two old heave-ho after nearly two rounds of furious mauling.

Over 1,200 fans saw the colorful show that lived up to all advance notices. It had the color that always is associated with R.C.A.F. sports spectacles, enhanced by the lively music of the Trenton Lions Club Band. Six sports shirts were awarded as prizes.

An upset was noted in the unexpected defeat of Wilf Dubey, sharp Trenton battler who lost the decision to Gunner Bobby Smith, R.C.A.F., Picton.

The results:

Mrs. Jane Bailey Dies at Cooper, Age 98 Years

Another link with the colorful pioneer past of Hastings County was severed on Wednesday with the passing of Mrs. Jane Bailey, highly respected and well-known resident of Cooper, Tyendinaga Township, at the age of 98 years.

Born in Belleville, the daughter of the late John and Sarah Gibson, the late Mrs. Bailey resided here until her marriage. For the past seventy years she had resided in the vicinity of Madoc and Cooper. The late Mrs. Bailey predeceased her in 1915.

The heritage of sturdy pioneer stock passed down to her by the hardy men of those days of nearly a century ago stood Mrs. Bailey in good stead. She "turned her hand to the plow" and besides raising a family of six stalwart sons and two daughters assisted her husband with his duties on the farm.

Mrs. Bailey was a "log cabin" pioneer. Like the outstanding women of her youngest days, she spun and knitted, churned and baked, pitched hay and cut corn by hand. A scythe or sickle was as familiar to her as was the kneading board or the cradle.

Mrs. Bailey was the epitome of the characteristic type of people, who hewed their homes out of the living forests, when Hastings County was in its infancy and bride paths. She lived a useful life and was truly a helpmeet in the strictest sense of the word.

Freed of Her Family

She was proud of her family. Her "boys" as she was wont to call them up to the time of her death, were almost her life, up to her passing Mrs. Bailey was alert. Her mind functioned fully and she took a live interest in current events and those of her immediate environment.

Like members of other pioneer families of the district, Mrs. Bailey was a believer in religion. Down through the years, as her family grew from boyhood to manhood and womanhood, no matter the task, she found always took time for her devotions. A staunch Methodist of the old school, Mrs. Bailey became a member of the United Church, when the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches united. She was a faithful member of Cooper United Church and was also a member of the Women's Institute. Members of the Cooper United Church Women's Institute celebrated Mrs. Bailey's natal day for a number of years with a special meeting held at her home in her honor.

Surviving are six sons, Gibson Bailey of Cooper, Ont.; Herbert of Madoc; Stanley and Thomas, of McLeod, Alberta; Charles, of Rossmore, Ont., and Fred, of Oakville, Manitoba, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred (Elizabeth) Rollins, of Queensboro, Ont., and Mrs. Murray (Olive) Rollins, of Reabarn, Manitoba, and a brother, John Gibson, of Madoc Township.

The funeral notice appears elsewhere in this edition.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 18 — (CP) Prices moved narrowly in dull trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today with most changes held to small amounts. A few scattered industrials showed fractional declines and a comparatively wide list of golds strengthened from early weakness. Base metals were slightly easier and western oils slipped lower.

Volume for first three hours was 338,000 shares, about 84,000 shares more than Thursday's similar period.

Industrials were stronger in early dealings but several key issues tended to lose their small gains and slipped into the red column.

Action began to pick up in senior and junior gold producers with several leaders showing moderate advances.

armed attack against one or more any signatory in Europe, the islands under jurisdiction of any participant in the North Atlantic area north of the Tropic of Cancer, "or on the vessels or aircraft in this area of any of the parties."

15 Years Life of Treaty

The treaty will be made effective by a council on which each party will have membership. The council will set up subsidiary bodies including a defence committee with special responsibilities to carry out articles three and five.

Life of the treaty is 10 years of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all."

In such an emergency the participants will unite their resources, "including the use of armed force," to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area.

The operative area of the treaty includes the territory of the signatories in Europe, North America and the Algerian departments of France, its occupation forces or with provision for revision after it has been in force 20 years. After 20 years any party may resign on a year's notice.

Additional countries may become parties by accession on unanimous agreement of existing participants. The United States government will be repository of the treaty and its ratification or accession instrumentia.

good game last night but he should have been seen in Peterborough, where he literally broke the opposition's hearts with his fine checking and ball carrying.

Belleville Cage Team Ousts Peterborough

Belleville's Pappas Billiards advanced another round in the International Series" section of the Ontario Basketball Association playdowns, when they ousted the Peterborough "Outboard Marines" 86-74. The second game of the series was played at the Collegiate Auditorium on Thursday night and the locals won by a score of 42-32. The first game in Peterborough ended in a victory for the locals by a 86-45 count.

The local cagers were too smart for the opposition last night and as the game wore on continually added to their lead and total score. The first quarter ended 16-4 with the half time count being 22-10. In the third quarter they had a margin of 24-16 and a full time count of 42-32.

Buchanan played a terrific game last evening his marring of rebounds off Peterborough shots being nothing more than miraculous at times. His coach, Austin Watkin, stated that he played a Faulkner was the high scorer for his team with 14 points but he was closely followed by Sutcliffe with ten and Buchanan with eight. Thorburn and Payne carried the load for the locals, but they could not cope with the sustained drive of the locals. Thorburn had eight points and this equalled with eight by Payne. The Belleville squad now move into the semi-finals meeting Broadview "Y" of Toronto on March 26th in that city with the return game to be played here on April 2nd. The Belleville Basketball fans were out in goodly numbers and they are treating a fine sport because the Belleville squad is probably the best one that has been assembled in this city in some years and certainly deserves support. They could with a few breaks win the basketball championship to this city.

The Lineups

Belleville: Lockyer 4, Lepore Miller, Spafford 10, Faulkner 14, Buchanan 8, Galbraith 3, Pappas, Watkin 4, Total 42.

Referees: Ted Early and John Edwards, Kingston.

MONTGOMERY

author, the slender British warrior who won his first fame by driving back Germany's Gen. Erwin Roemmel at El Alamein in North Africa.

Viscount Montgomery avoids any direct criticism of his supreme commander—Eisenhower, or his British superior at the time, Gen. Alexander, now in Canada's Governor-General, but he makes it pretty clear that he would not have made mistakes they had be been in command.

In Italy, Viscount Montgomery declared, the high command's lack of a precise plan made the Allied armies the victims of bitter winter weather which trapped them before they could reach Rome.

The planners assumed, Viscount Montgomery said, that when an armistice with Italy was signed, the Italian troops "would turn against the Germans and assist in evicting them from the country." Viscount Montgomery didn't think so. "I expressed doubts," he said.

The initial Sicilian plan, Viscount Montgomery said, was drawn by British-American officers who had no guidance from the commanding generals—at that time engaged in the Tunisian fighting.

PICTON

County Council Grants $3,000 To Hospital

Picton—In an effort to solve financial problems of Prince Edward County Hospital, county council yesterday voted a grant of $3,000. This is part of an understanding between council and the hospital board, which also provides for relaxing of the hospital room rates by fifty cents per day, and an increased participation by county council towards the cost of indigent hospitalization of 50 cents per patient a day.

A problem in the past has been the payment of accounts for indigent patients and county council will work in co-operation with the hospital board to handle these more efficiently and to pay promptly for those uncollectable.

The grant will be used to pay immediate accounts, and it is felt the new arrangement will ease the hospital's financial problems. Many Requests Received

Many requests for grants were received by council and the following were made, $1,000 to Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture, $1,000 to general work of Salvation Army, $500 to S. A. receiving homes, $200 to Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $100 to Women's Institute, $100 to St. John Ambulance Brigade, $250 to Bloomfield and Wellington libraries, $50 each to Milford and Demorestville Fairs, $300 for Hurst's Island bridge.

A contract for a new heating system in the county buildings was let to the lowest tenderer for $9,255.

Several Works To be Proceeded With in Riding

Picton — Federal estimates announced at Ottawa recently include several for the riding of Prince Edward - Lennox, George J. Tustin, M. P., reports. These include $25,000 for renovation and alterations to Picton Post Office; $23,000 for a breakwater at Salmon Point; $17,950 for wharves at Wellington Island; $13,000 for wharf enlargement at Steils, Amherst Island; $21,000 for wharf enlargement at Milleboro.

Other estimates for 1949-50 include $25,000 for improvements to Belleville harbor and $20,000 for wharf extension at Trenton.

Delegates Named To PC Convention At Toronto

Picton—Delegates to attend the convention in Toronto, April 25 to 27 to select a leader of the Progressive Conservative party in Ontario were named at a meeting of Prince Edward-Lennox P.C. Association here Wednesday night. In spite of the stormy night there was a large attendance, swelled by a busload of supporters from Napanee. Delegates are Fred H. Hubbs, Jack Welsh, Thos. Walker, Bruce Falconer, Mrs. Gwen Trebell for Prince Edward; Fred McPherson, Wesley Young, Elmer Alcombrack, Rose Dudgeon, Douglas Alcombrack for Lennox. Alternate delegates are R.R. Church, Charles Hepburn, Mrs. Rose Bush, Norman Foster, L. B. Calnan for Prince Edward; Edward Bartley, P. U. Laidley, George Chalmers, George Paul, Norman Fitchett for Lennox. Additional delegates are George J. Tustin, M.P.P., James Hepburn, ex-M.L.A., Barney Hepburn and Woodrow Blakely representing the Young Conservatives; also Calvin Hughes, E. Montgomery, Clarence Milligan and Earl Brummell, who were delegates named to the meeting to choose the convention dates.

"It is time we had a change of government at Ottawa," declared James Hepburn. "The people are tired of being bled white through taxation without representation. Keep united and there is no doubt about the result," he said.

Others speaking briefly were Lance Nethery, R. R. Church, Fred U. McPherson, George Paul, Jack Welsh, Harold Wilson.

A resolution was passed expressing confidence in the leadership of George Drew, President Clarence Milligan ably presided. Woodrow Blakely was secretary.

CLOTHING RATIONING LIFTED IN U. K.

The people of Britain went on a buying spree this week for it was the first time in almost eight years that they were able to buy without restrictions something to wear.

This people whose steadiness and courage in danger's hour saved the world from the Nazi hordes has borne a heavy load. Just a short time ago they were allowed to buy candy freely, while at least in this part of the world people were few long since to buy what they would.

Naturally there would be a rush to buy on the first day throughout the United Kingdom. Reports tell of buyers grabbing at sheets, tablecloths and towels. As expected sheets had suffered greatly during the lean years and there was a heavy demand.

People just seemed to want to buy something, if not something costly, then something cheaper. That motive was natural as every buyer knows in Britain or elsewhere and what with the long period of restraints on buying in the Old Country it was just the expected thing.

But there is a new element, the higher prices, for prices are so much higher than they were in those far off days when there was plenty. Clothing, shirts, sheets, gloves, stockings and so on down the list was the story of greatly increased prices as compared with the range nine years ago. Of course something of the same increase has been seen in other lands where goods have not been so long rationed.

Britain has managed to balance her imports and her exports but there still is a drawback — the country has not the dollars to buy abroad in dollar countries.

These Britons are the heroic people who stood alone against the world's greatest aggressor and fought through those lonely months of 1940 especially with the assistance of the Commonwealth nations.

PARIS ALMOST 2,000 YEARS OLD

Paris, France, one of the greatest cities, is one of the oldest in the world. "This great city will be two thousand years old in 1950 but it does not seem to be touring to imagine that time cannot wither nor custom stale her infinite variety," says Norman Reader in the French Information Service. "Everybody's girl in spite of her age, Paris is still young, effervescent and carefree and if there are any tell-tale wrinkles on her fascinating face no one seems to notice or mention the fact."

The world's knowledge of this city and her people dates back to the spring of the year 53 B.C., at the time of the Roman invasion of Gaul by Julius Caesar. That is the first mention of the place which grew from what Caesar in his war commentaries called a collection of huts on the island in the Seine which he called Lutetia. Caesar refers to the inhabitants as forming a division of a clan known as the Parisii. The figure of a ship which serves everywhere to identify the property of the city today and which constitutes the hall-mark, so to speak, of the city, harks back to the Parisii of the Roman conquerors.

Paris' history includes more than 500 years of occupation by the Romans.

BLERIOT ANNIVERSARY

Flying has just marked another anniversary. Forty years after the first airplane flight across the English Channel by Louis Bleriot there was a private ceremony at the home of his widow when she received the Cross of the Legion of Honor which had been awarded by the Government of France. She has been intimately associated with the development of aviation from the very start and friends she had brought together for the occasion were almost every old associates in this field. This gathering was also exactly thirty years after the first commercial exploitation of this flight which made history.

IMMIGRATION

Canada took in last year 125,414 immigrants of whom 46,100 came from the British Isles. Ontario received almost half of this large number, namely 61,600.

Displaced persons arriving in the Dominion have totalled 60,432. Of the displaced 29,836 were brought here under the sponsorship of relatives already domiciled in Canada. This total entered between April 1947 and the end of 1948.

There is the additional information given out by Deputy Resources Minister Dr. Keenleyside that the numbers entering Canada this year may be slightly above the total entering last year.

GARDENS DON'T HAPPEN

There cannot be a garden
where the weeding isn't done,
And the owner isn't willing,
from the rise to set of sun.
To pull away the thistles and to work with hoe and spade,
For a garden doesn't happen.
If is something to be made.

There cannot be a garden,
however fertile be the land,
Where the soil is never patted
by a firm, devoted hand.

All in vain are shine and shower unless someone comes to aid.
For a garden doesn't happen.
It is something to be made.

There cannot be a garden without constant loving care,
And the work of God and nature there is willingness to share.
The beauty of the blossoms is the prize for toil returned,
For a garden doesn't happen.
It is something to be earned.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

March 15th, 1910

Fifty nine years ago the people of this section saw the heaviest snowfall recorded up to 1870. All day long the snow fell and when night fell, darkness with a depth of two feet of snow on the level. The occasion was marked by a number of the residents of this city, who state that the parades of the day were greatly hampered.

Mr. W. Forte Marshall, son of Dr. C.O. Marshall of this city, and who is a student at Toronto University, has been appointed to the staff of "Varsity," the college magazine. He is one of the future writers.

The Rev. H. B. Kenny of Consecon, well known here, has returned home after spending some time in Florida.

In a curling match here on St. Patrick's Day between Irishmen and Scotchmen, the former team won by a score bebind 22 to 8. The following composed the teams: Irishmen, C. D. Moriarty, U.E. Thompson, M.D. Ward, Frank Dolan, skip, 22. Scotchmen, J. Gordon, J. Mc-Fee, M. Wright and T. Ritchie, skip, 8.

OF GREGORY CLARK

The beauty of the rural party line telephone is that you can collect a little human nature into it. You can interrupt somebody who is talking too long and tell them for Pete's sake to be reasonable. If you can't get a number in a conscientious hurry, all you have to do is ask Myrt, the girl at the exchange switchboard, to waggle the connections a bit. This creates havoc and confusion, which indicate to the blatherskites that somebody else is trying to get one or the other of them.

And what is the matter of the telephone that no matter who you are talking to, you are always curious to know who else is trying to get you.

But no protocol is the mechanism of the automatic telephone of the big cities that not even Operator can disturb the peace on a busy line. You can suggest to Operator that the number you are trying in vain to get must have left the receiver off the hook. But it never works. Operator comes back, in a moment, and politely informs you the line is really busy. She must sneak in on them without even a click.

If the telephone scientists were to poll their customers—a thing they have never stooped low to—they would be informed — they would find that a very large number of us would be glad to have a small click indicate when ever somebody else is trying to break in on a busy line.

Just a tiny, scientific click. The majority appear to employ the telephone for what it is intended — a means of rapid, direct communication. But in most families and in all circles of acquaintance are persons who use the telephone for paying a visit. A little wee click to indicate somebody was trying to get the line might serve to shorten the conversation.

However, in the meantime, all you've got to do is twiddle your receiver hook until it makes a slight click, and then cry—

"Ahh, there's somebody trying to get the line! I'm expecting a long distance call from Joe . . ."

ALWAYS A MESSAGE

Exodus 3:1-12

In the third chapter of Exodus, we encounter the interesting story of how Moses was tending his sheep one day when he saw a burning bush which appeared, in spite of the burning, not to be consumed. He turned aside to see the great sight, and when the Lord saw that he turned aside, He called to him out of the midst of the bush.

This was the beginning of Moses' great service to his nation and to the world. When he turned aside to see, God spoke to him. It is always true that when men turn aside to learn the will of God, God calls them to higher things. If Moses had disregarded the call and had chosen the easy thing since, instead of leading the strenuous life of a nation's leadership, he would have died unknown and unsung even in his own day. The men who lead the world are the men who have set aside to ascertain the will of God. To them God always sent a burning bush and commissions them to great ends.

What an astonishing message came to Moses out of the burning bush. He was to leave his sheep, to return to Egypt, and to assume the leadership of a nation. The messages which come to us out of the burning bush are not always easy to heed but they call us to the deep satisfaction shared only by those who mold their lives after a noble purpose.

Mackenzie's Column:
See Cominform Likely to Use Pressure on Tito

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Clouds are gathering over Yugoslavia — and where there's smoke there must be fire.

The Balkans are boiling with reports that the Cominform (the powerful Communist International Bureau) is engineering a coup to overthrow Yugoslavia's Premier Tito because of his open revolt against Moscow's dictation.

The Italian news agency Astra has reported that Yugoslavia is virtually hemmed in by anti-Tito forces on her Albanian, Greek, Bulgarian and Hungarian frontiers. The agency further says Soviet formations are on the Rumanian and Bulgarian frontiers, and Russian technicians have been flown into Albania. These even are reports that rebellion already has started in some Yugoslav towns and villages.

Most of the evidence made public so far is circumstantial. However, informed sources in western democracies believe that some Soviet moves against Tito are boiling up. It's significant that this view also is held by Alex Bebler, Yugoslav deputy foreign minister, who has just returned to Belgrade from Moscow. Bebler predicted in a London interview that the Cominform will intensify its pressure on Tito in the next six months.

Intensely Nationalistic

Yugoslavia is intensely nationalistic, a fact the determination of her peoples have stamped upon the pages of history. Yugoslavia has a strong army and her Chief of state, a peasant's son who was graduated from and assumed the name of Tito, is a piece off the same cloth.

Thus Yugoslavia presents a grievous problem for Moscow. Not only are the Soviet powers full of the Balkan states militarily, but she is strategically situated. Bebler denied that Tito would lose the allegiance of Belgrade.

Thus far Tito has given every indication that he has no intention of yielding on the point of sovereignty, although he remains a communist and in other matters has indicated his desire to play ball with Moscow.

What would the Western Powers do in event of an upheaval in Yugoslavia? They certainly would do their utmost to keep from becoming involved themselves.

Probably the same thing would be true of Russia. The point is that neither the western powers nor the Russian bloc want to see the world war started. And a general upheaval could grow out of a Yugoslav revolution unless extreme caution were pursued by the great powers.

Meat Ration In Great Britain Again Reduced

London, March 18 (CP)— The government cut the meat ration again Thursday and British housewives have less fresh meat than at any other time in recent history. Pending shipments from Argentina were blamed.

The ration will be brought down March 27 from one shilling 10d. a week, or from about 20 1-3 cents to 17. The new ration will be only about seven ounces of beef—will give a British family barely one meat meal a week, with perhaps a little left over for stew or hash. Canned corned beef will form 2d worth of the 10d. allowance.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary secretary for the Food Ministry, told the Commons of the reduction.

"Shipments from the Argentine have not improved and further reduction has become inevitable," she said. The British Ambassador to Buenos Aires has been told by the press pressure on the Argentine government at the highest level to speed up shipments.

Britain has charged in the past that Argentina deliberately sent meat committed to Britain to other countries for higher prices.

The rationing brought on by the Argentine bottleneck is more severe than it seems at first. At most critical times during the war, 1917 and 1918, meat rations never received less than 12d. worth of meat for her family.

Today's cut in beef still induces more people to eat away from home, where they get meals free from the carefully-controlled supplies to restaurants.

Housewives console themselves with the thought that the cut could have come at a worse time. Supplies of milk and eggs are approaching their seasonal peak and those in other food products may balance the larger for a few months to come.

Vegetables are in good supply and farmers hope the mild spring will soon bring other fruit crops. With bread and cakes unrationed, and candy due to be sold freely next month, the average Britoo will find some consolation for his shrinking meat allowance.

Unemployment Worrying Labor Circles in Ont.

Toronto, March 18 (CP)— Labor circles are worried about the unemployment situation in Ontario, but provincial government officials say there are fewer unemployed registering for jobs.

In the province, numbered 82,968 on March 10, compared to 71,288 registered with the National Employment Service a week before. There were 11,876 unfilled vacancies listed with the 11,436 March 3

Hart Sullivan, director of the service, said that since figures are taken from the applicants seeking unemployment insurance benefits, it was not always possible to get a complete picture. About 45,000 of the estimated 700,000 Ontario labor force—seasonal workers such as lake and steamers and farm laborers were not eligible for unemployment insurance.

Of the 62,968 unemployed, 47,- 868 are men. The building trades, employing 11,000, heads the largest single group affected by winter weather. Evidence of a let-down in the building industry is shown in the 4,400 unemployed construction workers.

Sullivan hopes a hope for higher employment in the number of private construction projects scheduled to begin next month the annual exodus of farm hands back to jobs they left last year, and the next month the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes.

He said he does not believe immigration schemes had any serious effect in creating more unemployment in Ontario than during the same period in 1948.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP LOOKING FOR THE GOOD

There is times over and over, more good in this world, and in each human being, than there is bad. Yet there are those who are forever discounting this good and centering all on the bad, in their thoughts and in their words.

I talked last week with a man whom I have known for a long time, and whose work in life I respect, but he has one bad trait. He likes to talk ill of people. I started talking about a man who has been a friend of mine for 20 years, and about whom I know no ill, but this guest opened up and began to tear the character from end to end. It did not influence me, however, for the good in people far outweighs anything that I may hear about what is bad in them.

We would have more friends, and stauncher ones, if we kept looking for the good in them—and they, in turn, would undoubtedly grow better of themselves.

You recall the story of that little fellow who climbed into the sycamore tree that he might see Jesus as He passed by; and how Jesus seeing him up there immediately called to him to come down, for He wanted to dine with him at his house; and how people marveled that this holy man would want to associate with one they called a "sinner." Jesus saw in the little fellow's nature. Regardless of what people said about this, they knew no one is good in him, and so wanted to become better acquainted with Him.

We shall always discover new traits and attractive features about anyone when we keep looking for the good in that one. There is always some good in a person than he himself suspects. This is the secret of great friendship and again,

There is plenty of bad in this very imperfect world of ours, but it's mostly in human beings who make up this world. If each of us kept encouraging the good, and through our governments tried to do what Gladstone suggested, making it "difficult for people to do wrong," then we would see things improve for the good in folks in the first step.

WHITE BREAD AND RUNNING RITE

Not satisfied with merely refined white flour instead of real wheat flour, the ignorant Yankee customer—ignorant of health, hygiene, nutrition, chemistry and physiology—has been living, or rather worrying along somehow for the past twenty years on bleached bread.

The refined white flour is bleached by adding to it a chemical nitrogen trichloride, commonly called Agene.

Nutrition authorities in England and in the United States have determined, by feeding animals white bread as bleached, that it causes running fits in dogs, and most of the dogs that did not recover from the fits in that an hour died.

A similar diet had no apparent effect on human subjects.

A study of the brains of dogs or other animals that died after such running fits sometimes showed epilepsy, misshapen or destroyed brain cells.

Whether your precious refined, bleached white bread is responsible for your nervousness, mis-shapen or missing brain cells I offer no opinion, but if you are not too fond of it, do not trust that you send me a stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing (I refuse to read clippings from my own column) for the pamphlet What to Eat. A fair portion of your brain is still able to function you may get some ideas from the pamphlet that will be beneficial to your health and the health of your family from now on.

Although the daily consumption of nitrogen trichloride in bleached bread apparently does not cause fits in human subjects, the distinguished American physiologist, Dr. Anton J. Carlson expressed the opinion that the daily taking of this chemical in your daily bread—but you can call the sickly, pulty-like stuff bread, may make the nerves nervous.

I'm just reporting these observations of good authorities for what they may be worth. The federal Food and Drug Administration was impressed enough to issue a tentative order banning the use of Agene for bleaching flour, after August 10, 1949.

Now, speaking as a mere practitioner—after the calf four bits, home delivery ten simoleons—I wonder whether the running fits of dogs whose diet is mainly bleached (Agenized) white bread, and the shrunken brain cells in such dogs may not be due to deprivation of vitamin B1, rather than to "poisonin" by Agene. Bread made of refined white flour is bleached or unbleached, is notoriously inadequate for human or animal nutrition, partly because the flour is deprived of most of its B1, in the refining process.

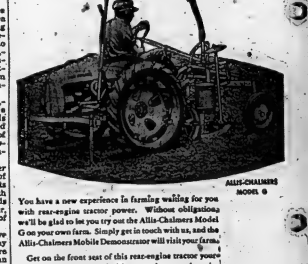
U.S. Exclusion Of Union Official Only Temporary

Buffalo, N.Y., March 18. (CP) United States Immigration authorities here Thursday said the exclusion from the United States of a Canadian Labor Union official was only temporary.

The statement was made by Stuart J. McDonnell, adjudications officer and acting district director of the Immigration Service.



The detained Canadian was Robert H. Carlin, Eastern Canada director of the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.)

He was turned back by United States immigration officers when he tried to board a Chicago-bound plane in Toronto, Thursday. The letter-out was to be a hearing on the same basis as some other Canadian Labor officials—that his presence in the United States might be prejudicial to that country's best interests.

In Buffalo, McDonnell would not amplify the explanation given in Toronto. He said the case was being referred to the Central Immigration Office in Washington for decision on further action.

CANADIAN DOLLAR

Defence Minister Claxton announced members of the Hong Kong force will be eligible for special Pacific pay.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced the existing 88 - cent wholesale floor price for butter will be continued for the new dairy year beginning May 1.

Resources Minister MacKinnon said nearly 40,000 Canadians emigrated in 1947 and 1948 to the United States.

The Senate continued debate on the throne speech and heard appeals from Liberal senators for a swift start on television and for the outlawing of communism in Canada. Speakers included Senator L. A. David (Le-Quebec), W. Rupert Davies (Le — Ontario), Felix Quinn (PC — Nova Scotia) and Ian Mackenzie (Le — British Columbia).

Strongest in World

Introducing the exchange legislation in the Commons, Mr. Abbott described the dollar as one of the "strongest" currencies in the world and said its revaluation would increase living and business costs at home and decrease trade with European countries.

A 10-per-cent devaluation would increase the price of British goods here at a time when Britain was having trouble keeping her prices to a competitive level. It would make it difficult for her to earn dollars in Canada.

In effect, depreciation would mean the application of a tariff against goods imported from any other country.

As for keeping the board in operation, Mr. Abbott said,

"In view of prevailing conditions in the field of trade and commerce, and currency conditions throughout the world, we would not feel justified in suggesting to parliament that it is no longer necessary to exercise control over Canada's foreign exchange transactions."

Mr. MacDonnell said the fact the government was asking parliament to extend for another two years controls which had been unaltered since 1946 indicated it was seized with "intellectual bankruptcy."

No Suggestion of Change

Parity of the dollar had a "paralyzing" and "rigid" influence for three years and there was no suggestion of a change. The government should go to the International Monetary Fund and say it would support the dollar at, say, 90 cents and allow it to fluctuate above that figure.

He asserted that "bricks-and-mortar" investment which went into construction was coming from Canada, but said the country also needed "risk" capital at present, an American wishing to invest had first to go to the Exchange Control Board and make a "deal."

Mr. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader termed the legislation "very important" from the viewpoint of Canada's economy because world conditions made it vulnerable. Any parliament which filed to protect the country would be "derelict" in its duty.

At the same time he warned the government to be wary of tying the Canadian economy "completely" to the U.S. economy. The U.S. market always had proved to be a "very uncertain" market for Canada.

Mr. Quelch urged the government to increase the purchasing power of the people in the low-income brackets so they could buy more of such things as farm products.

Should be Left Free

Mr. Cockeram charged that the exchange board had gone further than ever had been intended by parliament and now exercised "bureaucratic domination" over the government. Dollar parity had brought a "wild" run of inflation to Canada.

Mr. Croll said the Progressive Conservatives wanted "an automatic, self-adjusting Dr-----ferred dollar" which would bring "joy" to the boardrooms of Toronto brokerage houses and "misery" to Canadian kitchens. It would boost the price of gold but also would raise the prices of the things the people needed.

Mr. Adamson suggested the government find some method of making United Kingdom currency convertible into Canadian currency and give Canadian firms and the exchange branches of the banks greater freedom in their trading arrangements.

Mr. Hazzell said the government should have given the people some warning when the in-

LONG-WINDED SENATOR

U.S. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, who set a filibustering record by speaking continuously and without relief for 12 hours and 20 minutes, stops his weary brow as he leaves the Senate floor in Washington after his around-the-clock speech. Senate leaders still are seeking a compromise to end the filibuster after majority leader Lucas of Illinois told the upper chamber to "fish or cut bait"—act or quit. The filibuster was maintained to prevent passage of a bill limiting length of debate.—Central Press Canadian.

ONT. LEGISLATURE

leader E. B. Jolliffe, Mr. Frost wound up the debate at the night sitting.

Mr. Foote said he believed old age pensions were a matter for the Federal government but added:

"If I had the power to introduce a bill to provide $40 a month across the board, I'd do it. And if I had a chance to vote for such a bill, I'd do it."

Private members may not introduce bills involving spending of money.

Should Restrict Sales

Major Foote, first elected to the legislature at last June's general election said he lacked the experience of the cabinet ministers. He would have to give the matter of liquor sales more thought before introducing a bill but he felt that sale of liquor should be restricted to Brewer's warehouses, retail stores and government liquor stores.

He approved the action of the cabinet in restoring the $10,000 ministers' salary, voluntarily reduced to $8,000 during the administration of Liberal Premier Mitchell Hepburn. Ministers were worth "all the money provided for them in the statutes."

"I would suggest, however, in a respectful and kindly way that those who are hanging on behind are hanging too far behind." Consideration should be given to raising private members' indemnity.

Postpone Reading

After adoption of the budget, Mr. Frost, leading the government in the absence through illness of Premier Kennedy, agreed to postpone third reading of a private bill dealing with the Niagara Parks Commission. The House gave second reading to a government bill to increase aid to municipalities for road expenditures.

Mr. Oliver at the afternoon sitting repeated previous opposition criticism that $10,000,000 paid into a sinking fund should have been included in the $1,100,000 surplus. He charged lack of consistency in budget calculations.

Increasing provincial government participation in municipal services was predicted by Mr. Jolliffe. He said he foresaw the day when the Ontario government would be involved in "almost every field of municipal service."

Mr. Park said the Labor Department lagged far behind the agriculture department in the services it provides. He said agriculture estimates are about $5,000,000, whereas labor department estimates, aside from payments on vacation with pay credits already collected in stamp purchases are only $1,000,000.

WEDDINGS

MONTGOMERY—BLAIND

A quiet wedding of interest was solemnized on Saturday, March 13, at the rectory, Roslin, when Mary Elizabeth Blaind, of Brampton, became the bride of John Laurison Montgomery, of Roslin. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. G. Bezzer.

The bride looked charming in a street length dress of coffee-brown, trimmed with rows of gold sequins, with brown accessories and wearing a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson, was the bridesmaid, wearing a street length navy blazer dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mr. Wm. Johnson ably assisted the groom.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a rhinestone necklace, and the groom's gift to the groomsman, a gold cigaret case.

After the ceremony, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes, for Brampton, Toronto, and points west.

Sodality Presents Three-Act Play At St. Michael's

In keeping with the spirit of St. Patrick's Day, the St. Michael's Sodality last night presented in the school auditorium the three-act comedy-drama entitled "My Wild Irish Rose".

Under the direction of Rev. Sister Mary Leonore, the youthful players went through the production with no little skill.

The story is centred around an Irish household and a Dublin estate where a rich nobleman marries and tries to tame "Wild Rose" Creigan.

In the production were Loyola Chapelle, Mary McDougall, Robert Enfield, Owen Moher, Mary Dunlop, Gerald Cowper, Donna Flynn, Robert Long, Jack Rose, Joan McIntyre, Miles Graham and Dorothy Chapelle.

Between acts there were Irish vocal selections given by Miss Terry Meagher and Mr. Edward Brown. Accompaniment was given for these by Rev. Sister Mary Bibiana.

Following the play a dance was given for those in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman Of Victoria Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary on Saturday

Well-known agricultural residents of Ameliasburg township, Prince Edward County, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman of Victoria near Redcrerville will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Saturday, March 20th. The actual date of the anniversary is March 22 but the bride and groom of a half-century will observe the event on Saturday.

Fifty guests have been invited to a reception to be tendered the popular couple. Included will be the bridesmaid and best man of 50 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Brickman were married on March 22nd at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Danford Ainsworth, Bur Neighborhood, by the late Rev. Richard Bamforth of Hallowell circuit. Mrs. Brickman was Emma Ainsworth, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth. Lorne Brickman was the only child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brickman of (Victoria) Ameliasburg. Both families were of U.E.L. descent. Mr. Brickman lives on the farm where he was born, which has been in the Brickman family name for six generations. They have one daughter, Audrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Brickman have always been active church workers, which they have always considered their first duty outside their home. Mrs. Brickman was organist of the church for many years, a Bible class teacher, president of the W. A., W. M. S. and the Women's Institute. Mr. Brickman has been superintendent of Victoria Sunday School for 28 years, an elder and official of Victoria Church and recording steward of Redcrerville circuit. Mr. and Mrs. Brickman have always been active members of Albury Cemetery Board. Mrs. Brickman has been treasurer of the Cemetery Board for 36 years, while Mr. Brickman has been treasurer of the perpetual Care Board for 28 years. Both have always given generously of their time and talent to all worthy causes.

At the time of the war, they gave the use of their canning factory for the making of jam for overseas and over 8,000 pounds were made and shipped from there alone.

Both can look back over lives well and timely spent in service to others.

Mrs. David Lambert of Picton is the only remaining aunt of Mrs. Brickman, and Mrs. Earl Bryant of Wellington is her only sister.

MADOC Kingston W.M.S. Presents Banner To Seed Growers

Madoc.—The Seed Sowers Mission Band of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, had a most interesting program on Friday evening, when they were presented with the banner given for the best work done in Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S.

Mrs. John Wallace, of Stirling, the children's secretary of Kingston Presbyterial, gave a most helpful address, and made the presentation. The banner was accepted on behalf of the Band, by the President, Tom Blue, who replied suitably.

The program opened with pictures of the work at the Presbyterian Mission in Jhanse, India, particularly in the Helen McDonald School in charge of Miss Edith Magee and Miss Irene Stringer. Don Bellenger and Bob Bateman worked the pictures and the Rev. M. W. Heslip gave the address.

This was followed by a pageant "India Calls for Light" in which members of the Mission Band wore costumes which members of the Mission Band were costumes brought from India by Miss Stringer. Those taking part were: Tom Blue, Norman Derry, Jim Blue, Carolyn Reid, Gail Pitts, Lamoine Dove, Barbara Bateman, Marcia Miller, Gwen Donahue, Linda West and Jean Jameson.

The story of the Mission was told by Helen Cecilia Healy assistant leader.

Song by Shirley Caterer; recitations by Gwen Donahue, Gail Pitts, David Love, Carolyn Reid and Marcia Miller and choruses followed with Mrs. Allen Johnston and Mrs. Stanley Hawthorne accompanying on the piano.

Everyone was delighted with the younger members who appeared dressed as pansies and afterwards as daffodils. Those were, Linda West, David Love, Tom Deline, Sharon Reid, Arlene Bateman and Leona Woods.

At the close of the program, prizes were awarded for faithful attendance and helpfulness. These were presented by some of the leaders, Mrs. Heslip, Mrs. Bob Miller, Mrs. Don Love and Mrs. Walter Armstrong.

St. Patrick's Tea Held by O.E.S. Chapter Success

On Tuesday afternoon, the Belleville Chapter No. 88 of the Order of the Eastern Star, held a St. Patrick's tea, in the I.O.O.F. hall on Front Street in honor of St. Patrick, and a decorative scheme of shamrocks, and other greens.

The coming Spring was also suggested by the table centre of spring blossoms, and by the profusion of flowering plants around the room.

Mrs. H. Elvidge and Mrs. LaRue received and welcomed the guests to a tea room, which was a bower of beauty with its white picket fence and decorations entrance arch.

The homecooking table, with Mrs. E. Smith, and Mrs. H. Pitt, as conveners offered a tempting array of delicacies.

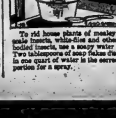
Mrs. C. McMullen, and Mrs. L. Grills were conveners of the apron table where many useful and beautiful items were offered for sale.

Mrs. B. Adams sold, tickets on a pair of chickens, donated by Mrs. Wm. Miller and won by Mrs. Wm. Wonnacott, and Mrs. Clark, tickets were sold by Mrs. W. Black on the beautiful cake donated by Mrs. W. Elliott, with Mrs. W. Wonnacott being the lucky winner.

The tea table over which Mrs. R. Sargent, Mrs. M. J. Barlow, Mrs. A. McGlashon, Mrs. A. Napier, Mrs. G. Cornish and Mrs. R. D. Adams presided was a picture with its spring flowers, lace cloth, green and white candles, and crystal and silver appointments.

Replenishing the table were: Mrs. G. Shaw, Mrs. H. Brown, Mrs. A. D. McLean and Mrs. W. and Mrs. C. Lundy assisted by J. Harrison, while Mrs. C. Hatton served the refreshments.

Mrs. W. Morgan was treasurer for the afternoon, and Mrs. W. Miller and Mrs. G. Baker were the conveners of this very successful social event.



ANNUAL TWO MILE WALK BY 82-YEAR-OLD MAN

Oakville, March 18.—(CP)—Charles Priestman, 82, made his 18th annual 20-mile St. Patrick's Day walk from Toronto to Oakville Thursday, accompanied by 9 fair colleens and 17 others. At nearby Port Credit, Lieut.-Governor Ray Lawson greeted the marchers.

Club Activities

VITO-VITA MISSION CIRCLE

At the regular monthly gathering of the Vito-Vita Mission Circle was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Eastman on Tuesday night with 18 present. The business, consisting of minutes, a treasurer's report, and a roll call answered with a scripture verse containing the word "Love", was successfully carried by the president, Miss Marjorie Hales.

The Scripture lesson, read by Mrs. Dempsey, was taken from Isaiah chapter 43: verses 1-10. Marjorie Hales read a poem entitled "When God Has All There is of You". Miss Geraldine Campbell sang "Jesus is All the World to Me". Miss Nora Hales gave a reading, and Mrs. Eastman gave the Welch-Tower, telling the circle how Mr. Bundle of the Canadian Rockies got his name.

A very interesting topic on "The North American Indians' was presented by Miss Jean Thompson and Mrs. Elsie Riddell in the form of a dialogue. Miss Jean Thompson representing an Indian lecturer to a white friend's home, made her story more impressive by wearing a native Indian costume and headdress of pigtails and feathers.

Miss Edna Jobson closed the meeting with the benediction.

Later refreshments were served with Miss Marjorie Hales pouring tea.

C.G.I.T. NEWS

Instead of the regular C.G.I.T. meeting a joint session was held on Tuesday evening with the C.G.I.T. and Explorers brought along their mothers to view their exhibits on China, which were on display, and on which the girls had been working during the past month.

The Explorer group had a display of coolie hats, match boxes, pieces of clothing, and many more interesting things.

Joan Harbeck and her group displayed Chinese fans, kimonos, pictures, scrapbooks and other interesting exhibits.

Elva Coughlan and her group showed a poster depicting the activities and badges, as well as Chinese proverbs on other posters.

Shirley Taylor and her group gave a very amusing Chinese broadcast, the announcer being the famous Lia Kis Sen (the Chinese Gordon Sinclair) or better known as Ruth Bailey. The news was read by Chen Chon (Lois Wood) which was followed by a chalk-talk by Lee Wong (Joan Ellis).

The lovely "China Town" was played by Miss Soo-Lee High, (Wilma Lough).

Two reports were read by Mrs. Hou You-Sheck (Wilma Lough) which concluded the broadcast. After this the Explorers and the C.G.I.T. were affiliated into the W.M.S. by Mrs. Adamson and Mrs. Archibald welcoming the groups.

Refreshments were served inter in the form of tea and cookies, and after thanking all those who had assisted in making the evening so enjoyable, the meeting was dismissed.

CHRIST CHURCH A. Y. P. A.

About forty members of Christ Church A.Y.P.A. gathered together on Wednesday evening at the Parish Hall to celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

Candles, crepe paper decorations, and the arrangements of tables and chairs around the dance floor transformed the hall into a cabaret.

The young people spent the evening dancing, both round and square, and before the evening was over experimented with "The Virginia Reel".

Winners of the novelty and spotlight dances were as follows: Ruth Meades, Ed. Waterhouse, Jean Lambe, Doug Tuiford, Mary Kellar and Bill Vallance.

Refreshments in keeping with the festive season, were daily decorated in green and white.

Max Wilkinson, fellowship convener, planned the evening's entertainment.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

Let's Take Time to Live

By ROY L. SMITH

A hard pressed business man who had suffered a serious automobile accident and who had been compelled to spend several days in a hospital as a consequence, returned to his home and his office with the solemn declaration that from that day on he was going to take more time out of each week to really live.

"If I had my choice in the matter," he said, "I would be perfectly willing to endure all the pain I did for the sake of the quiet I enjoyed and the marvelous experience I had in bringing myself up to date in my thinking. I never knew until about the fourth week in the hospital how far I had gotten behind with my thinking. I had been too busy to live."

It's The Pace We Live

"It's the pace we are all living that kills us," said a middle-aged banker, when he was told of the suicide of one of his friends. "Modern life is geared at too high a rate. Ordinary men can't take it day in and day out without cracking up."

There was rare wisdom in Jesus' device of taking His disciples off to the mountainside occasionally for a rest. Never did they would gain time by spending some in quiet. Their accomplishments afterwards would be so much greater because of the rested nervous condition.

The Art of Relaxing

The psychologists and the preachers are both right in saying that there is positive value in relaxation. To go away for an hour or two occasionally, or for a half hour regularly every day, is not only good religion but it is the good sense. Everybody ought always to be the same.

One highly placed executive in a mahogany panelled office was in the habit of closing his door precisely at noon every day, and for the next 30 minutes he spent his time reaching his New Testament. "I have found both physical and spiritual refreshment," he said, "in moving my mind clear off from all business matters and focusing it on the things for the next stalls."

Many housewife wants to try a new "syrup" dish on her family, here is a recipe from the experimental bureau of the home economists, Dominion department of agriculture.

Maple Rice Pudding—Ingredients: one-quarter cup rice; four cups milk; 2 1-3 tablespoons cornstarch; one-half cup maple syrup; two egg yolks; two egg whites; one-quarter cup maple syrup.

Boil rice in salted water until tender. Drain. Scald milk in top of double boiler. Blend cornstarch to a smooth paste with the one-half cup maple syrup. Add gradually to the hot milk. Stir until mixture thickens and cook 15 minutes. Add rice and well-beaten egg yolks. Place in greased baking-dish. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually add the one-quarter cup maple syrup, beating until stiff. Spread over the pudding. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until delicately browned, about 15 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Maple Syrup Cream . . . .

Ingredients: one-half cup flour; one-half teaspoon salt; one cup milk; one cup maple syrup; two egg yolks; three tablespoons butter; two egg whites; one-quarter cup maple syrup.

Mix flour, salt and maple syrup. Add hot milk gradually and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cook 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add a small portion of the hot mixture to the beaten egg yolks. Stir into pudding and cook three minutes. Remove from heat. Add butter and fold in meringue made from egg whites and one-quarter cup maple syrup. Yield: six servings.

There's nothing like a slice of bread and butter to satisfy your appetite during after-school hours.

Home economists of the department of agriculture remind homemakers that most of Canada's honey, either for interprovincial trade or export from Canada, is we pass up without a thought.

There is a profound hint in this brief word of Jesus. We do find what we go seeking, and we are finding is at least some proof of the fact that is what we are looking for.

Fresh Maple Syrup Tasty Ingredient In Dessert Recipes

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa March 16 (CP)—Spring is here and maple syrup already is making its appearance in many kot stalls.

graded according to government regulations.

Cleanliness and moisture content are the two factors stressed in the regulations. Since moisture affects the keeping quality of honey it is wise to keep it in a cool, dry place.

An apple dessert is always popular with the family, and especially one as special as Apple Ice Cream:

Ingredients: two cups grated apples (four medium apples); one half cup fruit or fine granulated sugar; one cup stiff plain whipping cream.

Grate the unpeeled apples. After grating a small amount of apple measure and sprinkle with part of sugar to prevent discoloration. Continue grating and sprinkling until two cups of apple are measured. Whip cream and fold into apple mixture. Freeze. Serves six.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSIONS

Hunstanton, Norfolk, England —(CP) — Explosions from the sea are damaging houses here and will be investigated by an R.A.F. group captain. The Air Ministry denied bombing on Wainfleet rangs, across the Wash, was responsible.

The scooter is powered with a tiny 1 1-3 horsepower model racing motor that drives a propeller. It weighs only 13 ounces but it shoves or rather pulls, the scooter along at eight miles an hour.—Central Press Canadian.

For Once A Bridegroom Gets Nice "Write-up"

(From The Montana Daily News)

Robert Russell Phair, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phair, of Roundup, and Miss Wilma Knudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berthold M. E. Knudson of Melville, were united in wedlock in the First Presbyterian Church in Miles City.

The bridegroom was attired in a navy-black new suit, which he had purchased especially for the occasion. The bride dressed, and without a vest, the suit was cut exceptionally well and did justice to his slim waist and broad shoulders.

Beneath his crisply tailored new suit Mr. Phair wore a white shirt with French cuffs, surmounted by a blue tie.

On his feet was a 77-year-old bridegroom was a new pair of shoes — the first pair of black shoes he has ever owned — with in which were a pair of black socks, a considerable departure from the gaudy creations he usually wears on his feet. Within a few weeks he will probably return to his practice of wearing GI socks, a reminder of the happy days when he was in the service.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Mr. Wallace W. Mercer, a boyhood friend. Mr. Mercer was dressed in an attractive brown suit, with brown shirt and tie, shoes and socks. He was also in the service but had long since discontinued wearing clothes he was issued by the military.

Ushers were Robert Delamater also a boyhood friend of the bridegroom from Roundup, and Gordon Nelson, a cousin of Mr. Phair's. These two gentlemen likewise were dressed as they knew how, and presented a satisfactory appearance on the whole.

Mr. Phair has been a resident of Roundup since his birth. He went to school and was an active member of the Boy Scouts, following his graduation from Roundup high school he attended Montana State University for one year and then answered the call to arms. His patriotism was almost thwarted, however, when an over-curious doctor discovered he had trouble distinguishing colors.

With persistent effort, however, the blue-eyed bridegroom of Sunday overcame this difficulty and managed to serve his country in Hap Arnold's air force. He spent much of his air corps time, he says, as an indispensable man in the ventilation division, working behind eating halls in unsavory places which he calls "sumps."

At the time of his discharge some time ago he was a staff sergeant. Following his discharge and with the persuasion of some of his friends, Mr. Phair returned to Montana State University and continued, or rather started anew, his studies in the school of business administration. He will return next week and expects to be graduated next June.

Prior to his acquaintance with the attractive, dark-haired young lady who is now his wife, Mr. Phair was an ardent enthusiast for fishing, hunting, skiing and mountain climbing. Since he began courting, it has been noted that his enthusiasm for outdoor sports has waned. Several of his friends have offered to buy his rifle and fishing tackle and guns and rifle, and at least a spark of interest in the offer was perceived in his eye.

Mr. Phair groom and his father are partners in the Roundup Power Co., where they seem to be doing quite well.

Mrs. Phair had been a case worker in the Fergus County department of public welfare since August. She graduated in June from Montana State University. She wore a white street length dress for the ceremony.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Dorothy Zimmerman, and Miss Bernice Knudson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Motor-Cycling Not for Women

Vancouver — (CP) — Stick to back-seat driving, ladies, you'll never learn how to operate motorcycles.

So says Edward Turner, official of a British motorcycle company, who is busy selling his product across the Dominion.

"Cycle racing, after all, requires tremendous physical strength. Women just don't measure up to that," he says.

If it's any consolation, Turner doesn't question feminine ability —only their lack of strength.

CARMEL

Three Plays Presented by Carmel C.C

Carmel—Carmel United Church was filled to capacity on Wednesday evening when Carmel Comrades Club presented three one-act plays.

The president, Miss Iva Norton had charge of the program. The first play entitled "Henry's Mail Order Wife" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Don Tearne's group.

Mr. Don Tearne introduced the cast and these taking part were Ken Clarke, Alec Allison, Carman Darby, Clayton Sullivan, Hilda Lawrenson and Gladys Defoe.

The second play entitled "Paul Ducks the Dentist," was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Merle Robinson's group. Mrs. Merle Robinson introduced the cast and those taking part were, Irene Sheffield, Evelyn Chambers, Hazz. Dales, Helen Barrier, Glen Ross, George Sobies and Gary Chambers.

The third play "Buddy Buys an Orchid" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ritz' group, Mrs. Clare Horton introduced the characters and those in the play were: Clayton Ritz, Cora Ritz, Olive Thompson, Carl Thompson, Grace Ritz.

Outstanding musical numbers between acts consisted of a ladies' chorus, a male quartet and selections by the Comrade Orchestra. There were no dull moments during the evening's entertainment and the fine performance of the players brought generous applause from the audience.

Those taking part in the plays deserve much credit for the evening's success.

Remember That Night

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

Roxanne stirred, opened her eyes, and sat up.

Karen said lifelessly, "I tried to be quiet."

"Haven't you slept at all?"

"No. I've been thinking things out. — and I'm going back to Marriston, Roxanne." Briefly she told her what had happened last night. "Tommy ran after the other girl. Phillip picked up the ring. Then I — I said dreadful things to him. And I've lost my chance to meet Mr. Trapped."

Roxanne's alert mind sprang awake instantly.

"And so you're quitting and running away? Running back home. You're going to take the soft way out. Sure, I understand. I've been as low as anybody could be. But you're not the quitting kind, Karen. Sometimes a movie bores you stiff in the beginning. But it has a smash ending that's worth waiting to see. You've got to stick around and wait for your smash ending."

"When Phillip brings Lilyan Kane back as his wife." Getting up, she walked to the bed. "You see, that's that, Roxanne. No amount of talk will change that. And even if I become as famous as Brenda Bond, it would be an empty fame without Phillip. He's more important than anything. What is there to stay for?"

"Not for Phillip, because he's a lost cause." Roxanne said in her husky voice. "But for yourself. Don't be a quitter and run back to the small town to a boy you don't love. I'd lose my respect for you if you did. I didn't take the exit, did I? I was going to bet you stopped me."

She shook her disheveled blonde head. "We've got all our things in one boat, Karen, and we're paddling together. It's tough going now. I don't expect much but you have a lot coming to you. The reason there are only a few bit parts on top in the theatre is that only a few had the courage to stick it out. Sleep on that a while. When you wake up, you won't want to go back."

If that unknown young woman had not run away from Harrington on that night twenty years ago, she would know her real name, Karen thought. And how different her life might have been! Child of a stage mother, the theatre might not have closed its doors rudely in her face. And suddenly remembering Brenda Bond, she could not bear for Philip to say to her, "Remember Karen Mallare? She went back home."

She slept most of the day. When she awoke, Roxanne had gone.

Seeing Sam Kasten as she stepped out of the elevator onto the roof that night, she thought, "You don't know how close you came to losing a part of your floor show tonight." No, she couldn't quit! Might after night had made her realize the truth of the old saying, "The show must go on!" Roxanne had carried on . . . One night Lolita had been ill but she had danced . . .

And that night the show went on. Karen sang, Lolita and Ramon danced. And later, stepping off the elevator into the lobby, Karen saw Tommy. But she saw a different Tommy tonight, without his grin and wisecrack greeting.

"I guess you don't want to see me," he said humbly. "Can't blame you much. I've got to talk to you. I'm terribly sorry about everything, Karen. May I take you home?"

But first he took her for a drive through Central Park.

"It was low-down of me to run off and let you face the music," he said. "I should have told you about Marion and me. I've known her since I was a kid and I've always liked her better than any other girl. We've been great friends. I've splayed friends. I've played around a lot but in the back of my mind I've known she was the girl I wanted to marry. She's honest and fine. She hasn't been around much. Her people have a big country place and she's the kind of girl who's spent most of her life around horses. She doesn't give a hang about my money. She has plenty. And she's the only person in the world who ever felt sorry for me. Sorry for me. That's a laugh! With all the money I have! But she feels sorry for me because I never had any kind of home life. It was just one school after another." He glanced at Karen. — "You're not to blame for anything."

"Did you make up with her when you told her you weren't serious about me that I was just — just another cog in the wheel," she said. "I should have told you about Marion and me. I've known her since I was a kid and I've always liked her better than any other girl. We've been great friends. I've splayed

Karen looked ahead. "Lelanda don't play second fiddle to girls out of night clubs, is that it? I've been—unlucky for you, Tommy. I'm an unlucky person."

"It's my fault! Not yours!" Tommy shrugged. "Oh, well, I'm going to Paris and forget it. On the next boat."

"You love Marion," Karen said simply.

"I never realized how much until now." He gave a short bitter laugh. "Phillip's a genius. He told me there were still a few things money couldn't buy. He's sore at me, too. I tried to get him on the phone this morning But his man said he was out of town. He has not sailed. Just out of town for a few days."

Turning his head, his eyes met hers. "How about coming to Paris with me? Marry me and come along. What have you got to lose? At least you can make the people who've snubbed you take the dust. I'd help you."

"You don't mean what you're saying, Tommy."

"Take me up on it and see! We'd be a great comfort to each other. You're in love with Phillip and Phillip loves Lilyan. If she were a villainess, you might have a chance. But she isn't. She's a swell girl and she's as crazy about him as he is about her. It's perfect."

"I've got money," Tommy said bitterly, "and you've got beauty. The two go together. You'll never get anywhere trying to go on the stage. And if you still want to be an actress when we come back, I'll buy you a play and rent a theatre. Money can still do a few things."

She put her hand on his arm. "stop talking like that. You only want to spite Marion's mother. Thank you for the cold - blooded proposition, but I'm not interested. You see, I'm something else money can't buy. Take me home and try to see Marion and her mother again."

In the lobby of the apartment house he said, "Now you know what I meant when I said I wished I had known you before. I thought everything was all set between Marion and me until that slight on the roof with Phillip when I saw you. Then I got mixed up. But I knew I didn't have a chance with you. Phillip must love Lilyan a lot not to see how you feel about him — not to see what a swell girl you are, Karen."

Lying next to the sleeping Roxanne, Karen thought with a smile, "Tonight I was offered Tommy's millions and his name. And I wasn't tempted even a little."

Wearing a blue dress and a wide black hat the next afternoon, she went to the hotel Tommy had mentioned and called Marion from downstairs.

"I'm Karen Mallare. I'd like to see you."

"But I've no desire to see you!" the angry voice came back. "Haven't you done enough?"

"I've done nothing," Karen said. "But if you don't see me, I'll marry Tommy Tuesday. He told him to give me the ring and the house and the money. Last night he offered them to me. If you don't see me, I'll take them!"

Instantly Marion Leland's voice was subdued.

"Very well. Come up."

Marion wore a printed dress with a diamond pin at her throat. Tall, slender, and dark-haired, she looked at Karen coldly and asked her to sit down.

But Karen said, "No. It won't take me very long to say what I came to say."

"Fortunately my mother is out. She'd never have admitted you. Are you going to marry Tommy?"

Washington Spotlight:

'Mourning Period' Instituted By Lewis May be Boomerang He Never Intended to Throw

By GEORGE RONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 18 (CP) — John Lewellyn Lewis, 68-year-old boss of the United Mine Workers of America, has growled another of the blunt, sudden, serious orders which are his trademark.

But, despite the industry-crippling effect of the "mourning period" he called this week, there's nothing so familiar rising to the whole business. The reaction is not the indignation one might expect.

Always Lewis

Lewis, his shaggy brows, his booming voice and his cold, calculating methods are all a part of the American scene.

Some call him arrogant and cruel; some say he's the country's most powerful trade-union leader and the one man to whom most workers can trace many of their important wage and hour gains. Nobody ignores him.

But Lewis' latest action may write a different sort of chapter into the story of his life. The opposition is really big this time! It's got a good case and it may not be called this week, there's nothing so familiar rising to the whole business. The reaction is not the indignation one might expect.

But Lewis' latest action may write a different sort of chapter into the story of his life. The opposition is really big this time! It's got a good case and it may not be an inch—no matter what Lewis does next.

Attempt to Dictate?

Officially, his guns are trained on only one man — James Boyd, director of the United States Bureau of Mines. Some 425,000 miners sent of the Mine-spipl left the coal pits last Monday in a two-week walkout billed by Lewis as a "mourning period" for the "unnecessary slaughter" of miners during Boyd's tenure of office.

Actually, however, Lewis is tackling President Truman—who nominated Boyd for the director's job—and the Senate, which is being asked to confirm Boyd in the temporary basis.

Editorial writers are calling it an attempt to "dictate" to Truman and to Congress. They're piloting that, at long last, perhaps the United States had better get its dander up and do something about this man Lewis.

Ote-Man Rule

Perhaps most important is that Lewis, deliberately or otherwise, has embarrassed all of organized labor.

He is showing that the national economy is at the mercy of one man unless labor law contains some safeguard.

But his action may affect the move to repeal the Taft-Hartley

Turn Carlin Back Boarding Plane to Chicago

Toronto, March 18. — (CP) — Robert H. Carlin, Eastern Canada director of the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.), today was turned back by United States immigration authorities when he went to board a Chicago-bound airplane at nearby Malton airport.

American officials met the union official, whose headquarters are in Sudbury, in the waiting room of the airport as he was about to present his tickets. They served him with a notice barring him from entering the U. S.

Officials said he was refused entry on the same basis as some other Canadian labor leaders — that his presence in the U. S. is deemed prejudicial to the best interests of that country.

One leading official of the same union—Reid Robinson, former president—was reported deported from Canada to the U.S. last May. He had come to Canada to organize some 7,000 miners itself. The case comes up before the C.C.L. executive council in Ottawa next Thursday.

Last year Mine-Mill was suspended by the C.C.L. over an attack in one of its publications on C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.)

measure—as the President and labor leaders in general propose. It makes it possible for the administration to delay a strike for at least 80 days. In its place, the administration is proposing a 30-day cooling-off period, during which a presidential fact-finding board would investigate.

The final reaction might be to retain the 80-day clause of the Taft-Hartley law.

Unless John L. Lewis has an ace up his sleeve, his "mourning period" may become a boomerang he never intended to throw.

Fast Time Ban Meeting With Stiff Opposition

(By The Canadian Press)

Manitoba's proposed legislation to ban fast time is running into opposition from persons who feel that the question of setting clocks ahead an hour for the summer months should be left to cities and to individual citizens.

Debate on the government bill was adjourned Thursday after two members criticized the "compulsory" aspect of the legislation. The measure would make Central Standard Time mandatory in Manitoba the year 'round. Similar legislation prohibits Daylight Time in Alberta.

Ll.-Cmdr. Alex Stringer (CCF-Winnipeg North) called the bill an attempt to compel citizens of Winnipeg and the surrounding area to stick to Standard Time, something they have voted against during their representative argued:

"Some of us like to get up an hour earlier. We get to our offices earlier and home earlier for golf and gardening. Farmers don't like Daylight Saving Time. They are not compelled to adopt it and they don't do so . . . By this bill I can't turn my clock ahead if I want to."

Budget Adopted

The Ontario Legislature adopted Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost's budget, after debating it for three weeks. The House turned to consideration of government bills and scheduled night sittings for Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week in an effort to complete its 1948 deliberations and prorogue by March 31.

A resolution that the federal government be urged, in co-operation with provincial and municipal governments, to institute a large-scale program of subsidized housing was introduced in the Saskatchewan legislature. The resolution, brought in by D. R. F. Heming (CCF-Moose Jaw) suggested that the program permit tenancy in low-income groups to buy homes on a 30-year repayment basis or to rent them at rentals within their means.

Must Hold Licence

In a throne-speech debate at Halifax, Martin Kaufman (Lib.-Cumberland) recommended establishment of an unofficial Ministry of Newfoundland council composed of government and business leaders. It would discuss common interests and present a united front to the federal government on common problems. Newfoundland becomes a Canadian province March 31.

The New Brunswick budget may be brought down Tuesday, the same day as the federal budget. It was expected Thursday but the brief St. Patrick's Day sitting passed without any notice of the budget date.

Prince Edward Island's legislature approved in principle a fisheries bill requiring canneries and fish plants to hold provincial government licences.

M. J. Coldwell Critical of P.C's

Ottawa, March 18 (CP)— M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader charged the Progressive Conservatives in the Commons Thursday with making parliament "a farce" and seeking to "destroy" the Canadian Democracy.

"May I tell my honorable friends," he said, addressing his remarks to the official opposition, "that there are more ways of destroying democracy and democratic institutions than by burning a Reichstag."

"That is right and you have found it," interjected George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

Mr. Coldwell continued:

"That is what some of these people are trying to do, destroy it by destroying confidence in these institutions which our forefathers have built up. I have seen in this House for 13 years and I have never seen an exhibition like it since I have been here."

Britain's Dental Profession Balks At Goverment's Policy on Fees

By EDWEN SHANKE

London, March 18 (AP)—Britain's free dental service under its state health program is creaking and approaching breakdown, say spokesmen for the British Dental Association.

One key reason they say, is that the dentists themselves are in revolt. They are protesting a recent government order which halved dentists' fees payable under the national health service in excess of £400 ($1,600) monthly.

The situation has its background in the neglected condition of Britons' teeth. Dentists' waiting rooms are estimated 50 per cent more crowded than before. The Health Ministry estimates 4,000,000 persons will take advantage of the service annually. A government dental committee reported 20,000 dentists could be used without saturation—an increase of 8,000 over the present number.

Because of what it described as "the urgency of the situation," the Ministry of Health took steps to cut dentists' incomes.

Because of what it described as "the urgency of the situation," the Ministry of Health took steps to cut dentists' incomes.

The British Dental Association immediately blamed the Ministry of Health and announced it will put its case before the public and parliament.

In parliament, a dental surgeon and Labor member, Dr. John Baird, warned the government its regulation cutting dentists' incomes would create a "black market in dentistry."

When remuneration for dentists was settled, it was decided a dentist should work 32 chairside hours weekly. If he worked more, it was felt there would be a danger of lost efficiency. The remuneration based on those hours, allowing for operating expenses, gave the dentist a net income of about £1,000.

The Ministry of Health said it found some dentists were working long hours giving them returns in some cases as high as £4,000 to £5,000 before taxes.

The Ministry spokesman said that by halving returns exceeding £4,500 yearly, gross, (before operating expenses), overworking to the point of inefficiency would be discouraged and economies effected.

"Mr. Bevan proposes to limit our earnings, so we propose to work 2 1-2 days a week and see 100 patients week by to reach the limit, said Mr. H. ver's patients, instead of having to wait two months for appointments, will now have to wait over a year."

KEEPING up with the times is the responsibility of every Canadian business. The latest addition to our cotton mill unit at Magog, Quebec, is an indication of Dominion Textile's appreciation of this fact. Designed on the latest structural plans for such plants, the building is air-conditioned throughout, equipped with fluorescent lighting and the most modern cotton textile machinery. It combines healthful, pleasant working conditions for the employees with a production efficiency which means more and better cotton goods for Canadian consumers at the lowest possible prices.

Canadiens Brighten Chances Of Passing Boston Bruins By Beating Leafs by 3-1

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Maple Leafs, who must battle for fourth place in the nine-team National Hockey League standings, may have a lot to say about Montreal's second-place ambitions.

Canadiens relegated Toronto to the fourth notch Thursday night by scoring a 3-1 triumph over their bitter Ingo-city rivals. The victory moved Montreal to within one point of the second-spot Bruins.

The Habitants have two games left, the Bruins one. And that's where the Leafs come into the picture. Boston's last contest is a home-to-home affair with the Leafs. If Toronto can upset the Bruins, Canadiens need win only one of their two remaining games to clinch second. If Canadiens win both theirs—against Chicago and Detroit—they're home free anyway.

It was a sweet victory over Toronto for the Habs, but for a while it looked as though disaster again had struck the Canadien camp. Centre Elmer Lach collided with Toronto's Ted Kennedy in the first period and it was feared at first that the playmaking wizard had re-fractured the jaw he broke last Dec. 11 and kept him on the sidelines for more than two months.

Only Loosened Tooth

But examination revealed that Lach's injury only amounted to a loosened tooth and he'll be back in action during the weekend.

Rip Ripolle, Billy Reay and Kenny Reardon collected the Canadien goals, while Kennedy spoiled Bill Durnan's bid for his 11th shutout.

It was a rough contest in spots, referee Bill Chadwick handing out 16 penalties, all minors. Wild Bill Ezinicki, back in harness after a long layoff, picked up three banishments and increased his penalty time to 140 minutes, now in the circuit.

General Manager Frank Selke of Canadiens had some good news for Durnan after the game. He told the Montreal netminder that if he wins the Hart and Vezina trophies and is selected on the first all-star team, the club will match the $3,000 in cash bonuses which the awards carry with $3,000 of their own.

The Big Seven

Harry Watson of Toronto, only scoring leader in action Thursday night, went scoreless as Leafs lost to Canadiens. Chicago's Roy Conacher still leads the National League pack with 68 points.

Keep Shots Easy Lanky Hoopster Advises Juniors

By ALLEN MERRITT

St. Louis, March 17 (AP)—If you want to be a good basketball player, junior, keep your eye on the nearest part of the rim and lay the ball up there just as easy as you can.

That's the advice of easy Ed. Macauley, the St. Louis University stringbean who was the most popular choice on the 1948 All-America basketball team.

He should know. His marksmanship average of .538 is one of the best, if not the best in college basketball.

Macauley took time out to pass along a few pointers to young sters who are having a rough time making the team.

"Ed's easy shooting is about all practice," Ed said. "We're taught to keep our eyes on the closest part of the rim when shooting."

An important thing is to make the shot from as close as you can. That way, the basket will catch some of the shots that bounce around. "That goes for all shots, including free throws. Lay it up there easy."

How does he get away from the pressure of basketball, and relax during a big game?

"I try to keep my mind off the game until we get in the dressing room," he said. "Relax. Listen to the radio. Otherwise you'll play the game nine times before you get on the floor."

Eat Plain Food

Any special tips on diet and sleeping?

"Regularity—that's the big secret," Macauley replied. "Eat plain food. Lay off pastries and things like that.

"On the day of a game eat a substantial breakfast. For the meal before a game, I usually have a steak, a baked potato, and a vegetable—but not too much and a dish of gelatin of fruit."

Easy Ed's frail build and his ability to maintain his strength in this bruising sport has become somewhat of an athletic mystery. When you get that tired feeling on the court, remember his words of advice:

"Do your resting while on offence. Don't loaf, but conserve your strength. You can never rest a minute on defence!"

And, when you become so expert at the game that the opponents put two guards on you, the method of St. Louis University's hillions and Ed. Macauley:

"Our team just starts moving the ball around fast," he said. "Move it fast enough, and you'll catch that extra man off guard. Do that, and a coach will find it impossible to put two men on one.

Of course, Macauley is six-foot-eight and has unusual muscular co-ordination and poise. If you have these qualities, too—good. It'll help.

NHL Prexy Casts Deciding Vote On Loop Schedule

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Clarence Campbell cast the tie-breaking vote which squashed the proposed boost in the National Hockey League schedule from 60 to 70 games. Vote of the six-man board of governors (arena bosses) was 3-3 and Clarence settled the issue.

That at any rate is the version of a source who got his information "from someone at the meeting."

Talk 'Tis Private

Campbell's reason for his "no" vote was that the extra 10 games meant starting the season one week later than usual—the 1948-49 season winds up Sunday. The earlier start would ordinarily come in the middle of the baseball world series.

The meeting, as usual, was held in camera.

People often wonder why sports bodies persist in holding meetings in camera. And, this year, they would like to know how the voting went on the increased-schedule question. After all, what harm could be done in releasing this information?

"What's the big secret, fellahs? Sorry, No News

A few days before the N.H.L. bosses met, the Canadian Olympic Association held a pow-wow in the same downtown hotel. Sure, it was in camera, too.

A. Sidney Dawes, Montreal, was in the chair.

On his return to Montreal, Dawes told a reporter that Prof. Nelson C. Hart, AAU chairman, had the "handout" for the press. In London, the A.A.U. chairman said that "routine matters" were discussed and nothing happened that would be news-worthy for a press statement." He "couldn't recall any 'news' at the meeting."

It is hoped these elbow personality paid the shot to travel to Toronto to discuss "routine matters." The less-than-$2,000 A. A. U. kitty can't stand much of an expense-account beating.

Anyway, it appears "routine matters" could be taken care of by mail at the expense of a few four-cent stamps, some letterheads

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

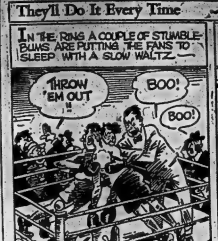
The Rocks celebrated their thirteenth straight victory at the expense of the Barons Wednesday night but they are now up against football fortunes of an unknown quality. However they're cocky, confident, full of youthful vim and vigor and they're cocky, confident, full of youthful vim and vigor and they're not the least depressed by the fact they are up against a squad from dear old Hogtown.

Maybe it's Justice—maybe it's class, but Bill Cook heaved a gargantuan sigh of relief when his Rocks shoved the teasers edition of the Nylons into the discard the other night. Cookie got more of the old run-around from the OHA 'regarding the junior "B" series than did the well-known Haliyrwood star in search of her sixth husband.



The Rockets are in tip-top condition. They have added to their group responsibilities the onus of carrying the hockey banner of Belleville into OHA playdown competition after the sad stories of the Senior "B" Diesels. Perhaps, now that the Trashmen have been round-housed, the Belleville Hockey Association (Rockets Juniors and Juveniles) should reap some Association (Rockets Juniors and Juveniles) should reap some benefit of fandom support. They have been playing to what benefit of fandom support. They have been playing to what may be correctly termed box-office "peanuts" all season, in the shadow of the drawing power of the heretofore mighty Diesels.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By TREVOR ICETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—"Idea men," those intrepid gents forever figuring out crazier and more dizzier stunts to get in the dressing room, don't confine their thinking to flag-pole-sitting and marathon-dancing contests.

They have branched out into sport and Jack (London Free Press) Park lists a few of the zanier brainchilds that sport promoters have come up with.

One example Park cited was the wrestling promotor, who "fearing that his straight acts were losing their charm, filled the ring with a ton of fish and four grapplers and told his actors to get cracking."

Invented Electric Eye

"Among his better stunts was to invent an electric eye to take the place of umpires . . . he tried it out and it was perfect in calling the balls and strikes. But he never put it into mass production. He didn't think the idea would have fan appeal. 'Who wants to razz an electric eye,' queried Dumont."

Another of Dumont's top promotion schemes was a stunt to play night baseball without lights.

He planned to use phosphorescent equipment, such as bases, base lines, home plate and so on. The balls and bats were to be smeared with luminous paint. One night he took a couple of ball players out, scattered them all up and waited for results.

Browns' Manager Hopes Pitchers Will be Better

Burbank, Calif., March 18 (AP)

"There is this much about it," says Fortright Zack Taylor, "our pitchers can't be any worse than some of those fellows I was sending out there last year. Maybe they'll be better."

The manager of St. Louis Browns thus summed up, in as few words as possible, his personal opinion of how his club may be expected to do in the 1948 American League race. They finished sixth last year.

There is no rancor in the Browns' manager because his workhorse pitcher of last year, Fred Sanford, was delivered to New York Yankees for a reported $100,000 and three players. He has hopes that Dick Starr and Red Embree, obtained in the deal, will win for him.

In their quest for some sorely-needed power in their batting order, the Browns have brought up a pair from San Antonio who, up to now, have shown a disposition to wade into big - league pitching. They are Ken Wood, a 200-pounder and Bill Sommers, a tall infielder who hit .328 for San Antonio.

Expects to Stick

Still another potential power merchant is the veteran Jack Graham, who set the Coast League on fire last year with 48 home runs and 138 runs batted in. No newcomer to the big leagues, this time he expects to stick at first base.

Most promising of the Browns' new pitchers appear to be right-hander Bob Malloy drafted from Indianapolis, where he was a 21-7 winner last season.

Sherman Lollar, the third player obtained from the Yankees in the Sanford deal, should strengthen the club's catching.

The team has a number of three real big-leaguers in Bob Dillinger, the speed merchant at third and Paul Lehner, .276, round out what looks like the team's regular outfield, with Pete Layden, the prominent footballer, still giving it a try at college ivy.

Pitchers back from last year include Bill Kennedy, a southpaw, Cliff Fannin, Ellis Kinder, Al Gettel, Al Zarilla in the outfield. Dillinger hit .321 last year, Zarilla .329 and Friday .290. Ed Pellagrini will be at shortstop.

Marlboros May Be Strengthened For Senior Game

Toronto, March 18 — (CP) — The undermanned Toronto Marlboros may have additional strength when they meet Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen tomorrow afternoon in the sixth game of their Ontario Hockey Association senior A final series.

Coach Joe Primeau announced Thursday night that Hugh Bolton and Lorne Pirie, of the junior Marlies may join their senior counterparts if they show well in a practice session today.

"We have to do something now that Alex Davidson is sick in bed" Joe said. "Bolton is a rangy guy and Pirie has a few fancy tricks that might fool the Dutchmen."

Toronto leads the best-of-seven series 3-3.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
and KISMET

Many uncertainties help to make bridge interesting. No matter how accurate you may be there is always some problem to solve. Even the problems are easy. Some tax you to the limit.

If opponent trumps are no worry, the split is some side suit may hurt. If you have nothing to ruff, establishing a suit may give you some concern.

If a finesse looks as if it will not work, you may be hunting for a strip-and-endplay. If a squeeze is not to be considered, there may be a coup that deserves your attention.

In practically every hand you play there is a matter of entry to take into account. Either a case of remaining in the same hand. Or a matter of setting into the opposite hand.

The time comes when it looks as if there is only one chance in a million to accomplish your purpose. When this comes up, take that chance. Better such a chance than none at all.

South became the declarer at a contract of six diamonds in the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠ A K 7 4
♥ 5 4 3 2

WEST
♠ J 9
♥ K J 7 6
♦ Q 9 3
♣ Q 9 5

EAST
♠ Q 10 8 6
♦ 10 6
♣ 10 8 3

SOUTH
♠ None
♥ A Q 6
♦ A K 10 7 6 4 2
♣ A K J

West led the trey of clubs and thus saved declarer the worry in that suit. But careful examination indicates that two hearts and a trump may still be lost.

Two sluffs could be had on the top two dummy spades. But to accomplish this an entry must be found to the north hand. The loss here is with a small trump to the dummy jack of diamonds.

If west happens to have the queen, this plan is good. It so happens that west had the queen and it won the first trump round. But the next round of trumps was taken by dummy jack.

On ace and king of spades were dumped two south hearts. Thus, the only trick lost was to the trump queen. Fun when it works.

AT THE CAPITOL — Scotty Beckett and Jeff Corey as he gives co-star billing, in a hectic performance in "Michael O'Halloran," Monogram picture now at the Capitol Theatre today and Saturday. On the same program "Flashing Guns," starring Johnny Mack Brown.—Continuous shows Saturday from 1.00 p.m.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 18 (AP) — R.K.O. studio, which has had its troubles over Robert Mitchum, has still another one.

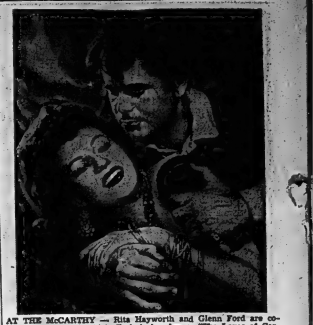
The self-styled "Mr. Cement Block of 1948" is slated to leave jail March 30. Two days later he'll report for work on "The Big Steal," which was started before his imprisonment on marijuana charges. But after his weeks of cement mixing and other duties, he's a shadow of his former fleshy self. How to match his face in the earlier scenes is no small problem.

Fast Fights

Alan Ladd went through a fast week of fights for "After Midnight," which is shooting at a merry clip. "Economy, it's Wonderful," says Ladd about the new speed-up methods of making pictures. Actually, it's nothing new. Ladd says it's just like the old days when he was getting one day's work in quickies.

Burt Lancaster has three titles for his own production. It's "Kiss The Blood Off My Hands" in the big cities. "The Unafraid" in smaller towns, which apparently don't go for rugged titles. It's "Blood On My Hands" for the British trade. Cement wouldn't go for the more morbid handle.

High Gear Man



Rudy Vallee is still in high gear at 47. He returned from New York night club and theatre dates to play in "Father was a Fullback." He did a television show there and got four offers from Video sponsors to do his own program. Now he's angling a radio show to replace Jack Benny during the summer.

Don't worry about Fred MacMurray, mother. He plays the title role in "Father was a Fullback," but he doesn't have to risk his frame on the gridiron. He plays a coach beset with alumni and student sniping. It will be the first picture in history in which the hero's team always loses.

Browns' Manager Hopes Pitchers Will be Better

Burbank, Calif., March 18 (AP)—"There is this much about Mays forthright Zack Taylor, "my pitchers can't be any worse than some of those fellows I was sending out there last year. Maybe they'll be better."

The manager of St. Louis Browns thus summed up, in a few words as possible, his profound opinion of how his club may be expected to do in the 1940 American League race. They finished sixth last year.

There is no rancor in the Brownie manager because his workhorse pitcher of last year, Fred Sanford, was delivered to New York Yankees for a reported $100,000 and three players. He has hopes that Dick Starr and Red Embree, obtained in the deal, will win for him.

In their quest for some sorely-needed power in their batting order, the Browns have brought up a pair from San Antonio who, up to now, have shown a disposition to wade into big - league pitching. They are Ken Wood, a 200-pounder and Bill Sommers, a tall luffidder who hit .326 for San Antonio.

Expects to Stick

Still another potential power merchant is the veteran Nick Graham, who set the Coast League on fire last year with 43 home runs and 136 runs batted in. No newcomer to the big leagues, this time he expects to stick at first base.

Most promising of the Brownies' new pitchers appears to be righthander Bob Malloy drafted from Indianapolis, where he was a 21-7 winner last season.

Sherman Lollar, the third player obtained from the Yankees in the Sanford deal, should strengthen the club's catching.

The team has a nucleus of three real big-leaguers in Bob Dillinger, the speed merchant at third base, Gerry Priddy second and Al Zarilla in the outfield. Dillinger hit .321 last year, Zarilla .329 and Priddy .296. Ed Pellagrini will be at shortstop.

Dick Kokos, a .326 hitter last year, and Paul Lehner, .276, round out what looks like the team's regular outfield, with Pete Layden, top prominent footballer, still giving it the old college try.

Pitchers back from last year include Bill Kennedy, a southpaw; Cliff Fannin, Ned Garver, Al Gerhauser, and the like. Fannin, who won 10 against 14 losses, and Kennedy, 7-9, at least showed possibilities.

Bob Savage, once considered one of Connie Mack's brightest young pupils, was all overdue upon right from Philadelphia Athletics in December.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 18 (AP) —A couple of guys from Kentucky were here the other day to see a basketball game, and they naturally mentioned a race coming at Kentucky Derby ... first bit of information was that Roscoe Goose, perpetual president of the knock-the-favorite-down club has picked Sport Page as his 1940 candidate ... There are two something about John's Joy, picked by one expert as "most likely to succeed" and De Luxe ("If Ben Jones takes him to Kentucky instead of sending him to Maryland with Jimmy, watch out") ... and Chanadeer (he can go the distance) and Ky. Colonel (his trainer thinks he's worth a 500-to-1 bet in the winter books) and Nine List (he didn't do much at two, but you remember Citation ran away got off to a slow start) ... somehow the favorites such as Blue Peter, Mr. Busher and Capot were brushed off quickly but nearly everybody else was mentioned.

Half Minute Sport Page

Such experts as Al Weill figure the Tournament of Champions has bought up Tony Zale's contract for a return bout with middleweight champ Marcel Cerdan, welterweight champ Marcel Cerdan, says, "it looks now like Cerdan and Zale." ... Jack Kilmartin of the band leader who was born in London, Ont., is spending $60,000 on a new speedboat which he hopes will do better than 100 miles an hour.

Will Build New Rink in Dundas

Dundas, March 18 — (CP) — Though the local hockey season is over this Wentworth county town of some 5,000 persons isn't forgetting the game until next winter. A campaign was started four days ago to raise $185,000 for a new arena and recreation centre.

A group of about 250 lees-agers has already pledged $1,000 — and other factory employing only eight men had pledged more than $600. Sponsors of the scheme hope to raise the money through bond issue so that on completion of the building it will be debt-free.

CAPITALS IMPROVE CHANCES

Indianapolis, March 18 — (CP) —Indianapolis Capitals whipped Buffalo Bisons 5-1 Thursday night to improve their chances in the tight western-division playoff race in the American Hockey League. Caps trail St. Louis Flyers by a single point. Pittsburgh and Cleveland are tied for third place, two points behind Indianapolis.

Only three teams are eligible for the playoffs, which start next week.

Callum McKay, Fred Glover and Nelson Podolsky tallied for Caps and Muddy McKay was the lone Bison scorer.

SEAL SKINS

Canada last year received 14,028 Alaskan fur seal skins from the United States, 20 per cent of the "take" from the Pribilof Islands herds.

Claiming Rules Will be Changed Next Season

(By The Canadian Press)

A change in claiming rules was announced in Toronto Thursday night by the incorporated Canadian Hockey Association.

It provides that if a winner in a claiming race is claimed, his claiming price for 30 days will be boosted at least 25 per cent. Under the old rules, the price of any horse claimed (not necessarily a winner) may be raised 25 per cent for the next 30 days of racing.

Any horse claimed on the I.C.R.A. circuit cannot be sold after the 30-day period without the approval of the stewards, who will insist on a notarys bill of sale being produced by the registered owner. This rule apparently is aimed at persons who have been claiming horses for other owners.

Any horse excluded from the entries in a race for Canadian-foaled animals will be declared eligible only for preference in a later race for Canadian-breds. A similar rule will govern conditions for starters in "open races".

The tournament of champions landed another blow in boxing's promotional war Thursday when it announced at New York the signing of a ten-year contract for the use of the polo grounds. Obtaining the New York Giants' Baseball Park for a term of at least two years gave the T. of C. a site for big-time indoor fights in New York, something it has not had for years. But it did not close the door on outdoor promotions by the 20th Century Sporting Club or by Joe Louis' new international boxing club. The Yankee Stadium is available and Sol Strauss of the 20th Century Club said his organization had the stadium under lease until Sept. 3, 1950.

Murray Hayes, rated one of the best halfbacks in intercollegiate football for several seasons, said Thursday at Montreal he is definitely through with the game Hayes, who started with McGill Redmen, at first he made his decision after a talk with Lew Hayman of Montreal Alouettes. Hayes has previously been approached by Ottawa Rough Riders, and Sarnia Imperials.

Skiing conditions on tow hills and in the bush in Ontario range from good to excellent, a report of the provincial travel department said today. Best conditions are reported at Barrie, Collingwood, Huntsville, Orangeville, Owen Sound and The Remmit in Toronto.

Inkerman Rockets, Thursday night captured the Ottawa and District Hockey Association June for championship for the third consecutive year by downing the town St. Pat's 6-3 in the fourth game of their best-of-seven series at Ottawa. They took the series in four straight games.

Kingston rinks won the final two events in the annual four-day bonspiel at the Kingston Curling Club. Rex Scott's foursome took the Wes Hawley Trophy, third event, 20-17. Sands won the bowling trophy, fourth event. Kingston set a record in the bon---- by winning all four competitions.

Bobby Locke, top-ranking South African golfer, will compete in this year's Canadian open at Toronto, June 22, it was announced Thursday at New York. Locke's manager, Vincent Richards, said Locke would be entered in the tournament to be held at St. George's Golf Country Club, Toronto.

At Sydney, N.S., President Charlie Campbell of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association said Thursday night an application by Sydney Millionaires for replacement has been refused by all branches of the parent C.A.H.A. The M.A.H.A. entered a request on behalf of Millionaires—Maritime Senior hockey titlists—for three replacements, Sydney and Pembroke Lumber Kings, Ottawa District League winners, meet here Monday night in the first game of the best-of-five series for the Allan Cup playoffs.

Tulsa Oilers Crush Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

Tulsa and Frank Ashworth will wind up their most successful season in the United States Hockey League in three years when Fort Worth invades the Oilers' rink tomorrow night.

Tulsa has won the southern division pennant and Ashworth is almost certain to be the league's second-highest scorer.

The 31-year-old Moose Jaw, Sask., centre picked up four assists Thursday night to run his season's total to 57. He's also scored 34 goals for a point total of 91.

Kansas City's Ray Powell leads the scorers with 104 points.

Three Tulsa players snared honors with Ashworth Thursday night as the Oilers crushed Dallas 9-2. Dick Butler scored two goals and two assists. Clare Dillon and Bob Schasser had two goals and an assist apiece.

Billy Cupolo's third-period goal was the only counter in the final period last night at Fort Worth. It gave Fort Worth a 3-2 victory over St. Paul. The loss was the second in as many nights for the northern team. Bill Sommers, pitcher who had gone through 19 innings without a loss before bowing to Dallas Wednesday night.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK! By R. J. SCOTT

Little Benny's Note Book

I was walking along with Puds Simkins just walking along, and we stopped to watch a funny looking little white dog standing outside of a iron fence and barking all his nite at a big red dog on the other side of the fence, and I said, Oh, boy, that's what I call a smart little dog, he knows darn well that big dog cant set out at him, so it's safe to bark all the insulting barks he can think of.

And we kept on going, talking about different subjects sutch as whether dogs are really more intelligent than people, or whether some of them just seem more intelligent on account of only being dogs, and Puds said, G, look, his kite got cawt up there.

Meening some kid sitting up in a tree trying to unwind his kite string from the branches. Being a big tuff looking kid in a red sweeter, and I said, Oh boy, here's a chance to yell up anything we feel at him, and if he starts to come down after us, we can be a block away before he's down.

Sure, oh boy, here's a chance to prove we're as intelligent as that little white dog. Puds said, and I said, Sure, let's pretend that guy is the big red dog.

And I yelled up at him, Hay you-up there, who ever sawt you to fly a kite? and the kid yelled back, My grandmother sawt me, she's 140 years old and she can tern handsprings and cartwheels and she's even funnier looking than you are.

Heck, there's no use trying to make him mad, I said, and Puds said, I aint even going to try, I wouldn't give him the saddisfaction.

Proving the big dog was the smartest after all, on account of just sitting there sneering while the little dog waisted all that ezclement.

Senator Davies Covers Big Field In Senate Speech

Ottawa, March 18 (CP)—The Senate continued its Throne Speech debate Thursday. There were four speeches.

Senator L. A. David (L—Quebec), concluding a speech started the day before, came out for the outlawing of communism and said this would not be an attack against personal freedom but a check against those who would destroy it.

Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) said he would vote for a broadening of family allowances, envisaged in the Throne Speech, but he wondered where all this paternalism is going to end."

Senator Felix Quinn (PC—Nova Scotia), as a Irishman, and Senator Ian MacKenzie (L—British Columbia), a Scot, joined in leading the chamber's celebration of St. Patrick's Day. Senator Quinn sang the last verse of "Galway Bay" on a resolute tenor. Senator MacKenzie lumbered 30 seconds of gaelic oratory to wish happiness to the Emerald Isle.

Senator David told the chamber communism was a faith, a religion, as well as the main Russian export which was designed for world domination. By their own utterances, communists recognized a prior loyalty to Moscow and were therefore traitors to their own countries.

Outlawing them would not be a blow against individual liberty but would check persons who, if successful, would destroy the liberties of the great majority.

Reason Far and Wide

Senator Davies ranged far and wide. He said Canada was lagging behind the United States and Britain in television and urged that Canada get started quickly in this field or she might lose the limited number of broadcasting channels available.

He approved the CBC's management but said it might be better if its powers of regulation over private radio were vested

St. Laurent, Drew Exchange Violent Verbal Blows

Ottawa, March 18 (CP) — The running warfare between Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had a new and noisy chapter on the Commons record today.

The opponents exchanged their latest—and some of their most violent—verbal blows in a flurry Thursday over a government motion to extend house sitting hours so "emergency" controls legislation can be pushed through before the controls expire by the end of this month.

Mr. St. Laurent charged the Progressive Conservatives are trying to get more opportunities for a "filibustering debate."

Mr. Drew accused the government of trying to continue "dictatorial orders" by pretending a "war emergency" exists.

Upshot was that the House finally voted to go ahead on the extended hours proposed by Mr. St. Laurent, without a vote.

These call for additional daily sessions each sitting day from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. until the emergency legislation is passed, with an all-day session Saturday, March 20, if necessary. The new hours start tomorrow morning, but will not be effective this Saturday.

Mr. St. Laurent's wrath was touched off when Mr. Drew questioned the government's procedure in bringing in its control measure early this week and then proceeded to attack it as unparliamentary.

In some other body.

Because its hearings were "very laborious," he advocated that members of the Senate Divorce Committee—he's not one—be paid adequately for their judicial functions. He called for establishment of a national library, art gallery and museum in Ottawa and urged encouragement for Canadian writers and for the little theatre movement. Originally Opposed

He had originally opposed family allowances in the belief they would penalize the thrifty and help the thriftless. He had been won over but he ensured that the generosity of government might be harming individual ambition and the desire to succeed.

Senator Davies, said he thought the CBC was doing a fine job, particularly in such programs as stage '47 and its Wednesday night cultural efforts. But there should be on discounting of the cultural work done by 90 private stations across Canada. They were developing local talent "and it is gradually improving." Private stations were part of the community, ready to help any worthy cause.

Senator Davies welcomed the Atlantic pact as a show of strength and the right course. He thought the influence of communism was on the wane but it should be carefully watched and kept within the law. If he had his way, the law would be tightened a bit.

Relief Agencies Assist Homeless In Rouyn Fire

Rouyn, Que., March 18 (CP) — Salvation Army relief workers reported here today that all victims "are accounted for" in the

The government, said Mr. Drew, should not attempt to put in its legislation "blanket provisions which relate entirely to the existence of a general emergency which, if it is supported by this House, means practical suspension of our constitution."

Mr. St. Laurent said the government was following the procedure that had been recommended by the Progressive Conservatives two years ago.

But now, while official opposition members were saying they were not opposed to rent and steel controls, they were also saying that more opportunities should be provided for what Mr. St. Laurent termed "filibustering debate."

He gibed at the Progressive Conservatives, too, for their attitude on the Newfoundland union legislation, which he said they did not want to have dealt with until they "went and obtained Mr. Duplessis' permission."

disastrous $2,000,000 fire which swept the heart of this northern Quebec mining town early Thursday.

Aided by Red Cross detachments, the Salvation Army said that more than 100 homeless victims had been placed in the homes of Rouyn and Noranda residents.

The dazed people, many who lost their entire belongings, were issued new clothing and fed by relief workers who moved into the area a few hours after news of the fire reached Montreal.

The fire gutted four buildings, housing nine business establishments, 50 apartments, and five private homes.

Of the more than 100 persons forced to flee the flames in night attire, only one, a 73-year-old woman, was taken to hospital. The victim, Mrs. Alonso, was reported to be suffering from shock.

The blaze is believed to have started at 4 a.m. in the basement of Stedman's five-cents-to-a-dollar store in Dubois building. An explosion followed almost immediately, showering nearby buildings with flaming debris.

Firefighters from Rouyn and the twin-city of Noranda battled the blaze in zero weather for five hours before bringing it under control.

The fire was the worst in the history of this 30-year-old mining centre.

Mayor Paul Cuddihy promised homeless victims that the town "will help the homeless in any way possible."

Civic officials announced plans to introduce new by-laws which will prevent the erection of wooden structures in the town. Most of the buildings gutted were made of wood.

ASK RECONSIDERATION

Welland, March 17 — (CP) — Welland citizens have asked the provincial government to reconsider abolition of a two-per-cent tax on professional sport.

Representatives of parks boards and recreation councils passed a resolution at a meeting here Wednesday night asking the government that revenue from the tax should be used to further recreational work for children throughout Ontario.

Constitution For Soviet Zone Is Adopted

Communist Principles Are Embodied in Basic Law

Berlin, March 19 (AP) — The Communist-controlled "peoples council" adopted today a constitution for the 20,000,000 Germans living under Soviet rule.

The 400-man body—established by the Soviet-picked politicians of eastern Germany — rubber-stamped a basic law embodying Communist principles for the entire Russian zone and also the Russian sector of Berlin. The vote was unanimous.

The action was taken as a rejoinder to the western German government being established at Bonn.

Professor Hermann Kastner, co-chairman of the peoples council, declared the action was "one of the most important and decisive in German history."

It made the partition of Germany virtually complete.

Cheap Easters Marks

Berlin — (Reuters) — West Berlin housewives crowded food stores today in a last rush to buy next week's rations in cheap eastern Soviet marks. Soon before the currency change-over which is expected this weekend.

Unofficial reports from Allied and German sources agreed that the west mark would become sole legal tender in the western sectors of Berlin tomorrow. That would mean that from Monday rations will have to be purchased in western marks, which are at present four times as valuable as eastern marks.

Despite repeated denials the British-licensed newspaper Mittags Echo predicted today that the new mark for the currency change-over in the Soviet zone and Soviet sector of Berlin March 23.

"Each person will be allowed to change only 100 east marks and the rest will be placed in a blocked account," the newspaper said.

"This measure is being taken on the direct order of Soviet financial expert W. A. Michin who recently arrived here from Moscow. He wants to prevent an expected invasion of eastern marks from west Berlin."

Sweeps Drawing For Minor Prizes

Dublin, March 19 (AP) — Nurses drawing for the second day in the Irish Hospitals sweepstakes dispersed a few more dollars today for 610 minor prizes.

Major prize drawings were made Friday in the sweepstakes, based on the Grand National Steeplechase to be run at Aintree, near Liverpool, March 26.

Today's drawing was for 560 cash prizes of £50 ($200) each, and 50 residual prizes of £352 ($1,408).

The drawing was at Ballsbridge Dublin suburb.

Total prize fund this year is £717,616. Friday's drawing for the big money prizes found a high proportion of North American sons holding tickets that can net them £25,000 apiece if their horse wins the Aintree classic. Ticket holders whose horse finishes second can win £10,000 each, and if the horse comes in third, £5,000.

Six Men Sought in Kidnapping And Attack of Mine Official

Thetford Mines, Que., March 19 (CP)—Provincial police today sought six men—believed to be miners—in connection with the kidnapping and attack of an asbestos mine official Friday night.

Police said Jean Marie Roy, 32-year-old assistant superintendent at the asbestos corporation's mine by Black Lake Mine, was forced into an automobile, beaten up and tossed out two miles away from his home.

A doctor who treated Pluze said the man "was not badly hurt."

This was the fourth violent outbreak in this eastern townships region since 1946. Two years went on strike at five mines producing close to 85 per cent of the world's total asbestos output.

All had been quiet on the strike front until part of the Johnsville mine valued at $1,000,000 at Danville was blown up Sunday night.

The following day an engineer of the same company was beaten up and Tuesday a striker fractured both his legs when a jeep he was riding was overturned on other striking workers.

Provincial and district policemen have been guarding the mines and the asbestos police force was doubled when six special constables were sworn in to ward off trouble.

Canada Heading Into New Role as Member of Pact

Pledged to Stop Wars Before They Start

Ottawa, March 19 (CP)—Canada today headed into a new international role as an original participant in the conclusion of a treaty which organizes the forces of this country, the United States and seven Western European countries against peace-breaking aggressors.

The pact is a 20-year treaty to be reviewed after 10 has run 10 years.

For the first time the powerful forces of this North American continent, which intwo world wars have united to overpower hungry aggressors, are preparing to pledge their resources to stop wars before they start.

In a radio address External Affairs Minister Pearson said bluntly that Canada's participation was prompted by the fears of Russian-style aggression, communism in Europe.

Earlier, in a press conference, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the pact was a warning to would-be aggressors that they cannot expect of the fate which overtook Hitler and Mussolini.

Parliament will be asked to approve the draft principles in advance, it time permits. The vote will be moved in the Senate Monday, and is sure to pass by a big majority.

There is the possibility of some opposition in the Commons, but little likelihood of the resolution being defeated. If it should, the government has given indication the matter would become an election issue.

Comes Into Force Soon

The treaty comes into force as soon as the original negotiators, Canada the United States, United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Netherlands, and Lunenbourg have deposited their instruments of ratification with the state department in Washington.

Norway has indicated a desire to sign and Iceland, Italy, Denmark and Portugal have been invited to become original signatories.

Mr. St. Laurent stressed the fact that the regional alliance is an alternative to the choice of a means of attaining some certainty of peace in a world where uncertainty is badly needed.

United Nations is permitted to function as planned, would be the best hope of security.

Mr. Pearson, in his radio address, was more outspoken.

"The world is divided, the western world . . . was in danger of being overwhelmed by the forces of subversive Communism supported by the force and the threat of expansionist Russia."

The combined forces of the participating countries, he argued could "frustrate the Soviet velo on any attack."

World recovery was slowly advancing but "this encouraging can be ended suddenly and tragically by some rash act of aggression," Mr. Pearson said.

The existence of the North Atlantic Treaty would provide "that dread contingency" far less likely to occur.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—Synopsis: Northerly winds are still bringing polar air over the forecast regions and this will cause a few snowflurries in Ontario and Quebec on Saturday. Sunday will continue clear in all but the Windsor London regions.

Temperatures will moderate slightly on Sunday and in most of Southern Ontario will rise to freezing or slightly higher.

Margarine Ban Effective In Quebec But Purchases In Other Provinces Allowed

Quebec, March 19 (CP)—Under as well as manufacture and sale. The cabinet had the option of putting all or part of the legislature into effect.

The Premier left the question pertaining to the importation of margarine in the hands of the federal government when he said he would "abide" by federal authorities decision to allow residents to bring the commodity into the province came at a time when most people who had interpreted Premier Duplessis' recent remarks on the subject as meaning the government would seek a ban on inter-provincial movements.

In Hull, Que., on the border between Quebec and Ontario, police were jubilant at the announcement. They thanked the Premier for taking what they said have been an "impossible" task off their hands, that of searching through every car, bus and handbag in Ottawa-Hull traffic.

Premier Duplessis told his weekly press conference Friday night that the cabinet adopted an order-in-council in addition to bringing into force part of the legislation recently passed by the Legislature.

The law provided for possession

47 Countries Agree on Top Price For Wheat

Washington, March 19 (CP)— Seventy countries, potential members of an international wheat agreement, have agreed on a four-year plan to market some 450,000,000 bushels annually at a top price of $1.80.

Agreement, after eight weeks of discussions, was announced Friday night by J. C. Van Kasteel acting chairman of the conference. Van Kasteel said he hoped the agreement would be signed early next week.

Under the new agreement, Canada will export 200,000,000 bushels a year. The four importing countries' portions are: The United States, 50,000,000 bushels; Australia, 75,000,000; France, 50,000,000; and Uruguay, 4,000,000.

The minimum price of $1.80 will hold for each of the four years. The minimum will drop 10 cents annually from $150 in the first year to $1.20 in the fourth.

The wide choice of a means of attaining some certainty of peace in a world where uncertainty is badly needed.

United Nations is permitted to function as planned, would be the best hope of security.

Mr. Pearson, in his radio address, was more outspoken.

"The world is divided, the western world . . . was in danger of being overwhelmed by the forces of subversive Communism supported by the force and the threat of expansionist Russia."

The combined forces of the participating countries, he argued could "frustrate the Soviet velo on any attack."

World recovery was slowly advancing but "this encouraging can be ended suddenly and tragically by some rash act of aggression," Mr. Pearson said.

The existence of the North Atlantic Treaty would provide "that dread contingency" far less likely to occur.

Lord Alexander Says His Plan Used in Italy

Albuquerque, N. M., March 18—(AP)— Viscount Alexander, Canada's Governor-General, said Friday that it was his plan and not that of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery which the allies used in the invasion of Sicily and Italy.

Lord Alexander, former Supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean, made the statement in answer to a question during a brief interview when he arrived here en route to Camp Hood, Field, Calif. The Governor-General will receive an Honorary Degree Sunday from the University of California at Los Angeles.

The reporter's question was prompted by a review of Lord Montgomery's book "El Alamein to the River Sangro," in which Field Marshal Viscount said his invasion plan was adopted by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"It was my 18th army plan that was approved by Ike," said Lord Alexander. "Sicily was the definite plan beyond taking Naples or a port and airfields for air fields," he added. "We wanted them for a base for attacks on Rome."

The plan after that, he said, was to "draw enemy reserves in the theatre to draw strength from the Germans which were building up in France under way.

Lord Montgomery's book criticized Allied planning for the campaign. It said the original plan for invading Italy was "unsound," but yet Eisenhower finally accepted the Montgomery plan.

Atlantic Pact

(By The Canadian Press)

The countries joining or about to join the Atlantic Alliance have a total area and population almost the same as those of the countries behind the iron curtain.

The total area of the territory covered by the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance is about 8,600,000 square miles, and the population therein is about 390,000,000. The total area of the lands behind the iron curtain including Russia the Soviet Union is about 8,900,000 square miles, and the total population about 293,000,000.

Betty Ritchie Denies Complicity With Dennis

Los Angeles, March 19 (AP) — Betty Ritchie, 24-year-old girl friend of Robert Dennis, 19-year-old confessed complicity in nine southern California burglaries ascribed to him. Two insurance companies which paid off claims presented by Dennis' asserted victims brought stolen articles totalling $69,965 against her. Miss Ritchie, once a high school teacher in Toronto, filed answers in superior court denying she took part in his burglaries, or had knowledge of them.

1948 Licences, Permits Good Until March 31

Toronto, March 19 — (CP) — Highway Minister George Doucett announced Friday that 1948 Ontario car licences and drivers' permits would be valid until the end of the month. The permits — originally due to expire Friday — had been extended because the heavy snow throughout Ontario which prevented many motorists from buying new registration plates.

Missing Prisoner Is Recaptured

Toronto, March 19 — (CP) — Robert Allan Quay, 36, alias Robert Roy, of Sudbury, was arrested on a Toronto street Friday and charged with escaping Kingston penitentiary.

Quay was sentenced in Sudbury to two years for theft and breaking.

On March 7 he was taken out of penitentiary to hospital for treatment and escaped. He was recaptured Friday by Detective John Mullen of Toronto.

Consideration of Control Bill Is Continuing

Bitter Words Spoken By House Members

Ottawa, March 19. (CP)—Two debates—a tedious legal argument on whether a state of emergency exists in Canada and a vibrant discussion of trade policies—stemmed Friday from Commons considerations of the government's control bills.

The legal discussion developed as the Chamber again studied the resolution preliminary to the annual omnibus bill to continue for another year ten main wartime controls—rents, materials, controls, price ceilings, timber, steel and building supply allocations.

Trade came into the picture with discussion of the preliminary steps to continue the exchange-control system for another two years.

These preliminary debates finally were concluded and the enabling bills themselves introduced and the first reading taken. Late in the chamber reopened study of proposals to implement the federal marketing boards necessary to fulfil Canada's food contracts with Britain.

The three-way discussion occupied the Commons' afternoon session of the Commons.

The Progressive Conservatives, fighting the measures at every legislative step, continued to hammer at the government's method of extending the controls and argued that no emergency now existed which warranted their continuance, particularly rents.

In the opening stages, Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled the text of the Canada-Soviet trade agreement and expressed hope parliament would debate it before the signing ceremony in Washington next Monday.

Transport Minister Chevrier tabled the annual report of the National Harbors and Railways showing a 1948 deficit of $35,-196,741.

Answer All Questions

Finance Minister Abbott, Justice Minister Gerson and Agriculture Minister Gardiner were on deck to pilot the control bills and answer the flood of questions the opposition permitted in committee stage.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, prodded the Chamber from another outbreak of disorder when he denied government charges that opposition parties had against the legislation and attacked Mr. St. Laurent as a man "who has been a respected diplomatic measures" and who was "severed by a "servile" government."

Miracle-Doubting Bishop Brings Fight For Liberal Theology Into Open

London, March 19 (AP)— Dr. E. W. Barnes, miracle doubting bishop of Birmingham, has brought into the open his fight for liberal theology—without Adam and Eve, Noah's Ark and Jonah's whale.

He and the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, have been at odds for years on Biblical matters, and on fundamentalism in Anglican theology.

The controversy has now been brought to a head by the proposed election of Archbishop Clement of the Church of England. Bishop Barnes contends the measure would liberalize liberal theology.

It provides retiring ages for Bishops and Archbishops. Bishop Barnes is 74.

Up to now the Church of England has had no power to retire its bishops.

"The measure would make it possible to force liberal retirement if they were physically or mentally incapacitated or found guilty of "unbecoming conduct or neglect of duty."

Bishop Barnes calls it a "threat to liberty."

Liberal clergy, he points out, take the view that you need not believe in Adam and Eve in order to be a Christian. The tribunal, he argues, could remove a bishop for such views.

When Bishop Barnes sought to speak on the retirement bill measure at a recent meeting of the Church assembly of the Church of England, the Archbishop of Canterbury ruled him out of order.

The clash continued when Bishop Barnes declared that the bishops' voting on the measure in the House of Bishops should be made public. The Archbishop retorted that the proceedings of the House of Bishops were always secret.

Finally the assembly voted to postpone consideration of the measure until June.

A clash occurred between Bishop Barnes and Rev. Michael Ramsey of Canterbury in 1947 over Bishop Barnes' book "Rise of Christianity," in which he discounted some of the miracles of the Bible's New Testament.

"If his views were mine," said the Archbishop, "I should not feel that I could still hold Episcopal office in the church. I am shocked."

Bishop Barnes, answering the face-to-face criticism, said:

"As a church it seems to me that we have come to terms with sciences and scholarship, and make no pretense of obscurantism or ignoring contrary evidence."

Moscow Condemns Atlantic Treaty As Design For War

Bevin Terms Pact Peace Move to Block Russia

London, March 19 (AP)— The countries of the west read the North Atlantic pact today as the outline for world peace, but Moscow condemned it as a design for war.

In blunt language, Britain's Foreign Secretary Bevin called it the hope of persons with peaceful intent, and an instrument to block Kremlin efforts to rule Europe by fear.

Moscow radio, in an English-language broadcast, charged that "this pact means war on the Soviet Union." The voice was identified as that of Dr. I. Lemin, Soviet historian.

These statements were typical of the reaction of statesmen and the press in the two "cold war" camps.

Bevin, in a radio broadcast, accused the Communist countries of "running a perpetual campaign of incitement calculated to disrupt economic life, prevent Europe from settling down, and to create a situation of unrest, in order that the will of the Kremlin could be carried out and the whole of Europe brought to chaos.

"What, then, were the peace, freedom-loving nations to do? To stand by to be picked off one by one? To build up some collective security?

"Well we took the latter course."

He insisted the treaty is one which no country "innocent of aggressive intentions," need fear.

Over the official Russian radio came a Soviet reply to the published terms of the pact — a charge that it "is designed to unleash war against the Soviet Union" and that "millions" in the west would not support it.

Express Approval

The reference clearly was to a recent flood of statements by Communists in western countries that they would support Russia if she goes to war against "aggressors."

Across the western world outside the iron curtain, however, expressions of approval and confidence in the approval of the pact, and hoped that people in the west will back them solidly.

Only one Dutch spoke against the treaty was negotiated by the United States, Canada, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. Norway joined the talks later and other countries such as Denmark, Italy and Portugal have been invited to sign.

The 14-page, 1,040-word treaty, made public in all the negotiating countries Friday, is expected to be signed about April 4.

Western European newspapers, the main Communist organs, agreed generally that the pact means peace and war.

Several papers said the pact should be accompanied by new efforts to reach an agreement with the Communists.

First Morning Session Marked By Unruly Scene

P. C. Leader, George Drew, Central Figure in Hot Debate

Ottawa, March 19 (CP)— The first morning sitting of the Commons was marked Friday by a noisy, unruly scene, and once again George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, was the central figure.

Mr. Drew, on the receiving end of a tongue lashing by Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday took the offensive and hurled some charges of his own at the government head.

Mr. St. Laurent, who had left the Chamber with Mr. Drew on the attack started, had angrily suggested that the Progressive Conservatives were carrying on a "filibuster" against the legislation providing for the extension of some wartime controls.

Replying to that charge, Mr. Drew said:

"When the Prime Minister . . . uses the statement that a filibuster is taking place he is merely indicating how little he likes filibuster because in this house on the arbitrary measures which he puts forward. His whole conduct demonstrates that what it is to place arbitrary powers of this kind in his hands."

Allege Parents Refused Two Warm Rooms

Toronto, March 19. (CP) — John Lutz, 42, and his wife, Tillie, were arrested on Thursday night, charged with failing to provide the necessities of life for their six children, ranging in age from 14 and eight months.

Police said the family refused to accept two "warm, clean" rooms offered by the city welfare department and that they threatened to camp in the lobby of a downtown hotel until the city took "adequate measures" to aid them.

"I don't know what we can do for the family," said a welfare official. They were evicted from the Geco Emergency Housing project Wednesday. They came into Toronto and setup camp in the lobby of the Royal York Hotel.

Mrs. Harris refused the accommodation offered by the department, and stayed with relatives for two days. Thursday night he secured another hotel with his family and tacked a sign on the baby carriage reading: "We have been evicted by the city." Again he refused the rooms suggested by the department.

"I warned him that in refusing the rooms he was committing an offense of not providing necessities for his children," said a detective. "He said he would rather be charged and landed into court than take the two rooms."

The children were given shelter at the Children's Aid.

TWO MONGREL DOGS IN CITY POUND

Two black and white mongrel collie and spaniel male pups are in custody of city dog catcher Thomas Thorn. One of the pups, both of which are approximately two months old, was found near the county buildings, while the other was picked up in the vicinity of Pinnacle Ave.

TRUCK DAMAGED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

Damage amounting to approximately $300 resulted to a truck owned by Maurice Callaghan of the city late last night when it was struck by a C.P.R. freight at the Church Street crossing.

Driver of the truck, Jack Gray, of 16 Franklin Street, stated the vehicle had stalled on the tracks and before he could get the motor started again it was struck on the right side by the train. There was no injuries as result of the mishap.

KINSMEN ASSIST BURNED-OUT FAMILY

The Kinsmen Club of Belleville raised one hundred and sixty-five dollars at a social evening held last night. The money is to be donated to the Brunet family who were burned from their home recently. The Kinsmen Club also donated twenty-five dollars to the family and two members of the Northern Telephone Company donated a radio to them.

CYCLISTS WARNED NOT TO RIDE BIKES ON SIDEWALKS

Bicyclists riding on the sidewalks are still running afoul of the law despite warnings which have been given by local police that offenders will be prosecuted. Yesterday a cyclist was apprehended while riding on the sidewalk and was required to report to the police station where in all probability a summons for violating the city by-law will be waiting for him.

Youths amusing themselves with firecrackers are also on the prowl, it was stated by police. Last night two youths aged 17 years from Boys were stated to have lighted firecrackers onto the steps at the Annex Street school and at the Kiwanis Centre. Police were unable to locate the offenders.

Maple Syrup Sold First Time At $4 Gallon

Maple syrup at $4 per gallon or $1 per quart, was offered on the local produce market Saturday morning for the first time this year.

The one vendor, A. E. Kleinsteiber of West Lake, in Prince Edward County, stated there had been no sag run during the past week, the sap from which his first grading of syrup was made having been collected one week ago. "Weather during the week would had been too cold", he said.

On the inside market eggs held at the usually price of 45 cents per dozen for thirds with a few extras selling at a few cents. Medium sizes were 43 cents. Dairy butter was 68 cents.

Fowl also held the same price at 50 cents per pound with top grade broilers selling for 60 cents per pound. A few ducks were offered at 85 cents the pound.

The supply of apples is rapidly diminishing, it was stated by apple vendors, five cents per pound. Cabbage sold at a few cents.

Cordwood sold at $15 per cord with soft stovewood bringing $7.50 per half a cord.

Takes Seventeen Years to Pay Debt of Gratitude

It took seventeen years to accomplish but Harry Moore, residing near Tweed, finally paid a debt of gratitude to a "Good Samaritan" of the highways.

It seems the other day Charles Champagne, Flinton, was en route to his home from Tweed, when his automobile developed some sort of trouble.

A passing motorist seeing his plight stopped and offered assistance. Champagne related his troubles trying to recall the stranger. His face was vaguely familiar. Arriving at his home he learned, after hauling the Champagne car to a garage, other aid, and insisted that he allow the Flinton resident to his home.

Champagne meanwhile was mentally trying to identify the generous stranger.

Finally curiosity got the better of him. "Who are you?" he asked.

"I'm Harry Moore," he said. "And I remember the time back in 1932 when I broke down near Point Ann and you stopped and towed my car into Belleville."

The stranger smiled, "I have seen you before!"

The stranger was right. Champagne had seen him on several occasions.

Company Officials and Fellow Employees of Paul Brunet Help Build New Home For Family

Some kind of a record in home building would be expected to be established by a group of forty volunteer workmen who today are erecting another home for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet, of Richmond Ave., and their nine children.

Late Thursday evening the Brunet home and all its entire contents, including all the clothing of the family was burned to the ground. There was merely time to get the children out before the house was a mass of flames.

With everything lost in the fire which in a few minutes completely destroyed the home, Fellow employees of Mr. Brunet at the Northern Electric immediately stepped into the breach and volunteered to erect another home. Draws New Plans

Speedy preparations were made yesterday. The father encouraged by the spirit of good will on the part of fellow workers and neighbors drew over the plans for the home. Lumber and other materials were rounded up and this morning an army of about 40 workers converged on the scene to erect the new home.

The Brunet family came to Belleville from Newfoundland after the father had erected a temporary dwelling until a permanent house could be constructed.

After the fire Thursday the parents and nine children were given shelter in the homes of neighbors and friends.

A collection was taken by employees of the Northern Electric and over $200 was subscribed.

It is understood that the committee has also contributed part of the lumber for building the home.

Royal Commission Resumes Sitting Here Monday

After an adjournment since Feb. 18, Mr. Justice Kellier Macfarlane of the Ontario Supreme Court resumes his investigation Monday into the conduct of the Hastings County Police Commission and seven Ontario Provincial Police officers.

The Royal Commission is investigating charges of intimidation of fraud, misconduct, perjury and maladministration of justice in the County of Hastings. T. E. Kemp is the counsel assisting.

The hearing was adjourned after sitting for two weeks to permit the examination to sit at the Toronto Asizes of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Three witnesses had been called and nearly $50,000 worth of evidence given in the two weeks of the probe. The third witness—Inspector E. W. Wilson, cost, head of the R.C.M.P. Identification Bureau—will be on the stand when the Commission rose and will return to the witness box Monday.

Capacity crowds packed the Hastings County Court room daily to hear Const. Keays present his case and question the witnesses. He named in his allegations: R. C. Donnan, Hastings County Crown Attorney; W. R. Stringer, Commissioner of Police for Ontario; and Provincial Police officers: Inspector T. W. Cosgrave, Inspector W. J. Page, Sgt. J. A. Stringer, Cpl. Sam Ervine and Constables J. B. Driscoll and C. R. Pooley.

Const. Keays originally made the charges last October in a letter of resignation he sent Commissioner Stringer. It said his career as a policeman had been ruined by the perjured testimony of other officers. He said his superiors had ignored his reports of misconduct within the force.

The constable said repeatedly during his testimony that he had not wanted a public inquiry but felt his complaints should have been investigated within the attorney general's department.

While presenting Const. Keays, Mr. Donnan and Malcolm Robb, counsel for five of the police officers, hinted that he was guilty of many of the irregularities of which he accused the other officers.

Charles W. May Given 4 Years On Two Charges

Chas. W. May, 62-year-old turkey farmer, living on the Trenton-Belleville road two miles west of Belleville, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary here yesterday when he was convicted on two morals charges.

The sentence was given by Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a charge of carnal knowledge of a girl under 14 years and of indecent assault on a second young girl. He had been in custody since December 9th when he was arrested on the charges.

May was sentenced to four years on the carnal knowledge charge and two years to run concurrently for indecent assault. He was defended by Ormonde E. Butler, local solicitor.

Sickness will deprive the Marmora squad of their star right winger Bill Brown. Other members of the squad who have been on the sick list are reported ready to play.

Bill Brown and Perry Everett, Belleville have been named as officials.

Recount Denied On Tweed Vote

There will be no recount of ballots marked in the liquor plebiscite held in the village of Tweed last August.

The Ontario Court of Appeals yesterday quashed an appeal by a voter, Edward J. Courneyea, for an authorized recount. The judgment, signed by Judges Hogg and Laidlaw, ruled the court had no jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. The village voted dry.

OBITUARY

LATE MRS. SARAH A. KERR

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Alnora Kerr was held on Friday afternoon from the Pinkston Funeral Home with a large number in attendance. Service was conducted by Rev. F. R. Haynes. Interment was in Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Blake Kerr, Raymond Clark, Jr. Kerr, Bert Lyon, Earl Delins and Harry Oliman.

Harold McCaul Napanee, Pres. District Fair Bd.

The importance of junior organizations and women's directorates of fair boards was stressed at the annual meeting of District 3 of the Central Ontario Fairs Association, Tuesday, when Deputy superintendent of the Ontario Association held at Kiwanis Centre, Belleville Thursday. Every fair board in the district was represented and the morning session at the meeting was devoted to the allocation of dates for the fairs in the coming year.

At the conclusion of the meeting the election of officers was held and Harold McCaul of Napanee succeeds Harry Coulter of Tweed as president of the district. Another Workman of Warkworth was chosen 1st vice president;—D. O. Reynolds of Picton, 2nd vice president and C. W. Varcoe of Roseneath as secretary-treasurer. The following were elected as directors: Bonnville and Bert Baxter of Picton, Wm. F. R. Rutherford of Campbellford will act as district representative for another term. Mrs. Fred Hall of Warkworth Record conducted the women's meeting. Mrs. Harry Coulter of Tweed was chosen to succeed her when officers were selected.

Fair Dates Selected

The remainder of the time was spent on the selection of dates for the various fairs and were chosen as follows:

Belleville, Aug. 15 to 18, Napanee, Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1st, Addington, September 6 and 7, Brighton, August 30 and 31st, Denbigh, September 9th, Shannonville, September 9 and 10, Wooler, September 6 and 7, Tweed September 13 and 14, Marmora, September 19 and 20, Stirling, September 16 and 17, Campbellford, September 28 and 29, Picton, September 28, 29 and 30, Port Perry, August 31st and Sept. 1st, Madoc, October 4 and 5, Warkworth, October 6 and 7, Harwood, October 8 and 10 and Roseneath October 13 and 14.

It is decided to raise the admission fees to all fairs in the district to $1 after a considerable discussion and a resolution forwarded to the provincial body asking that the Sunday in connection with the fair being included for grant purposes.

F. M. Rutherford, district representative, gave a report that the most outstanding features of fairs in the district were praised for the calibre of entertainment and improvement in exhibitions. He especially praised the Madoc Fair which stood third in the Province of Ontario standing for a one-day show. The meeting went on record of thanking the district meeting to be held on the fourth Friday in January and that all fair boards hold their meeting before that time so that delegates going to the meeting would be able to vote on the questions that were put forward to be decided when the provincial meeting is held later in February in Toronto.

Praised Junior Club

Mr. Lashley was most emphatic that the junior farmer clubs played an important part in the success of every fair. "They are enthusiastic and they will work," said the speaker, "and any fair board would be remiss if it did not include displays by the junior boys and girls particularly in livestock because the boys and girls love to show and like showring. He was much in favor of breed shows being held at a central fair point in the district. In favor of a seed show. The speaker explained that under the regulations only registered seed could be used.

The speaker stressed that commercial gestures should be given but they must represent the product contingent to the district. "These displays," said the speaker, "are greater gestures than the efforts of the junior farmers and the women's institutes. He claimed that the prize lists should be compiled earlier and more thought should be placed on them with respect to classification and also that a clause should be inserted with respect to public liability of the fair board. Turning to the women's activity at the fair, Mr. Lashley claimed that no fair is worth its salt without the women. He stated the women entries should be as practical as possible and each section should be specific and the board should strive for as much variety as possible. There should be no repeaters in the women's sections and qualified judges should be secured.

Miss Make Exhibitors Welcome

In conclusion Mr. Lashley stated that each fair should have an excellent public address system, that exhibitors should be made welcome and that the exhibits should be made as attractive as possible. He explained the grants that were being offered for community project stating that a municipality could apply for grants up to $5,000 for such projects but the fair board could not apply.

Presbyterial Holds Executive Meeting At Bridge Street

At a meeting of the executive of Belleville Presbytery held in Bridge Street United Church on Friday afternoon and attended by Rev. J. D. Martin, Trenton, chairman, Messrs. E. L. Fraser, Trenton, Harold Hilling and Rev's. Alfred Poulter, Madoc, A. Mitchell, Point Anne, Wm. Hewlington, Noble Hatton, Napanee, and J. F. Everson the agenda for the annual meeting, to be held in Bridge Street United Church on Friday afternoon and evening, April 29th, was prepared.

Due to the illness of the Secretary, Rev. J. R. Trumpour, Campbellton, the minutes were received by Rev. Alfred Poulter, Madoc. The request of Rev. W. H. Barfoot, Consecon for a change of pastoral relations was approved. Rev. J. F. Everson of Rev. W. H. Barfoot were named a committee to review the reports sent in from the various circuits under section 117 of the manual subsection 2. Rev. F. R. Harbach was requested to secure a list of the "Veterans of the Cross" contributions and report at the Presbytery meeting in April. The visit of the Moderator to Bridge Street Church, Pilot Reverend Willard Brewing, to Belleville, on Sunday evening was announced.

Mr. George F. Hamilton and family wish to extend their sincere thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses shown them during the illness and death of their beloved husband and father. Special thanks are extended to those friends who sent flowers from their many friends and neighbors. Your kindness will be long remembered.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbors for the many floral offerings and cards sent during the illness and death of our father, Mr. Wm. Lloyd Rose. Special thanks to Rev. Mr. Bartlett, Rev. Mr. Hall and Rev. Mr. Hewlington for their comforting words, to the Belleville General Hospital staff for their kind attention, to the pallbearers and to Mr. Pinkston and staff for their kindness and consideration.
—Mrs. Lloyd Rose and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father, Edwin Hopkins, who passed away March 19th, 1948.
He suffered much, he sleeps his rest.
The Lord called home, and he went without a murmur.
May his reward be as great as his sacrifice.
Lovingly remembered by daughters.

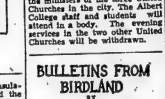
United Church Moderator Will Speak Here



Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing

The Right Reverend Willard Brewing, Moderator of the United Church of Canada and pastor of St. George's United Church, Toronto, for the past eleven years, will preach in Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening. Dr. Brewing's visit to the city where both he and Mrs. Brewing are well known is being sponsored by the Board of Governors of Albert College in association with the ministers of the three United Churches in the city. The Albert College staff and students will attend in a body. The evening services in the two other United Churches will be withdrawn.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WINIFRED E. WILSON

ACCIDENTS

Now that we are aware of the enormous distances travelled over land and sea by birds in migration, we are inclined to imagine that one of the chief perils must be exhaustion; but investigation has proved that this is not so. Many are the casualties due to adverse weather or other claims of Nature, and many the deaths that come about as a result of our modern way of living.

Fierce wind may blow the live airplanes hundreds of miles off their regular route, away from water, food, and shelter. Sometimes temperatures drops and heavy snow begins to fall as the little feathered creatures fly north across one of the Great Lakes. On one occasion, from 2,000 to 5,000 small bodies per mile were picked up along the beaches after the storm had abated. Bad weather often cuts off the food supply; snow buries seeds, cold kills insects. One report from fog came to us as a shock in September 1948, when tall buildings took their toll of bird life. Several cities reported that the streets were covered with hundreds of tiny dead birds.

Long ago we realized that fog caused birds to lose their way, but only recently have many of us discovered that fog can affect them indirectly. That same autumn, an oil tanker became fog-bound in Lake St. Peter in the St. Lawrence, spreading oil on the water which caused the death of an estimated 30,000 ducks that had passed there on their long trek south. Ornithologists, deeply concerned, were unable to find any chemical that would remove the sticky fluid from their wings.

The mass destruction brought about by lighthouses may be attributed to man. Night migrants, either attracted by the bright light or blinded by it, crash into the obstruction. Fire, started for the clearing land or through carelessness, lays desolate the country which should provide food for the travellers. When flocks pass overhead, there is unnecessary slaughter at man's hands. Predatory birds, mammals, and reptiles destroy many song birds. Nature is also responsible for the yearly tragedy at Niagara, where hundreds of water birds slip over the falls to perish in the foam.

One of the chief functions of the Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation at Kingsville, Ontario, is to try to patch up birds which have encountered some of these dangers and, though painfully injured, "made" the sanctuary; but the yearly loss of bird life is appalling.

STIRLING

Council Names Representative On Arbitration Bd.

Stirling—Acting on a petition presented by a number of Rawdon township farmers who are assessed in Stirling Union School section, village council on Monday afternoon appointed R. W. McIlkiplan as the Stirling representative on a board of arbitration, being set up to deal with assessment matters. The petition was signed by Messrs. S. Brady, F. W. Carlisle, W. H. Donnan, Earl Wallace and R. C. Cooper. Reeve H. J. Wells presided and was supported by councillors E. G. Bailey, Guy Bradshaw, Walter Elliott and J. V. Holt.

Communications Tabled

Communications were tabled from the Bell Telephone Co. outlining council of an increase in their Stirling business assessment of $1,206 making the total $7,-565.74, from F. A. R. McFadden auditor, stating his willingness to attend council and discuss the auditor's report with them, from G. R. Simpson auditor department of highways, from department of highways re Madoc Village on work on streets amounting to $1,490.16; Geo. A. Sister, Salvation Army, acknowledging donation; Brunner-Mond acknowledging order for calcium chloride; A. W. McGuire, school inspector, district No. 5 assessors association conference to be held in Cobourg April 11th. R. Anderson, department of highways engineer, and H. C. Deanier, department of highways re culvert in front of White Rose service station. In connection with the communication from G. R. Simpson department of highways auditor the clerk was instructed to write Mr. Simpson requesting him to wait on the local council at the earliest possible date.

Delegates Appointed

Councillor E. G. Bailey and assessor F. R. Mallory were appointed delegates to the district assessors convention in Cobourg on April 11th 1949.

Level Crossing Report

The streets committee was asked to prepare a report on the C.N.R. level crossing on highway No. 14 in the village limits re-garage parstory to asking for the installation of a wig wag signal at the crossing.

Councillor J. V. Holt was authorized to supply the White Rose Oil Co. with particulars as to cost of 24' culvert in front of their local service station.

Discussion re Cemetery Maps, etc

Mr. J. T. Ransom engineer of Belleville waited on council with reference to new maps of the local cemetery and laying out of additional plots. After a lengthy discussion council authorized Mr. Ransom to prepare a set of maps with two prints to be mounted, total cost to be $70 on motion of councillors Holt and Bailey. Owing to cost involved council decided against having any further plots laid out for the present.

Street Crossing

Messrs. F. McDonnell and F. Roubbik waited on council asking that something be done with the street crossing from Charlotte Street into the post office driveway. Due to the sharp incline at this point it is a difficult opening to negotiate, particularly in the winter months. It was suggested by the delegation that it be lowered similar to what was done on the north side of the street in front of the Sunoco station. The streets committee will view the situation and report at the next council meeting.

Property Committee Reports

J. V. Holt chairman of the property committee reported that he had had the soft maples growing among the spruces at the Memorial Park removed. He also reported, that the committee had made a recent inspection of the town property and found the local Hydro utilizing a goodly portion of the fire hall; a number of seats (about half) in the community hall in need of repair, and the library building in need of new eavestroughing and insulation. Reeve Wells offered the suggestion that some new seats should be purchased for the theatre and the committee will investiate the matter further as well as the eavestroughing on the library and report at a later meeting.

Report on Streets' Condition

Councillor Guy Bradshaw chairman of the streets' committee, reported the streets breaking up in spots and was given authority to procure crushed rock and apply as needed.

Road Purchase

Clerk Mallory was authorized to purchase bonds up to two thousand dollars from Cemetery Trust Fund.

A number of accounts were presented for payment.

TOURIST ENTRIES UP

Modern transportation and highways have revolutionized the habits of people in many respects. Tourist entries from the United States to Ontario and other Provinces have risen, January showing particularly an increase of large proportions this year than in any other January in history.

The January increase in Ontario is no less than 34.1 per cent over the same month last year. The total last January was 17,591 cars.

All the provinces together are showing an increase of 15.4 per cent with Quebec increase up 47.1 per cent and New Brunswick 23.5 per cent. On the other hand Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia show declines, the latter owing to weather conditions, declining 41.2 per cent.

Travel inquiries reaching the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity are being translated into actual visits says the Ontario Government Services report. Inquiries passing through Ministry of Travel and Publicity numbered for the first five weeks of this year 4,301 as compared with 1,744 and 1,1119 for corresponding periods in 1945 and 1947.

These are very encouraging signs of the response to the publicity program of the Province of Ontario and of the other provinces this year.

DREAM THAT FAILED

One of life's dreams which came to nought for the builder has disappeared. It is a castle in Perthshire, Scotland, built at fabulous expense, not in the Middle Ages, but 123 years ago. So vast a dream never was fulfilled for it was never occupied nor even completed. It has been a white elephant ever since its owner died while he was trying to construct neighboring inland with a castle that would outshine their homes with its Tudor facade and seven pagoda turrets. When he died the work stopped and the castle, complete with banqueting hall, ballroom and grand staircase, was never floored or fitted with windows.

The walls were massive and so enduring that it required explosives placed in 5,000 drill holes to reduce it. In one week the structure was demolished and the 200,000 tons of stone from the walls which stood for nearly a century and a quarter will be used for the construction of one of the dams in Scotland's big Tummel Garry hydro-electric power scheme.

FLEXIBLE DECKS FOR CARRIERS

British Royal Navy engineers have been carrying out important experiments which may improve flying conditions for naval aviators. An aircraft carrier has been equipped with a flexible deck which provides safer landing for fast planes in a limited space. Information on preliminary tests was given recently by the Ministry of Supply. The flexible deck is made of special material consisting mainly of rubber. A jet fighter is equipped with skids in place of wheels and the undercarriage is dispensed with. This gives a much improved performance to the plane in the air. It is catapulted from the deck and when returning to the carrier it lands on the flexible deck on the skids.

PLEASING THE TOURISTS

"The average tourist does not look for lavish surroundings when he seeks accommodation after what has probably been a long, fatiguing day of driving. But he does look for courtesy and comfort and has the right to expect them, as does any guest. Cheerful rooms that are inviting and fragrant with the clean odor of fresh linen; meals consisting of appetizing food, warm and nicely served; and provided for a reasonable charge — these are the important considerations. They more than make up for lack of a luxurious environment," says Hamilton Spectator.

The boniface who keeps a sharp eye on the cleanliness of his kitchen, dining room and bedrooms; who schools his staff in the common civilities, and is himself satisfied to adhere to a moderate tariff commensurate with the service given, has nothing to worry about."

The future only is our goal. We are never living but only hoping to live; and looking forward always to being happy, it is inevitable that we never are so. — Blaise Pascal.

How narrow our souls become when absorbed in any present good or ill! It is only the thought of the future that makes them great. — Richter.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TOUR TROUBLES

We are all of us members of the human race, and have inherited that it is modified within it—including troubles. These troubles came early to Adam — so there is nothing unique in the troubles in themselves. Few, if any troubles that come to each one of us, have not at some time or other been the experience of someone else. That should encourage and give to us the courage to face them all without complaint.

I came across an apt stanza of a little poem that appeared in Munsey's Magazine for February, 1911, by Martha Adams Beckus, so here it is:

"Build for yourself a strong box.
Fashion each part with care.
When it's strong as your hand can make it,
Put all your troubles there;
Hide there all thought of your neighbor
And each bitter cup that you
quaff;
Lock all your headaches within it,
Then sit on the lid and laugh!"

What a vast number of troubles there are we worried about really never amount to anything. But they always leave their damage behind. Like the termites that get into our homes, they leave behind eaten places that unless they are replaced with new wood, remain weak and dangerous. When you think you have troubles, just look about you and you will note that another who has lives really more troubles than you have — and who may be paying little attention to them because of more important things to attend to, and because the fuy of life overwhelms them. We all know such folks.

Troubles there are, however, that are real all right, but if they are faced and handled as a matter of life routine, you are bound to come out on them stronger, healthier and abler to handle any that may arrive, no matter how big. They're not big, but little troubles. They train us to handle and get rid of the larger ones that one wants your troubles — if you have any — so keep them to yourself until you can give them a quick exit.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

On the limb of an apple tree in my garden there is attached one of those fifty cent bird-seed sacks, made of open mesh. It is folded over into the shape of an envelope and wired to the tree, in the envelope is put for the winter birds.

Nuthatches, chickadees and two species of woodpecker are frequent panhandlers at this handout. And also starlings. The starling is a very awkward bird, but finds he can hang head down to the mesh and eat as efficiently if not as gracefully as a nuthatch.

A group of five or six starlings will arrive in the apple tree to case the joint. Then, one drops down to the mesh and instantly a fight starts. There is a great deal of pecking and cursing in some European tongue, and then the whole starling emerges victor in the fight and proceeds to peck away. The others sulk up in the tree.

But the victor, in probing at the suet, sends particles falling to the ground; and one by one, the other birds fly down and begin eating these particles. Whereupon, the victor abandons his advantage on the mesh to get suet and drops down to grab his share of the particles on the ground. When they are all consumed, the fight starts all over again as to which of them will perch on the sink mat full of suet.

This fight may carry the whole group away off to another tree. But presently, they all come back to the bag of suet and, after another brief battle, one emerges as the victor; and the whole absurd routine is gone through again. If the victor would only stay and allow all his brethren below to consume the particles, the whole business all would be well. But apparently the sight of his brethren getting something makes him go to the tree that fall from his own feast — is too much for him.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HAPPINESS OR ANIMAL EXISTENCE?

There are very few people in the world who are really happy—people who can stop at any moment of the day and realize with that warm, inner feeling of contentment that they are perfectly happy and lack nothing to make their lives more full and satisfying.

Multitudes of people merely exist as slaves to the routine business of modern life. They never stop to question whether or not their lives as a whole are happy. They know they get a pleasant sensation when they make a killing in the market, or see a beautiful picture, or make love, or get drunk, each according to his own predictions. They also know definitely when love is loved one, fail in business, or are swindled by friends. But they can never see the question of happiness or unhappiness as the great spiritual synthesis that it is.

The formula for happiness is in the Gospels. It is a simple formula, but the greatest paradox of all time. Sacrifice all to win all; lose the world to gain it. This formula is trite verbiage to the sensation seeker, but to those who try it, its paradox disappears and its true happiness unfolds about their lives in unexplainable simplicity.

Claims it's Drew's Duty to Tell Authorities

Montreal, March 19 — (CP)— Defence Minister Claxton said in a statement Friday night that if Progressive Conservative leader Drew has any knowledge of a member of the armed forces giving information to the Russian Embassy, it is Mr. Drew's duty to "tell the authorities."

In the House of Commons at Ottawa Friday Mr. Drew claimed communists have infiltrated the armed services and "there is not much doubt . . . that the Russian Embassy is fully informed on any essential facts."

Mr. Claxton said in his statement it would be interesting to know if Mr. Drew has given the names to the police or to the military authorities, or if this is another of those general and irresponsive charges which he has no evidence to support.

Saskatoon. —(CP)— This city's livelihood practically depends on farm production but when the first batch of margarine hit town, housewives cleaned out the 17,000-pound shipment in one day.

Mackenzie's Column:

World Reaction On Atlantic Pact Clearly Defined

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

World reaction to the terms of the projected North Atlantic defence alliance is clearly defined in most cases, as one would expect. On the one hand we have the claim by the western participants that the pact is purely defensive and is designed as insurance against war.

On the other side Russia and her satellites charge in violent terms that the treaty is an aggressive move by the United States to lay the groundwork for a third world conflict.

For us at the west, it is difficult to believe that the leading statesmen of the Soviet bloc actually think the western powers are compelled by hostile motives.

However, I for one am prepared to admit that the Communist states may indeed be suspicious. After all, there's nasty cold war going on and they don't doesn't lack much of make it "hot," therefore the opportunities concerted move by either side is a matter for grave consideration and perhaps of suspicion.

Emphasis on Peace

Maybe the moral of this observation is that it behooves the members of the alliance to emphasize at every opportunity the fact that it is purely defensive.

This is a historic moment for the United States. It is the first time in our history we have joined in time alliance with European powers.

Still, in its essence this proposed alliance is not so much a reach from previous American commitments. Twice the United States has been part of an allied fighting machine in world wars. And in the second of these it has become clear that the United States might have joined in the world war, whether she likes it or not. The Atlantic alliance is a step in advance of this war.

However the pact recognizes that only the Congress can declare war.

First of Several

The Washington administration has let it be known that this treaty is only the first of several major defence moves. The new navy program projected is a billion-dollar program of arms assistance to western Europe, and the army program, however, that the arms program isn't to interfere with the European recovery program, which has priority.

There is one other salient point which the Atlantic treaty has brought to the surface. Communist leaders in non-Communist countries have declared in effect that if a conflict comes with Russia they will stand with the Soviet Union.

Claxton Gives Pacific Pay For Hong Kong Vets

Ottawa, March 19 (CP)—Hong Kong veterans have expressed satisfaction with Defence Minister Claxton's announcement in the Commons Thursday, making members of the force eligible for special Pacific pay.

The bonus will date from June 1, 1945. In Winnipeg, Jack Norris, secretary of the Hong Kong Veterans' Association of Winnipeg, said the announcement was satisfactory.

He had hoped, however, that the Pacific pay would be retroactive to cover the full period of the veterans' service in the force.

The force, suffering heavy casualties at the hands of the Japanese, they were driven from it. Some 555 were killed in action, died in prison-of-war camps or were listed as missing.

About 71 officers and 1,488 other ranks of the force will be now eligible for the pay, arranged for members of the Canadian Army Pacific forces when they joined the 6th division.

The extra pay was granted to members of the division because they were organized after VE-Day to fight with United States forces against Japan. U.S. forces were getting higher pay.

The extra pay ranging from 30 cents a day for a private to $1 a day for officers over the rank of Major, became effective June 1, 1945, the day members of the division left Canada and began training in the U.S. With Japan's surrender, they then saw service in the Far East.

Veterans of the Hong Kong force, made up of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and The Royal Rifles of Canada at Quebec, will probably get amounts ranging from about $6 to around $200.

JOE E. BROWN HAS RECURRING MALARIA

Hollywood, March 18 (AP)— Comedian Joe E. Brown is reported today "getting along nervously fine." He is in a hospital here following an attack of recurring malaria. Brown, star of Mary Chase's "Harvey", a play about a mild-mannered drunk and his invisible rabbit, was forced to leave the play here more than two weeks ago.

CONSIDERATION

As another point, Arthur Williams (CCF-Ontario) proceeded the law of Progressive-Conservatives with the statement that he is "sick and tired of this stalling around" and the charge "that they are making a mockery of themselves" with their "filibustering" tactics.

Mr. Williams said that the Progressive Conservatives were doing "a very unpleasant job" of holding up the business of the House.

The Progressive Conservatives liked to make out they represented the people, but they did not serve God and Mammon. They were "digging a dead horse."

A Progressive Conservative member interjected that Mr. Williams was "filibustering."

Calls Remark Silly

"Isn't that silly?" retorted Mr. Williams. "This is the first time I have spoken this week and I have been up only four minutes."

He charged that the Progressive Conservatives were seeking to protect the vested interests. They themselves were filibustering and "putting obstacles in the way of the people who are sought to forward the business of the House.

Mr. Garson, defending the main control legislation, said it was evident most members believed a general emergency still existed and it must be treated as such. He voted 141 to 53 to go into committee of the whole. This was indicative of their feeling on the existence of an emergency.

Several Progressive Conservatives had expressed favor of removing controls, indicating they believed there was an emergency. It was the government's responsibility to handle the emergency as it saw it.

No Evidence of Emergency

John T. Hackett (PC—Stanstead) conceded that a "political crisis" existed in the country but said he saw no evidence of an economic emergency.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) urged the government to "make a clean-cut, unequivocal declaration" and "end the subterfuge and camouflage." The very gentlemen who sold the people Confederation over the loathsome evil of fee-splitting were what little evidence he could manage to gain to the shrewd Yankee custom of going directly to the source of information by the pikes family physician. So when one adopts that method of soliciting advice from the brass specialist's game.

It's interesting to note that when I advocated an open fifty-fifty division of the fee, say for an operation, between the surgeon and the attending physician, or any other just division of the proceeds that might be fair to all concerned, as the logical solution of the fee-splitting evil, the only indignation my plea aroused was in the mind of a surgeon way down south who indited an epistle to the editor of the leading medical journal, deploring my astonishing suggestion and telling how hard the American College of Surgeons had struggled for years to stamp out the fiendish practice of fee-splitting. The fifty-fifty split I suggest is not at all secret, I maintain that if the treatment of acute appendicitis, let us say, is worth a certain fee, the fee should be fairly divided between the different physicians who contribute their services in the case.

Much of the uncommon feeling that doctor bills are too burdensome is due, I think, to the silly practice of not paying attention for every little thing, from restriction of a tooth to a baby. In a small minority of cases special services or advice may be necessary, but there are many where the layman's dilemma arises, that is, if the doctor is a skilful, with the honesty of conability of the lowly family physician. Take the delivery case mentioned, for example. As a rule the family physician has been in connection to and such a case and he can be a satisfactory guide as to specialist or not. His fee will be, say, fifty dollars. But if you have your doctor visit you before confinement is not the simple matter that it is supposed to be in such cases are, you will crave the attendance of some "leading" obstetrician when the time comes, you will pay ten times as much for his services, and he will give you all washed up your net result is just an ordinary baby and a more or less empty bonus regardless.

The moral of my screed is that: Don't be gullible. Have a family doctor or regular medical adviser and trust your faith in him. If you can't trust him, you should have no truck with him at all. Such a man is the big, honest, competent general practitioners scattered all over the land and yet consulted with them.

Personal Health Talks

YOUR OWN DOCTOR OR THE COMPANY'S.

It is impressed upon me when I was injured in an accident recently how much it means to a patient to be attended by his own physician. There is no issue in him or one who will be responsible to the patient or the patient's family and not to the other side.

Whenever there is a scare on, I have noticed, health departments are likely to urge people to report to the health department for vaccination or for Pasteur treatment. At a time like that the officious gentlemen can't trifle with the family doctor — they do not advise people to report to their own physicians.

While it would be just too bad to rob the health officer of the petty eminence he derives from his heroic role in these rabies scares, I should think that the whole matter were taken out of the hands of the politicians and left where it belongs, in the hands of the practicing physicians of the community, the public would be saved a lot of money and a lot of unnecessary fear, worry and anxiety, and before long we should have no more about animals rabies to worry us.

From a bulletin of information sent to members of an independent organization I quote a bit of advice:

"The sensible way to avoid being taken in by the feesplitter is to choose your doctor and not to accept a surgeon . . ."

That implies that you believe your family physician is in practice—that he demands a specialist's fee for the work of the surgeon.

Here's a lot of people today try to follow this advice in any case where they seek the services of a specialist. Many physicians who have no regular medical affiliations, in fact, many people who never trust any doctor.

This scheme of selecting your own specialist is fine if you do a competent judge of a physician's capabilities. I myself practice I am afraid it doesn't work out so well.

The practice of secret dichotomy (fee-splitting) is extensive in this country. We make no bones about that. It prevails because it is possible to get the brass specialists of the day thrive on it. Were it not for secret fee-splitting the modern specialist racket would peter out over night. Wine out of ten of those shortest in the urday specialists and operations, the very gentlemen who emit the loudest howls against the loathsome evil of fee-splitting are what little evidence he could manage to gain to the shrewd Yankee custom of going directly to the source of information by the pikes family physician. So when one adopts that method of soliciting advice from the brass specialist's game.

It's interesting to note that when I advocated an open fifty-fifty division of the fee, say for an operation, between the surgeon and the attending physician, or any other just division of the proceeds that might be fair to all concerned, as the logical solution of the fee-splitting evil, the only indignation my plea aroused was in the mind of a surgeon way down south who indited an epistle to the editor of the leading medical journal, deploring my astonishing suggestion and telling how hard the American College of Surgeons had struggled for years to stamp out the fiendish practice of fee-splitting. FIRST MORNING

Mr. Drew spoke on a resolution to a bill extending the foreign exchange control act for another five years.

He said that in criticizing him Thursday, Mr. St. Laurent had put on record things about which he had been carefully planned in advance.

"Of course, we had the advantage of knowing from the press that it had been prepared and was going to take place," he said.

"How did you like it" asked Jean, (St.Hontmagny-L'Islet).

He liked it very well as a perfect demonstration." said Mr. Drew. He got no further before his words were drowned in applause from the Liberal benches.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said he and Mr. Drew was out of order in referring to previous debates.

"I liked it very well as a demonstration of the action of a man who believes in international security," said Mr. Drew, starting anew and shouting above the noise. "It was a beautiful indictment of a servile government group following a party trying to suppress the ordinary rights of this House of Commons the way he has".

Justice Minister Garson interjected and said Mr. Drew knew it was the right of free speech which was being dealt with.

Mr. Drew said he had no intention of paying any attention to Mr. Garson's "silly questions."

Called For Ruling

Mr. Knowles called for a ruling on his point of order and deputy speaker Rene Macdonald said it was well taken. He asked all members to stick "strictly" to matters pertinent to the resolution.

Mr. Drew, resuming, said he was dealing with the charge that his party was conducting a filibuster.

"I am certainly not, in the circumstances, limiting the extent of my remarks when I believe the freedom of this country is at stake in an issue such as this."

Mr. Garson interjected that when a member said he was not going to abide by the rules he should be ordered from the chamber.

"That was another silly state-

House Division

The section allows the Commission control over highways in the park area. Mr. Houck said he would be willing to see hotel pet hotels and tourist homes be removed along the highway.

All opposition members except Mr. Frost from the CCF voted against the government's measure: Mr. G. Robinson (Port Arthur), William Temple (Toronto St. David), Eamon Park (Toronto Dovercourt), F. K. Wismer, (Toronto Riverdale).

Mr. Robinson, speaking to a bill to amend the Frost management act at the committee stage, said the government should adopt a broader policy in pooling forest cutting and should introduce legislation limiting the size of timber limits that any one individual on the distance from the nearest market. It would be impossible to introduce legislation to cover every circumstance.

Bill Withdrawn

Health Minister Kelley withdrew a bill to amend a bill which only residents of Toronto and suburbs could be treated in the Toronto Psychiatric hospital. Opposition members had contended that this would increase the hardship on other Ontario residents by overcrowding the rest of the hospital's more extensive facilities.

The House also passed through committee stage a bill extending the municipal housing building and maintaining homes for the aged. Fr. Lucien Lalonde (Ste. Prog.-Toronto St. Andrew) had asked that the bill be delayed until representatives could be heard from operators of private homes for the aged. He said these organizations should receive the same assistance as public homes.

said he would not retract unless ordered to do so by the chair.

"I understand the leader of the opposition to state that the question was silly, not that the minister was silly," said Mr. Macdonald. He asked members, however, to refrain from using the word "silly."

The luncheon adjournment came at this point and the discussion was not resumed when members recon vened.

Dinner Clothes Out of Fashion For Many Peers in Britain

London —(CP)— British peers are checking the "help wanted" ads these days.

Modern times and socialism in Britain have caught up with nobility. Many an earl or lord has switched from dinner clothes to overalls to earn pocket money and so meet his overhead expenses.

Some are burdened by the cost of keeping their mansions and estates. By the time they have paid their taxes, they find they can't run their cars, pay their club dues, keep up their social engagements or act the way noblemen generally are supposed to do. Some have taken to selling parcels of their land in order to save the rest.

Others have turned to commoners' chores because they want to make themselves useful in Britain's great battle for productivity—its struggle to survive.

There's the Marquis of Milford Haven, for example, whose name has been linked romantically with Princess Margaret and with Sharman Douglas, the daughter of U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas. He is a cousin of the King, and was best man at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. He sells fertilizer for a British firm in the United States.

The Earl of Shrewsbury, premier sart of England, is a salesman, too. He sells cabbages raised on his grounds at a roadside stand outside his Shropshire mansion house. His countess sells flowers which they raise. Taxation already has forced him to sell a third of his land, and he is trying to save the rest.

In Fish Business

The Dowager Marchioness of Queensbury has taken a hand in her father's old fish business in Cardiff and, freed from bankruptcy. She put things in order again by stiffening the fish and serving the customers. Now she has decided to stay. "I just like the says.

The 21th Baron of Digby farms 1,000 acres of his land and every morning when he is at home he peddles the milk himself. He also sells fruit and vegetables from his delivery van.

Lord Cullen was born into a family of women and the family estates were sold to provide for them. When he succeeded to the title, there wasn't much to back it. He started work as a clerk in a chartered accountant's office and worked his way up to assistant manager of a financial office on the stock exchange.

The Duke of Leinster turned his Hampshead home into a boarding house after the war.

A nephew of the Duchess of Kent ,Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia, sells washing machines for a Bristol firm.

The ninth Earl of Mayo, Ulrick Henry Bourke, is back in the city of hard work, too. He once was a chicken farmer, then a salesman, and then a 25 shilling ($3) a day film extra.

Commenting on how times have changed, the London newspaper "People" says: "It marks the end of the last relics of feudalism in Britain and the arrival of a classless society."

When Bad Luck Occurs Sennen Cove Fishermen Blame Thoughtless Women

By MICHAEL O'HARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Sennen Cove, Cornwall, England, March 18. (CP)—Women are notorious bad luck; everybody knows that in this fishing hamlet a mile from Land's End.

The 150 inhabitants have only one source of income—the fish they catch. And a pair of stupid girls can ruin the whole thing.

At least that's what the fishermen swear after a recent episode here while they were trying to swing their 400-yard-long nets around a shoal of grey mullet estimated to number 40,000.

In defiance of age-old superstition, two girls walked across the beach where the men were working. Waves broke the nets. The mullet got away. It was the girls' fault.

Villagers who live in the little white houses in this rocky cover believe bad luck lurks among the inlets and waits to pounce on you if you do something the wrong way. Not only will fish escape but in this piece of unforgiven beliefs a housewife will not polish a floor with her back to the door.

If she did, bad luck would enter while she wasn't looking.

If a woman is cleaning the floor of a passage with doors at either end, she figures to beat bad luck this way: she starts in the middle and works backwards to one door; then returns to the starting-point turns around and scrubs back to the other door.

May isn't too hygienic in these parts. If you visit Sennen Cove in that month you'll find bedclothes haven't been laundered. The explanation? Washing blankets in the, fifth month of the year washes away friends.

In order not to offend a number of farmyard spirits there is only one way for dairymaids to stir the cream when making butter. They must use the skimmer from left to right, or —another Cornwall superstition —"the s me way you stir your tea."

Still once the wrong way and the devil jumps into the churn.

India Accommodates Pakistan Refugees

Bombay, India — (CP) — India is to build several new townships to house refugees from Pakistan. The biggest will be at Kalyan in Bombay Province about 30 miles from here. This township, with 20,000 tenements, will house 100,000 refugees and will cost $25,000,000.

Another township is to be built in South Deolali and a residential colony near Poona.

In the United Provinces a new township is to be built near Modinagar to hold 25,000 refugees. Arrangements are being made first to construct 1,000 houses for 6,000 refugees.

The government has sanctioned loans totalling $90,000,000 to prov $24,000,000, and the Central Provvindal governments. Bombay gets $47,000,000, the United Provinces inces $15,000,000.

Three-Legged Pup Fast on His Feet

Vancouver — (CP) — Skipper, a smart black-and white dog of mixed breed, lost his right foreleg as a result of being hit by a car, but it hasn't slowed him down.

Skipper has been clocked running 23 miles an hour, and he actually ran on only two legs while recovering from his accident a year ago.

"He can just about catch a cat, too," said Bill Hamille, owner. "There are probably many four-legged dogs that could not keep up with Skipper and he's a good watchdog, too."

Police Find Clubs Curb Delinquency

Montreal (CP)—Not content with having 32,000 boys in his police clubs, Capt. Det. Avila Pelletier, head of the Montreal police juvenile delinquency prevention bureau went on the prowl here recently to pick up new members.

At a meeting in a local police station, about 200 boys heard representatives from the Montreal bench, clergy, police and city hall tell of the work of the police clubs in curbing juvenile delinquency. And to help them swallow the bare facts the youngsters were stuffed with ice cream and soft drinks.

Capt. Pelletier said since his clubs had been in operation statistics showed juvenile delinquency had dropped 54 per cent in the last three years.

Police Director Albert Langlois said that since peak hours of juvenile delinquency were between 6 p.m. and midnight, the clubs contributed largely to the decrease of delinquency by providing some place for the youths to play during those hours.

The police clubs are planning a campaign to raise $125,000 to open and equip gymnasiums.

"Boys are in prison today because we did not have these clubs," added Capt. Pelletier, who thinks more gymnasiums are the answer to juvenile delinquency.

Euchre Party Held

Mrs. Dave Fisher, 23 Turnbull Street, kindly opened her home to the entertainment committee of the G.I.A., to hold a euchre party, followed by a social success. Ladies' 1st, Mrs. N. D. McNish; 2nd, Mrs. J. Gordon; Gentlemen's 1st, Mr. W. Cordes; 2nd, M. D. McNish.

Refreshments were served bringing an enjoyable evening to a close.

St. Patrick's Tea Held by St. John's Guild

Madoc—On Thursday afternoon the ladies of St. John's Guild held a St. Patrick's tea at the home of Mrs. Ed. Groves. The dining room was decorated in keeping with the day. Shamrocks were plentiful and on the tea-table were green and white streamers, with green tapers in silver candlesticks and fancy green and white candy baskets. A lovely Shamrock as a table centre, added much to the festivities.

Mrs. E. C. Tufts poured tea, while Mrs. Morley Nickle served assisted by Mrs. W. Grey and Mrs. Groves.

The home-cooking table was in charge of Mrs. Sil. Phillips, and the apron table with Mrs. Warren in charge. This is an annual affair by the ladies and was well patronized by the ladies of the village and very successful financially.

WOULD PRESERVE FIRS

Jort Alberni, B.C. — (CP) — George Trandfield will urge the British Columbia government to preserve as park a stand of giant fir trees near here. There are about 100 of the trees, more than 300 feet high and from 36 to 45 feet in circumference.

Holloway W.A. Holds Successful St. Patrick's Tea

A lovely St. Patrick's Day tea was held on Thursday by the W.A. in the church parlors of Holloway Street Church, the entrance of which was decorated with a large shamrock and harp in keeping with the occasion.

On entering the building, the eye was attracted by the green Shamrocks, green and white streamers, and all kinds of symbolic decorations throughout the rooms. Mrs. Norman Meldrum was responsible for the decorations, and her artistic skill was well rewarded by the many pleasing comments.

Mrs. L. Hopkins, convener of the tea, assisted by Mrs. A. Campbell, the president, and Mrs. J. Livesey, received the guests at the door, who were ushered into a beautifully set dining-room, luxurious and inviting with easy chairs, and settees, the glow of floor lamps, soft potted flowers, rocks round about, and were made to feel at home by the graciousness of the hostesses, Mrs. R. Andrews, Mrs. R. M. Weese, Mrs. S. Morton, Mrs. L. Wilkes, Mrs. R. Kilbank, Mrs. Wickett, Mrs. Prentice and Mrs. J. Cordes.

Mrs. A. Lennox, Mrs. J. Grills, Mrs. N. Meldrum and Mrs. D. Ferguson later invited the guests to the tea room, passing through an entrance marked off by white and green streamers, which ended at pedestal upon which was potted Shamrocks.

Artistically Arranged

The tea table was artistically arranged with Spring flowers as centrepiece, flanked on either side with crystal candelabra with green and white candles, and silver appointments, a lovely lace cloth, which was recently purchased by the ladies of the Woman's Association. Those presiding were Mrs. A. I. Frederick, Mrs. G. Dobbs, Mrs. F. Waters and Mrs. L. Reid.

The small tea tables were charmingly arranged with white cloths, and four large Shamrocks place-mats, the centrepiece being a large potato as vase holding real Shamrock leaves.

Those who served were, Mrs. R. McKerrow, Mrs. L. Grills, Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Quinney, Mrs. Wagg, Mrs. Moorman, Mrs. Johns, Mrs. E. Hubbs, Mrs. E. Bush and Mrs. Keogh, with Mrs. W. Oliphant as convener of the tea room.

Those replenishing were, Mrs. F. Jeffery, Mrs. E. Ricketts, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Mrs. O'Neil, Mrs. Edgecourt, and Mrs. Shoebridge.

Those responsible for the attractiveness of the sandwiches and cakes and the excellent cup of tea were, Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Hitchon as convenors, assisted by Mrs. F. Hayfield, Mrs. Ostlinger, Mrs. Hagerman, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Moons.

Dollar Market Directs Design in Paris Show

By BARBARA STEVENSON

Paris, (Reuters)—Disappointment is the keynote of the final analysis by both British, and United States buyers of the Paris Spring fashion shows.

A buyer from one of the most Paris-conscious New York wholesale houses summed up the general opinion when he said: "Simple, romantic and absolutely lovely—but where is the clever twist which makes a model of value to the trade?

"The trade depends on ideas for copying purposes and we need to find ideas for four dresses in one toile (the canvas pattern of the model dress or coat which is sold to buyers for copying.")

Several other buyers, both British and American, said that they are convinced that the Paris of the old days is dead forever unless the fashion designers stop trying to make models to please the dollar market.

Another complaint voiced by buyers is that the various lesser fashion houses today depend upon a few top establishments for inspiration and follow the trends of these instead of designing along independent and original lines.

These complaints apart, materials this season are more lovely than ever, and many crew manufacturers are spending far more time on the famous textile houses than in the salons.

Double Skirts

Dior, top news; man of the world's fashion pages, adopted a double skirt as the outstanding feature of his new season's models. It is a very full top skirt, over a narrow under skirt.

The attractiveness of a Dior model lies in the fact that it was made for him, His overskirt of box pleats, with each pleat slashed from hem to waist, over a narrow skirt of the same material, for example, would, resemble rather a relatively simple dress in an optical illusion —Dior's name for it—in an "off the peg" garment.

In other words, such models as these cannot be copied as they are altered in any way, they lose the Dior touch—and their value to the buyer who wants the model to copy.

Jacques Fath is showing a two-sided collection this season—one to wear, and the other to look at and talk about. See shells and sack-cloth were features of the latter.

Molyneux, who started the double skirt movement two seasons ago, although with such restraint that it passed almost unnoticed, again comes out with fullness over slimness.

His collection has a strong Louis XV flavor, without-sway backs and shirt tails again creating the full over narrow effect. The new directoire line is also present, generally draped in tiers.

Hurricane is the name given to the line created by Schiaparelli, with flutings flowing towards the back. Her top coats are a joy to any traveller—full in the back and caught into the figure in front.

Art on the Table

Some people consider that all salads are just so much greenery, but there is a salad for every occasion as a duty because of those important vitamins. Indeed men have been known to class all salads as "hay" and refuse to eat them accordingly. Others enjoy the crisp coolness and the delicate, yet full flavor of the well made salad. The attitude of the diner depends on the salad maker.

Good salads are harder to achieve in winter and early spring but with a bit of imagination they can be attractive and appetizing to everyone.

Salads containing eggs, beans, cheese, fish or meat are just as satisfactory as and often much more appetizing than the hot, meat and potato meal.

Here are several good salads suggested by the home economists of the Consumers' Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Bean Salad

6 hard-cooked eggs
1-2 cup French dressing
1 tbsp. of grated horseradish
3 cups cooked string beans
Lettuce

Chop eggs very finely, add to dressing, then add horseradish. Pour over beans, let stand 1 hour. Serve on lettuce. Yield: six servings.

Tomato Slaw

2 cups shredded cabbage
1 teaspoon salt
2 tbsp. vinegar
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 tbsp. sugar
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 teaspoon scraped onion (optional)
1 cup shredded cheese

Place cabbage and salt in a bowl. Mix salt, vinegar, pepper, sugar and tomatoes. Pour over cabbage. Let stand 10 minutes to chill and blend. Add cheese just before serving. Yield: six servings.

Parsnip Salad

2 cups grated raw parsnip
2 cups diced apples
(with some of the red skin left on)
1-4 cup diced orange
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 cup French dressing

Toss all ingredients lightly together, adding dressing on lettuce. Yield: six servings.

Albacian Salad

1 lb. fresh young spinach
4 slices bacon
2 tbsp. bacon fat
1 tsp. malt vinegar
1-4 cup French dressing (about)
1-2 tsp. black pepper

Wash spinach thoroughly. Use only the spinach leaves; discard stems. Fry bacon until it is crisp in refrigerator at least one-half hour. Drain fry bacon slowly, pouring off grease as it fries. Add cooked bacon, a tablespoon of the hot bacon fat, vinegar and black pepper. Add French dressing slowly and mix lightly until spinach is well coated. (A quarter of a cup may be too much.) Allow to marinate in refrigerator for 30 minutes before serving. Yield: six servings.

BIG IMMIGRATION YEAR

BAD FLU EPIDEMIC

Cobourg, Ont. — (CP) — Cobourg's experience of the worst flu epidemic in several years, there was no way of officially determining the number of cases, but it made a noticeable dent in attendance at schools and industry.

Women's Activities

The Ivanhoe W.M.S. held a pot-luck dinner and quilting on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Donald Fleming.

The president, Mrs. George Wood, presided over the Worship Service. In the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. A. Wood, read the minutes, and the roll call was answered by a Scripture text of fourteen.

Business was discussed and material was given out for the supply work. It was decided to present to try and get a speaker for the Easter Sunday service, and Mrs. Wood is to be in charge.

Miss Doris Twiddy and Mrs. Charles Keeble were appointed delegates to attend the Belleville Presbyterial to be held in Trenton in April.

Group Leader, Mrs. Harry Lovibond, took charge of the program, and was assisted by Mrs. C. Keeble, and Mrs. A. Wood.

The study book chapter was given by Mrs. Harry Lovibond, and Mrs. A. Wood read a story from the Literature Department. The offering was received and Mrs. S. Twiddy moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality.

During the noon hour birthday greetings were extended to Mrs. Lorne Hagerman by singing "Happy Birthday to You" and to Mrs. W. J. Creasey, who is to celebrate his the following day.

CENTENARY W. A.

The March meeting of the Centenary W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. E. Hart with 21 members present. The president, Mrs. E. Ray, opened the meeting. Several cards and letters were read thanking A. for cards and flowers sent to shut-in members. It was decided that our birthday-box money be used for sending flowers or fruit when members are ill.

Mrs. G. Sills had charge of devotional period. Mrs. J. Shum read the Scripture. Three short poems were read "Little Black Boy" by Mrs. R. Edmondson, "Is Mine" by Mrs. H. Garrison and "Building a Temple" by Mrs. R. Edmondson.

The meeting was then turned over to Y. W. S. L. Secretary.

CENTENARY W.M.S.

Mrs. E. Hart opened her home for the March meeting of the Centenary W. M. S. in the absence of the President, Mrs. G. Silla, was in charge of meeting. Mrs. J. Lawrence and Mrs. E. Hart were appointed delegates for the Presbyterial to be held at Trenton in April. Plans were made for three quiltings, quilts to be put in the bale. A complete layette for bale is being made. An invitation was accepted from Bethesda to visit the April meeting.

Mrs. F. Aikens had charge of Study Book. It was the last chapter of the China program, and was of great importance. This took the form of a "Go You Know" program from which much valuable information was learned about the Christian Church in West China. Mrs. Aikens was assisted by several ladies. At the close of the meeting, E. Hart and assistants served refreshments.

CANADIAN LEGION

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Branch 90, held their regular meeting on Tuesday in the Club rooms, with the President, Mrs. Jeffs, presiding.

Initiation of new members took place, and the different committees gave interesting reports. Some gratifying letters were received from England in acknowledgment for food parcels received. More new names were drawn for more parcels to be sent.

Letters of thanks were also received from members who were sick, and who had been taken care of by the Committee for the Sick. The visit of the Zone representative this month, as well as for the Zone rally which is being held in Belleville in May of this year, was arranged for.

All members were thanked by the president for their co-operation, and requested as many as possible to be present at the social to be held on March 22, which is being sponsored by the Auxiliary in combination with the men's branch.

WALLBRIDGE L.O.B.A.

The regular meeting of Wallbridge L.O.B.A. No. 1168 was held at Wallbridge Orange Hall on Monday evening the 14th, with Sister Margaret Donaldson, W.M., in the chair. Sister Freda Fair presided at the piano.

Sister Evelyn Fox, R.S., read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved and signed.

The roll call showed only one officer, the Chaplain, Sister Muriel Young, absent, because of illness in the family.

Sister Bill, R.W.G.A., Sister Smith, Sister Jones, P.W.M., Sister Bennett, D.M., Sister Wannamaker, D., of C., of Trenton L.O.B.A., were visiting the Lodge. They were presented and welcomed by Sister Margaret Donaldson, W.M.

The draw was won by Sister June Hinchliffe.

Sister Marjorie Woods, Treasurer, read a report of receipts and disbursements, showing the total receipts for the past month to be $144.63. The bank balance as of that date was $267.23.

Sister Margaret Donaldson, W.M., then closed the meeting after which the lunch committee served very delicious refreshments.

Royal Shoes Now on View In Winnipeg

Winnipeg — (CP) — A Winnipeg woman, Mrs. Maurice Still, has presented to the Manitoba Museum here a pair of Prince Albert's dress shoes, worn by the Prince Albert who later became King Edward VII of England.

Mrs. Still inherited the boots, and another small pair of red leather slippers once worn by King Edward, after the death of her aunt, Mrs. Gerald Bulliyant, in London in 1947.

Both pairs of shoes, worn and scuffed-looking, tell tales on the small boy who later became king. Both pairs are six inches long and two inches wide, and an inscription on the soles reveal that the prince was nine years old when he stopped wearing them.

The shoes have squared toes, scuffed at the outside, and though the material is ripped in several places in the soles, the shiny red leather slippers look almost like new with their gold satin lining, hand-stitched in with careful needlework.

In Family 99 Years

The shoes have been in Mrs. Still's family for 99 years. They were presented to Miss Alby Gillet in 1850 by H.R.H. Princess Louise of Prussia, who became Duchess of Connaught when she married Queen Victoria's son Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught.

Miss Gillet, a member of Princess Louise's household, was governess to the royal children.

Miss Gillet gave the shoes to her cousin, Evelyn Gillet, when she married Mrs. Still's grandparent Bryhmer Whelan. Later they were left to Effie Whelan, Mrs. Still's aunt, who married comptroller Bulliyant, master of the King's Choristers at Westminster Abbey and organist at London's famous Bow Church.

When Mrs. Bulliyant died, the shoes were sent to Mrs. Still with a legacy, as part of her share of the aunt's estate.

Although a Chicago fancier who collects famous shoes and once offered to buy the heirloom shoes from her, Mrs. Still felt the royal slippers should be kept in Canada and presented them to the Manitoba Museum for its collection.

How COLDS affect YOUR KIDNEYS

The kidneys are very delicate organs, easily affected, especially by a cold. Their duty is to filter the blood, and when a cold is in the blood. When you have a cold—or any other illness—the blood is filled with poisons to be thrown out. Then the kidneys must work overtime—extra work is thrown upon your kidneys. To help keep the kidneys in good order and to help clear your system of excess acids and poisons caused by colds or other ailments, use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Non-habit forming. Easy to take.

Dramatic Society Presents St. Patrick's Play

Tweed — Capacity crowds gathered at St. Carthage's Auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday nights for the presentation of the three-act St. Patrick's Day comedy "Leave it to the Irish," by St. Carthage's Dramatic Society and directed by Rev. B. J. Walsh.

The play was a laughing one and the players in most cases had a great deal of dialogue to trade. Michael Collins as Dermot (Dermot) O'Toole, a caretaker and private detective had the heaviest role and handled the bulk of the dialogue in his part.

"Dennis Harrington" a wealthy New Yorker played by James Gabourie; "Mademoiselle" remained played by Pauline Champagne, and "Henri" a French chauffeur played by Henry Labelle in a role which contained a good number of laughs.

The second heaviest role, 'Mary Morrow, an American Harrington, daughter of Dennis Harrington, was called upon for some of the most dramatic acting of the piece. Marlene Gehan as Barbara Harrington, another artist of the story much better than more mature players could have done.

Elaine Gehan as "Nora Mullen" an Irish girl was called upon for the most serious role of the piece. Sisela Quinn, as "Ellen Angenbride" a newspaper sweetheart of Derry O'Toole's delivered her lines with the touch that the author intended, and was excellent when he wrote the part.

Frank Champagne had one of the most difficult parts and he probably got more laughs than any other player in the play. Mr. Champagne as "Van Tassel Macmurrough" was excellent in the role. The whole performance was good.

The commentary was given by John Rashotte with Charles Cassidy in charge of lighting, Mrs. F. C. Arbor, decorating; K. Burket the lighting effects. Between the acts Mrs. Gehan sang "Danny Boy" and "Mother Machree" with Miss Champagne at the piano and had the audience in singing of "When Irish Eyes are Smiling." Miss Champagne played the dance number with Mrs. Peggy Allore, piano accompanists.

Tweed—The Marion Coon Evening Auxiliary of St. John's United Church held their March meeting at the parsonage.

Mrs. Emerson Hodgins group was in charge of the worship period with the theme of the worship service was "Thy Kingdom Come" and "United Witness of the Christian World."

Mrs. Mofford Hodgins led the meeting talk to the group on the meaning of Lent and the customs observed during the season.

The meeting closed with Rev. Mr. Slater. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Bush.

St. James' W.A.

The regular monthly meeting of St. James' W.A. was held Monday evening last at the home of Mrs. J. J. Elliott.

Mrs. J. Elliott vice president conducted the opening service, and the scripture reading was given by Mrs. Graham Mouck. After routine business matters were discussed the remainder of the meeting was spent as follows: Reading by Mrs. Ed. Mouck; Mrs. M. McDonald, "Irish Airs" on the piano by Mrs. Ed. Mouck; an Irish solo by Mrs. Geo. Owens and several contests prepared by Mrs. J. Elliott. Prayer by the rector brought the meeting to a close.

St. John's W.A.

Regular monthly meeting of St. John's United Churches Women's Association was held at Church Hall Thursday March 17 in the Sunday School room with a fine attendance. The devotional period was conducted by president Mrs. E. Jordan.

Several matters of business were discussed. It was decided to invite Thomasburg, Bethel, Salmonhide and Actinolite to the Easter meeting. A number of "thank you" cards were read from several people who are in Belleville hospital.

The devotional meeting was read by Mrs. Ralph McGuire. Mrs. McTaggart, Mrs. Ken Fisher and Mrs. Cecil McGuire sang a duet on St. Patrick. Miss Lois Benny sang "A Little Bit of Heaven". The program was arranged by Miss Arthur Albert, leader of 3rd group.

Hi-Y Clubs Hear Frank Follwell At Supper Meeting

"Liberal candidate Follwell was the guest speaker last night at the joint supper meeting of the three Belleville Hi-Y Clubs in the Y.M.C.A. The speaker emphasized the importance of youth taking an interest in politics, so that they could form a more intelligent identification with the political party of their choice, when they become of voting age. He then went over some of the basic points of the Liberal platform and explained why he was a Liberal and why he supported the party's cause.

Lead off speaker's program was part of a self-betterment program planned by the Sr. Club (Alpha Chapter) to hear speakers of the various political parties during the year, to give Hi-Y members a broad picture of the Canadian political scene. Earlier this year at a previous meeting, the Progressive Conservative platform was outlined by Jerry Ryde.

This was the first occasion that all three clubs had met together. The girls' Hi-Y Club and the Beta Chapter (Jr. Boys' Club) have just recently been formed.

School staff advisors of the three clubs are Mr. Grant Country-man, Miss Linnen, and Mr. Anderson. Preses also at the meeting were Mr. Harold Cashmore, mentor of Alpha Chapter, and Mr. Drummond McDonald, program secretary of the YMCA. The three presidents are Keith Ecrine Mills, Ray Scott and Ralph Cornish, as the head table, and Mr. Scott chaired the meeting. Miss E. J. Stanton thanked the chair and the speaker at the evening.

The evening was concluded with the showing of films by Mr. Donald.

Doctor Injured As Car Struck By Mystery Train

Berwick, Pa., March 19 (AP)—Dr. P. H. Gilbert was seriously injured Friday when his automobile was struck at a crossing by a "mystery train" sideslipping tests before being shipped to Air Force bases. Engineers who have seen the train on previous test runs say its cars are shorter and lower than the standard type, with only two wheels rather than the conventional eight. The front end of the train is said to have no wheels but was hooked to the car ahead like a small trailer.

Simonds since has added three years as senior instructor at the Imperial Defence College, London, where chiefs of the three services and a handful of civil servants meet to study major defence problems.

He now respects the Canadian National Defence College will operate similarly, Simonds said. "Senior staff officers and commanders of Canada's Navy, Army and Air Force, destined for high positions, will go there for their final training.

"The future trend of national defence in Canada will be towards closer and still closer cooperation among the three services, and my experience in London should prove useful to me in this respect."

Simonds, whose wife and two children have already returned to Canada will tour Belgium, France and Holland before returning to Canada later via the Pacific to the British Columbia capital where his family is presently living.

He is a veteran of both World Wars, who started as a private and finished as a lieutenant-general. He was also a Rhodes Scholar.

West Allies Must Win 'Cold War', Says Gen. Simonds

By NORMAN CRIBBENT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 19 — (CP) — The western allies are to steal "a shooting war," they say in the "cold war" against Russia, says LT.-Gen. Guy Simonds.

The dark, slim, quiet-looking Simonds who commanded the 2nd Canadian Corps in Italy in the last ops and is shortly to take over command of the National Defence College at Kingston, Ont., told the Canadian Press in an interview:

"Peace can only be preserved if the western democracies take a strong, firm stand.

"Events of the past year have shown that the only way we can avoid a shooting war is to win the cold war; and the cold war involves economic, political and military factors."

Simonds came to England with the rank of major in 1939 and five years later, when only 35, was the youngest Lieutenant - General in the British Commonwealth forces. The quiet, debonair soldier was hailed as one of the World Montgomery's brightest war time "finds."

Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans Enjoy Evening

Members and their wives of the A.N.A.F. Veteran Unit 701, of Belleville and district were entertained at a social evening in their Club rooms, on Thursday last. The evening was spent in dancing to the music of records arranged by Miss Allen and his band, who were given generous applause for their renditions of Irish tunes in commemoration of St. Patrick's Day.

A number of songs were rendered by the group, charming and talented Miss Tracey, of Irish origin, singing "Mother Machree." Tracey favored with "Ave Maria", and "My Wild Irish Rose." Irish humor was also added by Miss Tracey, assisted by Miss Gilchrist, which brought great applause from all present. Much credit is due these young singers, and also to Mrs. A. Galbraith, who accompanied Miss Tracey on the piano.

Mrs. "Eve" Jamie Clarke brought rounds of applause for his rendition of the Old Mill, on his violin solos, which were greatly enjoyed.

During the intermission, a buffet lunch was served to all present, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Appreciation was expressed by the members present to the ones by the newly decorated hall, and lighting system, and to the committee who had given of their time, and efforts for the advantage of the Club as when completed it will benefit all the comrades and citizens of the city.

The evening was in charge of Chairman T.F. Ryan, and the social committee, who are to be congratulated for having a large attendance of members and their wives, also for the capable and satisfactory manner in obtaining a successful and delightful evening.

Prize Winners At Fashion Show Are Announced

The Hospital Auxiliary is very sorry that due to...an oversight, prizes were not available for the beautiful floral pieces carried by the bridal party for the recent Spring Fashion Show. These flowers, as well as those in the large setting, were kindly given by J. S. Barber and Sons, and included the corsage of pink roses and hyacinth blooms with cascading streamers on which were the names of the guests, the baskets of spring flowers carried by the bridesmaids, and the corsage worn by the guests.

The prizes drawn during the afternoon were as follows: Mrs. Halloran, a precision Gruen wrist watch, donated by McFee's Jewelery. Mrs. Bell, a set of dishes, donated by the Walker Hardware. Mrs. Cole, two pairs of nylon hose, donated by J. A. McNeil & Limited; Mrs. McCallum, Sidney — cash prize of $5.00.

The evening prizes were: Miss Jean Flintoft, a Gruen wrist watch, donated by McFee's Jewelers; Mrs. Chadwick, a dutoven, donated by Walker Hardware; Mrs. W. Pettie, two pairs of nylon hose, donated by J. A. McNeil, Limited.

Auto Dealers Hold Meeting At Hotel Quinte

Final meeting of the Federation of Automobile Dealers Association was held last night at Hotel Quinte with members of the various automobile organizations in the district in attendance.

Mr. Pierre Mesnier who is president of the F.A.D.A. gave an interesting talk and expressed his views on the future of the used car business. He said there would be plenty of dealers would keep a steady and cordial union from coast to coast. There would be changes in their friendship or loss union and conditions of dealers. He confident that they will be back in the business very soon.

Mr. Mesnier said, "I do not expect removal of competition from the business but I will not enter into agreement to remove competition. Broken agreements usually ends in broken associations. Statutory laws may help us or we make it pay by reasoning with it. In thinking of public relations we must remember the public care that you notice the customers. Take advantage of every opportunity to giving more time and more service to them."

In closing Mr. Mesnier said, "We need the help of everybody from a seller's market to a buyer's market but the business can be done if we have the confidence now."

Mr. Howard Moore, managing director of the association, also spoke to the members on used car trade.

Other guest speakers were Don Mitchell, manager of the Ontario Auto Dealers Association; Mr. Burwash, president of the Auto Dealers of Ontario, and Frank Patterson of Ottawa.

Prison Guard Held on Charge Of Assisting

Sudbury, March 19 — (CP) — Joseph C. LaPierre, will appear in court on Monday on a charge of trying to assist the escape of a prisoner from the Sudbury jail, Provincial Prison Farm. LaPierre is being held without bail in the Sudbury jail today.

The arrest Friday of LaPierre by Provincial police followed the escape of a prisoner described by LaPierre as a friend. LaPierre's escape attempt, was credited with heading off a break for freedom by at least 40 prisoners, it was disclosed Ontario reform institution.

Police Magistrate Gerald Sudbury magistrate's court and was remanded for one week. He will conduct the reformatory grounds.

In a statement to Mr. Gerald Wright, superintendent of the Prison Farm, LaPierre is said to have admitted giving Jones an impression — in a bar of soap — that he would help him. He gave no reason for assisting Jones, who previously escaped from Burwash in May, 1948, and was free for a month at that time.

Other prisoners in the dormitory section gave brief, brisk, forceful warning of the escape plot and the names of the principals in the plot were immediately moved in, with the help of provincial police, to break up the conspiracy.

Premier Kennedy Confined to Bed

Toronto, March 19 — (CP) — Premier Kennedy of Ontario, confined to bed for the last week with an infection in his face, will not be able to return to the legislature for at least another week, Mrs. Kennedy said Friday. Mrs. Kennedy said he was suffering from a "very painful" infection resulting from a cold.

Manitoba Plans To Hunt Oil, Natural Gas

By The Canadian Press

Manitoba will this year be hunt for oil and natural gas, survey its waterpower resources, expand its transportation and electricity facilities and open thousands acres of new agricultural lands.

The program was revealed Friday in the Manitoba legislature by Resources Minister J. S. McDiarmid, who said it is the largest project of investigation and development ever undertaken in the province. Mr. McDiarmid introduced the 1948-50 estimates of $2,357,243, an increase of 1949 of about $300,000.

He said the province's 1948 mineral production, valued at $26,768,000, was the highest in the province's history. Three new mines were added to the list of producers.

A cut in liquor prices was suggested in the Alberta legislature by Arthur Fair (Soc-SC-Banff-Cochrane). He said during consideration of the budget that he feels that if liquor and beer are made more accessible to the public, their flavor will be lost and fewer people will want to buy them.

Opposition leader Walter Tuck-ett agreed that the Saskatchewan legislature had the "generic Gil Cochrane). He said during consideration of the budget that he feels that if liquor and beer are made more accessible to the public, their flavor will be lost and fewer people will want to buy them.

Opposition leader Walter Tuckett agreed that the Saskatchewan legislature had the "generic Gil" government. The oil company lat-ter discovered Alberta's Leduc field and made other discoveries in that province.

Driven to Alberta

The Liberal leader, speaking on the budget was in committee to discuss 1948-50 estimates of the resources department, said many of the millions of dollars spent on oil exploration in Alberta were driven there from Saskatchewan when the C.C.F. government took office in 1944. He said Alberta gained, and Saskatchewan lost, "a great deal" financially.

Premier Edward Island's Premier J. Walter Jones said in the legislature Friday he probably finish its 1949 sessional business next Thursday night or Friday morning the following day. The House Friday gave final approval to a fisheries bill and to measures amending the town planning act and extending the incorporation of Summerside act. It gave second reading to a bill providing that municipal certificates will be granted in case of emergency after a judge has certified an application. The Ontario legislature Friday considered government and private bills, its three-month session and budget debates completed.

65,232 Ducks Spotted in Jan. Ontario Areas

Toronto, March 19 (CP) — A total of 65,232 ducks were spotted in January over the Provincial Lands and Forests Department covered 15 of the 19 Ontario census areas, it was reported Friday. The largest concentration of ducks, was recorded in the Detroit River and south shore of Lake St. Clair. Tabulators counted 23 species of waterfowl wintering in the province.

Governor-General Says Aggressors Despise Weakness

Riverside, Calif., March 19 (AP) — The Atlantic pact will help to prevent war, Canada's Governor-General, Vincount Alexander, said on his arrival here Friday. "Aggressor nations despise weakness and respect strength," he told reporters. He is en route to Los Angeles, where he will speak next week at the University of California.

Papers Praise Pact

In France rightist and Socialist newspapers said the west had to form a treaty, but the Communist newspaper L'Humanite banner lined its story: "Aggression Against Soviet Published."

British newspapers praised the pact. The Times of London said it would "give the world hope for peace." The Daily Mail said the pact puts a "roof over 300,000,000" persons. The Manchester Guardian lined its story: "Attack One, Attack All." The Daily Graphic carried a headline: "U. S. Will Pour Arms Into Europe."

In Scandinavia, with Norway and Denmark under Soviet pressure to stay out of the pact newspapers splurged the story of the pact's terms.

Even in neutral Sweden, the pact was hailed as a further bold aggressive policies by Russia led to planning of the pact. Another Liberal newspaper, Stockholm Tidningen, cautioned that the pact "means a great change" in Scandinavia.

In Berlin, hub of the cold war, the Communist-licensed newspapers denounced the pact vigorously. Tass in language as "Unlimited power for U. S. aggressors."

Non-Paying Guest Flushed From Hiding

Spring Valley, N. Y., March 19— (AP) — A non-paying guest flushed from his hiding place in a summer hotel Friday where police said he flourished for weeks, living on a diet of liquor and canned goods and sharing with vermin.

Police identified the man as Robert Palley, 45, of New York City, a former employee of the Bader Hotel, which closed since March. He has been closed since last fall.

CRITICALLY WOUNDED

Chicago, March 19 — (AP) — Vera Laplocela, 17, was shot and critically wounded Friday night after an argument with her fiance, Mario Manello, 22, over purchase of a wedding ring. Police said Manello had admitted firing the shot after he and Miss Laplocela argued about increased installments payments on the ring so they could go married sooner.

Marmora Ousts Campbellford In Two Straight

Marmora—Although making a desperate effort for victory, Owen Handy's Campbellford All Stars failed again before the Marmora team on the latter's rink on Wednesday evening and retired beaten by the score of 8-3. This was a more advanced into another round of the O.H.A. Intermediate "B" playoffs.

It was in the Marmora net played another of those fine games which have marked him out as the best goalkeeper in the Trent Valley League. Schmidt, Campbellford's acquisition from Peterboro brought off some striking plays only to be foiled by the Marmora defence or goalie. Although Marmora led by 2-1 at the end of the first period, Campbellford put up a fast pace on the second ice, appeared to be having a little edge on the play. It was different in the second period as Marmora got four counters while Campbellford tested Laverne successfully. The Norwood contribution to the home team was fitting in well with the good play of the Barmora pucksters. In a rally in the third period Campbellford got their final goal but Marmora found the net twice with the first goal being disallowed. Although Keenly contested the game was of a surprisingly clean nature and cheers came from the fourteen hundred fans present for good plays by each team. The Marmora boys now wait with keenness news of the next round in which they will be called upon to play by the O.H.A. The Teams:

Campbellford—Goal, Aquino; defence, Schmidt, Forrester; centre, Desjardine; wings, R. Mason, H. Mason; alternates, W. Hollerew, Wm. Herrington, Robinson, Blake, Moffitt, Tanner, Nelson, Handy.

Marmora—Goal, Iaverne; defence, G. Leonard, E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Lavender, K. Trumble; alternates, McInroy, Goodchild, T. Trumble, Kerr, Nicholson, Payne, Hamilton, Simpson, Webb.

Referee, H. Payne, Peterborough; linesman, T. Giardino, Peterborough.

Contests Between Amateurs of Two Countries Banned

New York, March 19 (CP)—Boxing contests between amateurs from the United States and those from Ontario have been banned by a ruling of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

The A.A.U. ruling prohibits American amateurs boxers from Canada, Ontario, and also bans Ontario amateurs from boxing in the United States.

Reason for the action was what the A.A.U. called violation of amateur rules in the conduct of amateur boxing in Toronto. The A.A.U. said boxers from the United States alleged that the Canadians they fought were paid in cash by the promoter of matches.

The A.A.U. announcement did not mention the promoter by name, but it was learned from Toronto boxing sources that the edict applied to the weekly show promoted by Deacon Allen at Massey Hall.

Two years ago the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada passed a ruling that any boxer appearing on Allen's cards would lose amateur standing. Allen said at that time that the boxers were paid off with merchandise vouchers and did not receive cash.

Art Ross, spokesman said here Friday that the prohibition was applied to the whole province of Ontario in order to spur Ontario fences to exert pressure on the violator in Toronto.

Training Camp Notes

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis Browns lost an exhibition game and two outfielders to Oakland, Calif., Friday night when they bowed 8-3 to Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Fielders Paul Lehner and Dick Kokos of the American League club collided while chasing a fly and both were knocked out. Kokos has a scalp wound and a possible concussion and Lehner got a shoulder sprain.

Billy Cox, Brooklyn Dodgers' "flop" of 1948, is the brightest story at Brooklyn's training camp. Confident of a new-found ability to play third base and eager to make up for his sorry performance last year, Cox is a new man. He is also keen on Burt Shotton, Brooklyn's manager who came back last year to succeed Leo Durocher.

"A man who can't play ball for Shotton can't play for anybody," Cox says.

Billy Johnson, New York Yankees' third baseman, still is looking for his first hit of the season. "The Bull" has gone 16 for 0. Meanwhile, Snuffy Stirnweiss tips his stick nicely in all seven games with 11 hits in 33 tries for a .333 mark.

At Palm Beach, Fla., Dick Fowler of Toronto and Jimmy Wilson held the Memphis Chicks hitless for six innings Friday night as Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Southern Association club 2-1 in an exhibition game. The Chicks tabbed Wilson for three hits and their only run in the ninth. Fowler hurled the first five innings and didn't give up a hit.

Brums, Canadiens Still Battling For Second Place

(By The Canadian Press)

The long National Hockey League campaign that started Sunday on Oct. 19 winds up this weekend. And ten first-round berths are carried right down to the wire with Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens still battling for second place money.

Not until after Sunday's games will pairings be known for the Stanley Cup playoffs which get under way Tuesday. Fourth place Detroit Red Wings have clinched top spot and Toronto Maple Leafs have third. The Detroit will take on the third-place Leafs, Toronto the second-spot club.

The Bruins lead Montreal by a single point and have only one game left to Canadiens' two. If Boston wins their final contest against Toronto in beantown Sunday, then Montreal must take both Chicago and Detroit into camp to overtake the hub squad. The Habitants are at home to the Hawks tonight and close the season at Detroit Sunday night.

In other results Sunday, Detroit plays at Toronto tonight and Chicago and New York, both out of the playoff hunt, clash at Madison Square Garden tomorrow.

The road to second place will be a rocky one for the red - hot Habs.

Chicago, with Roy Conacher and Doug Bentley firing pucks at Bill Durnan tonight, could spoil the Habs a lot of trouble. And tomorrow Canadiens must face Detroit's two crack sharpshooters, Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay, who both have been denting opposing nets with consistency of late.

These two marksmen hold the top four spots in the individual scoring race.

In Toronto yesterday, coach Happy Day of the Leafs said right-winger Harry Taylor probably will dress for the Detroit clash. Taylor has been sidelined for a week with a knee injury.

But the outlook isn't promising for stocky Howie Meeker who broke a bone in his foot a month ago. Day said it was doubtful whether Meeker would see any action in the playoffs.

League Will Not Recognize Pact Made by Players

(By The Canadian Press)

That chummy agreement between Roy Conacher and Doug Bentley of Chicago Black Hawks to split top money awards for N.H.L. high scoring doesn't impress the league's head office and certainly won't impress the income tax collector.

President Clarence Campbell said Friday the league recognizes no such arrangements. So far as the N.H.L. is concerned, it's the first prize money will go to the player with the highest season's points and $500 to the player with the second highest. The cheques will be made out to each man and so reported for income-tax purposes.

Conacher has 68 points, with 26 goals and 42 assists and Bentley 64 points with 23 goals and 41 assists.

The Ontario Travel Department reported Friday that skiing conditions for all parts of the province's sporting centres range from good to excellent.

Best tow hill and bush conditions were reported at Pikris, Collingwood, Haileybury, Haliburton, Huntsville, Owen Sound and the summit at Toronto. Dagmar conditions are good.

A threatened ban by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States against Kermit Kitman of Montreal Y.M.H.A. basketball team has been lifted, Maurice Bruker, Y.M.H.A. physical director announced Friday at Montreal. U.S. authorities said that the fact that Kitman had played professional baseball a few years ago ruled him out of playing in an exhibition game in New York. Bruker said Friday, however, that the A.A.U. now will honor Canadian Amateur Basketball Association travel permits for all Montreal players and that includes Kitman.

At Chicago, thirty-eight present-day anglers, including two Canadians, Friday night received awards as members of the newly founded fishing hall of fame following a poll by the Sportsman's Club of America. The sportsman, who received the awards at a banquet Friday night, were selected by outdoors writers and sportsmen throughout the United States. The two Canadians are Ernest D. Calvert of Rainy River, Ont., and Ernest

Sportsmen's Show Formally Opened By Lieut-Governor

Toronto, March 19. (CP)—The second annual Canadian National sportsmen's Show, now on at coliseum here, combines a Noah's Ark with a trady fair and sets fishermen thinking of the Spring day just ahead when they will again head for the trout streams.

Sponsored by the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association, the show was formally opened Friday night by Hon. Ray Lawson, lieutenant-governor of Ontario.

Habermen literally dreamed of "those far away places" as they gazed at the latest in fishing rods, reels, nets and bait in the many booths.

They were also treated to a display of bait and fly casting, with expert casting 60 feet into a two-foot-air ring in a pool. The casters seldom missed.

The boat displays attracted much attention. Sleek cruisers, sailboats and canoes were shown including Miss Canada III, which holds the world's record of 119.009 miles an hour for gold cup class boats.

Campers, too, came into their own as bed rolls, tents and pack sacks were exhibited.

For the women, there is a fashion show three times daily, displays of Indian and Eskimo life and demonstrations of cooking utensils.

Perhaps the highlight of the show, which will run eight days, was the two-hour stage and tank show headed by a trained seal known as "sharkey."

Ewell Blackwell Is Big "if" of Cincinnati Reds

Tampa, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Ewell Blackwell is the big "if" of Cincinnati Reds' hopes in their first training season under manager Bucky Walters.

Little hope for improvement in the Reds' seventh-place finish of last season can be seen unless the ailing Blackwell, who reported some 18 to 20 pounds underweight in camp, is a semblance of his 1947 form.

This and ground after undergoing a serious kidney operation as recently as Jan. 20. Blackwell probably won't be able to take on the mound for several weeks. He's sure he'll be as good as ever.

It was Blackwell's arm trouble dimming his record from 22 victories in '47 to a pool '7-7 season last year, that ruined the Reds and forced Johnny Neun to retire as manager. When he failed the ball club walked down.

Walters is trying to protect the Reds against another Blackwell disaster.

His plans involve younger pitchers—fellows like Harry Perkowski who won 22 at Tulsa, Rod Lively, who had a 15-6 mark for the same Texas League club and Eddie Erault, the fireballer with a victory year at Syracuse to recommend him.

Behind Blackwell as the No. 1 man, the Reds will rest their pitching hopes on Johnny Vander Meer (14-6) Howie Fox (6-5), Herm Wehmeier (11-8) Ken Raffensberger (11-10) and Kent Peterson (11-9).

Catching Weak

Catching was a weak spot for Cincinnati last year with the club crippled all season after Ray Mueller broke a leg in an early game. Mueller is back and so is Ray Lamanno, Buddy Rosar has joined by Homer (Dizie) Howell, former Dodger and Pirate.

Ted Kluszewski, the man with Lou Gehrig's mannerisms and power, is at first, will play first base. Red Stallcup at short is a fixture with second a battle between Jimmy Bloodworth, back for another try in the big show after a .294 year at Montreal, Bobby Adams and Ben Zienlara.

Porcupine Takes Stranglehold on Northern Series

Sudbury, March 19. (CP)—Porcupine Combines took a strangle-hold on the Northern Ontario Hockey Association junior A title here Friday night with a 1-0 victory over Falconbridge Combines. The win gave the Porkies a 3-1 lead in the best-of-five series and a chance to settle the issue in the fourth game here tonight.

Right-winger Gord McGinn, taking a relay at the net mouth from defenceman Albert Pilsbury, scored the winning goal early in the third period. Both teams were ranked goalie Leon Antonienzi with 40 second remaining to play but six forwards couldn't get the equalizer.

BANK SHORTENS FARMERS' HOURS

Low-Cost Loans Make Farming Easier

New labor-saving devices, new farm machinery and new appliances, designed to shorten work-hours and lighten chores, are now appearing on the Canadian market. With them are coming such modern comforts and conveniences as inside plumbing, the running water, new stoves, machines and other devices to lighten the housewife's burden.

Many of these improvements have already found their way to Canadian farms and homes. The Bank of Montreal has played an important part through its farm improvements loans in making this power-saving equipment immediately available. If the problem is one of financing it, preventing you from getting your share, a B of M loan at low interest rates may be the solution.

Henry Becker, manager of the Bank of Montreal, will be glad to review your plans with you. He will show you, in plain figures, exactly what is meant when he says, "When you ask for a loan at the B of M, you go not ask a favor."

Treasure Isle Hides its Loot

In 1821 the city of Lima, Peru, was in a panic. Simon Bolivar, the George Washington of South America, was defeating the Spanish armies in the north while José San Martin was moving his army of liberation down the western slopes of the Andes toward this capital and administrative centre of South America. Joe William Curren writes in The Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Gateway Centre

No more than that, Lima was a shipping centre for all the gold and silver from the Peruvian mines. Normally one of the richest cities in the Americas, it was crowded with fleeing land owners, civil officers and church dignitaries, who brought gold, silver and jewels estimated at $80,000,000. Panic-stricken, with little faith in the royal troops assigned to protect them, they were desperate in their desire to save their treasures.

A short distance away, in the port of Callao, lay the Mary Reade, a brig commanded by Capt. Thompson of the British merchant marine. Spanish authorities decided to ship the treasure to safety under the British flag and the $80,000,000 worth of wealth was loaded under a Spanish guard.

The brig had scarcely cleared before the captain and the crew, realizing the wealth they carried, decided to take it over. They murdered the Spanish guards and threw the bodies overboard.

Cocos Island

Thompson realized that $80,000,000 in treasure was too much to bring into any port. It was decided to bury the treasure, and the Mary Reade put about for Cocos Island, 370 miles west of what is today Costa Rica. Anchor was dropped in Chatham Bay on the northeast corner of the island.

The treasure was taken ashore, concealed in a cave and its mouth hidden by a boulder.

Crew and captain sailed away, but a few weeks later the frigate Espejela captured the Mary Reade and the entire crew, except Thompson and one companion, was promptly hanged for piracy. The two were spared on condition that they disclose the treasure's hiding place.

Taken ashore on Cocos Island to find the cave, they broke from their guards and hid in the jungle. The crew of the Espejela spent some time in pursuit, but finally gave up and left.

Gave Friend Map

Thompson and his companion were there for several weeks until a whaler put into the bay for water. Both men were in poor physical condition when rescued, and on the return trip Thompson companion died. Thompson went to the home port of the whaler in Newfoundland, where he lived for several years. Dying, he gave a close friend named Keating a map of the buried treasure with oral instructions.

In 1841, just 20 years after the crew of the Mary Reade seized the treasure, Keating reached Cocos Island with Capt. Boag of the brig Edgecomb. They found the cave without trouble, but the crew mutinied and Keating and Boag took to the jungle.

Since the pair had visited the cave alone, the crew didn't know where to look for the treasure. The mutineers finally sailed away.

Keating and Boag remained on the island for several months and, when another whaler finally put in for water, only Keating was alive. He told so many conflicting stories about Boag's death that he was suspected of having murdered the captain. Back in Newfoundland, he tried to raise funds for another expedition. His attempts were unsuccessful.

436 Expeditions

Since that day more than 436 expeditions have sought the treasure. Although they had the Thompson map they lacked the necessary oral instructions, for Keating died without revealing the key to it. Thousands of dollars have been spent in the search and all sorts of scientific equipment has been used. Many men wasted a lifetime in the search

Association Aids Amputation Cases To Meet Handicap

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

Cleveland — (AP) — What would be your reaction if you had just lost a leg or an arm?

Most persons describe the physical and mental shock as terrific. Help and encouragement are needed before life again looks worthwhile.

Because this feeling is common among amputees, an unusual organization has sprung up here to give them a helping hand.

It is called Possibilities Unlimited, and in many ways it is similar to Alcoholics Anonymous. In the latter, those who have been cured of drinking help those who want to be cured. In Possibilities Unlimited, those who have made adjustments help new and other amputees who found the going tough.

It was started five years ago by George Krueger, now the owner of a furniture and appliance store, to aid war veterans who, like himself, had lost legs. The veterans thought it was a fine idea, but insisted that civilian amputees also be admitted.

The organization now has about 1,000 members, with about half of them in Cleveland. Other chapters are in Youngstown, O., and Columbus, O. Amputees all over the world have indorsed the program, and have been accepted as members.

When the group learns of a new amputee, it sends out a member with the same amputation. The member shows how he has met the handicap and offers the service of the organization. In most cases it is welcomed.

"The new amputee must first get over the terrible psychological shock that strikes him," Richard F. Clark, secretary of the group and also an amputee, explains. "Then he must be taught to do for himself as others have learned. Later, help is given in securing a proper appliance(artificial limb.)"

New Jobs Found

If the amputee is unable to go back to his old job, an effort is made to find a suitable one. Last year 43 persons were placed here.

One 24-year-old army veteran had lost both arms. Although receiving a government pension, he wanted a job. Too proud to make a public appeal, he was ringing doorbells and in the depths of despair when Possibilities heard of him. Now, thanks to the organization, he is happily employed in an engineering office.

The teaching of simple things like how to tie a tie or light a cigaret often solves problems that have bothered some amputees for years.

Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, who lost part of one leg in an artillery accident while serving with the marines, is a member of the club's board of trustees.

He also held down first base on Possibilities' softball team when it played the Youngstown chapter here last summer.

Other activities include a bowling league, a golf tournament, dances, swimming and parties. At club headquarters, members can relax in a comfortable lounge or practise walking in a prosthetic room. Ramps and other obstacles are provided.

Financed entirely by public contributions, Possibilities received $10,720 in donations last year. All of the funds are used for activities to help amputees. No direct financial assistance is given.

The spirit of the members is typified by their motto: "It's not what you have lost. It's what you have left."

NEW DODGE
DELUXE and SPECIAL DELUXE MODELS

PERFORMANCE — The powerful Dodge L-Head engine has fewer moving parts to wear — is easier to adjust and keep in adjustment. Its amazing smoothness originates with the unique 3-point Floating Power engine suspension.

ROOMY COMFORT — The famous Dodge Floating Ride is smoother than ever. Now, longer 118½ inch wheelbase further improves the Dodge "cradled-between-the-axles" ride — allows ample head and leg room front and rear.

VISIBILITY — You get a wide view of the road through the new higher, wider windshields. Glass area is 17% greater. New, more efficient wipers sweep 61% more glass area. Defroster vents cover the whole windshield width.

THE BEAUTIFUL NEW Dodge DeLuxe and Special DeLuxe models are cars you will want to see, own and drive. They're new . . . modern as tomorrow . . . with natural beauty that flows from true automobile design. There's more elbow room, leg room and head room . . . greater visibility . . . plus an amazingly s-m-o-o-t-h ride.

Get behind the wheel! You'll appreciate the many improvements that add to the Dodge reputation for Dependability, Economy, Roomy Comfort and Smooth Riding. The famous Dodge Floating Ride is even quieter and more restful because of heavier insulation, new rubber body mountings, improved springing, new "sea-leg" shock absorbers.

You'll like the power and economy of the 97 h.p. L-Head engine . . . and the many "extra" economy features such as an oil filter, flooting oil intake and self-cleaning fuel filter in the gas tank, which are standard equipment. These new cars start easier, stop faster, you can see over the hoods; you can get in and out with ease.

See these great new cars today at your local Dodge-DeSoto dealer's showroom. Compare them feature by feature with other cars in their price class . . . then drive them and you'll agree that they are the outstanding automobiles in the low-price field.

Bobby Locke Will Compete in Canadian Open

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

It's official. Bobby Locke, South Africa's gift to the golfing world, will compete in the Canadian Open at St. George's Golf Club, Toronto, June 23.

The question was answered Thursday by Vincent Richards of New York, Locke's manager, who told The Canadian Press that the South African would be a definite starter in the Dominion's annual golf classic.

After Prize Plums

Bobby, 1947 winner of the Canadian Open and six tournaments in the United States, arrived in New York the other day and shotmakers have been wondering since if he would be off in Canada's big event.

Bobby apparently can't resist the game's prize plums in North America. In 1947 and 1948 (he didn't enter the Canadian Open last year) he pocketed nearly $50,000 in prizes and returned to his native country for attractive exhibition tours.

Good Luck, Stuke

Toronto will wish a hearty "good luck" today to Annis Stukus when he pushes off for Edmonton to take over his coaching job with the Eskimo Football Club. And don't be surprised if Big Stuke hits the "Gateway to the North" with a couple of "Gazelle boys" in tow.

Since his appointment a few weeks back, Stuke has been tipped off by well - wishers on several boy football prodigies. Nearly every hamlet from Toronto to Edmonton has a kid in his 'teens, height six-nine, weight 230 who can do the hundred in nine-six." Stuke said good-naturedly before he left.

He's going to make a "couple of stopovers" en route west but he isn't saying where.

Stuke's assistant was delayed a few days through illness of his father, injured in an automobile accident.

His wife, Doris, and nine-year-old daughter Suzanne will join Annis in May.

Like a Loser

So, Chicago Black Hawks are "amazed" because 491,463 home-town fans watched the Hawks flounder around in the bottom half of the National Hockey League standing this season.

The Hawks have been clinging like a limpet to the keel of the league standing the last three seasons and Chicago fans follow them as if they were world champions. Hawks have failed practically everybody but the gateman and the only clicking they've done is at the turnstiles.

Two seasons back, when Chicago finished last, 500,681 customers — the largest gate in the six-team group — paid their money to watch them. Last season, 491,-584 fans, still the top attendance figure in the league, saw them get nowhere.

If Chicago comes up with a winner one of these years, they'll probably transfer the ice surface to Comiskey ball park to accommodate the hockey-wacky Chicagoans.

Standing Room May be Sold Out For Senior Game

Toronto, March 19. (CP)—Even this afternoon when Toronto Marlboros and Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen clash in what could be the deciding game in the battle for the Senior A championship of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Two special trains, 30 chartered buses and scores of private motorcars will bring an estimated 5,000 Kitchener-Waterloo fans to see the action. Ticket-hungry Torontonians were telephoning the twin cities Friday for dockets while a crowd of more than 4,000 milled about the box-offices of the Maple Leaf Gardens.

A win for Toronto this afternoon would give them the series. If they lose the decision will be fought out at Waterloo Monday night.

Dukes took the first three games in the best-of-seven series, each by one-goal margins. The Dutchmen then bounced back with two wins, the last by a decisive 7-3 score.

Bobby Bauer, star centre performer for Kitchener, may be left at home with a bad case of influenza. Even if he does play team officials don't expect him to be at peak form.

Joe Primeau's youthful Dukes will be strengthened by the addition of defenseman Hugh Bolton and forward Lorne Pirie from the Junior Marlboros. They are replacing Alex Davidson who is ill.

ROCKETS READY

The tempering Rockets champing on the bit, fit and ready to go to the playdown barrier tonight against the smooth Upper Canada College sextet. The Rocks feel they can take this one for their fifteenth straight win and are looking forward to gambling their stuff in Maple Leaf Gardens come Tuesday next. The team is in good shape and have been put through some stiff workouts by Coach Ken Mosdell preparing for the first-round battle.

Rockets management anticipate a large Saturday night crowd. The juniors deserve a little better support than has been accorded them in the past and tonight it is hoped, a sell-out crowd will see the kids go through their paces. U.C.C. comes here with an enviable reputation and the game should be a fine exhibition of hockey. Promotion on the college squad is young Mr. Hewitt, son of Foster Hewitt, the well-known hockey announcer at Maple Leaf Gardens. Game starts at 9 o'clock.

MAY NOT PLAY

Word comes from Manager Percy Gray of the Marmora Mldgets who have fought their way to the OMHA Midget "C" finals, that a number of his half-dozen warriors are battling with Old Man Flu and it is altogether likely the game scheduled with Fergus in Marmora tonight will be postponed. It is not definite yet as this is being written, but final word will likely arrive before the "baby goes to bed."

A FINE GESTURE

And speaking of Marmora, chief among the good characteristics of the villagers of that thriving community is loyalty to its own. They're solidly behind the gallant little band of pacemakers who are endeavoring to bring the first championship to their native village and to Hastings county.

Marmorians, it appears, don't feel when they set their minds on an objective. Personal matters are placed in the discard and everybody goes all out for the common cause. This was never more demonstrated by what happened this week. Some of the good butchers ("[illegible]") took it upon themselves to start a fund to assist the midget hockey team with transportation problems. A few cards were tossed in the hat to start the ball rolling and in less time than it takes to gargle a ten cent beaker of suds, the chapeau was overflowing with the long green letters with the silky rustle, half-dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and a flock of coppers.

Everybody dug deeply into their jeans. Women scraped the bottom of the sugar bowl or wherever they keep the family funds, and a consistent stream of diners flowed into the community hat. In no time the pot "swole" to a huge size and within a few short hours after the first half-buck was flipped into the fund the sum of $70 was realized.

But don't rig yet. That is not all. The good ladies of the village chapter of the I.O.D.E. had an idea. They made themselves a beautiful cake, such as never has been seen in the history of the community. They put themselves to tickets and sold them with the cake the prize. A very short time after this venture took place the gals (God bless 'em) handed the fine sum of $85 in the team management. That, me hearties is community spirit of the finest nature, and the good people of Marmora are to be commended on their fine gesture. It leaves a fine taste in one's mouth to hear of things like this.

NYLONS TAKE ON PETES

Kingston Nylons, proud conquerors of our defiated, derelled Diesels, take on the flying Peterborough Lepreuniares in their quest for the Senior "B" title. The teams clash in Peterborough tonight in the first of the best of three series with the second game scheduled for Kingston on Tuesday night. This battle should be one for the books as both squads favor the wide-open hard-checking style of play. Both possess plenty of speed and hockey cunning and the locals should be it acked with an outstanding brand of the winter sport. A run ner of Belleville fans intend seeing the game in Kingston.

PROTEST

A Kingston story has it that Diesels will protest the Nylons series on the grounds that Udall and Keith did their puckwork with the Kingston Aces. The story also states that Secretary George Panter of the OHA gave Nylons full permission to use the players. Diesels officials could not be reached for comment today before going to press.

Toronto, March 19 (CP)—Canada's curling champions — the Manitoba team skipped by Ken Watson of Winnipeg—toasted some darn good games at the recent bonspiel at Hamilton but to slide-rule expert Ralph (Toronto Telegram) Allen they were still far away from the "perfect game."

Allen took time out to figure the odds against a four-man rink throwing a perfect game. He wore his pencil down to a stub but claims that it's 1,048,576 to 1 against a rink being perfect with the 96 rocks it has to throw in a 12-end game.

"Even conceding that a top curler is apt to make four perfect shots out of five," adds Ralph.

Still mathematically minded, Allen delved a little deeper into the chances of a rink getting the theoretical "perfect" game.

"Curling 100 games a season ...even a rink as good as the Watsons would be slightly more than 10,000 years old before it turned in a flawless performance. No rink can be curling perfectly when it either gives up counters than one point on any end or permits the other side to score without the help of the last rock."

What's Perfect Score?

Down to his last pencil, Ralph wondered what the score would be if both teams carried the perfect game.

"Maybe 7-6 on the 13th end, with the rinks scoring alternate singles on last rock?" ventures Allen. "Or maybe 1-0 in 12 ends, with the rink that started out with last rock deliberately blanking the first 11 ends to make sure it had last rock coming home."

Hall of Fame

There's still plenty of room in hockey's "Hall of Fame" at Kingston, Ont., suggest Jack (London Free Press) Park, so why not slip a couple of reminders into the shrine?

With two reminders already in the "hall" Jack thinks that there should be more. He notes both goalies—the immortal Vezina and Charlie Gardiner — are dead.

Jack's suggestion to the governors: "You could start off with Hainsworth. We know he is still very much alive, and he was a dandy in his day."

Our Number-One Predator, the Cat

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

Noted Sportsman, Author and Curator of Selmar Tables

Last year, along about this time, we had in our back yard a group of sturdy winter numbers—ing about fifty strong. As birds go they weren't such a choice selection—sparrows and starling mostly, with a scattering of snow birds or junco—but they were birds, our normal winter residents, and we enjoyed seeing them come to our feeding shelf. Not only that, but they served as publicity agents to boost the migratory species with the coming of spring.

A wild rabbit had taken up residence under the safe protection of our side garage and during there was a fresh supply of pint-size bunnies that vanished in all directions in the headlights of the car.

The Neighbor's Cat

Then one of the families near us acquired a grown cat and one of her kittens. In less than a week's time our little diaspora—ed, our feeding shelf was deserted, and our rabbits have either been caught or have moved to safer quarters. Regretfully our supply of bird feed has been relegated to the garbage can.

I don't believe that these two cats have caught many of our birds. The feeding shelf is about four feet from the ground and does not provide good hunting conditions. Regardless of that, the birds simply will not stay around if there are cats in the neighborhood.

Neither, for that matter, will rabbits and squirrels. Our little friend who used to show up every morning for his daily handout of nuts has been seen only once since the two cats moved into the neighborhood and that time at the front door, where he felt he was safer.

For the life of me, I can't understand why our state, county and municipal legislation is so inadequate with respect to cats. Every year I must buy licences for my two dogs. Since they are hunting breeds, I am prohibited by law from taking them with me into the country during the nesting season and the summer months.

Not until after August 20th can I give them any field training in preparation for the hunting season unless I drive to some specified areas, not convenient to my home, which have been designated for that purpose. Should one of them be found chasing deer, the law states that he can be shot by the warden who sees him doing so.

No Restrictions

On the other hand, cats are allowed to roam where they please for twelve months of the year. A cat owner can own all the cats he or she cares to have, with never a thought of licence fees.

To be sure, some cats are active mousers, but for every one of these there are ten who disregard rats and mice in the barn but who are active hunters in the field, an very able ones too, there population is done largely at night and the damage they do annually to our song birds and our supply of small game is incalculable.

If a cat is found stalking, desirable cats should be licensed, just as dogs are, and the unlicensed ones should be exterminated. You know what happens to unlicensed dogs—they are picked up by the dog catcher, taken to the pound and, after a certain number of days, placed in the gas chamber. Yet cats are permitted to run free in unlimited numbers, unhampered by laws of any kind.

I know of one family that owns a big, husky tomcat. These folks have their summer home about ten miles from town on the bank of a large trout stream. When they move into their summer quarters the cat, of course, "goes with them. From the moment of his arrival he begins to hunt.

Proud of Cat Hunter

Rarely does a day pass that he does not bring in a bird, a rabbit or a baby woodchuck. And, to help me, his mistress is quite proud of him and boasts of his ability as a hunter. It isn't as though this cat has to hunt for food. He is well fed at home. He simply hunts for the fun of it. Unfortunately there are a great many like him.

Not all cats are "domestic" by any means. A great many of them revert to the wild state. These sometimes attain unbelievable size and they are, without question, the most damaging predators in our forests.

We have been lucky enough to "liquidate" a few of these and any one of them would make two of the ordinary tabby. One we shot last year, at least three miles from any habitation, tipped the scales at twenty-one pounds.

While we do not go in for cat hunting as a sport of itself, we do carry with us suitable guns to take care of any hunting cats that we happen to see on our way to and from trout fishing.

Active in Nesting Season

Spring is the nesting season and it is then that the active hunters do most of their damage. Thus, any cat that we find "out of bounds" is quite apt to get its comuppence.

We try to be fair about this. We don't shoot down farm tabbys who are playing around home, minding their business. But when we find one a half a mile or so from the nearest habitation the only possible conclusion is that it is an active predator and, as such, is subject to elimination.

Two friends of mine, one of them a warden, have taken up cat hunting as an avocation of sorts. They do their hunting at night in an automobile. These periodic forays are carefully planned and they use the Solunar Tables as their guide.

Experience has taught them that cats respond to the Solunar Periods just as readily as other creatures. Thus, their trips are planned to coincide with the Solunar Periods and they tell me that their average "take" has been multiplied by at least four since they have used the Solunar Tables as a guide to their activities.

Whether or not you may believe in shooting hunting cats, it you do much country driving you will find it interesting to check up on the number of cats you see along the roadside during Solunar Periods and at other times.

Sense Activity Periods

These animals sense the arrival of the activity periods and their instinct tells them that those are the times that small creatures will be abroad and that hunting should be good. For that reason they, too, are out along the roads, seeking any luckless creature that they happen to find.

In connection with a great many sportsmen, even the hunting cats have learned that it pays to keep track of the daily Solunar Periods.

BCI Basketeers Edge Albert By 26-20 Score

By J. F.

Outstanding teamwork, aided by expert ball handling and rapid passing, paid off for B.C.I. as Y.M. Seniors on Thursday at B. C. I., when they crushed their arch rivals, Albert College, by a 26-20 count.

The two teams battled each other furiously throughout the entire forty minutes, but B. C. I. proved to be the better squad, as they unleashed a powerful offensive, while they thwarted many an Albert attack with tireless checking. The teams fought to an 8-8 draw in the first quarter, and were deadlocked 16-16 at the half. However, in the third frame, B. C. I. showed a marked superiority by hooping five baskets while restricting Albert to three points — all on foul shots. B.C.I. lost the services of guard Tom Buchanan when he incurred five fouls near the end of the period, but the flying Red Shirts did not weaken in the final frame. The five players that coach "Red" Townsend used until the end of the game never relinquished the lead, although Albert on one occasion crept to within three points of them.

Al Galbraith of B.C.I. starred both on offense and defence. He seemed to be all over the floor breaking up Albert plays, while gaining top honors in scoring with 10 points. Johnny Merkley played a fine game for the Albert hoopsters, scoring nine points.

The teams:

B.C.I.: MacMillan (3); Buchanan; Lepore (2); Sommers (6); Galbraith (10); Pappas, Ketchson (5); Dudley; Scott; Burke.

Albert College: Buchanan (3); Miller; Perry (1); Palmer; Hayman (6); Utting; Merkley (9); Showers; Gillespie (3); Yates; Dewar.

LOOK AT THE GREAT NEW Plymouth! AND COMPARE

PLYMOUTH SPECIAL DE LUXE FOUR-DOOR SEDAN including Special Equipment . . .*

COMPARE PLYMOUTH FOR STYLE... RIDE... ROOMY COMFORT... SIZE!

BIG CAR POWER

Plymouth engine improvements include higher horsepower (97), higher compression rating, automatic choke, better fuel delivery, smoother engine warm-up, longer spark plug life.

BIG CAR COMFORT

With longer wheelbase, better cradling of passengers, improved springing, chair-height seats and many interiors, Plymouth gives you "big car" comfort.

BIG CAR VISION

Increased vision for greater safety 1/3 larger windshield, 1/3 larger rear window. More efficient windshield wipers with over 51% greater sweep.

Compare the new Plymouth! You'll find its styling smart . . . and functional too! Plymouth styling allows ample head, leg and shoulder room in both front and rear seats. It provides wide-angle vision for greater safety. Its doors permit easy entrance and exit. Plymouth's stylish "trunk back" allows a spacious luggage compartment. Its fender openings permit easy servicing of tires and the quick application of chains, when necessary. Plymouth's functional styling retains fenders, so that with Plymouth a minor scrape does not mean a major repair.

Compare the new Plymouth for comfort! Plymouth's body is more dust-proof and is rust-proofed for a longer, brighter life. Its longer, 118¼" wheelbase allows passengers to be seated even farther ahead of the rear axle, for greater comfort. Note Plymouth's roomy interior . . . its rich, Fashion-Tone upholstery . . . its comfortable chair-height seats. Try them! Lounge back and s-t-r-e-t-c-h . . . you'll like their comfort.

Compare the new Plymouth's ride! Better insulation and softer rubber body mountings minimize road noises. Its soft-acting coil front springs, airplane-type shock absorbers and low-pressure, Super Cushion tires all contribute to its incredibly smooth, relaxing ride.

Compare Plymouth! . . . outside, inside and under the hood! When you do, you'll agree that PLYMOUTH brings you more of the things you really want in an automobile.

Sidney Team Hits Allan Cup Trail Monday

Sydney, N.S., March 19 — (CP) — Sydney Millionaires, Maritime senior hockey champions, hit the Allan Cup trail Monday. This steel city figures they'll get by at least the first milestone — which is more than they did last year.

Millionaires, who missed the Allan Cup by one goal in 1941, open a best-of-five series against Pembroke Lumber Kings here. Last year they were knocked out in the first round by Renfrew Lions.

Maritimes haven't had an Allan Cup team away since 1935 when Halifax Wolverines beat Port Arthur Bearcats. Millionaires came within a whisker in 1941. In a best-of-five final they beat Regina 6-6 and 5-3 but the next game was tied 1-1. That one Regina goal did the trick. The Western club went on to take the next three games 6-4, 5-3 and 3-0.

The name Millionaires is a famous one in Maritime hockey. Back in 1913, when the old Maritime professional league was functioning, Sydney reached the Stanley Cup playoffs only to be knocked out by a great Quebec club that carried, among others,

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Some bridge questions catch me in a cross-fire. My decision is based only on the facts presented. Sometimes this kicks back with a set of new evidence as if I should have known it.

See the pair of hands shown here:

SOUTH
♠ J 2
♣ 10 9 7 4 3

NORTH
♠ A K 8 7 4 3
♣ A K 2

The north hand only was sent to me with this bidding:

South	North
1 D	3 S
3 D	4 S
4 D	4 NT
5 H	6 S

In answer to four no-trump, five hearts is Ehlitzer convention signal for showing one ace and only one king. This was the advice that prompted north to go slam.

At the time south wrote: "When I showed him only one ace and one king, don't you think north should have stopped at five spades? He knew by then we were missing an ace and a king."

My answer was: "It is, of course, possible to lose two tricks in one of the red suits. From the south bidding, however, north has learned enough to warrant the slam try."

Now they send me the south hand, too. With it they point out that the spade small slam is dictated by two tricks. As if to show that my decision to go slam was unsound.

Well, of all things. Take a look at the south hand and match it with the bidding sent me. My first answer was the same. My second question—that the south bids were correct.

But look at the south hand. In the first place he did not have a sound opening. Nor enough for a redid in diamonds. Nor enough for an assist in spades. Now they tell me.

LEGALIZES PROSTITUTION

Carson City, Nev., March 13 — (AP) — On the final day of the session the Nevada Legislature Thursday passed a bill to legalize red light districts. The action apparently was the legislature's answer to a court decision last week classifying houses of prostitution as public nuisances. The legislature's hectic attempts to pass of prostitution from the public nuisance law if they have been licensed by local communities

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 13 —(AP)— When a reporte... interviews a press agent, that should be news.

Press agents — known by their own dignified term as publicists — are more vulgarly as flacks, drumbeaters, tub-thumpers, bornfooters or barb-artists — are the guys who try to get you in to see a movie.

Lately Hollywood has been watching one of the most effective publicity campaigns since Jane Russell and the search for Scarlet O'Hara. It concerns a low-budget picture called "Champion."

It hasn't even been seen by the public, but already it has (1) become one of the most talked-about films in recent years; (2) won a $1,000,000 contract for Warners for its star, Kirk Douglas; (3) landed a long-term deal with Goldwyn for its director, Mark Robson.

For insight into this important phase of the industry, I sought out the campaign's creator, shubby, baldish George Glass, a Krupa among movie drum-beaters.

"This campaign was an 'inside-outer'" he confided via the phone from New York. "It is a dangerous type because you have to be sure what you're selling will go over."

Private Showings

"When the picture was over, I arranged for private showings to important people. They liked the film and estimated their friends. This sort of thing is catching and soon everybody was talking."

This is unlike the usual publicity campaign, which is known as "mass penetration." That means that press releases by every kind of ammunition at all mediums: newspapers, magazines, radio and so on — with the hope that some of the pellets will hit the target: the movie goer.

"Overselling is becoming more and more dangerous," said Glass. "The public is getting too sharp. You can't tell them something is colossal and stupendous when it's merely terrific."

Don't get the idea that Glass goes in merely for quiet campaigns. He's the guy who took the 12 inhabitants of Zanda, Ont., to the New York premiere of "Prisoner of Zanda." He also put the catchy anti-female comments into the mild - mannered lad who was playing a rake in "Bel Ami."

Mr. Sanders consulted a psychoanalyst shortly thereafter.

P. S.: The picture flopped.

U.S. SHUNTING ENGINES CARRY RADIO-PHONES

London, March 13 (Reuters)—Shunting engines in one of Britain's largest railway yards at Whitemoore, Cambridgeshire, now carry radio-telephones to speed the marshalling of the 3,000 cars handled daily.

FREIGHTER LOSES ITS WAY.

Sea Bright, N.J., March 19 — (AP)—The 7,126-ton American freighter Christian Bergh lost its way in a heavy snow and wind storm and ran aground on the beach here Friday. None of its crew of 37 was injured as the vessel rammed on to the beach, narrowly missing a sea wall.

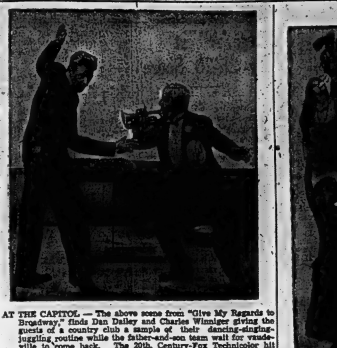
FIND BURIED CASTLE

Port Talbot, Wales — (CP) — Archaeologists believe they have found the ruins of a Norman castle or monastery near the buried city of Kenvig on the Margam Moors in Glamorganshire. Dredgers working at a depth of 20 feet in sand dunes threw up stones of apparent antiquity, and on close examination it was found an old building was there.

VOTE ON 'D. S.' ON WATER BILL



Timmins, March 13 — (CP)— Residents here will vote soon on acceptance of daylight saving time again this year — via the water bill. Town clerk Vic Salaman said the March water accounts will have a ballot mimeographed on them, and all the householder has to do is mark the "yes" or "no" slots.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

ly true of my per cent of the country, but to quote Bindoo the er you're the one or if you're the other. Well, stop me any time,

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a Saturday walk with pop, ad I said, G, pop, here comes Admiral Tricker, shall we cross the street?

No, I'll stay and take my punishment, but if he fires any statistics at me, he'll find me a desperate man, pop said.

And Admiral Tricker stopped to shake hands with him as usual, saying. This country aint what it used to be.

Maybe it never was, pop said, and Admiral Tricker said, Statistics prove that there's 23 per cent fewer home owners than there raher than the statistician, and in the words of Sweedtrom the Swede, they be wide awake big delling. For the roof ill be leeking, the pipes will be smelling..

And taxes, Admiral Tricker said. According to the latest figures, 94 per cent of he population are forced to hand out 42 per cent higher taxes than they can afford, he said, and pop said, Still, ks Yap the Jap wrote so truyl, My income wanes far more than it waxes, Yet the faster, it dwindles, the less I pay taxes.

Now take all this talk about the price of living coming down, Admiral Tricker said. What coming down! Lunuries, that's what and that's all, but statistics show that for the passed 9 months the price of necessilities

Remember That Night

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

"That depends on you," Karen said. "It doesn't love me, Tommy lives you. He loves you because you took the trouble to look beneath the playboy surface and see that in spite of his money, he's never been a happy boy and he didn't have a normal childhood. Just one school after another. And he loves you because he knows you don't care about his money. He told me last night — told me and asked me to marry him."

"And of course you will!" Marion Leland flared. "It's the chance of a lifetime! Dozens of girls have tried to marry him. I wonder how he's escaped this long!"

"I'll tell you. Because in the back of his mind he knew that one day he was going back to Maryland and ask you to marry him."

Beneath the brim of the becoming wide black hat, Karen looked at her gravely. "I was just a new face to him the first night he saw me, and maybe he thought he'd have a last fling. I didn't see the newspapers. I — haven't been reading them since — some one I know and liked a lot — disappeared. I was free and Tommy was free, I thought. I couldn't see any harm in going to his party. It wasn't given for me. He's proud of his place on Long Island and wanted to show it off. He bought it for you."

Warm sunlight poured through the broad window on the red sofa upon which Marion was sitting. Nervously she toyed with a little silver bracelet on her arm.

"Then why didn't he invite me to his party?" she asked. "He did not tell me anything about it. Somebody wrote me."

Karen said, "He should have. If you love him, you won't give him up and let him marry me for the one mistake he's made. Tommy is like a lively terrier that needs a leash."

Marion lowered her eyes and said, "If I love him? . . . I do. All my life I've looked forward to his visits to Maryland. Every time his name was linked with an actress or a chorus girl I was crazy with jealousy for fear he'd marry her. When I was sixteen, I prayed to grow up quickly so that I could marry him before he married some one else."

She looked at Karen. "Yes, I did look beneath the playboy surface. I know he's irresponsible and unstable but you can understand it when you know he's never had a care or a responsibility in his life. Just money. And people who liked him just for that. I got to know the rest Tommy riding with him over his farm in early morning."

"Then see him and tell him. He's miserable."

Marion looked down at the finger from which she had torn her engagement ring last night.

"Mother won't let me see him! She made me promise I wouldn't call him. We're going home tonight and she's going to take me away. Tomorrow there will be a formal announcement of the engagement. Oh, I've been nearly crazy!"

Her smile was wistful and apologetic. "I'm so sorry about last night. Sorry and ashamed. Please forgive me. You're not at all what I — I expected you to be."

Karen smiled, "I'm a working girl. But I happen to work on a hotel and wear an evening dress. That's supposed to make me wicked and glamorous."

"And if I don't marry Tommy, you will?"

Karen shook her head. "No. I said that so you'd see me. I came to New York to go on the stage and that's more important to me than Tommy's cold — blooded offer, made to spite your mother. I won't marry him, but the way he feels now, hurt and bitter, he may do anything. In a way, this is good for him because he knows that his money can't buy you or me."

She went to the door as Marion arose. "You can make quite a man of Tommy or — or you can send him to Paris to try to forget you in other girls. If I were you..."

"I'm going to call him as soon as you leave if Mother doesn't come in!" Her eyes were shining. "Oh, thank you."

On the street shadowed by an approaching storm, Karen walked quickly. She had sent Jerry back to Harriston. She hoped she had brought Marion and Tommy together. "But I'm still drifting. Philip is out of town. Roxanne and I are drifting."

She could smile now as Philip and Roxanne had at the high-hearted Karen who had come to New York a few weeks ago. She could smile at herself and at blasted hope. To be a great actress . . . to fall in love . . . Two dreams that had caused her to reject Jerry, two dreams she had been determined to follow. One had come true, resisting Philip and loving him. Aunt Hetty had not said that perhaps the one man she would meet some day and love and think she could not live without might not love her.

Could Aunt Hetty answer her question, "What do you do with love that isn't wanted?"

She had to run a block in the rain. In the box there was a letter from Core Hillman. Karen read it on the elevator. In part Core wrote, "Well, darling, prepare yourself. It seems that Mary Catherine has done a good job of catching Jerry on the rebound. He gave her her ring last night and the telephone wires are buzzing this morning. But perhaps I should not be catty. She's a nice girl and a pretty girl and she'll make him a fine wife. I hear that old man Forbes, that old autocrat, approves. He's been afraid young Jerry might fall in love with a girl out of town and leave Harriston. Now the old gentleman can be assured that Jerry will step into his shoes as the town's first citizen. They say her ring is gorgeous. As for us, Ted gets his vacation soon, which we'll probably spend at the seashore. It will have to be an inexpensive vacation. There are lots of things we plan to do to a house that is not only covered with roses but mortgages also. We're terribly happy. That will be all for this time as I must get to the telephone and do my duty about telling the world about Jerry and Mary Catherine."

The elevator stopped with a jerk. In the mirror Karen saw her sober face shaded by the large hat, saw that it was thinner and that there were faint shadows beneath her eyes. Again she thought, "Is it worth while — this fight and struggle?" At this time in the afternoon Harriston was at its laziest beneath the hot summer sun. Housewives slept until it was time to prepare dinner; the youngest set out bathing suits into little linen bags and drove to the beach and stayed all afternoon. Karen felt pangs of nostalgia and envy.

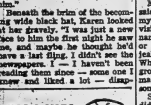
Roxanne was sitting at the window on which the rain was beating. She was mending stockings. The room was gloomy.

Karen said, "Jerry is going to marry Mary Catherine Halsey, Roxanne. I sent Jerry back to her. And I've just come from seeing Marion Leland. She loves Tommy. She'd be good for him."

Roxanne bit off the thread with her small white teeth. She smiled — "Aren't you the little fixer!" she asked.

They went out to dinner after the storm was over. And they had been back only a few minutes when a delegram came for Karen. It was from Tommy who had written, "Marion and I married stop sway on honeymoon stop blessings from mother and father stop thanks for everything."

Passing it to Roxanne to read, Karen said with a smile, "You called me the little fixer. I talked myself out of a part in the Tappen play. Tommy and Marion are on their honeymoon and he won't be here to introduce me to Tappen."



"You gave them their chance and lost yours," Roxanne said. She put her arm around Karen and smiled. "But you'll get yours. I'll probably bawl like a baby but I want to be there when you do. Applause sounds like enough. I'll whistle from the gallery."

Several weeks passed and while the lives of Karen and Roxanne were unaltered, their friendship was strengthened. Her first nervousness gone completely, Karen appeared and sang on the hotel roof nightly. And each evening Roxanne went to her new job in a downtown night club. They took their meals together, shopped for new clothes together, and twice went to the public beach to swim.

Brenda Bond's play had closed. Had Philip gone to England? At various times and at various places Karen asked herself that question. And one day lying on the beach in the warm sun she was oblivious to everything around her, so clear was the picture in her mind of Philip and [illegible] Philip with the girl he adored?

She got up quickly and went into the water. And Roxanne, her yellow hair drying in the sun, her arms hugging her tanned knees, knew that Karen could no longer bear to think about Philip Ashley. She thought, "She doesn't say much about him but she thinks about him all the time."

Farmer Witness Tells Royal Commission Several Shots Fired When Miki Was Killed

More than one shot was fired in the gun fight at Nevan, Ontario, in June 1940, when transient John Miki was killed by Sgt. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police.

This was stated today by George S. Smith, Nevan farmer, who testified at the Royal Commission hearing before Mr. Justice Kellier Mackay investigating charges by Constable J. E. Keays against Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan and others, of the Provincial Police.

Keays had previously testified that Sgt. Stringer had unnecessarily killed Miki as only one shot had been fired. This fact had been suppressed at the inquest, Smith, who had been one of the shooting, had not been called as a witness.

Sgt. Stringer had killed Miki in a gun battle after the latter had shot Constable Harold Dent of the O.P.P. at Nevan station. Keays charged the Stringer had submitted a false report in connection with the shooting.

Heard Three Shots

One of the key witnesses in the entire hearing, Mr. Smith told of accompanying Sgt. Stringer following Miki to the woods and then of going to call for help.

He heard what I thought was a shot" and then as "I rolled the window of the car down, I heard two shots," Mr. Smith testified. Mr. Smith stated he had given evidence at the inquest although he could not remember what the nature of his evidence had been.

Asked by Commission Counsel C. F. Hope to tell of his heard-ing up to the Miki shooting, Mr. Smith stated he was in the Nevan station where Constable Dent had been killed by Miki.

Recalls Events

He could not recall clearly but he thought that Sgt. Stringer had already been at the station when he arrived. The police sergeant had been bending over Dent on the station floor.

Mr. Smith recalled Dent had told Stringer to get his gun on the station floor and to get extra shells from his car and to follow Miki.

The witness said he had accompanied Sgt. Stringer in following Miki to the woods and had caught sight of him before he got to the woods.

"Sgt. Stringer told me to go back the other side of the woods since to keep an eye out and to others for Miki" stated the witness. It was as he was driving to-ta farmer's yard to phone for help that he had heard the shots.

"I heard what I thought was a shot," he said. "Then I rolled the window down and later heard two shots."

Constables Arrive

He told of Detective Stoneman of Ottawa and Constable Keays (then Soubliere) arriving on the scene. He had gone back into the

Warm Breezes Mark Arrival Of Spring Season

Toronto March 21 (CP)—Warm breezes and higher temperatures heralded the arrival of spring in Southern Ontario today. But in the north, old man winter left a bumper snowfall ranging up to eight inches.

The weatherman said milder weather, originating in the Gulf of Mexico was working up from the Mississippi Valley, would raise temperatures to 55 or 60 degrees in southern areas, only a few degrees off last year's Toronto record of 62 degrees for the same day. Light showers were predicted for Toronto, Windsor and London districts, but temperatures will remain warm.

Kapuskasing, in the north, will get the coldest "first-day-of spring" temperature—15 above.

Most Ontario highways were bare and dry today, but northern Ontario valley roads were snow surfaced.

GUNMEN GRAB CARD GAME, FIRE SHOT, FLEE

Bullet Misses Toronto Man by Close Margin

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Four gunmen barged into a card game in a west-central Bathurst Street house South early today, fired a shot which missed John Zaplacinski, 35, by inches and then fled, followed by terrified cries of a woman who tried to stop them.

Zaplacinski, who was shot at as he tried to escape out a rear door, would give police no reason for the incident. Detectives questioned several persons during the night but made no arrests.

The woman, Dorothy Zaplacinski, told police the four came to the front door and one of them pointed an automatic pistol at her.

She knocked the gun down and ran screaming into the house, followed by the men.

Police said Zaplacinski, who plays playing cards, buried a heavy ornament at the gunmen and ran for a back door. As the shot was fired he heard the bullet fall through the doorway, unhurt.

Dorothy Zaplacinski's screams brought her parents downstairs as the gunmen ran for a car and escaped. Police described as young, stocky and dark.

Says Drug Traffic Motive

An investigating officer said the shooting appears to be the rivalry between two west end gangs for control of the illicit narcotics traffic in Toronto.

"We are not discounting the possibility that the gunmen were staging a holdup," he said, "but we strongly believe the drug traffic is behind the shooting motive for the shooting."

The officer said the shooting was similar to other attempts made on the lives of suspected narcotics traffickers in Toronto the last year. Several months ago, a bullet was fired through the doorway of an apartment, wounding Ruby Pallister in the leg. Vern Rowe was arrested on a charge of wounding but the charge was later dismissed.

St. Laurent Opens Drive for Crippled

Ottawa, Mar. 21 (CP). — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent officially opened the campaign for children's Easter seal drive today when he pushed the first button of seal from Timmy, a crippled 11-year-old boy.

The campaign signalled the beginning of distribution of 70,000,000 Easter seals. The sale $225,000 for crippled children's work carried on by service clubs in Canada.

Attending with the prime minister were his three opponents in parliament, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader; M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. head, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Haith Minister Martin were also present.

The seals, a brilliant yellow-orange and brown show a crippled boy and his dog looking toward a hopeful new horizon. Timmy, the boy chosen as the symbol of work done by the service clubs, has been crippled since he was seven. After his operation he is now able to walk with the aid of braces

Collingwood Mayor Ready To Meet Alderman in Bout in New Arena

Collingwood, Mar. 21 (CP).— A wild and unruly special council meeting here Saturday ended in Mayor Grayden Kohl challenging Ald. James W. Bourrie to a fist fight in the municipal arena at this ship-building town on Georgian Bay.

"I'm ready as soon as the word 'go' is given, with or without rules," both men said following the meeting. No date has been set for the bout.

At the meeting, Mayor Kohl charged "there are certain members of the council sabotaging my efforts in trying to make the new arena pay and bringing in new business to the town." He was "amazed that Ald. Bourrie got into a fist-fight with an outsider during a recent committee meeting over this."

"If he wants to fight, I'm not afraid," he said. "I'll take him on in a boxing bout in the new arena."

Ald. Bourrie jumped to his feet and shouted: "I'll not only take you on with or without rules, but I will also debate the issue of your accusations on a public platform".

The mayor retorted: "I'm not kidding about this. I'll take you on."

The council meeting had been called to investigate why the municipal building fell down on Jan. 19 in a high wind.

Northern Electric Workers Rebuild Home in Two Days For Burned-Out Family

The old fashioned country barn raising bee and one of the most unique efforts of a group of workers from the Northern Electric Company plant here over the weekend.

In a flash fire late Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet, Herchimer Ave., and their nine children, lost their home and all material possessions. Furniture, clothing, and everything went up in flames and there was no insurance.

But by Sunday evening another home had been built for the Brunets. Everything was complete even to the electric wiring and paint. And enough beds and bedding had been donated for the family needs, while clothing and groceries were received in quantity. Also there were cash donations.

"I can't believe it," happily cried the elated father Sunday night as he again saw his family around him in their own home. "Saturday morning I had nothing, and tonight we have a new home. People have been so kind."

Unbelievable Says Mother

"It is just unbelievable," chorused Mrs. Brunet, as she watched her young family ranging from two to 14 years inquisitively inspecting their new four-room home.

The Brunet family had moved to Belleville only last November after the father had built temporary accommodation for his wife and children. This coming summer he had plans to build a permanent home. But Thursday evening's fire which saw his wife and children barely escape with their lives changed it all.

But the dejected father did not reckon with the goodwill spirit of fellow employees at Northern Electric and of residents in general.

Friday volunteers were called for to build the family a new home. There were so many volunteers they had to be "screened" to choose the most experienced. Saturday morning about 60 workers went to work with a will. Fifteen working hours later the house was complete and in readiness for the family to move in.

Fast Work

With plant worker E. Val Camp as "boss carpenter" sections of the house were pre-fabricated on the spot and quickly placed in position. By early afternoon the super-structure of the two storey dwelling was up and the roof on and windows were being placed into position.

Interior maintenance men were on the job and installed wiring as the house progressed. Tentest was put on the roof and the interior painted. The exterior was covered with heavy roofing paper to keep out the elements. Sunday afternoon a porch roof over the front door was added into place and front steps were put into position.

Long before the house was completed donations of beds and bedding commenced to arrive. Two local hotels furnished beds. Mattresses and quilts were donated and later kitchen utensils and groceries arrived.

Mr. Brunet said the only thing he had purchased for the house was the linoleum for the floors.

Amazed at Generosity

Amazed at the generosity of Belleville people Mr. Brunet wondered "if they always do this for families who are burned out."

"Why this is a much better house than I had before," went on the father, "and I intended to build a permanent house this summer, but now this one will do fine for two years."

In addition to donations of labor by plant workers and officials in assisting to erect the new house, employees at Northern Electric collected several hundred dollars as a cash donation. The Belleville Rotary Club donated $100 while a well-known Belleville man forwarded a cheque for $100. Employees of the Hastings County Home who live nearby also contributed by donating their quarters and fifty cent pieces from meagre allowances. A passing motorist on the building activity and left a ten dollar donation without giving his name.

Fire Spread to House

The fire which destroyed the Brunet home Thursday evening started outside the house apparently from the sparks of passing cars. The flames spread from the packing case in the rear and were not noticed by a neighbor as they raced up the tar paper exterior. After the fire was controlled there was just time for Mrs. Brunet and the children to get out of the house before it was a mass of flames. Only a chair and an iron box were saved from the inferno.

A personal touch in the furnishing of the new home was added by an eight-year-old girl friend of the Brunet children. Taking money from a fund built up by doing odd chores, the young girl bought and presented it to the family as a wall decoration for their new home.

Small ages of the Brunet children are Jacqueline 2; Robert 4; Lise 6; Helene 7; Roger 9; Denise 10; Lucille 12; John 13 and Pauline 14 years.

Truman May Ask Free Hand In Allocating Arms in West Under Billion Dollar Plan

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, March 21 — (AP) —President Truman is expected to ask Congress for a free hand in allocating arms to Western Europe under the proposed $1,000,000,000 military aid program.

According to present United States State Department thinking the President should try to get from Congress as much of a blank cheque authority as possible under whatever expenditure limit Congress fixes.

The Senate alone, but by a two-thirds vote, must approve the new North Atlantic Treaty if the United States is to take part. An Associated Press canvass of Senators showed: 55 inclined to favor ratification, one opposed and 37 unwilling to go on record at this time. Two of the 96 Senators were not reached and there is one vacancy.

For 'Mutual Aid'

The arms aid program is designed by the Truman administration to carry out the "mutual aid" provision of the treaty. It would thereby help the countries of Western Europe fulfil their roles in the "common strategic plan" which is to be worked out by the Allied powers.

The first official reference to this grand scheme of defence for the Western World under the projected treaty came Saturday night. It appeared in a State Department statement explaining the details of the treaty.

The formation of that plan is one of the two main purposes justifying the existence of the alliance; the other is the commitment to be undertaken by the United States and the other countries that in case one of them is attacked, all of them will at once take action against the aggressor. World-Wide System of Security

That the proposed treaty itself has limitations as well as advantages is shown in official United States thinking was brought out in the course of a department sponsored broadcast Saturday night. Jack, assistant secretary of state, declared in this program that the American people "want a worldwide security system, but they won't be content with a (North Atlantic) regional system."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Synopsis: An intense disturbance over Kansas is causing increasingly strong south winds to surge over Southern Ontario and these winds are accompanied by rapidly rising temperatures. Rain will be general in Southern Ontario Tuesday stopping during the evening and temperatures will begin dropping by midnight Tuesday

WESTERN POWERS OUTLAW RUSSIAN EAST MARK

Expected Move Splits City's Economy

Berlin, March 21 (AP) —The Western Powers Sunday outlawed the Russian east mark in their sectors of Berlin, splitting the city's economy completely. This had been expected for some time. The Russian action came after it a crime to possess west marks in their area. Britain, the United States and France did not do that so far. They just said the eastern currency no longer need be accepted in their part of the city.

Although the order is effective immediately, the east mark will still be good in western sectors for rationed foods this month and will be accepted in April for rent and taxes.

The east mark tumbled to a rate of from six to 10 for one west mark on the black market following the legal exchange of three to one. Before the east mark dropped to 5.2 for one.

The only concrete Russian reaction was an effort by the Soviet-controlled German police to prevent western Berliners from crossing the zone borders to ration free stores on buying sprees with surplus east marks.

The currency question has been one of the main issues in the Soviet blockade of Berlin. Several international discussions, both inside and outside of the United Nations, have failed to solve it.

Britain, the United States and France put in a new currency in their zones of Germany, but not in Berlin, June 18, 1948. Four days later Russia issued new money for her zone in Germany and all of Berlin. The day after this Soviet step the Western Powers introduced their new west mark into their sectors of Berlin. They permitted the east mark to circulate. The Russians barred the west mark from the Soviet sector.

Sweeps Drawing For Minor Prizes

A Royal Canadian Air Force search in the Bay of Quinte district for missing privately owned American aeroplane with two Americans aboard has apparently proved negative Sunday, it was reported by R.C.A.F. officials. Search of the Mount Zion — bound machine were two United States businessmen, Henry Ehrlich, Bruggs, 45, of Elmira, N.Y., and Stewart M. Johnson, 41, of Mansfield, Ohio. They took off Wednesday from Buffalo in a four-passenger Stinson monoplane.

Air Force officials contacted stated the R.C.A.F. were co-ordinating in the search with the civil search which had been organized by Americans. Over 20 planes were out for four hours on Sunday participating in the search but failed to have results.

An early report was to the effect that persons in the Napanee district had seen or heard a small plane Wednesday heading east in a snow storm. This report was investigated by R.C.A.F., but again with negative results.

Dublin, March 21 (AP) — Nineteen prizes for the first lucky day in the Irish Hospitals sweepstakes dipped into a steel drum for $10 shillings prizes.

Major prize drawings were held in Dublin's Mansion House, based on the Grand National Steeplechase to be run at Aintree, near Liverpool, March 26.

Today's drawings were for 560 cash prizes totalling £20,000 and 50 residual prizes of £352 ($1,408).

The drawing was at Balls bridge Dublin suburb.

Total prize fund this year is £17,616. Prizes drawing for the big money prizes found a high proportion of lucky Americans holding tickets that can net them £25,000 apiece if their horse wins the Aintree event. Ticket holders whose horse finishes second can win £10,000 and third, £5,000.

Clock Will Time Yukon Break-up Decide Large Pool For Minerof '98

Dawson, Y.T., Mar. 21 (CP). — They've got a new electric clock in Dawson for breaking up the Yukon river this year and it may mean more than $10,000 for the lucky person who Cheechako who makes the closest guess.

The 1949 ice guessing contest of Dawson, the almost frontier city of the gold-crazed humans of '98, is causing as much excitement as the chorus lines used to cause in its roaring dance halls.

The reason is quite simple. Dawson, which houses the ghosts of such characters as the lady known as Lou, hasn't had a "paying" contest since 1946. But the money from pool tickets bought by the Yukoners still is around.

You see, in 1947, the Yukon ice-jam broke up all right, but the clock went haywire and a correct time couldn't be established. Year 1948 rolled around —the jackpot swelling to double its normal amount — and the same thing happened.

Things will be different this year. The Dawson City Chapter of the I.O.D.E., which sponsors the pool-ticket sales 25 per cent, has bought a new clock. It has hands, no numerals, alarm and, above all, it works.

The 1947 pool totalled $3,629. In 1948 it was $7,258. Last year the prize backlog to $7,649. This year the pool is expected to reach at least $3,000 to swell the coffers to more than $10,000—a lot of money to a Soundough who still talks about the fabulous "takes" he made in the Klondike rush.

This year's guess must be in the hands of C. H. Chapman, the pool director, by April 25. Meanwhile, the Yukoners are spending "Eighteen-nights" trying to hit the breakup date right on the nose.

Hooded Men Raid Diamond Dealers' Toronto Offices

Bind And Gag Watchman Then Crack Open Safes

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Police said today that they are holding two suspects for questioning in the robbery last night of diamonds and bonds worth $70,000. The thieves were reported to have raided the downtown offices of two diamond merchants.

For six hours, the men drilled through two safes and blew another open. Police said they found a fuse among the debris that was identified as the type used by the United States army when blowing open safes in Germany holding gold stolen from invaded countries.

Detectives are checking on three men arrested in the last two nights. Two of them are from Chicago and were arrested in a downtown hotel. The third man from Toronto was taken from a plane about to leave for Chicago from nearby Malton Airport.

Police claim to have found $2,500 in the sleeve of his coat. He was arrested on a charge of breach of the foreign exchange control act.

Police did not identify the men or give further details.

After binding and gagging John McLeod, 56-year-old night watchman, the thieves blasted open two safes in the office of the Superior Diamond Manufacturing Company, where they took more than $50,000 worth in diamonds. They did the same floor. They took diamonds, cut and uncut, from the two safes, worth between $55,000 and $65,000.

Search For Missing Plane Proves Futile

ISRAEL-LEBANON SIGN SECOND ARMISTICE PACT

Reports of Israel Syria Truce Denied

En Naqura, Lebanon, March 21 (AP)— Israel and Lebenon have agreed to an armistice.

It is the second such agreement arrived at between the new Jewish state and one of the Arab countries that vowed to destroy it when Israel declared its independence last May.

The formal Israel-Lebanon agreement is to be signed here Wednesday. The terms were not revealed.

The first armistice in the Palestine war was signed at Rhodes on February between Israel and Egypt.

Israel is engaged in further armistice talks at Rhodes with Transjordan.

There was some confusion over reports of impending separate talks between Israel and Syria.

At Tel Aviv, an Israel foreign office spokesman said Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting United Nations mediator, had officially informed Israeli that Syria has agreed to enter armistice negotiations.

Bunche, in a statement released at Rhodes, denied what was described as a tel Aviv radio announcement that Syria had agreed to begin armistice talks.

Iraq was the fifth Arab country to take up arms actively against Israel in the Palestine conflict serving the current Palestine truce, but Iraq has not yet agreed to any armistice discussion.

The Israeli-Lebanon agreement is was learned reliably, does not mention the question of Syrian troops on Lebanese soil. This was one of the thorniest problems in the talks that began here March 1.

Informants said Israel apparently waived her original demand that any agreement reached with Lebanon also be binding on Syrian troops in Lebenese territory.

Aid is Rushed To Sarnia Family

Sarnia, March 21 (CP)—Quick sympathy of citizens was touched off by the plight of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clarke, parents of two young daughters, who lost their home on Copeland Lane and all their possession in a fire Saturday.

Red Cross Societies and the Salvation Army rushed to the aid of the stricken district family. One neighbor took them into their home while another immediately started a fund to compensate the young parents in some measure for their loss.

Associates at Fiberglas Canada Limited took up a collection for the father whose entire pay check had been lost in the sudden blaze, along with his clothing and other belongings.

Mr. Aubrey Coe, 137 Foster Avenue, was the lucky winner of the draw held at Leslie's Store on Saturday for a two-piece matching set of luggage.

LITTLE DAMAGE CAUSED

Fire cause slight damage to a small store room at the rear of the Corbin Lock Company Saturday afternoon. The blaze was quickly extinguished by the city fire department before it made any substantial headway.

OWNERS OF DOGS SHOULD GET LICENCES

Police officials today issued a stern warning that "last warning" to dog owners who to date have not secured licences for their pets.

It was pointed out that the 15th of the month is the deadline, after which time penalties will be dealt with according to law.

SMALL GIRL BITTEN BY NEIGHBOR'S DOG

Victim of the attack of a dog on Saturday, eight-year-old Karin Shields, sustained a painful inch gash in one of her legs. The dog, said to belong to a neighbor, was ordered tied up for a period of nine days by County Constable Thomas Brown. Ross gave the injured girl attention.

VICTIM OF "SPLASH" DRIVE GETS NUMBER

A Pine Street resident was the victim of a "splash" driver over the weekend. He took the number of the vehicles and reported the incident to police.

The result? It gets a free "clean and press" at the expense of the driver.

Stripped Gears Delayed Printing Saturday's Paper

Lengthy delay in the printing of the Saturday noon edition of The Ontario Intelligencer was caused when much damage occurred to the press through the stripping of several large gear wheels.

Pressmen worked strenuously in an effort to make temporary repairs but it was not until after five o'clock that the daily "run" was completed.

The pressmen, until the proper parts are received, will be operating on a sixteen page basis only. Complete repairs will not be made until Thursday or later of this week, special parts having to be made and flown from Chicago to Toronto.

$165 Donation In Special Game Given to Brunets

A cash donation amounting to $165, the amount taken in during the Friday night and Friday night bingo at the Armouries, will be turned over by the local Kinsmen Club to the Brunet family who were burned out last week.

From club funds $25 was put up as prize money for the special bingo with duplicate tickets being given to players. The extra ticket system was used in connection with the special game, the direction of the Wheel of Fortune Electric radio which had been donated by two club members.

C.N.R. Will Pay For Crossing At Frank Street

The Canadian National Railways will pay for the pedestrian crossing on Frank Street which has been proposed by city council as a convenience for residents living in that area.

The pedestrian crossing for use of persons living north of the tracks on Frank Street had been suggested by council many months ago with railway officials agreeing to the proposal. The work was to be carried out under the direction of the city engineer's department.

Mayor Storey today announced that the railway had agreed to pay the entire cost of installing the plank pedestrian crossing.

Bus Loaded With Children For School at Bancroft Struck By Skidding Car, No One Hurt

Bancroft, March 21 (Special) — The Finlay Coach Lines bus operated by Fr. Childley of Lindsay and driven by Lloyd Barr of Bancroft was in collision with a car driven by Miss Elsie Turner of Wilberforce on Pacey's Hill, 10 miles west of Bancroft on the Haliburton highway this morning. The bus was proceeding towards Bancroft with a load of children with pupils for the North Hastings School at Bancroft when the accident occurred at 8:15 o'clock a. m. The bus had stopped at the foot of the hill when the Turner car unavoidably skidded into the conveyance. The mishap was investigated by Provincial Constables Ketcheson and Fitzsimmons of Bancroft. No charges were laid. Damage to the bus was slight, that to the car was estimated at about $200. The driver arrived at school two and a half hours late. No one was injured.

Annual Meeting:

VON Made 3,186 Free Visits in 1948 Plus Much Other Work Meeting Told

Mr. Thomas D. Ruston, former Children's Aid Society superintendent here, was elected president of the Belleville branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses at the annual meeting held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Ruston succeeds former president, Mrs. Ross Gay.

The meeting followed the annual banquet held in the Dundas School rooms of the church. Committees reports, the election of officers, and talks by Miss Wakefield, administrator, Belleville General Hospital, and a special report by the chief nurse of the city branch of the order rounded out the business session. Miss Muriel Clarke was heard in solo and his efforts were accompanied by Leo Riggs.

In her nurses report to the meeting Miss Harriet McGeary stated that 3,186 visits had been received nursing care for medical and surgical conditions including pneumonia, cancer, chronic illness and communicable — 1,500 visits being made to the group.

Of the 5,617 visits made by the City Nurse, 2,431 were pre-natal which suggests that there is no finacial burden imposed upon patients served by the organization.

Fee Less Here

Miss McGeary pointed out that the Belleville branch has the low cost per visit. In 1947 this cost was $1.33 although the charge here has not yet been raised above the $1 fee which has been in force for some years. "This fee," the nurse said, "can be and often is waived for those who are noted in the large number of free visits."

"The main purpose of this organization is that people shall have nursing care if they need it —regardless of their ability to pay," she said.

One of the preventive health services offered by the VON is the dental health conference for infant and pre-school children, in conjunction with Dr. Jack Marshall. Ninety-five patients were treated by this service which is of inestimable value to the community. It is not only good but completely modern in its approach to the child and in its public health concept."

48 Baby Conferences

Forty-eight "Well-Baby" conferences were held by the nurses with 182 baby clinic visits. The aid aim of these conferences is to help the mothers in the training routine of the baby and pre-school child and to ensure that all babies are going regularly for medical supervision to a physician.

School health services included one and one-half days a week to St. Michael's Academy and one-half day every four weeks to the Cannifton School.

Miss McGeary said that, "although some 3,817 visits have been made in the interests of public health as well as work accomplished through clinics, conferences, school work, "I suggest that this barely touches the fringes of the work that should be done in a community of this size."

She suggested that a co-operative service in the preventive health field be carried on by both voluntary and official agencies.

Get Field Experience

Each year the University of Toronto has sent to the Belleville branch post-graduate students in public health who receive their field experience under the guidance of the nurses. Training in nurse in charge has delivered four lectures to public health nursing to the senior class of undergraduates at the General Hospital, and one nurse has the preliminary class.

Miss McGeary expressed her appreciation of the co-operation of Superintendent W. J. Morrison and his staff, the O.S.S.D., the superintendent of the C. A. S., registrar of the Community Nursing Registry; supervision of the Visiting Home Makers; management of the Meat Rations Company and others in providing field experience for students in the health fields.

She also paid tribute to the staff of the public health nurses in the hospital for services offered through sterilization of dressings, supplies of the Order, and to her staff colleagues.

In his address Mr. Wakefield drew attention to the world's oldest hospital situated in Leicester, England. It is St. Bartholomew's Hospital with accompany sphygmo-therapists, occupational therapists, radiologists and in the near future will require highly trained physicists who will be in charge of atomic energy in the cure of disease.

In the early days, hospitals were under the supervision of matrons only. In later years the ministrative became more complex until in modern times hospitals are organizations requiring special departments which employ sphygmo-therapists, occupational therapists, radiologists and in the near future will require highly trained physicists who will be in charge of atomic energy in the cure of disease.

Speaking of nationalization of hospitals, Mr. Wakefield warned of the many pitfalls of a service which belongs to the machine. Nation field becoming mechanized by the bureaucratic methods of nationalization.

Whereas nationalized schemes had various drawbacks in respects, much was lost, he felt, through the withdrawal of personal interest.

When people stop giving themselves to the interest of their fellow man, then truly humanity suffers a loss and mechanization holds full sway, he concluded.

Other officers elected at the VON. annual meeting were: past president D. G. Burr; second vice president, R. W. Hart; treasurer, Mrs. Thornbury; secretary, Mrs. H.M. Frances; medical advisory board, Drs. G. C. Porter, N. Barr and R. Anderson; past president C. B. Morgan.

Toronto, March 21 (CP)— Max Layerski, 29, of Winnipeg, en route from Chicago, was arrested Sunday night when he alighted from a plane at nearby Malton airport. He is being held in custody for violation of foreign exchange regulations.

Police said Layerski told customs officials he was carrying no United States currency but a search uncovered $2,580.

Bishop Foresees Disestablishment Of State Church

Chelmsford, Essex, England, March 21 (CP)—Disestablishment of the Church of England as a state church is almost a certainty in the not too distant future, the bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Henry Albert Wilson, wrote in his diocesan chronicle today.

Saying he deplored this, the Bishop asked: "If the Church can build public opinion in new housing estates why should it not build houses of worship?"

Saying he would like to see an extension of some form of establishment, he said the free churches (churches other than church of England) will be Roman Catholic Church he said the general trend of life and thought had become increasingly secular.

Leo Baptiste Badly Crushed, Taken to Toronto

Bancroft, March 21 (Special) —Leo Baptiste, age 48, World War I veteran was seriously injured late Saturday afternoon while unloading wood at the railway yard here. He was given temporary treatment by Dr. S. S. Lumb, at the local Red Cross Hospital and rushed by ambulance to Toronto General Hospital where he was admitted to Sunnybrook Hospital where he was operated on in the afternoon in an effort to save his life.

Baptiste was standing in front of the boxcar door and the truck was turning around when it sideled on glare ice, the front of the truck jamming the man against the boxcar.

Several minutes elapsed before sufficient help from nearby Canadian Packers Mill and section men could be obtained to remove the truck to release Baptiste.

He was injured internally in the lower part of the abdomen.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION!

Today, more than ever, our city streets are heavily burdened with traffic of all kinds. Main highways which run through the business section of Belleville and congested highways, adjacent to our city form a dangerous bottleneck. Statistics show that the accident ratio on the highways in and around our boundaries has risen from 80 in 1945 to 112 in 1948.

Last year your Chamber of Commerce realized that action was necessary especially as the completion of a new four lane highway from Toronto to Montreal seemed probable in the near future.

Adjoining municipalities were interested and a plan formulated which was presented to the Department of Highways of Ontario, which would mean that Belleville would be bypassed by through traffic; and by the lives and property of our citizens would be protected.

FARMER WITNESS

woods with Detective Stoneman leaving Keays and another man on the road.

They found Sgt. Stringer with his gun raised. Stringer had warned them to be careful. Detective Stoneman had circled around and found Mike in a pool of blood. He did not know if Keays had been armed but stated he had been in uniform.

He recalled the doctor arriving and stating that he had received a twig through the hole in Mike's head. "I thought the twig rather harsh," said Smith, "but I later found out for what purpose this had been done." He identified Constable Keays looking for something. In the bush when the found cut later had been shells.

Asked if he remembered the Dec.-Mike trial, he was witness stated he had given evidence but did not recall the nature of his evidence.

Smith was nine years ago and there were small children around our home at the time and we did not want to discuss the shooting.

"Sort of a disturbing influence," suggested Mr. Bigg.

"Absolutely," was the reply.

Cross-examined by Lalonde by the stand Malcolm Robb, local solicitor, that the cross examination was confined to matters relevant to the inquiry.

Commissioner Mackay pointed out that early in the inquiry it was decided that evidence would be subject to cross-examination. He agreed that in future the inquiry must adhere more closely to the matters of inquiry.

Commenting on the nature of cross-examination, Mr. Bigg expect to the previous witness Inspector H. W. Stringer of the RCMP, Commissioner Mackay said he could not see how fingerprint evidence of the RCMP could be relevant to the inquiry.

Insp. Wonnacott Called

Inspector R. W. Wonnacott, head of the RCMP identification bureau, who was in the stand when the hearing was adjourned on Feb. 18, was recalled.

Constable Keays asked for the production of the gun which had been found beside the body of Jean Badgley in November 1947.

Commissioner Mackay said the R.C.M.P. was "inclined to be cautious" about dealing with Constable Keays in fingerprint work because identification of fingerprints was a question of opinion.

"Did you ever find Keays was out of the country when the fingerprint work?" the constable asked.

"Yes," the inspector said.

He said he was referred to see Constable Keays actions were "highly irregular" during the K. - M. F. did not record who brought fingerprints to it if the identification was made. He believed the constable was "trying to belittle the fingerprint system."

"I can't help but think you are using a situation to suit yourself."

The inspector said there was strengthened in his opinion by the statement Keays made in a telegram was produced before the commission from Commissioner L. V. Wood in which the R.C.M.P. which contradicted the constable's claim to be present on the narcotics squad of the R.C.M.P.

"I suggest that your statement that you were not asked to be careful of Keays was an emotional outburst because you were embarrassed by a question," Constable Keays said.

"I don't," the inspector said. "That is not so."

Detailed Statement

Constable Keays said that Inspector Wonnacott had refused to give "a clear character testimony before the commission and said he would refer to it on the show." Inspector Wonnacott denied it.

He dealed saying that he had refused permission for Constable Driscoll to go to the fingerprint course at the bureau.

Constable Keays said that Inspector Wonnacott had once been charged with discrimination against an R.C.M.P. officer. The inspector said he had been exonerated by an inquiry.

"But you were going to call Constable Keays to help you," constable Keays said.

The inspector said that he had once considered calling the constable before a different R.C.M.P. inquiry.

Constable Keays said the Burnett's practice of using finger-prints "lifted" from a rubber glove was "improper, dangerous and unscientific." The finger-prints could be "lifted" from a fingerprint record and planted the the scene of a crime in an unscrupulous officer."

"I have never seen it and I doubt it if I could," the inspector said. "Fingerprints can be planted definitely so, but not as you suggest from a fingerprint form."

The commissioner said he had submitted an example of this technique in evidence.

"If you say you did it I believe you," the inspector said. "I wasn't there."

Constable Keays produced a glass plate and said that he took a set of initials from the plate with a rubber pad.

"Would you testify about that?" he asked.

Demonstration 'a Trick'

The inspector replied the constable was again using "a trick" and he did not believe any police officer would use it in a criminal investigation.

He said fingerprint evidence alone would not convict a man.

He said a print, lifted as the constable suggested, would "be a perfectly-simple matter" while most prints left at the scene of crimes were half-formed and imperfect.

"Do you not agree that an accused person is at the mercy of an unscrupulous officer?" asked Constable Keays.

"Oh yes," the inspector said.

"Is that not the case in any form of evidence?" asked Mr. Justice Mackay.

"I'm suggesting that this officer, before this inquiry opened, did not know it was possible," Constable Keays said.

Constable Keays showed the inspector the muffle found outside Jean Badgley who committed suicide in 1947. Inspector Wonnacott said a fingerprint was not necessary for identification purposes.

The constable had claimed earlier that fingerprints on the gun indicated the girl was murdered but that the evidence had been suppressed.

Malcolm Robb, counsel for five of the police officers, told the Commissioner he felt Inspector Wonnacott should call the gun as evidence.

He said he did not feel the Constable should be allowed to cross-examine his own witnesses as to their credibility.

Mr. Justice Mackay said it had been agreed that the commission counsel and the Crown witness and the Constable would be allowed to cross-examine them.

Constable Keays said he had questioned the inspector as he did not consider his own credibility had been damaged by the Inspector's testimony.

Big Drug Seizure Brings Arrest Of Three Men

New York, March 21 (CP)—Police have seized pure cocaine valued at $1,350,000 at underworld retail prices and arrested three alleged members of a national narcotics ring.

Three raids on narcotics charges are Ralph Lopez, 32; his brother, John Lopez, 36 and Jose Rodriguez, 28. Arraigned Sunday, they were held on charges of illegal possession.

Detectives said the three men offered no defence for their freedom when arrested.

Detective John F. Cottone said the prisoners were the finishing house of merchant seamen who smuggle narcotics into this country." He said they recently returned here from Chicago and Detroit.

The first arrested was Ralph Lopez, seized early Sunday at the entrance to an automobile near his home. Police said he was carrying a suitcase containing two ounces of pure cocaine, and that he had $2,500 in his pocket.

The other two were arrested a short time later at their homes.

Sixty ounces more cocaine was found later in the furnishert room used as headquarters, police said.

Soap, Shortening Prices Tumbling in Toronto

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Toronto soap and shortening prices are tumbling, retail dealers said today.

One large chain store today was selling a four-pound box of soap flakes at $1.64 cents. Before the start of the year, the same box sold for as high as $1.85, and for most sold consistently for $1.20.

A well-known brand of toilet soap is offered at 6 cents for 31 cents, compared to the former price of 10 cents a cake.

The retailer said he was "clearing old stocks."

Other chains are selling shortening at 30 cents, a decline of eight cents within the last few weeks.

Will Drag River to Fathom If Possible Mystery of Woman Who Disappeared 10 Years Ago

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fingringhoe, Essex, England, March 19 (CP)—Retired actress who vanished from her cottage home without a word 10 years ago and hasn't been seen since, may have been murdered and her body disposed of in a nearby river or pond.

Police today planned to drag the river Colne, in an effort to fathom the disappearance of Mrs. Rex Kent, who under the stage name of Vera Cavendale appeared in productions of four continents during the gay '90s.

Mrs. Kent, who would be 76 if she is alive today, disappeared from her cottage March 29, 1939.

Police only recently took an interest in Mrs. Kent's defiles when the ownership of her three-room cottage was discussed for taxation purposes. Inquiries were stepped up after it was learned that Mrs. Kent had a savings account of £56 (£224) with a co-operative society which had been inactive for 10 years.

Police entering Mrs. Kent's cottage Sunday aided the interior furnishings appeared to be arranged as though the owner had been absent a few minutes before her expected return. Even the fire and lamps were dust-covered and mildewed.

A supper tray on an oak dining table had a cup, teapot and a toast rack on it. Mrs. Kent's favorite chair near the fireplace bore a chopy of Shakespeare's plays, facedown-ward, opened at "Romeo and Juliet." A bed coverlet was turned, ready for use.

The river Colne is only 50 yards from the cottage just behind which is located the pond, known as the Church Common Lake.

Undisclosed police disclosures Sunday indicated they did not expect to see Mrs. Kent alive again.

HOODED MEN

They then drilled through a strongbox in the Libman Diamond Company office and took $10,000 in diamonds. The amount of loot taken from a fireproof money box was checked upon the Libman Diamond Company strongbox and was found that $10,000 in diamonds and bonds.

Taped Eyes, Mouth of Watcher

The masked men entered the basement of the building where McLeod was sleeping and forced him to follow instructions. They taped his eyes and mouth, tied his hands behind his back and forced him to the eighth floor in an elevator.

They cracked one safe in the Superb Jewelry Co. Ltd. and dragged another into the room for an advertising company office on in the Lady Eaton Real Estate firm has not yet been determined.

Police said the men also entered the office on the eighth floor and took carpets with which to muffle their steps when they blasted the safe in the advertising firm's premises.

The watcher was described by police as "strong, rough to splinter and tire, if they wish to keep the room when the blast went off, they would certainly have been provided with their own."

Jewelry Scattered Everywhere

Rings, watches and heirlooms were scattered all over the office and the safe had burst apart at the seams.

Officials of the Jewelry firms said the safecrackers took only the best cuts of the most valuable and disregarded hundreds of dollars worth of other jewelry.

"They knew jewelry and knew how to open safes," an official said. "They knew the very first grit rid of the night watchman and then forced their way into the office offices by jimmying the door frames."

After the robberies the men climbed out an eight-floor window and escaped by a rope ladder to a waiting car.

The night watchman told police said he had been tied to tie on the floor, bound and gagged, while the men worked. He said he was told the thugs kept a periodic watch on him.

McLeod, who started on the job three weeks ago said the men were "well dressed . . . well dressed and well educated."

He sai. they offered him drink before they broke him the offices. He wriggled free of his bonds several hours after the bandits escaped.

Russia Signs Pact With Russ-Sponsored N. Korean Republic

Moscow, March 21 — (AP) — The government made public early today a 10-year agreement signed with the North Korean People's Democratic Republic (Russian - sponsored North Korea). This is the only Korean government recognized by Russia.

No monetary aid made of any military assistance.

Russia and the Koreans agreed on a mutual exchange of goods that will "significantly" increase in 1949 and 1950 the cultural and technical aid for the Koreans.

A Korean delegation headed by Premier Kim Il Sung has been in Moscow working out details for 10 days.

VILLAGERS PROUD OF BAND AND BANDMASTER

Campbellford, March 21 (CP) — Citizens of this Halton County village are proud of their year-old band and proud of its bandmaster, Elgin Corlett, who not only trained all the musicians but also purchased all the instruments with his re-establishment credits from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Corlett, with experience ranging from a circus band to a symphony show, recruited the band personnel from local schools. Ages are between the ages of nine and 16.

Dr. C. Leslie Acts as Guest Speaker For U.C. Moderator Who is Ill

Bridge Street United Church was comfortably filled on Sunday evening, friends having come from Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Foxboro and other points to hear Rigit Reverend Willard Brewin, Moderator of the United Church of Canada. A few minutes before time to begin the service, the minister, Rev. D. C. Amos, announced that Mr. Brewin was reluctantly announced that Dr. Brewing was confined to his bed with an attack of "flu" and was unable to be present. The Moderator, who had been filling several days, left his bed and took charge of his Sunday morning service in St. George's United Church in Toronto, but was advised by his physician to stay in bed for further responsibilities for the present. He, however, found a very capable and acceptable substitute in an elder from his own congregation, Dr. C. Leslie, professor of ethics in Victoria University where he is dean of residence and philosophy and also a lecturer in Old Testament. Dr. Leslie, professor of ethics in Victoria University where he is dean of residence and philosophy and also a lecturer in Old Testament. Dr. Leslie, professor of ethics in Victoria University where he is dean of residence and philosophy and also a lecturer in Old Testament. Dr. Leslie, professor of ethics in Victoria University where he is dean of residence and philosophy and also a lecturer in Old Testament.

Voices Welcome

Rev. D.C. Amos, the minister, was in charge of the service and introduced the speaker, the guest speaker, a college chum and acquaintance of many years. Mr. Amos also warmly welcomed the ministers, and the members of their congregations who had come with them from Tabernacle and Hillcrest United Churches, and other points, as well as the fine group from Albert College, who were present.

Prayers were said by Rev. P. R. Howard, Rev. Leslie read the Lesson from Romans chapter eight.

A choir of over forty voices directed by Miss Leona K. Riggs, Mr. Alec. Riordon at the organ contributed two numbers, "The Lord's Prayer" and "Benedictus," "Mine Eyes have seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord,"-Wilmington.

What Is Man?

Dr. Leslie in developing his subject, "What is Man?" said, "We seem to be living in an age when many people are sacrificing the fine things of life for the inferior and the ugly," said Dr. Leslie, "Man is an animal but he is more than an animal" and added, "why don't we live like human beings?"

Dr. Leslie reminded his hearers that in some centres there is a cry for a wide open Sunday in the face of the fact that people never before enjoyed such short hours, nor had such facilities and opportunities for recreation.

"Many people," said Dr. Leslie, "are using the weekend in such a way that it is taken them three days to recover from their indulgences. "I have observed," he said, "that on Monday evening more people are asleep on the street cars than at any other time except when upon other evenings of the week. Young people in Toronto have more leisure time than ever before for recreation and yet there is more hoodlumism and delinquency than ever before."

The speaker reminded his listeners that it takes more than playgrounds, and the like, to make people happy. "Men need houses and good wages, and time for leisure, but while can cannot live by bread alone. Man needs a Christian conception of life, where he comes from, where he is going and why he is here."

No Purpose-No Goal

Dr. Leslie reminded his hearers that a noted writer on democracy said, "We have abolished freedom and we have economic freedom, but we hunger for freedom from frustration, fear and panicky. We don't know what we are living for. We have no purpose, no goal. We forget the purpose for which we were bound in God. We have plenty to live with, but not much to live for." He said the essence of the gospel to the world. God made us for Himself and we are restless until we find God. Man needs to be born again. He said Dr. Christ died to make men good and we should live to keep Him there."

At the conclusion of the service the ministers and their wives and some other friends held a fellowship hour at the parsonage.

Modify Bills To Remove Fears Says Blackwell

Toronto, Mar. 21 (CP) —Bills extending aid to Ontario Municipal police and fire departments will be modified in the legislature to remove "any reasonable fears that the province seeks to control and direct" police and fire departments, Attorney-General Blackwell said today.

Mr. Blackwell said amendments to the bills which will be introduced when they reach the committee stage "will partly meet the demands of municipalities" to remove some of the "objectionable strings" attached to the grants and still improve standards of fire and police departments.

The Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves and the Ontario Municipal Association have presented briefs to the Attorney-General objecting to clauses in the bills which provide that the full grants will be made only when the departments have satisfied the Ontario Fire Marshal and the Police Commissioner that they are "adequate" and "efficient."

Municipalities contend that these provisions infringe on their "autonomy."

The bills have been given two readings in the legislature "and will be open for further study and discussion," Mr. Blackwell said.

"It was not our intention to rehead these measures through until all representations had been considered."

The bills affirmed policy of the government that any future grants to municipalities must be tied in with a fixed program of development," Mr. Blackwell said today in an interview.

"Such subsidies serve a common purpose in helping the weight load of municipalities and encouraging the more efficiency of the police and fire departments throughout the province."

"With these thoughts, still in mind we will modify the bills to remove any reasonable doubt that the province seeks direct control over municipal police and fire departments.

"We are just as anxious to see the municipalities run their own affairs as they always can be accomplished by giving financial aid on an additional and consolidation basis rather than discretion certain course of operation as at proposed."

St. George Election Becomes Full-Scale Political Debate

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—The investigation into alleged irregularities in the election last June Mr. Brewin's constituency, Education Minister Porter Friday became a full-scale political debate in the Ontario legislature's select committee on provincial affairs.

The committee was appointed to investigate charges that the returning officer in the election to the chief electoral officer by returning officer Dan McCabe, gave Mr. Porter a larger plurality than indicated in reports given to Mr. Porter by the other returning officers.

Charges were made by the opposition.

Provincial Treasurer Frost, chairman of the committee and the C. C. F. had evidence of irregularly shortly after the election but had taken no action for several months. He surprised that by saying "I suppose I'm keeping the matter under the bed all these months and then suddenly pulling it out to throw light, to cast suspicion on Mr. Porter and mar his political reputation."

Andrew Brewin, counsel for Frank Frier, defeated C.C.F. candidate in the election, said the charges were "without foundation and a complete fabrication."

"Mr. Frost and O'Connor was not Mr. Porter's agent and that Mr. Brewin had no connection. Everyone Mr. O'Connor in the case and by linking him with Mr. Porter to "implicate the education minister."

C. C. F. leader E. B. Jolliffe said if the chairman continued this line of questioning he would recall Mr. O'Connor "and question him in regard to trafficking in ballots" which Dan McCabe says he refused to sign.

(C. C. F. members of the committee said Mr. O'Connor if he had ever "interviewed anyone in connection with the Chief Electoral Board" or whether he had ever attempted tk secure license for Frier "friends or political agent". Mr. O'Connor on the suggestion, Mr. Frost refused to answer either question.)

Follow Same Pattern

Mr. Frost said the C. C. F. methods in this case "follow the same pattern as the 'red tape' tapes" charges in which Mr. Jolliffe was counsel for Deputy Red Rowe of the Ontario Provincial Police. Mr. Rowe charged the government with spending a five cent police force. A Royal Commission absolved the government.

Mr. Brewin, in a form submitted to chief electoral officer Alex Lewis gave the following totals: Porter, 11,774; Frank Frier (C.C.F.), 7,010; John A. MacVicar (Lib.), 4,904.

A recount conducted at the committee's request by Judge A. I. Gordon of Essex county gave the following totals: Porter, 10,-161; Frier, 7,450; MacVicar, 4,893.

Fraser MacDonald, chief of Ontario service of The Canadian Press, testified today that he had reported the following final returns on election night: Porter, 11,226; Frier, 7,285; MacVicar, 4,907.

LIGHT BULB EXPLODES CARS, GARAGE DAMAGED

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Two automobiles and a garage were badly damaged in west end Toronto Sunday when a weekend when a light bulb exploded, igniting gasoline on the garage floor. Harold D. Dalton, working under one of the cars, escaped from the building before the gas tank exploded. A short circuit in the bulb was blamed for the explosion.

ATLANTIC PACT

The North Atlantic Treaty shortly to be signed will unite the United States and Canada of the Western World with Nations of Western Europe in a scheme to resist any armed attack against any one of them possibly with the use of armed force.

It provides for the establishment of a council of the nations which sign the treaty while a defence committee will work to strengthen and co-ordinate all the defences of that very important part of the modern world, the seven nations entering and the others likely to follow.

The treaty's plan is to prevent conflict and it is looked upon by those who will be the member states as one of the greatest forces for the prevention of war. The signatories will be the United States, Canada, Norway, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, while Denmark, Portugal, Iceland and Italy have been invited to join and will likely sign.

The nations which are to form the new organization are nations known for their desire for continuance of peace and of democratic freedom in the world. The union is the outcome of that desire.

The provision which stands out in the articles of union made public is that in which the parties agree that in the event of an attack against one or more of them in either Europe or North America each of them "in the exercise of the right of individual or collective self-defence recognized by Article 51 of the United Nations Charter will assist the party or parties attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with the other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North American area."

The treaty comes within the frame of the United Nations for any armed attack and consequent measures taken shall be at once reported to the U. N. Security Council.

MILD WINTER ENDS

Winter which upset many of the traditions of previous years by its mild record of less snow than usual and considerable rain and slush came to an end according to the calendar at 5.49 on Sunday afternoon and spring with its conditions as yet unknown took its place.

It was a mild winter for motorcycle drivers, even though there was more than the average number of days and nights when driving conditions were a little more dangerous owing to the slippery nature of the roads. But as for snow blockades, they were unknown in this section and in most parts of the east.

What will the spring bring? That is nearly all untold. In the very power of nature it will bring the month of the beginning of growth but it may be tardy or it may be an average or advanced season. The average man has come to look on a winter which has been fairly mild as one that keeps the spring but time will make all this known. The ordinary observer without making a mental note of everything in the weather has a fairly well established notion that a mild winter may lead into a backward spring. This winter however has been consistently moderate and those who would like to find its mate must dig back deep in the annals of the past.

March has yet two weeks to go and by the end of that time everyone will have come to know whether the month is going out or has gone out like a lion or a lamb. The month entered without bluster and with none of the accustomed storms of the vernal equinox.

This year spring stole a step on March as it entered some six hours and more before the 21st. But seasons do that again and again.

Sunday was slightly chilly and in the river during the night frazile ice had formed to coat the surface until near midday when the soft ice had largely melted and the river was again open as it has been for a considerable time.

A SIMPLE STORY

What a wealth of truth and meaning can be contained in one simple sentence — particularly when that sentence is spoken from the heart!

For example, Miss Vera Kempe, a Ukrainian girl who has spent a year as a domestic in Toronto after coming from displaced persons camp in Europe, tells her reaction to Canada.

"Canada is wonderful — in Europe you have to worry about how to keep fat, but Canadians worry about how to keep thin."

What more need be said, describing how fortunate Canadians are compared to less fortunate people in Europe than that one sentence! — Windsor Star.

WINTER LINGERING

Perhaps King Winter lingers on	We think him gone, but he returns
Beyond the time he should be gone,	To catch a glimpse of woodland ferns,
Hoping he'll be allowed to see	Or hear the feathered chorus sing
The blossoms on the cherry tree,	Exultant welcome to the spring.
With all his power of tyrant might	Though winter rules with fearful power,
He's never won the sweet delight	Denied to him are leaf and flower.
Which Wordsworth knew, of distant hills	And when he lingers, it may be
Aglow with dancing daffodills.	The charm of spring he waits to see.

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEISURE FOR MATURING

In one of the most provocative essays I have ever read Paul Valery, the French writer, says in his essay "Spiritual Polity" that "we have lost the leisure for maturing" and that with so many dying beliefs, there is one which has already disappeared—the belief in posterity and its judgment."

Valery speaks of all the modern inventions — the radio, automobile, moving pictures, and of the rage for speed in the world — and says: "How these amusements bars rest. There were never so many toys! Never were there so many feasts! Our daily newspapers give ample evidence of all this.

We are conquering our former handicaps and adding to our anxieties! Our leisure for maturing seems to be shrinking all the time. We have no time to think, to think, or to be friendly. There are too many cities and too many abstractions. People even get-too busy, too busy, to pray!

What a mess we have made of our playground of this earth! How useless wars have multiplied its beauty, and the handiwork of its Creator. How those who have impoverished the human spirit and left a trail of tears behind!

Even now how feverishly we are preparing for war with the best hope of earth" by failing to establish a peace for which millions have sacrificed their all to gain.

God gave us a rich earth, with every ingredient for our health and happiness, but we get poorer and poorer in spiritual values, and in our methods for attaining that one ideal of hope — human brotherhood. Many years ago Walt Mason wrote this prose poem:

"We are weary little pilgrims, straying in a world of gloom; just behind us is the cradle, just before us is the tomb; there is nothing much to guide us, or to point out path to men, as we toddle on our journey, little pilgrims in the dark. And we battle, and we struggle, in our feeble, futile wrath, always striving, always reaching to push others from the path; and the wrangling and the jangling of our feverish voices rise, to the seraphim that watches us through the starholes in the skies; and they say: 'The foolish pilgrims! See them, how they push and shove! They might have a pleasant ramble, if their hearts were full of love. If they'd help and cheer each other from the hour that they embark — they're only blind and erring little pilgrims in the dark!'"

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Spring announces itself to us through every one of our senses. Our eyes, our noses — we can even taste spring exhaling from the earth.

Our sense of touch feels the oncoming sun; and for our ears, the spring sings the music of rain on the roof and the rousing roar of lake winds blowing.

How long is it since most of us heard rain on the roof? Only people who live in shacks or in bleak garret rooms are in the three dollar front row seats for the show. Rain on the roof is a sound that for many generations has brought a glint 'of joy into the eyes of men and women. Possibly no other sound on earth has brought such physical relief, such relaxation and a soothe of well-being to humanity. The first thundering drum on the roof is an annunciation. It was glad tidings long before humanity knew of other glad tidings. Winter was over. Pain, imprisonment was ended. Freedom was at hand. Those of us lucky enough to be able to hear the first rain on the roof feel like jumping up and taking hands and swinging around. You can look at the blender and see what day it is. You can smell the earth. You can feel the sun on your hide. You can see the birds faltering. But it is the sound of spring that penetrates to your heart and core.

Rain and rain winds: we have insulated ourselves against them. We have put ceilings over us; we can't hear the rain; we have devised windows that won't rattle. Not a crack in the house do we leave for the March wind to howl in.

In honor of the twenty-first of March, all the radio stations will have a bright idea: they will play Mendelssohn's wedding song from 7 a.m. to midnight, all over the dial. If we turn it off, the only sound we will hear in the houses will be the drip or a leaky tap.

There's the revenge: the benediction of rain on the roof we have repulsed. The drip of a tap and Mendelssohn's spring symphony.

BASIC CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

God does not deal with us according to our sins, nor does He reward us according to our iniquities. He deals with us according to His loving kindness and rewards us according to His perfect wisdom.

If indeed God dealt with us after our sins, we should be in a sorry plight. Our weaknesses, our bitternesses and malice, our self-indulgence, our jealousy — how can God, after He looks upon these evils in our lives, do anything but condemn us?

But the basic teaching of the Christian religion is the declaration of God's forgiveness. As Christians we believe that on the last great day we shall stand unafraid before the throne of judgment, not because of our worth but because of the worth of Jesus Christ. And every day between now and that time we may confess our sins with sincerity and with the full knowledge that they will be forgiven and that we are being judged not in accordance with our deserts but in accordance with Christ's supreme worth.

The teaching of the New Testament is that God is a Father. Jesus almost never referred to the Almighty in any other way save to call Him Father. If He is our Father, then He need not be feared. We can be sure that "He hath not dealt with us after our sins, nor rewarded us according to our iniquities."

The Young of Free Peoples Need Many Answers

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Paul G. Hoffman, economic cooperation administrator, told a dozen business leaders in Washington the other day that Russia won't start a war so long as "the free peoples of the world stand together."

That likely is true, and it would have been interesting if Hoffman had expanded on that idea a bit. Who are the "free peoples" and what makes them that way? That and a lot of other questions must be answered if we are to navigate the present troubled waters successfully. It is a problem of education.

Educational leaders in the United States are planning changes in curricula to deal with the questions thrust out of a continuing cold war. Dr. John K. Norton of Columbia, chairman of the Educational Policies Commission, said:

"The prospect that the cold war will continue into the adulthood of children now in school intensifies the responsibilities of citizenship in the United States."

Teachers Guide

The commission expects to make recommendations in the spring. They will be designed to guide teachers and to implement American foreign policy.

Some of the basic questions which the inquiring young mind (and the old one, for that matter) wants answered: Court of them probably is why it should have to be that way. Others: What inspire to become the homeland of communism. The answer isn't simplified when it explains it is Russia.

Russia under the Czars was a land of darkness and despotism. There was one privileged class — the aristocracy — and the peasantry. Many of them already were restive against their masters, and it fell easy for communism with its direct-action to engineer a successful revolution. Unhappily, however, communism also turned out a miserable.

This thing has happened in other countries which have had despotic rule.

Parents of Teen-Agers Move to Suburbs

Toronto, Mar. 31 (CP)—Toronto's educational authorities say that parents of school-age children are moving to the suburbs while their places are being taken by sturdy persons and childless parents. In a population survey, Dr. Goldring revealed that although the city's population has increased by 48,000 during the past five years the number of pupils in public and secondary schools has fallen by 1,000 in the same period. Last year's enrolment was 61,843.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa:

Canada's Labor Bodies Likely To Ask for More Social Security

Canadian Press)

Ottawa, March 21 (CP)—Social security measures will be in the forefront of representations to be made to the government this week by labor leaders in Ottawa for a round of annual appearance before cabinet.

On Thursday, cabinet ministers will hear from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Labor Congress, executive of the Railway Transportation Brotherhoods. Next day, the floor will be taken over by the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Both the two big congresses — the T.T.C. and C.C.L.—are expected to bear down hard on social security matters. It is known to have drawn up proposals for an overall social security act on a contributory basis. It would provide for pensions, widows' and mothers' allowances, grants of unemployment benefits and a broad national health plan.

Both congresses, too, likely will propose some amendments to the federal labor code, passed by parliament last year and effective since last Sept. 1.

The C.C.F. proposals are expected to include broadening of the act to include such industries as steel, coal and meat-packing; provision of the revocable voluntary check-off of union dues; enlargement of the classes of employees covered by the code, and strengthening of the clauses respecting prosecutions for violation of the code.

Civil Servants

The first formal suggestion that Canada undertake something like the equivalent of the United States' Hoover Commission investigation of the civil service has been received here, but there will probably have to be lots of supporting pushes from other directions if anything is to come of it.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, pointing to an "alarming growth" in the size of the government workers, called for an investigation of the increased and future essential civil service needs.

Its proposal sounds like a Canadian parallel of the body President Truman appointed under former President Herbert Hoover to study the possibilities of making governmental expenditures, preventing duplication of effort and streamlining departments.

Canada's civil service swelled to record proportions during the war and has never gone back to anything like its 1939 size. Its current strength is around 140,000 or slightly more than one per cent of the population.

Lost Plane Search Resumed

Malone, N.Y., March 21 (AP)— A reinforced United States air force searching squadron resumed the search today for a private plane lost with two business men aboard.

Their four-passenger Stinson aircraft has been unreported since it took off from Malone Wednesday morning for Montreal. It carried Lawrence Mansfield, 24, Harry G. Barenbrugge, 45, of Elmira, N.Y., a tire dealer, and Peter M. Bloomer, 45, of Mansfield, Pa., a truck line operator.

The search was halted Tuesday on a business flight to Buffalo before heading for Montreal to visit a friend in hospital. They cleared Buffalo airport Wednesday at 11:17 a.m. but never landed at Montreal.

Four United States air force planes and five R.C.A.F. ships scouted sections of the upper Adirondacks, the St. Lawrence valley and northeastern shore area of Lake Ontario Sunday.

King's Operation Has Improved Circulation

London, March 21 — (AP) — The King's operation has improved the circulation in his right foot so much he can now get out of bed part of each day, his doctors said this morning.

The 57-year-old monarch from Buckingham Palace said:

"The King's recovery from his operation has been uneventful. Instrumental tests have confirmed a substantial improvement in the blood flow to the right foot which has already been observed clinically after the operation."

Prof. J. R. Learmouth, the Scottish surgeon who performed the delicate nerve operation a week ago Saturday, was one of the six doctors who signed the bulletin.

THE SCIENCE OF REDUCTION

Remarkable, come to think of it, but I can not recall ever being asked for advice on a diet. Men who accumulate an excessive store of fat generally let it ride until they come under the care of a doctor who makes them do something about it or else.

The tape measure, not the scales, should determine whether you should reduce and whether your reducing regimen is reducing. Muscle is heavier but takes up less room than fat. Therefore a person may weigh several pounds more than the average or "normal" because of his or her better musculature, although he or she would feel and look better if he or she could put on some fat to round out the angles and hollows and smooth out the wrinkles.

Rarely if ever does the individual who undertakes to lose, say, fifteen pounds by 3 o'clock next month achieve the purpose. Anyone who does reduce more than ten pounds in a month is likely to find herself hospitalized with a nervous breakdown for the next year or two in the days of the Eighteen Day bunress many hospitals have managed to tear themselves down at that rate, but few doctors have their sojourn in the tuberculosis sun.

The primary requirement of a reducing diet or regimen is that it must improve health and vitality it is not safe to follow.

Rapid reduction is ominous to good looks, if you have any to begin with—as most of persons have. It is the dough, blanket, cushion or pad under the skin is burned up too fast—used as fuel when the customary excess supply of carbohydrate is restricted—numerous sags and wrinkles show up and contribute to that haggard appearance.

As a general rule with some exceptions the diet should be restricted rather than liberal. The reduction of 1 to 2 pounds a week.

The less the diet is restricted and the longer it takes to reduce, the better for your health, comfort and appearance.

If your I.Q. is above the sophomoronic level you know as well as I do that

(1) No substance applied to the skin will either reduce or enlarge or develop any part of the body.

(2) Any weight lost through sweating — as in a steam bath or hot air bath—represents only the water in the sweat, and the weight will be made up to precisely what it was before, within the next twenty-four hours or so, by the water you drink.

(3) Neither ordinary nor electric massage or mechanical manipulation will reduce.

(4) Whether any particular food does or does not cause fattening or fattening than another food item depends entirely on the number of calories per ounce or pound of each.

In the pamphlet "How to Lose Weight" available on written (do not phone) request if you inclose stamped self addressed envelope, you will learn why many persons are starved.

In their free or wild state animals instinctively stop eating when hunger is satisfied. Cattle, however, may eat till they founder if they break into a cornfield. Domestication has perverted instincts in animals. Gratification has almost extinguished such instincts in man, although there is both physiological and clinical or 'practical foundation for the belief that people who have a craving for carbohydrate and consume excessive quantities of starch and/or sugar, such as candy, ice cream, cake, potato, white bread, laundry starch, are just trying, in a futile, stifle way, to satisfy the body's instinctive demand for essential vitamins—except only potato, all of these carbohydrate items have been robbed of most of the vitamins by the state and robbed of most of the rest of their vitamins in the refining process.

Giant Forms of Life Found Chiefly in Tropical Areas

By EVELYN CHEESMAN
(In London Calling)

Giant forms in Nature are really very interesting — first of all, because nobody can explain what the conditions were which enabled them to develop. As the few which survive are chiefly in the tropics, this suggests that a warm climate suited them best. When they first appeared, the whole world was certainly a great deal warmer than it is today.

Evidently, giants were not among Nature's most successful experiments. When smaller forms appeared and were in competition with the giants — requiring the same sort of food, or, perhaps, preying upon these monsters — we find that they were able to survive but not the giants.

There are a few left in odd corners of the world; we call them giants because they are larger than the majority of forms which belong to their group. But they do not bear comparison with the colossal reptiles of a prehistoric age whose skeletons we see in museums, and it would seem that Nature has given up that experiment, and put in its greater numbers of smaller forms which could take advantage of all the changing conditions.

The giants that remain with us are most interesting because they are relics, of a former age, and because they must have certain advantages which have enabled them to survive competition.

The giant lizards and giant tortoises found on one Pacific Island-group — the Galapagos, on the Equator must have been there for millions of years. The giant tortoise feeds on cactus, which grows plentifully. It ambles about on the dry ground, basks in the sunshine, and the female lays eggs in the deep sand. It does not require anything else and probably would have survived for a few more millions of years if nothing had interfered with it. But crews of whaling ships discovered the tortoises when they put in at those islands, hoping to find water and food.

It was a grand prize; tortoise-flesh was a dainty dish, both salted pork, and the oil was used for their lamps. They could live alive tortoises on board, with a supply of cactus for fodder. Hundreds of the tortoises were slaughtered in those days. The tortoises could not defend themselves.

Then, too, these whalers let dogs loose on some islands. Probably they landed there for a run, and they escaped. Today, some of those islands have packs of wild dogs. They dig up the tortoise eggs and eat them, and they get their heads off by smashing the shells and kill the tortoises. On some islands, the giant tortoises have been exterminated by dogs.

The giant lizards are more formidable, because their scaly bodies are not so attractive for food as the fat tortoises. They can bite, too. And nothing competes with them for their own food, for they feed on seaweed which grows on rocks under the sea. They reap it off with their queer teeth.

They are an amazing sight, these lizards, about four feet long and very ugly, and they live in large companies. I have seen about an acre of rocks covered in lizards. Four o'clock in the afternoon is their dinner time. They wake up partially, slither over the rocks in hundreds, and fill themselves with chewed seaweed. They are not bad-tempered. I pulled one out of its hole by its tail to examine it, and it did not try to bite. I think they are very slow-witted, and it did not remember that it had got a formidable set of teeth until about five minutes after I had let it go. Then it opened its mouth at me and threatened, and rumbled a lot inside and slithered into its hole again.

Insects — which we are accustomed to think small — have some giant forms. Large butterflies are a modern development, because all butterflies and moths belong to a modern age of insects. The enormous, gorgeously colored butterflies which attract a great deal of attention are only found in tropical countries, and as there was a rise of temperature after the ice ages, that may have had something to do with the development of such large forms as the Birdwing butterflies in New Guinea.

There are moths which are larger than the largest butterflies. The Giant Atlas moths of Assam measure a four-and-a-half inches across the wing. The entire wing-spread is 10 inches. Individuals have been known which exceed this.

There are also huge beetles to be found in warm climates; these must certainly rank with giants. The largest are the Rhinoceros beetles. One species is called Goliath, and another Hercules, and they are of enormous enormous relatives. As those beetles still exist, we cannot say that their rule is not a disadvantage. Certainly, their armored bodies should protect them from enemies. There are, also, very large grasshoppers.

One giant which gave me a most uncomfortable feeling while in New Guinea was a giant centipede, or squid, and, although I was a long way from it, it haunted my dreams for ages afterwards.

I was at a mountain camp on Walgeu Island, off South New Guinea, 2,000 feet up and three miles from the coast, looking down on Fak-Fak Bay — where the Emden lay smugly at anchor during the last war while the Australian Navy was hunting her.

There was a perfectly smooth, blue sea, but a patch of white foam was between the two rocky points. I thought there must be shoals of fish there, churning up the water. I called my camp boys and asked what it was, for I had never seen anything like it before. The boys told me that a cuttlefish, or squid, lay on the rocks on the sea bed, and sometimes surfaced like this. They knew all about it. It had a name, and had lived there since the great-grandfathers' time. It did not often come up, but when it did it was liable to grab any canoe within reach.

When a canoe got caught everybody leaped out — the boys told me — and rushed out of reach as quickly as possible. After a while, the canoe bobbed up again, sometimes inches from the cuttle, crushed useless. I asked whether there had been many casualties. They told me of one, a year or two before, but the canoe had lingered to try to save her basket of fish. She got caught by one of the brutes, and, with her, dragged down.

It is known that some of these giant cuttlefish grow to a prodigious size, but with certain measure living specimens, and none have been brought home to museums. Those exhibited in museums are not the largest forms.

4TH THURLOW

4th. Thurlow — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland and boys, 6th. Kidney, Mr. A. Lounds of Chesterfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy, Consecon, were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole spent Wednesday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry Cooke, of Stirling.

Mrs. John Ritz spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Beer, Belleville. Mrs. Ritz took tea on Sunday at the same home.

Mrs. John Foote, of Kingston, also spent the week-end at the home of her brother, Mr. Grant Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Grills, Carl and Bernice, 4th. Sidney, took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Grills.

The funeral of the late Mrs. George Hamilton was held from Bethany Church on Friday afternoon. A large number attended to pay their last respects to a well loved, lifelong resident of this community. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole and family and Mrs. John Foote were entertained to dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brenton.

Miss Audrey Ritz spent the weekend in Guelph with her brother, Mr. Norman Ritz.

Mrs. Russell Ritz was hostess to the Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. on Wednesday.

ST MEN ARRESTED

Toronto, March 21 (CP) — 22 men were arrested Friday night in a raid by police morality officers on the Derby Athletic Club in mid-Toronto. Three of them, Sam Perlli, Sam Genaris and Sam Drinakis were charged with keeping a gaming house. The others were charged as found-ins. Police said a percentage was being taken on poker and gin rummy games.

3RD SIDNEY

AIKEN'S W.M.S.

Mrs. Murney Jeffrey opened her home on Thursday afternoon for a joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Association.

The W.M.S. meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Welburn Westover, with Mrs. S. Denike conducting the worship service, using the W.M.S. theme for March, "Thy Kingdom Come —Through the United Witness of the Christians of the World."

This worship study included the opening message of the World Council of Churches at their gathering held last year in Amsterdam.

Mrs. Denike concluded the study with the following challenge which came from Amsterdam to Christians everywhere:

Challenge to Christians

"Our coming together to form a World Council will be in vain unless Christians and Christian congregations commit themselves to the Lord of the Church in a new effort to seek together, wherever they are, to be His witnesses and servants, among their neighbors.

"We have to learn together what is the duty of the Christian man and woman in industry, in agriculture, in politics, in the professions and in the home.

"We have to ask God to teach us together to say 'no' and to say 'yes' in truth. No to all that flouts the love of God, to every system, every program, every person that treats man as though he were a means of profit, to the defenders of injustice, to those who sow the seeds of war. Yes, to all that conforms to the love of Christ, to all who seek justice, to the peacemakers, to all who hope, fight and suffer for the cause of man, to all who look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness."

This was followed by prayer to unite our wills with the will of God in a firm resolve to work for the Kingdom of God, in our homes, in our country, and in our nation.

Easter Plans

Mrs. Carmen Grills, Supply Secretary, read a letter from Miss Morden, asking that the supplies be sent in June. The need for supplies of warm clothing for overseas was also stressed.

Plans were made for the Easter Thankoffering service which will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Moon at the regular April meeting with Mrs. Hollands as guest speaker. An invitation is to be sent to the Bayside auxiliary inviting their members to be present at this meeting. It was decided to accept the invitation to attend the Holloway Street thankoffering service on April 6th.

The president urged each member to attend the one-day Presbyterial held in Trenton April 6th.

Letters were read from Mrs. Davidson, Christian Stewardship Secretary, by Mrs. Sam Marshall and Mrs. Chas. Keazy, treasurer.

Mrs. George Denike accepted the office of Baby Band secretary, which had been held by Mrs. Bernard Hollinger before leaving the community.

A welcome was extended by the president, to Mrs. Leonard Chard, who was present with her baby, a member of the Baby Band.

Study Book

Following the business the sixth and final chapters of the Study Book was given in an interesting manner by Mrs. Ken Denike. Mrs. Jones was assisted by Mrs. Lee Grills in presenting this chapter, which dealt with the Christian church in China.

Through the centuries, the Christian Church has survived many political upheavals and revolutionary changes and has lived on in China through twelve years of war.

The Commitment

As a United Church, the commitment is to continue the missionary work in China, no matter what the government may be. Never did the church and the missionaries in China need more the understanding and prayers and support of the home church.

Mrs. Lee Grills, the W.M.S. pianist, was in charge of the music, also for the W.A. meeting which followed.

AIKEN'S W.A.

The Women's Association of the Aiken's United Church held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Murney Jeffrey on Thursday afternoon, following the W.M.S. meeting.

Mrs. Chas. Smith was in charge of the program, having been appointed president when Mrs. Bernard Hollinger resigned and moved to Foxboro.

New Study Book

A new book, "For the Land's Sake," that has been chosen for study at the meetings was introduced by Mrs. Cyril McMullen. Mrs. McMullen gave the members an interesting "peep" into the chapter on "The Pioneers," and the members are looking forward to further study on this timely subject.

Plans were made for the clothing drive for relief in Europe. The members were asked to bring their parcels of new and good used clothing and shoes, to the church where they will be looked after.

General Business

Mrs. S. Marshall and Mrs. C. McMullen volunteered to do the church cleaning for April, and Mrs. S. Spafford and Mrs. Hennessy were appointed as program conveners for the April meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Charlie Keazy. A letter was also read by Mrs. Ann Smith concerning Red Cross work.

Two interesting readings were given, "Waiting for the First Robin" by Mrs. Ernest Kells and "Facing the Wind," by Mrs. F. Moon.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meetings by Mrs. Jeffrey and her committee.

Metropolitan Reports to Policyholders on 1948 Business

HERE IS THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for last year. It is more than just figures, because back of them is the story of what 32,700,000 policyholders in Canada and the United States have done for their families and themselves.

The role of Metropolitan, like that of any Life insurance company, has been to help policyholders to make effective their individual plans for protection against the uncertainties of life. This Statement is a brief account of its stewardship.

The amount paid to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1948 was $721,366,364. Of this sum, $263,780,754 went to the beneficiaries of 235,000 policyholders; $147,045,672 to some 450,000 individuals for Matured Endowments and Annuities; and $59,403,238 for 650,000 claims for Disability and Accident & Health benefits. In addition, the total paid included sums for cash surrender values, dividends, and other payments due under outstanding policies.

The total payments by Metropolitan to policyholders and beneficiaries during the last 16 years aggregated $9,346,330,825 — a sum which has served as a stabilizing influence in homes and communities throughout this country and the United States. This total exceeds the Company's assets of $9,125,145,007 as of December 31, 1948.

These assets are held to meet obligations of $8,591,210,201, of which more than 90% represents statutory reserves for future payments to policyholders and beneficiaries. Over and above these obligations, there remained the surplus of $533,934,806, which is about 6% of obligations — a backlog which must be available against the possibility of epidemics, adverse economic conditions or other unforeseeable situations.

The Company's assets guarantee the fulfilment of the $39,958,317,854 of Metropolitan life insurance in force. In addition, they assure the payment of the 446,394 annuity and supplementary contracts outstanding, and the 6,546,412 policies or certificates providing benefits in event of either accident, sickness, hospitalization, surgical or medical expense.

A few other highlights of the Company's 1948 annual statement are: the net rate of interest earned on total assets reversed the trend of many years and increased from 2.94% in 1947 to 3.03% in line with the experience of business generally, there were some increases in expenses; the rate of mortality was slightly lower than in 1947; the lapse rate was one of the best on record; and new Life insurance issued during the year was $2,904,157,071. The amount held for dividends payable to Metropolitan policyholders in 1949 totals $152,067,254.

Metropolitan investments continued in 1948 to serve various sections of Canada and the United States and the economy of both countries. The Company is interested in making loans, to either individuals or corporations, which meet the legal requirements with which it must comply.

A more complete review of the Company's affairs will be found in its Annual Report to Policyholders, which will be sent to anyone on request.

SOME FACTS ABOUT METROPOLITAN'S OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in the Dominion during 1948 are of interest to Canada, and to all of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

Metropolitan paid in 1948 to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries $38,819,091 in death claims, matured endowments; dividends and other payments. Of this, 70% was paid to living policyholders.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $352,000,000.

Life Insurance In Force

In 1948, Canadians bought $205,932,746 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan, bringing the total of the Company's Life insurance in force in Canada to $2,241,526,645 at the year-end. This amount is made up of 57% Ordinary, 30% Industrial and 13% Group.

Total Investments In Canada

Metropolitan's total investments in Canada amounted to $536,741,420 at the end of 1948. The Company's dollars are at work throughout the Dominion . . . in practically every phase of production and distribution . . . helping to produce more goods and create more jobs for more people.

Health and Welfare Work

During 1948, a total of 222,687 nursing visits was made to those insured under Metropolitan Industrial, Intermediate, and Group policies in Canada; over 2 million pamphlets on health and safety were distributed, and the Company took part in 49 Canadian health campaigns.

Universities, Their History And Place in Modern Education Theme of Talk to Women's Club

Are university schools and colleges in Canada educating young people to thoroughly think out their problems for themselves or are educationists merely stuffing them with a little knowledge about everything? Such was the question in the minds of all who heard Mr. Arnold Edinborough of Cambridge University last Friday at the University Women's Club meeting at the home of Mrs. A. C. Locke under the leadership of its president, Miss Eric Grout.

"It is indeed a great honor and privilege," said Mrs. W. J Doyle who introduced the speaker, "to have one whose name and work in the field of English Literature is of such high repute." Mr. Edinborough, who is a lecturer in English at Queen's University, is also lecturer in English in the extra-mural students of Belleville and District and Belleville Collegiate from the Department of Extension.

Cambridge System

In his address Mr. Edinborough described the university system of Cambridge, and the life of the student there, and gave a most interesting account, well-mixed with humor, of the traditions of the colleges, and in respect to "What of the future?" pointed out that a tradition is something which has not only been made, but something which is going on.

Beginning with the history of the colleges Mr. Edinborough said that the university could be likened to Topsy. "It wasn't born. It just grow'd." It does date back however, to the charter of 1211 when it was a training centre for mendicant orders such as Dominicans and Franciscan. After this little is known of it also when the first college was founded. The resentment of the townspeople to the maintenance of the college as a rich man's pleasure ground broke forth and they ransacked it in 1381. Oxford called off the attack and the rich man's school was replaced by the founding of a college for poor scholars.

In order to secure sufficient endowments, some complaint could unduly be laid against the monasteries whose endowment would be temporarily suspended in favor of the college.

Several Colleges Formed

In the years which followed several more colleges were founded such as Pembroke, Corpus Christi, Trinity College and others. Succeeding the doldrums of the 14th century, was the great architectural landmark of Henry VI, King's College. Then came Queen's founded by the Queens of Henry VI, and St. Catherines' College which came to be referred to as a place in King's backyard. In Henry VII's reign came Jesus' College which was founded on the basis of the old monastries and used the old monastery rents. Secular colleges were added in the 18th century by Henry VIII when he assumed supremacy of the church and repudiated the authority of the Pope. Of these, St. John's and Christ's College are fundamentally not ecclesiastical, but for more general education. In 1882 Selwyn College was the last to be founded making seventeen in all.

Dealing with the system of maintenance, the speaker said that since 1920 Cambridge University is supported by a grant from the state of 8 million dollars annually. All Colleges itself is the largest landowner and richest corporation in England.

The Fellows, or the Dons more commonly called, hold appointments as lecturers, and individually direct the studies of the students. Contrast the Canadian student's program of study, which is completely planned with that of the English students which allows him to choose what he wants and is most keenly interested in pursuing and proceeds with directed studies to do so. A student is compelled to spend two full terms for three or four years and a great deal of this is spent in profound study in his own private room. Highest respect is observed by all fellow students for every private, uninterrupted study in his own small domain in the college in which he lives, and a spirit where examinations really do test a candidate, coming as they do only when a student has completed his studies.

Many Extra Interests

A student, however, is not always in his little prison - house of labor. Social clubs, sports and drama clubs are all well organized and a student belongs to only one club which ever his choice or qualifications may permit.

Government scholarships supplement individual scholarships and when a student wins a scholarship of 60 pounds an extra 300 pounds is added by the government. No longer is the University a rich man's playground. All classes are represented among the students and a good many veterans have found their way to Cambridge since the last war.

A graduate of this system may not know a little about everything, but he does know a great deal about a little.

The time has come to make a careful survey and to consider the remark made recently by Dr. Robert Ulich who said. "The condition in which the system of education finds itself in this country is nothing short of catastrophic.

After a period of discussion Mrs. W. R. Park extended an appropriate vote of thanks to Mr. Edinborough and tea was served.

Preparations for the annual spring fair are well under way and announcements will soon be made.

WEDDINGS

BLAKE—CARTER

A wedding of wide interest took place in Picton, on Wednesday afternoon, March 16th., at Calvary Baptist Church, when Lillian Rhea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Carter, Picton, was united in marriage to Stuart Leslie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Blake, Foster Avenue, Belleville. The Reverend Peter E. Reid, officiating. Arums and palm standards of pink and white snapdragons adorned the altar.

The wedding music was played by Miss Ruby Brown, who wore a gown of navy crepe, with accents of pink, shattered carnations. Preceding the ceremony, the soloist, Mrs. George Delaney, of Trenton, attractively gowned in navy sheer, with corsage of pale pink, shattered carnations, sang "God Gave Me You," and during the signing of the register, "Because."

To the strains of the wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin," the bride, charming in her gown of heavy, ivory satin, featuring a fitted bodice, small peplum, sweetheart neckline edged with wide, Normandie heirloom lace, which had been worn on her mother's wedding dress; long, tight-fitting sleeves, ending in lily points over the wrists; a full-gathered, floor-length skirt; silver slippers, corset of seed pearls, and orange blossoms, cresting her long veil of embroidered tulle illusion, wearing a pearl necklace, and carrying a basic bouquet of red Briercliffe roses, stephanotis, maiden hair fern, tied with a large bow of white satin, with accents of satin, was escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Robert J. Carter, and given in marriage by her father.

Miss Marjorie Carter, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore an ice-blue satin, fashioned in Queen Anne style, with tight-fitted bodice, pointed at the front. The skirt was full-gathered and floor-length, and the neckline was low cut, V-shaped with small encircling frills, long pointed sleeves, and a halo hat, banded with pink roses. Silver slippers, a necklace of pearls, and a classic bouquet of Briar Time roses, tied with Angel Mist brocaded satin, completed the ensemble.

The groomsman was Mr. James Blake, brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Mickie Carter, Picton, brother of the bride, and Donald Gorslene, of Belleville.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was profusely decorated with pink and white streamers, spring flowers, and white wedding bells.

The bride's mother wearing a dress of wedgewood blue crepe, with corsage of red Better Time roses and the bridegroom's mother in a two-piece dress of navy checked jersey corsage of red Better Time roses, assisted by Mrs. G. Meagher, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a smart suit of grey glen plaid, and Mrs. William Rowland, in a dress of flowered crepe, received the many guests.

Mr. Robert Carter proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom, followed by a solo, "When You Come Home."

The bride's table was lovely with its white damask cloth, centered with the three-tiered wedding cake and tall rose-colored candles in crystal holders; those who assisted in serving were: Mrs. Kenneth Henry, in American Beauty bengaline; Mrs. Ralph Myatt, in wine colored velvet, Miss Kay Brown, in rose crepe, and Mrs. Robert Carter in American Beauty taffeta, with gold necklace and belt, and wearing a corsage of white carnations.

Assisting the sisters of the bride, Susan, Carol Ann, and Rosemary were frocked alike in taffeta of navy blue and white, respectively, with corsages of pink sweet peas.

For going away, the bride chose a bridal blue zabardine suit with black accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a set of Pickwick silverware, and a double-strand necklace of pearls; to the best man, a watch, and to the ushers, gold tie sets.

The bride's gift to the bridegroom was an engraved gold ring, and to the bridesmaid, usher, and soloist, Royal English china cups and saucers.

The bride received her bouquet from her mother and the bridesmaid's was separated and presented to their grandmother, Mrs. John G. Carter, Picton, and to a beloved friend, Mrs. Thana Thorn, in the Prince Edward County Hospital.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Blake; Mr. and Mrs. W. Rowland; Mr. and Mrs. G. Meagher, Misses Ruby Armstrong and Joan Rowland, Mr. Geno Tomaso, all of Belleville.

The happy couple left amid a shower of rice and confetti to honeymoon in Toronto and points west, on their return will reside in Belleville.

Many beautiful gifts were received and consisted of silver, china, crystal and linen.

RAWDON

Bethal W.A. Sponsors Supper and Program

Rawdon, Mar 21.—On St. Patrick's eve about thirty guests enjoyed a delicious supper in Bethel United Church sponsored by the W.A. A full course meal was served with bacon and eggs as a special feature.

The pastor, Rev. H. C. Vachlavik, was master of ceremonies and he also gave a splendid address on Canadianism, with interesting scenes of his native land.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth rendered several vocal duets with guitar accompaniment.

Mr. Maurice Bell and Mrs. H. West of Stirling delighted with a couple of musical numbers banjo and piano.

Mr. Gerald Taylor of Burnbrae contributed two piano selections on the piano.

Several guest were present from Wellman's, Mount Pleasant, Salem and Stirling.

The evening was a decided success despite the fact there were several other attractions in the surrounding district.

Club Activities

ENERGETIC CLUB

The regular meeting of Holloway Street Church Energetic Club was held at the church on Friday evening.

After a short devotional and business period the club was favored with a piano duet by Maureen and Lana Wyatt. Mrs. Bell then sang a beautiful solo.

Two interesting colored films were presented and very much enjoyed. After a few games refreshments were served by Madge and Milton Burtt and their group who were in charge of the evening.

After the reading of the Tattler, Dr. Wyatt gave a brief but interesting account of his trip to Ireland.

Stay put in your frame, Mr. Withers!

IN HIS DAY, Mr. Withers was considered a very able life insurance agent.

The idea of life insurance was pretty new then. And Mr. Withers had to keep his foot in the door most of the time as he tried to convince people that this type of protection was worth what it cost.

He served his generation well. But times have changed!

People no longer need to be told about the value of life insurance. What they need now is advice on the amount and the kind of life insurance they should own.

And the modern life insurance representative has kept up with the times.

Now he gives competent advice on how to arrange your life insurance to take care of all the money problems that arise in connection with protection and retirement.

These problems are more complex than they were in Mr. Withers' time. And there are many more kinds of policies available. Thus your agent's help is even more necessary in order to build a sound, well-balanced life insurance programme.

Today more than a million Canadian families have benefitted from the experience and advice of the life insurance agent!

A helpful citizen in your community

When your agent sells you life insurance, he also helps to improve your community. For a large part of each life insurance dollar is put to work, through investments, to build schools, bridges, highways, industrial plants and many other projects that create jobs and make for better living.

You share in these improvements, made possible through the efforts of your helpful fellow-citizen—the modern life insurance agent!

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Don't put emphasis in wrong place

One of the ways to make a marriage a success is to learn to discriminate between the things that are really important and those that are not. To put the emphasis in the wrong place is a very sure way to bring about marital disaster.

One of my correspondents, who has had a big disappointment over her husband's choice of a new home, is I am afraid in danger of making this very mistake.

She tells me that she and her husband had been saving for ten years to build a home. Then the rented house they lived in was sold, and they were forced to move, and instead of building a bungalow in the suburbs of the city where they live, as she had been anticipating, her husband insisted upon buying an old house right in the city. His reason was, that it was easier for him to get to work by living there than to commute from the suburbs. She on her side, says that the suburban place would have meant no more than a ten-minute bus ride and a walk of about four short blocks for him to get to work instead of the two blocks he now walks.

"I hate the place he bought," she writes, "because I did without so much to save money for the home I wanted, while he never denied himself a thing. It wasn't a matter of finances either, because the simple bungalow I wanted wouldn't have cost any more than this old house.

"Since I love my husband, I have always done just what he wanted without an argument. Now everything has changed, and we are constantly arguing. My husband tells me I am selfish, because I would rather have a new home than have him near his work. I think he is the selfish one because that isn't far for him to commute.

"We have been married four-teen years, but have no children, so I am thinking about going to work because I am unhappy at home."

Now I can well understand that it was a very bitter disappointment for this woman to have to give up her dream home out in the country and accept a city house she didn't like. And, frankly, I think I agree that it seems as though her husband might have been willing to spend a few extra moments on the way to work in order that she might have the home for which she had planned and saved so long. After all, a woman spends most of her time in her home, so it is pretty important to her that it shall be one in which she is happy and which she enjoys making pretty.

At the same time, in the last analysis, which is more important to her, a house or a husband?

Presumably, since she is still living with her husband, and since she loves him, as she says, she has, enough to have lived with him fourteen years, her husband is the most important. That being the case, I think she would be wise, now that the thing is done, to make up her mind that she will do her best to make an attractive, home-like place of the house, and not let it be the cause of bitterness between them. If she keeps on arguing and quarrelling about the matter, she will only make herself more unhappy, and might even end up by finding herself without a husband. How happy would she be, then, in her house?

I think it would be a very good idea for her to go to work, if she wishes to do so, for it would also relieve the brooding over, and dwelling up in her mind, what she feels is an injustice that has been done her, and will give her a new interest in life. But I hope for her own sake that she will make up her mind to accept the situation as it is, and stop making an issue of it. Otherwise, she may find she has a major tragedy to cope with instead of a merely a big disappointment.

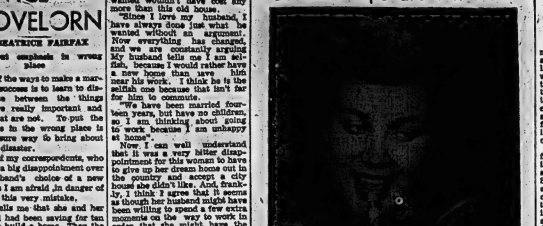
Fashion Flashes



HANDLED in the fashion of the popular wool jersey two-some, is a blouse of wool jersey and matching skirt of the same weight in navy heavier. Blouse has one-button closing below deep rolled neckline; easy skirt has peg-top pockets. Completing the costume is a fringed shawl of the blouse weight.

VERY SOON now and until late summer, you'll be wearing either a big hat or a very small, cap-like model. A town sailor with wide brim and narrow crown, is of straw that looks like drink-sippers, in a basket weave. Narrow crown band of black velvet and a fine, chenille-dotted veil for a hat that goes with suits and dresses, morning or afternoon.

THE FASHION STORY this season is told in terms of fabrics. Yards of pale blue silk taffeta is the fabric chosen for a lovely Dior summer evening dress. The bodice, which closes at one side with fabric-covered buttons, has one strap, one bare shoulder, and is almost covered by a huge, slanting self-bow. Skirt is very full.

SCOOP UP a cashmere cardigan in navy, red, white or in a flower-pastel color to wear with your silks and your pretty cottons, not only for resort wear come Spring and Summer, but for town wear, too, and especially nice with the shirtwaist-type frock so good this year. Grand also with a blouse and skirt costume.

Beautiful Lips are An Asset

A colorless lip pomade, applied right on top of your regular make-up, will guard lips against pain ful chapping. It's stainless, inconspicuous.

By HELEN FOLLETT

FACIAL beauty depends to a certain extent upon soft, well-kept and perfectly-molded lips. Operators who specialize in facial treatments give extra attention to these features, claiming that the "down-in-the-mouth" look, acquired by customers who are given to fretting, can be erased by proper massage. The customer, of course, must do her part between treatments, must keep the lip ends lifted.

All the movements are very light, very sure, and done with a certain rapidity. Fay Ad. you can give yourself this treatment; it only takes fifteen minutes and it is time well spent.

Tissue Cream

A fine tissue cream is applied. With a rotary motion of the thumb, one transverses the lip borders, several times to the right, as many times to the left. Then, placing the first finger in the centre of the upper lip, thumb at one corner, second finger on the other, draw the lip up into a Cupid's bow. This movement should be done seven or eight times.

Starting at the lip ends, smooth toward the centre. The purpose is to strengthen the surrounding fibres. When treating the under lip, continue until the fingers meet in the centre of the upper lip.

Lifting Lips

Another movement is known as "fluting". It is a gentle and quick lifting of the lips, first with one finger, then with the others. It is supposed to give the lips that lovely fullness that one finds in children's mouths, and it will create a youthful freshness that has appeal. If the lips are full naturally, the "fluting" movement should be omitted.

The treatment ends with a compress of ice water. Dip a piece of absorbent cotton or gauze in the water, place over the lips. It should be changed several times. Dry the flesh thoroughly before playing with the many lipstick.

Don't let your lips get cracked and chapped. To prevent this, apply a colorless lip pomade after you have put on your lipstick. It is stainless, colorless and inconspicuous.

When liver patches are present, creams should be used freely

To use strong bleaching agents is not safe. Their purpose is to remove the outer layers of the skin, and there is danger of infection. A mild whitening lotion, one that cannot possibly cause any kind of disturbance is made by combining equal parts of strained lemon juice and peroxide. This mixture must be from a bottle that has just been opened. Your reporter does not promise that it will clear away the discolorations, but sometimes it does that little thing much to the satisfaction of the afflicted one.

A few drops of simple tincture of benzoin added to the water when washing one's hands may bring on a light state of dermatitis that removes dead skin cells. Beware not to get the compound tincture; it is not soluble in water, forms a gummy mass.

When moth spots or liver patches are present, creams should be used freely with light friction.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Moth patches and liver spots

Let's give the liver its due. It may be responsible for discomfort and grouches, but it is not at all likely that it has anything to do with discolorations that appear on the skin. They pop out only on the face and hands, and parts of the body that are exposed to the elements—strong, biting winds, sunlight that scorches. Like freckles, they are due to a change in the pigment of the epidermal covering.

Chloasma is the correct name for these blemishes. They come in different forms. Every woman who has them hates them. Some, of a light color, look like enlarged freckles. They may increase in size; often several of them will unite and darken, forming an ugly patch. Sometimes the skin thickens and layers of fungus appear, causing a rough surface.

Where there are liver spots there are often small warts—as if the spots themselves were not sufficiently distressing! These ugly things are the curse of old age, though they may appear in the middle forties. In youth, warts come and go; after middle-age, they become permanent residents. However, they are easily removed. Skin specialists use electrolysis or the X-ray and there are several other methods of annihilation. No home treatment should be attempted.

The so-called senility wart should have professional attention, for it may become malignant. This type develops rapidly, has a broken base and bleeds easily. Warts are harmless.

Moth or liver patches will disappear. Some are summer visitors, looming up in all their dark horror during the hot days, soon only to fade away when the leaves begin to fall.

The Portable Radio now welcome In Public Places

Public Nuisance: The "charas-ter" who turns on his or her portable radio in any public room or public conveyance where people are trying to read or think or relax. It's particularly maddening in a hotel writing room or lounge room; on a train, on the beach or on a hotel porch; or in a bus or train where one can't escape its persistent annoyance.

Addressing an Easter Card to doctor and his wife

Dear Mrs. Beecknan:

I would like to send an Easter card to my doctor, who has been most kind to me. I sometimes see him and his wife in our church, but I have never met her. Should I address the card to him only, at his office, or to "Dr. and Mrs" Patient

Address the Easter card to "Dr. and Mrs. Henry Lane", even though you do not know his wife and mail it to their house-address.

Is it necessary to greet person on answering Telephone

Dear Mrs. Beecknan:

When you know all the members of a family very well and you telephone to the one you know particularly well, is it absolutely necessary to say a special greeting to the one who answers the telephone? My friend Betty has a sister who always 'leaps' to answer the telephone before she is asked, and it rings.

I merely ask to speak to Betty, my friend. Now my sister is complaining that I'm 'rude' because I don't greet her, just ask to speak to Betty. Must I change my ways?

Pauline

I think it would be a very good idea for you to change your way, spending more gracious when the sister or any other member of the family answers the telephone. Telephone-grace is an important amenity in our day-by-day life, and it will do you only a second or two to say, "Hello—Frances?" This is Pauline Harding. How are you?.... May I speak to Betty, please?

Proper to serve coffee as well as tea at tea-time

Dear Mrs. Beecknan:

Would I be criticized by "those who know" if I serve coffee, as well as tea, at an afternoon tea? I have served it at this time or the right background to invite friends to afternoon tea, but now that I am married am I have just moved into our own home, I would like to do this. But I like coffee so much better than I do tea, and find it liked by many of my friends. Hence my question.

Emily R.

Today many hostesses serve both tea and coffee at the tea-hour much to the joy of coffee-and-muffins like yourself and it is entirely proper. If the occasion is A Tea, with the dining-table or other large table set at the tea-table, the tea service, presided over by one of the hostess' friends, is at one end of the table, and at the opposite end is the coffee service, presided over by another friend. Sometimes also a caffeine-less coffee is served.

Women's Activities

CANNITON W.A.

The March meeting of the Canniton W.A., was held in the Sunday School rooms with Mrs. F. Putnam, and Mrs. F. Furmidge in charge of the dinner. The table, at which a large number of members sat down at 1.30 p.m., was quite attractive with its bouquets of Spring flowers.

The President, Mrs. Farnham, presided. It is an encouraging report was given by the Treasurer, Mrs. A. Holgate, after which Mrs. Williams read the Scripture lesson from Ephesians 6, followed by a reading on "Responsible Parenthood", by Mrs. Farnham.

It was decided to form a committee to visit some ladies who attended the meeting, but who do not quilt, to ask if they would be willing to do some plain sewing, while present.

Mrs. Furmidge sang a solo, entitled "I Would Be True", accompanied by Mrs. H. Empson at the piano. After various discussions, and the routine business to be attended to, the meeting was dismissed.

Beautiful New Blouse

By ALICE ALDEN

SHOPPING for a blouse the season isn't as open and shut affair at all. There is such a wealth of beautiful blouses available in all price ranges and for all purposes, that it requires real mental fibre to stay within its budget. Dorothy Malone of the movies, likes blouses and this is one of her newest selections. It is fashioned of white crepe, with wide tucks to soften its tailored simplicity. Rhinestone studs and cuff links add a bit of sparkle. This is a good selection for either suit or separate skirt wear.

THE NEED FOR reducing

Proper diet is essential for controlling weight. Most overweight occurs because the body takes in more food than it can use up as energy, and the excess is stored as fat. Bring your weight down to normal by a reducing diet. Check fat right at the start. Serve Canada Bread Gluten Bread. Contains Gluten Flour which reduces your Starch intake, yet provides a good source of Protein.

FOR THE REDUCING DIET WE RECOMMEND GENUINE GLUTEN BREAD

New $250,000 School Proposed By Centre Hastings Area Board

Marmora, Mar. 21. — Centre Hastings will have a new high school to be erected in be village of Marmora, at an estimated cost of $250,000, members of the Centre Hastings High School Area decided at a meeting held here.

Endorsing a new building program for the area, officials also decided to erect additions to the Tweed and Madoc High Schools.

The area, it was pointed out, will have an assessment of eight million dollars. The Department of the cost of the construction and operation of the schools when completed. The high school tax rate for the area for 1949 was set at four mills. T. S. Moffat, Tweed, was appointed supervising principal for the area.

Later, members of the Board and Principals of high schools of the area including T. S. Moffatt, Tweed; H. R. Partridge, Madoc; and W. R. Hamilton, Marmora; with Inspector R. H. Macklem, Bellerville, secretary of County Board for organization of larger school areas; and Inspector R. D. Reid, Toronto, sat down to a fine chicken dinner in St. Andrew's Church hall, Marmora, on Thursday evening. The supper was served by Marmora Women's Institute. Reeve W. M. Lynch of Marmora village, capably performed the duties of toast master.

Following "The King" a pleasing solo was rendered by Mrs. L. R. Rundle and H. W. Sabine proposed the toast to "The Department of Education". This was replied to in interesting style by Inspector Rendall.

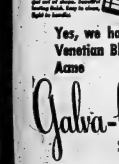
The toast "Centre Hastings Area School Board" was submitted by Charles H. Ruskard, Reeve of Deloro, with response forthcoming from Dr. S. Eagleson, Madoc, chairman of the Board.

The final toast, "The Women's Institute" was handled by Councillor Richie Wells and it was replied to in gracious manner by Mrs. E. C. Prentice, president of the organization.

Mrs. Urena Pinner Celebrates Her 95th Birthday

Marmora—On Friday, Mrs. Urena Pinner quietly celebrated her 95th birthday at her home here. In spite of her advanced age, she is enjoying fairly good health, and is able to look after her household as usual.

One of the best known and highly esteemed residents of the district, she has a host of friends who join in wishing her a number of more years of health and happiness.



She has one son Fred, who resides with her and two daughters, Mrs. T. J. Butler of Toronto and Mr. George Hartley, of Marmora.

Dramatic Club Presents Pleasing 3-Act Comedy

Marmora — Marmora Town Hall was filled to capacity on Thursday evening for the presentation of the three act drama in three acts of "Nora Wake Up." The play was presented by the Dramatic Club of Sacred Heart Church under the direction of Mrs. James Black.

The cast included some who were making their first appearance in a dramatic role and all are to be congratulated on the pleasing manner in which they took their various parts. It was one of the funniest comedies ever put on for a Marmora audience, and the large crowd greatly enjoyed it.

The Cast

The cast of characters was as follows:

Bridget Honora Calahan, (Nora), an up-to-date daughter—Verna Blanche Black.

Mrs. Peggy Calahan, her old-fashioned mother — Mrs. Peter Brawley.

Carlyle Coleridge, a tramp, for his health — William Meeks.

Johnny Calahan, Mrs. Calahan's son — Leonard Begley.

Danny Millens, Johnny's friend, in love with Nora — Ray Black.

Mrs. Edmonton, an ultra-modern mother — Mrs. Carl Heath.

Edmond Edmonton, her son, a four-flusher — Bernard Finnegan.

Katie Schwartz, an obliging neighbor — Miss Patricia Bradley.

Time, any summer; place, Mrs. Calahan's home.

Special Numbers

Specialties presented were:

After Act 1: Song, "Galway Bay," Rev. H. J. Farrell; encore, "Little Mother of Mine"; "A Bouquet of Irish Roses," by Audrey Black, Patricia Lynch, Marjorie Hughes, Patricia Bradley, Verna Black, Cecile Black.

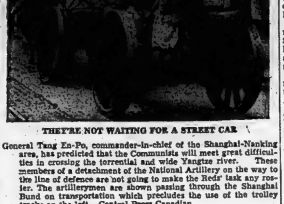
After Act 2: "Rosy O'Moore, an Irishman's Idea of Love," by Patricia Brady, Patricia Lynch, Marjorie Hughes, Audrey Black, Ray Durrah, Ray Black, Carl Johnston, Michael Forestell.

Accompanist, Mrs. J. Black.

The play was repeated on Friday evening.

Sees India Democratic State, Never Communist

Kitchener, March 21 (CP) — Communism will never control India, the 8,000 year old country now in the concluding stages of forming a genuine democracy, Sardar Hridi Singh Malik, high commissioner for India in Canada, said here Saturday.



"Not many, through the constitution being drafted by the constituent assembly, evolve into a republic which will make us an independent nation, but those concerning themselves with the drafting of the constitution are seeking some formula which will give us a continuing link with the commonwealth," he said.

He said that while India now is in much the same position in the British Commonwealth as Canada, its future relation to the commonwealth will not be clearly defined until the constitution is completed and ratified by the people.

"Whatever evolves India will be a democracy with equal rights and protection for Moslem, Hindu, Christian, Jew or any other class of citizen. It will be a nation founded upon the broadcast principles of freedom and intensely democratic," he said.

INDIA BUILDS SHIPS

Vizagapatam, India — (CP) — The third India-built ship, Kutubtara, was launched here recently. A small passenger and cargo vessel, it is intended for coastal traffic and can carry 646 passengers and 380 tons of cargo.

THEY'RE NOT WAITING FOR A STREET CAR

General Tang En-Po, commander-in-chief of the Shanghai-Nanking area, has predicted that the Communists will meet great difficulties in crossing the torrential and wide Yangtze river. These members of a detachment of the National Artillery on the way to the line of defence are not going to make the Reds' task any easier. The artillerymen are shown passing through the Shanghai Bund on transportation which precludes the use of the trolley tracks on the left.—Central Press Canadian.

Century-old Home Near Actinolite Burns to Ground

Tweed, Special—Another link with the pioneer past of Hastings County was severed on Friday afternoon when the 100-year-old frame house of Carman Klein-stuber, farmer residing two miles east of Actinolite was totally destroyed by fire.

Practically all the contents of the house was destroyed, firefighters being able to salvage a few pieces of furniture.

It is believed that sparks from the chimney ignited the roof of the old home. The amount of insurance carried by Mr. Kleinstuber was not ascertained.

D.P.'S RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Kingston, March 21 (CP)—Seventeen displaced persons, who have worked in the Kingston area for the past year, have been awarded certificates permitting them to move freely throughout Canada now that they have been in Canada for a year. Lithuanian-born Bronc Kruopyte, speaking in concise English on behalf of the group, thanked Alderman Stuart Crawford, who made the presentation.

Cloyne Man Dies Of Injuries When Hit by Branch

Tweed (Special)—Fatally injured while felling a tree near his home at Cloyne, Ont., William O'Brien died in Bellevville General Hospital on Saturday evening from a fractured skull.

Employed with the Sawyer-Stoll Company, O'Brien who was not working on Saturday decided to cut wood for the family needs.

The tree he was felling became lodged in two branches of another and during his attempt to free it, O'Brien suffered a severe blow on the head from a falling branch.

He was taken to hospital by Bush's Ambulance of Tweed and succumbed to his injuries a short time after admittance.

O'Brien leaves a wife and three children. The funeral will be held on Tuesday from Kaladar.

BURR'S

BURR'S W.A.

Burr's — The twenty-third anniversary of Burr's W.A. was featured by a birthday supper at Allisonville hall, Tuesday evening with seventy members present.

Four tables, centred with lovely flowering plants were laid in green and white, with Shamrock motifs.

The program in charge of Rev. J. F. Lane opened with the singing of the Doxology, Instrumental numbers on the piano, accordion and saxaphone were given by Mr. C. Reid and Mrs. K. Wood and Mr. Hugo Diggins; readings were contributed by Rev. J. F. Lane, Miss C. Tait and Mrs. K. Wood, Misses Doris Clark and Donna Parks favored with a song.

Mrs. D. Harris, W.A. president, thanked all who assisted in making the evening a success. Messrs K. VanCott and P. Chase were door attendants. Proceeds were over $90.00.

RESCUES BOYS TRAPPED IN ICY WATERS

2. The two children had ventured too far out on the thin Lake St. Joseph ice. Almost before they knew what had happened, the ice broke and they both fell in.

2. Frantic, and blue with cold, the two lads floundered and splattered. Our picture, at right, shows 4 year-old Andre clutched his brother's clothing.

3. Dorocher tried to calm the frightened pair as he reached towards them with a long stick. He got Claude safely out . . . and then rescued little Andre who was just about to give up!

ALFRED DUROCHER

of Dorchester, Ont., calmly and coolly rescued Claude and Andre Bruneault

The two boys had ventured about 19 feet out when the ice broke and they both tumbled in. Durocher, hearing cries for help, rushed to the scene and crawled out on the thin ice, telling the boys to stay calm. With the help of a stick, he succeeded in getting them both out of the water.

On the way back to shore he had great difficulty in forcing the youngsters to crawl . . . but he finally managed to get them to safety. His action won him The Dow Award.

Fergus Defeats Marmora 3-1 First Game Midget Finals

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Marmora, Ont.—A stout-hearted bevy of teen-aged puck chasers lost a tough battle here on Saturday night when the stars of Fergus Midgets edged them 3-1 in one of the best games played this winter on this village's brand new arena ice. It was the first game of the goals-to-count Midget "C" championship series.

In all fairness to Coach Mel. Borland's team, it must be said that Bill Brown, one of Marmora's star wingmen, was down in a battle with the flu, while other players got out of a sick bed to keep the date with the OMHA finalists.

But the gallant kids representing Hastings County carried the battle all the way to the classy loemen from Fergus. Several hundred howling fans cheered Percy Gray's youngsters to the echo as they battled in what proved to be a lost cause.

Good Hockey

It was minor championship hockey all the way. Both teams gave definite evidence of why they were in the tihular brackets. Six penalties were handed out by Referees Perry Everett and Bill Holway of Belleville two of them majors plus a Trumble of Marmora and Tweddle of Fergus when the boys dropped their sticks and gloves and started to throw punches.

The teams battled through a sizzling first period with J. Dobby, Fergus, landing out with a superlative display of netminding. Time after time the opposing Marmora front lines raced in on his citadel to be turned back by his net wizardry.

Fergus, cheered on by a large group of Glengarry-hatted supporters grabbed a 2-1 lead in the initial period, when Cesar, their young first-line centre notching both goals. Landoni got an assist on the second marker.

Marmora swung back into the picture when George Mantle slashed home Dick Meehan's pass late in the period.

Marmora battled desperately in a scoreless second period which produced the best hockey of the night. Both goalies stood out with fine efforts as swooping forwards raced in on them.

Tweddle, another Fergus star sired home the insurance goal after six minutes of the third period scoring umpteen.

The second game will be played in Fergus on Tuesday night. It is expected that Marmora will be at full strength and the Hastings County kids are confident they can turn the tables on their starry opposition, and bring the championship beson back to their native village.

The Teams

Fergus—Goal, J. Dobby; defence Tweddle, Hannah; centre Gear; wings, Landoni, R. Dobby; subs, Mooney, Brown, Brown, Brown, Mueller, Clarke, Campbell.

Marmora — Meehan, Brooks, Drummond, Mantle, Jones, Darragh, Munley, Nicholson, Trumble, Peranick, Walker, Kouri, McNally.

Penalties—Mortimer, Stephenson.

Sherbrooke Wins In Three Straight

Sherbrooke, March 21 (CP) — Sherbrooke St. Francis ousted Quebec Aces from the Quebec Senior Hockey League playoffs by scoring a 6-4 overtime victory before a capacity crowd here Sunday. It was the Saints third straight win over the Aces in the best-of-five series.

A goal by Manny McIntyre at 1:28 of the overtime session proved to be the margin of victory for the Saints in a game which saw the Aces put up their best effort of the series. Sherbrooke won the other two games handily by 5-1 and 5-2 scores.

Tony Demers led the Sherbrooke marksmen with two goals while McIntyre, Marcel Filion and Kelly Burnett notched the others. The Quebec counters went to George Schiller, Ray Marshall, Punch Imlach and Phil Renaud.

Edmonton Wins Northern Crown

Edmonton, March 21 (CP) — Edmonton Athletic Club Saturday night captured the Northern Alberta junior hockey title by trouncing Wetaskiwin Canadians 9-3.

EAC now will tangle with Calgary Buffaloes of the Western Canada Junior League for the provincial championship and the right to continue along the Memorial Cup trail. Dates for the series have not yet been announced.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

ANATOMICALLY SPEAKING

They tell us (we were in Marmora looking over the midget teams at that big and coming village Saturday evening) that the Upper Canada College hockey team of junior "B" fame, which made the grade from its fast ear young Mr. Norman Jewison, who covered the beat for this department is of the opinion that the knowledge-imbibing Hogtowners are more or less prone to breaking a limb or something else by the direct application of the end of a hockey shillalagh, any amount of malary at the moment vouchsafed. Jewison, a fan of a decent rifle by the name method; cudgelling the medulla oblongata; (or hair-parting the hockey way), is thinking of an exposed tibia or fibula and of various raising hob with the anatomical set-up of any foeman who comes within reach of their weapons.

• • •

Just what the young gentlemen from honored U. C. C. had in mind when they invaded the fastness of this peaceful Metro village is hard to understand. It appears from the summary as garnered by our Mr. Lynch that mayhem was perched on the first order of the day. The fact that the collegians were sentenced to eleven sin-bin stretches as against three by our Rockets, is evidence enough, at the least of three nice boys from the ravines of King and Young Streets, not to mention the other canyons of the villa of Conny Smythe.

Suffice it to say, that while the barley-beards, or any other hirsute adornment of agriculture, favored by some of the opinion of these disciples of Toronto the Good? decorate the torsos of these Rockets of ours and while they, in the opinion of their city-dinker forbears may have provided a well known fertilizer clutterring up their boot-tops, they do not lack in that grand characteristic, intestinal fortitude. And we hope the honorable Premier Morgenson (Tely) takes note.

• • •

The insufferable attitude of some metropolitan teams supporters when they visit the "sticks" is enough to give a well-bred hound gastronomic trouble. The old cry of "Internet" which does not threaten when their favorites have lowered their dignity to the extent where they have to play "country" on the lower brackets, is a bit of a wet-gritz. If these upstartish young squirts, the most of whom think Canada is bordered on the north by Lansing; the south by Lake Ontario; the East by Buffalo and the west by Oakville, have the idea they are quideing Jack Benny or Fred Allen with their corny comedy, they are sadly mistaken.

Personally they are a distinct pain in the neck. And either parts. Fortunately it turns out good hockey teams. That has been proven. But why those who accompany these teams, especially fans of the lower brackets, feel it is necessary for they have to do is go through the motions because "we're from Tawranta" to whip a team from the outlying districts is more than we can understand.

• • •

However to get back to the business at hand. The Upper Canada College team, definitely had enough reserve strength on Saturday night to give the Rocks a thing or two to think about. They form a big husky hockey aggregation who think the beards are for other purposes than keeping the biscuit within the playing area. They hustled, tripped and in general did almost everything to give the Rocks headaches.

• • •

But they were opportunists, to say the least. They notched three of their five goals while they were shorthanded, and the opinion that despite the bigger low surface of the Maple Leaf Gardens, if Rockets swing back into style and play the hockey they are capable of, that they will knock off the Upper Canada College team in Toronto on Tuesday night.

• • •

That is something to be proven. Any defeat on Saturday night was the first in fifteen starts from the MacNaught-Cook crew and they won't be in any mood to be trifled with on Tuesday night when they invade the Gardens for the second game of the playdown series. It should be a thrill for the Rockets the majority of whom have never had a stick on the spacious ice surface of Conny Smythe's ice palace.

THE KIDS WERE GOOD!

Back in Marmora, a gallant little midget "C" squad belted gamely against a well-trained, well-coached team from Fergus in the OMHA Midget "C" championship series on Saturday night. The Marmora kids, without the services of their star right winger, Bill Brown, and with several still suffering from the after effects of Old Man Flu put up a spirited battle against their Western Ontario foemen. The latter hockey all the way through. The less was in excellent condition in the new arena and a large crowd turned out to cheer the hometown kids on to victory. But they weren't good enough. At last on Saturday. They did their best but the hard-checking Fergus front lines, aided and abetted by the admirable work of young Johnny Dobbs in the Scottish nets, turned back their goal-seeking efforts time and again.

DON'T TELL ME!

Well, well and well. What is this Peterborough Legionnaires defeated Kingston "Nylons nine to one. Shades of the thunder of Mike Rodden. Don't tell us that actually happened. Not Vilarelli's gang from the shadows of Frederick must have been injected with some atomic vitamins, or did Nylons revert back to their old-time form. In any event, it was, as Ella sheezed, all Legion, with the fame of Nylons attackers set at naught by the fury of the offensive and defensive play of Vilarelli's Vlamites. Tonight the scene is back at it again in Kingston. And in spite of Mr. Rodden's well-meant defence, Kingston, and in spite of

Rockets Juniors Lose First Game to Upper Canada College

By NORM LYNCH

The Belleville Junior Rockets found something more their meat Saturday night, but they bit off a piece that was a little too tough for them. Upper Canada College came into town Saturday night and handed them a 5-2 defeat before one of the largest crowds the Juniors have had this season.

"Come on Peter!" was the familiar call that resounded through the arena. Young Pete Jones played another one of his terrific games. He was all over the ice with the puck but his teammates were not able to keep the pace with him to give him too much support. He did score the first goal at the halfway mark of the first period though and he helped out on Don Hogan's great third period goal.

The Toronto squad caught on to one of the Rockets' few weak spots. They took advantage of the home team leaving a man uncovered around their net and scored three of their five goals on this weakness.

They took a 2-1 lead in the second chapter. One of the goals was a real heartbreaker. Bill MacKay came out of his net to stop Kennedy from scoring on him and the puck flipped over his stick and trickled into the corner of the net. From there on in they set the Rockets back on their heels and went ahead to score three goals in the third stanza.

The sparkling of the Toronto team was Ball who set up three of the goals and did an excellent job in the stickhandling department. Addison, O'Sullivan and Dougherty were the other marksmen for the winners. Cork, who is a very heavy player, put up a stonewall defence but Tommy Schrieder and "Holy Joe" Nolan were able to penetrate the defence but with little success in the scoring department.

Upper Canada spent more time in the penalty box than did the home team, drawing penalties mostly for boarding and tripping which is one of their main habits. They picked up 11 penalties to Belleville's three. The Rockets were unable to capitalize on this even when the Queen City boys had only three players on the ice.

Belleville were not quite up to their usual standard but they may be in better form when they meet the same team in the second game in this two-out-of-three series at the Gardens in Toronto on Tuesday night.

The teams:

Upper Canada: goal, Orr; defence, Cork, Addison; centre, Kennedy; wings, Hogarth, Ballsha, Hewitt, Baxos. Dougherty, O'Sullivan, Wahlroth, Metcalfe, Meredith, Hedges.

Rockets: goal, MacKay; defence, Schrieder, Taylor; centre, Truesell; wings, Green, D. Semark; subs, Nolan, Graham, Hogan, J. Semark, Bona, Jones, Barrett, Wright.

SUMMARY

1st Period—

1. Rockets—Jones (Wright) 10.35
Penalties:—O'Sullivan, Baxos, Addison, Hewitt, Ball, Hogan.

2nd Period—

2. U.C.C.—Addison 11.25
3. U.C.C.—Kennedy (Ball) 13.24

College Union May Favor "Pay" Athletes

London, Ont., March 21 (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Union may soon take a more lenient view of student athletes who "played for pay" before enrolling at a university.

The possibility that such students will be declared eligible before next autumn was revealed by Prof. Malcolm C. Hart of the University of Western Ontario, who was elected president of the board of referees at a meeting held by the board of governors of the Canadian Intercollegiate Union in Kingston Saturday.

Prof. Hart said tonight that it has been the policy of the CIU to consider students who accepted payment for their athletic ability ineligible for intercollegiate competition. However, he added, the point was discussed at Saturday meeting, and he believed that when the board of reference met after June 1 this ruling would be erased.

Professor Hart also announced that the University of Western Ontario had been accepted into the board of reference for the first time, making it a four university group, which includes McGill, Queen's, University of Toronto and Western.

Professor Hart said that boxing and wrestling, two sports that have hitherto been classified together have now been split. Western has moved from intercollegiate to senior classification in both sports, joining McGill, Varsity, Queen's and OAC.

A permanent secretary was also appointed by the board of reference at Saturday's meeting. He is J. P. Loosemore, of the University of Toronto. Loosemore, together with Prof. Hart, Vice President J. R. Kirkpatrick of McGill, T. R. Loudon, Varsity, and Dr. O. A. Carson of Queen's will form the executive of the board of reference.

Pittsburgh Ousted From American League Playoffs

(By The Canadian Press)

The Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League placed the most number of men—four including their goalie—on the two all-star teams, scored more goals and let in less than any other team in either the eastern or western division—301 and 173— yet landed out of the playoffs.

This little bit of mockery came about through an A.H.L. executive decision which said in the event of a tie in points the team with the most victories finishes ahead.

Cleveland Barons ruined the Pittsburgh hopes when they downed the first place St. Louis Flyers 7-3 Sunday night to give them the same number of points as Pittsburgh, 86. Cleveland has won 41 games and tied six while Pittsburgh has won 38 and tied 10.

Pittsburgh blew their chances of breaking the tie as they went down to a 2-1 defeat at Indianapolis, with Eddy Brunetsea's long goal in the first period and Don Morrison's sharp slap shot in the third giving Indianapolis the game and Pittsburgh the gate.

Pittsburgh got its only goal in the second period on a short rebound shot from Eddy Kobussen.

St. Louis Flyers dropped their final contest of the schedule but remained perched on top of the western loop with a slim one point margin over Indianapolis.

Cleveland's Bob Kelly led the attack with two goals, while center marksmen were Bob Carse, Johnny Holota, Church Russell, Frank Porteous and Bob Sellner.

Hec Pozzo, Steve Black and Tony Licari notched the St. Louis counters.

Providence Reds, in first place in the Eastern Division, defeated Springfield 2-1.

Providence meets St. Louis in the first game of the playoffs which start Tuesday.

Eddie Kullman, right winger, probably won't see action for at least ten days because of an eye injury he suffered in the second period.

Jack McGill and Johnny Chad scored for Providence while Springfield's Bill Summerhill notched their lone tally.

Hershey Bears edged New Haven Ramblers 7-6 and Buffalo swamped Philadelphia 9-4.

Saturday night, Pittsburgh defeated Indianapolis 4-2; Philadelphia downed New Haven 5-3; Providence gained a 7-3 win over Hershey; St. Louis won 5-2 over Cleveland and Buffalo handed Springfield a 8-4 setback.

Habs Chamberlain Honored by Home Town Fans, Team

Montreal, March 21 (CP)—Erwin Grenes Chamberlain, whom nobody knows except as Murph, was honored Saturday night at the game between Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens.

The citizens of Shawinigan, Que., his birth place, presented the National Hockey League veteran with three traveling bags and his teammates of Canadiens presented him with a watch and a sum of money duplicated by the Canadien management. The amount Murph received was not disclosed.

Chamberlain is playing in his 12th consecutive campaign in the National Hockey League. The Old Hardrock's last amateur play was with the Sudbury Frood Miners. He came to the NHL with Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1937-38 season and since has played with New York Americans, Boston Bruins and Canadiens.

With one game left this season — tonight's game at Detroit — Chamberlain has scored 99 goals in his NHL career.

Detroit Wins National Hockey League Title; Boston, Montreal Toronto Finish in That Order

By JOHN D. HAMILTON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Flying fists ushered out the 1948-49 National Hockey League season Sunday night as the four top teams jostled rudely for choice playoff positions.

Detroit Red Wings won the league championship going away but right to the bitter end it was doubtful who would take second place — Boston Bruins or Montreal Canadiens.

Boston finally clinched the berth by a single point with a 7-2 victory over the fourth-place Toronto Leafs while Montreal was losing a tough, 2-1 decision to Detroit.

The third game of the Sunday night closing program meant nothing to the Stanley Cup playoffs. In it, last-place New York slapped down fifth-place Chicago 5-1.

Now the four top teams go into the best-of-seven, semi - final series — Detroit meeting Montreal and Boston taking on Toronto. Opening games are Thursday night in Detroit and Boston.

Goalie Bill Durnan of Canadiens ended the season with only 138 goals scored against him — 19 less than his nearest competitor, Harry Lumley of Detroit. That made Durnan the winner of the Vezina Trophy as the best backstop in the league.

Roy Conacher of Chicago won the scoring championship with 68 points — 28 goals and 42 assists. That was two points better than teammate Doug Bentley's 66.

The final weekend of play brought plenty of action. On Saturday night, the Canadiens downed the Black Hawks 7-1. Billy Reay led the Montreal scorers with two counters while Tod Campeau, Roger Leger and Gus Cyr each scored the others.

Metro Prystai counted for Chicago.

Toronto started off a disastrous weekend with a 5-2 pounding from Detroit.

Sid Abel, Pat Lundy, Gordon Howe, Pete Horeck and Don McNab scored the Detroit goals, four of which came before Toronto tallied. Harry Watson and Bill Barilko replied for Toronto.

Sunday night's games — with a league meeting — were far more lively and trigger-tempers were going off all through the Montreal-Detroit tussle. Some 25 penalties were called, totalling 109 minutes. Detroit drew 16 of them for 75 minutes. At the end of the second period, a near-riot broke out and four misconducts were handed out. Detroit's Ted Lindsay drew four minors, a misconduct and a game misconduct.

Until the last period, it looked as if Montreal would win the game and hit the wire ahead of Boston. The Habs took a 1-0 lead in the second after a scoreless opening frame. Murph Chamberlain, scrappy Canadien veteran, fired in that first goal — his 100th of a 12-year N.H.L. career.

But in the tense last period Lindsay offset his penalties with a pair of goals that gave Detroit victory.

The Boston-Toronto game also was lively. Toronto, last year's Stanley Cup winner, held the Bruins scoreless in the first period but after that the roof fell in. Kenny Smith and Knobby Warwick each scored twice for the Bruins with Milt Schmidt, Fern Flaman and Jerry Toppazzini getting one each.

Cal Gardner and Teeter Kennedy were the Toronto scorers.

In the Chicago-New York fixture, Tony Leswick, Buddy O'Connor, Alex Kaleta, Pentti Lund and Nick Mickoski scored for New York in the last three counting in the final period. Chicago's lone goal was tallied by Gaye Stewart.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, March 20 (CP) — With the end of the hockey season comes the annual bevy of selections for the National League trophies but in Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson's book, the one which has lost much of its glamor is the Calder rookie award.

"When is a rookie, a rookie?" asks Ferg.

"Today," he says, "a rookie of 1948-49 can have played twenty games or less, in the preceding season, so that when he came into the league this season, he had the valuable advantage of one-third of a season in the National League, but was still eligible for the rookie prize.

"For, all we know, one player could win the award twice."

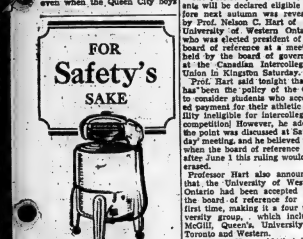
No Feature in It

Ferguson also thinks that winning the Calder trophy doesn't mean a lot or forecast a great future for the winner. To prove his point he recalls last year's all star team which did not have a single Calder trophy award.

"Only three rookies who dot the list of awards since 1932-33 when the late Frank Calder inaugurated the notion of encouraging the beginners, have proven real stars.

There was Sweeney Schriner, who won the trophy in 1934-35, and 14 years later is still good enough to be chosen on the all-star team of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.

The two other great stars were Syl Apps, prize rookie in 1937, who led numerous Toronto Maple Leaf teams to the Stanley Cup in his career and Frankie Brimsek, the Boston Bruins' Mr. Zero.



The others either didn't live up to expectations or the selectors "(including me) didn't know what they were doing," says Ferguson.

Ferg's Choice

His choice as the best of the crop this season is Pentti Lund of the New York Rangers, who had no less than nine rookies on their line-up this year. Lund has scored 16 goals in his first year out in major company.

Ferguson also gave the Leafs' Ray Timgren a nod but by-passed him because he only played about half the season.

CANADA PRODUCES SOME OF THE WORLD'S FINEST SALMON

When you taste salmon, exceptionally delicious and delicately flavoured, chances are it comes from the silver hordes spawned in the mighty Fraser and other mountain rivers of Canada's Pacific Coast.

Why Seagram's sells Canada first

This is an adaptation of one of a series of advertisements designed by The House of Seagram to promote the prestige of Canada and help sell Canadian products to the markets of the world.

The campaign is appearing in magazines and newspapers published in various languages and circulated throughout the world. The peoples of many lands are told about the quality of Canadian products and see Canadian scenes illustrating these products.

The advertisements are in keeping with the belief of The House of Seagram that the future of each business enterprise in Canada is inextricably bound up in the future of Canada itself; and that it is in the interest of every Canadian manufacturer to help the sale of all Canadian products in foreign markets.

A campaign such as this not only helps Canadian industries but also puts money in the pocket of every Canadian citizen. One dollar of every three we earn comes to us as a result of foreign trade. The more we can sell abroad the more prosperous we will be at home. It is with this objective that these advertisements are being produced and published throughout the world.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Space in a newspaper these days is scarce. Not much of it can be spared for any kind of drivel. If it is not likely that all points in a bridge hand will be covered by one slug.

You see again shown this pair of hands:

SOUTH
♠ J 3
♥ J 8
♦ A K Q 7 4
♣ 10 7 6 2

NORTH
♠ A 8 7 6 4 2
♥ 7 5 3
♦ 9 8 5
♣ A K 9

The bidding reported was like this:

South	North
1 D	3 S
4 D	5 S
4 S	4 NT
5 H	6 S

The immediate one-jump response of two spades by north was a promise of six tricks, inasmuch as south had bid spades. In fact, he has four sure tricks.

In answer to four no-trump, five hearts shows one ace and one king. This told north the opponents held one ace and one king. In spite of this, north went to the small slam.

What north did was on the assumption that south had what he promised, South is entirely at fault. What did his bid promise?

His opening promised five tricks, four high cards, two aces. He has the five tricks and two aces. But only three high. He is by a queen or king or ace for a sound opening one bid.

His diamond suit was rebidable. But his bid of three diamonds was a raise in number. Each raise shows another trick. He does not have the sixth trick that goes with the increase.

His four spade bid is also a raise. And he lacks the additional trick for it. Furthermore, jack and small ace not adequate support for a rebiddable suit. It needs at least queen and one. Some partners are capable. Some are capable of anything.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 31 (AP) — Today 100 workers descend on the Old Vitagraph lot to start converting it to a television studio. They are advised to tread lightly, for many a ghost walks the place. The shades of faded film favorites walk its creaking boards. It seems ironical that these still-to-the-wing should be stirred by the new and fierce medium — television.

Back in 1895, Albert E. Smith, J. Stuart Blackton and "Pop" Rock founded Vitagraph in New York. They started by making minute-long flickers, gradually worked up to one-reels, then 2-reels.

In the 1910s, the movie industry began its westward search for more sun. The film makers left New York and New Jersey for Southern California, where the tropical clime permitted better outdoor shooting.

Vitagraph set up shop in Santa Monica in 1911, but the fog drove the studio inland. In 1923 the company bought 30 acres at the end of Hollywood Boulevard and the studio began its long career.

Glittering Names.

The years have dimmed the glittering names that worked for the old Vitagraph Company. Larry Semon, Jean Paige, Percy Marmont and Bill Duncan are unknown to present generations. The original versions of "Captain Blood" and "The Three Musketeers" were made on the lot.

In 1926, Vitagraph found itself being overtaken by new and more adventurous film makers. The company sold out for several million to four up-and-coming brothers named Warner.

The Warners are added new glamour to the Vitagraph lot. The brothers' biggest star lacked wet pasted and scrambled over its rocks and hills. He was Rin-Tin-Tin.

Flop and Flood.

The lot was the scene of the great flood for "Noah's Ark", one of Warners' biggest flops.

Exhibit A was used for John Barrymore's "Moby Dick." For a storm scene, a wall of water was dumped upon Barrymore's ship, one washing the cruising actor overboard.

The studio experienced a strange activity in 1929. Cotton fields were hailed to the walls of the stages and the actors talked and ate black beans. The first all-talkie and all-color musical, "On With the Show" was filmed here. The star was Betty Compson.

Joe E. Brown, Louis Fazenda, Richard Lake, Ralph Graves.

The huge theatre set, which still stands, was the scene for many Warner musicals including "42nd. Street" and the Gold Diggers series.

AI AT LLOYD'S

Dunedin, N. Z. (CP) — New Zealand claims to have the oldest ship on Lloyd's register — the steamer Ben Lomond which plies on Lake Wakatipu, in the South Island. Built in 1872, the ship has been in continuous commission ever since.

AT THE CAPITOL — Fay Bainter, Dan Dailey and Barbara Lawrence are enthralled by the fabulous prospects of Broadway fame and fortune which Charles Winninger promises them when vaudeville comes back — in "Give My Regards to Broadway," the new 20th. Century-Fox Technicolor musical, opening today at the Capitol Theatre for its first Belleville showing. Matinee daily at 2.00 p.m.

Woman Suffers Serious Injuries In Car Crash

Exeter, Ont., March 31 (CP) — Mrs. Annie Shields, 75, of Goderich, is in Goderich hospital in what is described as "very serious" condition as a result of an automobile accident on No. 4 highway two miles south of here Saturday.

Mrs. Shields received fractures to both legs and a severe scalp wound when the car in which she was a passenger, driven by Brian Olmslie, 23, of Goderich, struck the rear of a machine driven by John L. Donovan, R. C. A. F. station, Centralia.

Almslie received a cut on the right knee but Donovan and his wife escaped with slight injuries.

Roy Conacher of Chicago is the 1940-41 National League scoring champion. Conacher and his linemate Doug Bentley, who outdistanced the field in the last half of the campaign, finished in that order with 52 and 50 points. Neither of the Black Hawks sharpshooters collected a point in the last two games. Detroit's Ted Lindsay potted two goals Sunday night and wound up in a third-place tie with clubmate Sid Abel, who notched a single tally. Abel topped the goal-getters with 26 counters, while Doug Bentley led the assists column with 43.

Three More Paintings By Pioneer Artist Hung on Exhibition

Toronto, March 31 — (CP) — Three additional paintings by Paul Kane, pioneer Canadian artist, have been hung on exhibition at the Royal Ontario Museum beside some 100 canvasses which he painted a century ago.

Kane painted more than 100 canvasses depicting Indian life following a two-year trip to the Canadian and American west.

The three new paintings in the collection, on loan, are two portraits, one of Kane himself and the other of a friend, Wilson S. Conger, late mayor of Peterborough. The third is a canvas painted during Kane's tour of Europe.

Guadalupe, Calif. (AP)—Guadalupe has gone to the dogs. City Clerk Lorraine Spicer makes this census report to the CRC council:

Population: Humans, 3,000; dogs, 9,000

Someone cut the fence at the pound a while back. When city officials announced that stray dogs would be shot if not redeemed, Santa Barbara's humane society's representative here to say it is illegal to shoot dogs. So the dogs have been increasing, although only 10 have been licensed this year.

Mayor Paul Carlin says everybody knows about the city's plight. Motorists drive up here, leave their dogs. The motorists don't stay, so the population is getting badly out of balance.

Binghampton, N.Y. (AP) — It was only an old key to the woman who picked it up Friday night from the sidewalk. She turned it over to Patrolman William Morse.

Morse tried the key in the nearest door and walked in—to a branch of the First National Bank. Nothing had been disturbed inside, so Morse left a note: bank officials could find the key at police headquarters.

Chicago (AP) — Two bandits were left holding the bag after they held up Joseph Gooch Friday.

"Give me that money," one of the gunmen told Gooch as he stepped from his car. They grabbed a leather bag from Gooch and sped away.

Police said the gunmen apparently watched Gooch carry his leather bag out of the State Bank of Clearing where he had cashed his pay checque, and then followed him to the hold-up scene.

But the leather bag held no money. It contained tools which Gooch used in his work as a repairman for an adding machine company.

Filmed in Technicolor, the picture also stars Edmund Gwenn and Donald Crisp. It will be shown tonight for the last times.

Three Britons Die In Civilian Plane Flying Air Lift

Berlin, Mar. 31 (AP)—Three Britons were killed and one injured in the crash of a British civilian plane flying the Berlin air lift, the British Military Government announced today.

Full details were not available, but the announcement said the plane was a four-motored Halton, civilian version of the old Halifax bomber, and that it crashed near the Schlesvigland airfield in Schleswig Holstein Sunday night.

The last previous fatal air lift crash occurred March 15 when a British civilian plane crashed while approaching the RAF's Gatow airfield in Berlin. Three also were killed then.

Today's deaths brought the total fatalities in the air lift to 44 —38 Americans and 16 Britons

Answer to Saturday's Puzzle

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper pop gave the little round table 3 hits with his hand, saying, Hear yee, hear yee, to whom it may concern, I am about to make my annual New Year resolution to stop smoking.

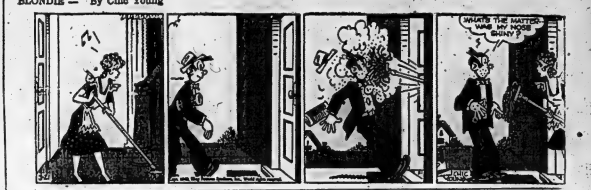
My, my, time marches on and history repeats itself, ma said, and pop said, in the present instance, history starts at the beginning, because this time I'm going to keep the resolution.

That's what you always say, ma said, and pop said, There is a tide in the life of every man when actions speak louder than words. I have made up my mind. The dye is cast, and there shall be no turning back, he said.

You sound like the charge of the Lite Brigade, ma said, and pop said, Better than that, my dear, I'm the charge of the Unlighted Brigade. The countless resolutions that I've made and broken in bygone years will act as tottering stepping stones over which I shall make my courageous way to this year's firm and lasting vow. A strong man has made up his mind, and that's the end of it. When the New Year rings in, nicotean rings out, he said.

Speaking of singing, Dr. Rorer called me up, ma said. You stopped in at his office this morning, didn't you? she said and pop said, Heh? Why yes. As a matter of fact, I did, he said.

Anyway, it seems he was afraid you hadn't understood the importance of giving up smoking for a few munts, ma said. Dr. Rorer wanted me to impress on you that if you give it up for a while, you cant start smoking again with perfect safety, but otherwise he cant vouch, she said and pop said, Now that's quite a coincidence.



Well, just fancy that, calling up with his silly croaking story the very day I make my resolution. That's quite a coincidence, he said.

So you mentioned, ma said.

Rural England's Ancient Taverns Hold Traditions

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London — (CP) — Too often nowadays an English pub means an ornate modern building with parking lot, electric lighting, chromium swank, expensive whisky, watery beer, no cigarets and a radio that renders conversation difficult.

But in rural England there still are many ancient taverns with oil lamps, gnarled oak seats, beer as good as present regulations allow and aged villagers whose talk is considered cheap at a pint an hour.

Tills of the smallest pub in England has for years been claimed by the Leathern Bottle, near the hamlet of Dunsmore in the Buckinghamshire Chilterns. No roads lead to this pub — only a narrow pathway — and the nearest village of any size is a good hour's walk. The bar is also the living-room, where the customers sit alongside their 80-year-old host and his family.

A tavern with a proud tradition for hospitality is the Horse Shoe perched on the border of England and Wales in the village of Llanyblodwell. Mine Host Arthur Lloyd says it has been in his family "without a break" since the days of Henry VIII.

Christmas Eve Service

Historic in a different way is Saint Crispin's Inn situated on the fringe of Berkshire in Windsor Forest — the only pub in England that holds its own, religious service. Once a year on Christmas Eve the local belfry comes into the bar, downs a pint and then invites the bar customers to join in a short service.

The highest village pub in England topographically speaking is The Cat and Fiddle near Macclesfield Forest in Cheshire. The invest is believed to be at Saint Mawes, a small harbor town in Cornwall. Its name itself, being on the shore, is at sea level, but in the bar, being in basement, is below it.

The Royal Standard of England

He sure is, beams Jimmy Logan, Yorkton, Sask., as he watches his dog "Sport" do a neat, balancing act. Sport is a two-year-old fox terrier. Two months ago Jimmy and his father, James Logan, began teaching the pup a few tricks and were amazed now quickly he learned. Sport has mastered many other balancing feats and clever tricks.—Central Press Canadian.

Glendale, Calif. — (AP)—The luck of the Irish was 21 years getting around to Mrs. A. D. Irish but it arrived, appropriately, on St. Patrick's Day.

Twenty-one years ago Mrs. Irish lost her wedding ring as she threw a clump of weeds from the garden. The ring soared over a fence into a neighbor's yard.

Recently the property has changed hands several times. Mrs. Irish asked each new occupant to keep a watchful eye. Thursday the current neighbor, Miss M. A. Smith, said she had found the ring.

Weather Information of Value Touches Human Life Closely

By GORDON PEPPER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Halifax, March 21 (CP) — Reuben Hornstein, meteorologist-in-charge of the Dominion public weather office here, is wiping away much of the fog over weather forecasting from people's minds with a special weekly, 15-minute Maritime broadcast. It is the only one of its kind in Canada.

People as far back as Adam, he says, have been concerned about the weather but the present generation would like to know more about how forecasting went.

Listeners write in for information and Hornstein's Sunday program is chiefly concerned with their requests.

Program on Almanacs

At the beginning of each year, Mr. Hornstein does a program on almanacs and their ability to forecast the weather for an entire year.

People were so interested in weather matters that he rounded up considerable information, and the meteorological division of the Transport Department put out his "weather facts and fables" in booklet form. In three weeks, more than 1,700 copies were distributed.

Weather information comes in handy in varied ways. Recently a Halifax insurance firm checked the weather office for conditions expected during shipping of seed potatoes from Prince Edward Island to Bermuda. On the word of the weather office, the firm underwrote insurance on the shipment.

What Records Showed

One woman asked whether she could make a three-day trip with her husband because she would have to let the fire go out and she didn't want to run the risk of frozen plumbing. The weather office checked back over 75 years' records, told her there was a strong possibility there would be a freeze. There was.

A graduate of the University of Western Ontario, Mr. Hornstein re-entered college at Toronto during the depression years and there picked up his degree in meteorology.

"Forecasting is changing all the time," he said, "but as it changes we try to keep the public informed."

'Gimmies' Sap World's Strength

(Condensed from The Pittsburg Press, by Ralph Hancock)

The whole world is being swept by an epidemic of the gimmies." By this everyday name is meant a given something at the expense of somebody else. This epidemic grows out of a belief that government can somehow provide aid and security for everybody, no matter what the cost and how far in the future it is due.

The more government provides, the more is expected of it. One of the most serious illusions is that assistance is a widespread lowering of standards to the unfailing. Individual stamina and self-dependence are the basis of any nation while public expenses are going up. This parallel development has destroyed nations. It enabled a few thousand barbarians to overthrow the Roman Empire. Rome. The Romans came to depend on the State for food, clothing and entertainment. In their eagerness for free security of state expense, they became so insecure they lost everything.

Security is just a large number of individuals. In the end, it is subject to the same limitations as the individual; it pays the same penalties for bad management. Take debt for example. The U. S. Government owes over 250 billion dollars — more than $6,000 for every American family. Other political subdivisions, states, cities, counties, school districts, owe 20 billions.

All of these are under terrific pressure to provide more services and greater benefits. All are having to borrow taxes and borrow money to pour out to a never-satisfied public.

The popular idea is that these funds can be collected from the rich and the big corporations — so that the majority of people can have the benefits without paying for cost. But nobody gets anything for free. Every individual shares the debt. Everybody pays taxes — direct and indirect.

There aren't enough rich people to enable the government to finance itself at their expense. If government itself took all the wealth of corporations, it wouldn't put the country on a sound financial keel. But it would put the corporations out of business and throw it out of jobs. Meanwhile, all that the big companies pay to Government becomes a part of the cost of the goods they produce — an important factor in the cost of living for everybody.

Only wider realization of these basic facts can stop the tragedy that must eventually happen if the give-everything-to-everybody theory continues unchecked.

U.S. Loses all Trace of Rockets

Several weeks ago, relates New York Times science writer, Waldemar Kaempffert, a small rocket consisting of a V-2 and a smaller unit, roared into the stratosphere from White Sands, New Mex., and broke two records: first, the height of 1,000 miles an hour was attained; second, a height of 114 miles was reached. Now the Army officers who sent off the two-stage contrivance are wondering what happened. Some fragments that came down. Not a trace of them has been found.

Plunged Into Sands

The rocket fell somewhere in the northern part of the White Sands proving ground. "Travelling at terrific speed" says the official account, "the rocket drove into the desert sands in the same manner as a cyclone-driven straw penetrates a tree." The comparison was not a happy one. It would have been better to have likened the falling rocket to a bullet that strikes a hard target. When that happens the bullet melts, even vaporizes.

The fate of the "Wac Corporal" may be inferred from the known facts about meteorites which have reached the earth.

The famous crater near Winslow, Ariz., is about 4,000 feet across and 600 feet deep. In the Henry Tunguska River region of central Siberia is a group of ten craters that vary in diameter from 30 to 150 feet. Near Henbury, in central Australia, is a group of thirteen craters of which the largest measures 660 by 360 feet, with a depth of 50 to 60 feet. Around all these craters have been found hundreds of pieces of meteoric iron ranging in weight from a fraction of an ounce to 270 pounds.

Mostly Small

Most meteorites are about the size of a pea. They are completely melted or vaporized in the stratosphere. A meteorite must be big enough of it is left to strike the earth. When that happens there is usually an explosion and a crater.

A V-2 which reaches a height of 75 miles or so and then falls has an impact velocity that may be 2,500 miles an hour — fast enough to become red hot from the friction of the air. Though the "Wac Corporal" travelled at a wide area, the friction created would not be enough to melt the metal. Compared with any meteor of any size, even the "Wac Corporal" is slow.

The fastest meteors — those of the Perseid and Leonid showers — rush along at speeds of 38 to 42 miles a second. What may be called the "ordinary" meteors have a speed of 14.28 miles a second. The "Wac Corporal" just crawls along at 1.37 miles a second.

Fragments Scattered

Some V-2's have broken up spontaneously when they fell back into the atmosphere. When this happened the fragments were scattered over a wide area. The nose of a V-2, equipped with recording instruments, was supposed to blown off at an altitude of about 35 miles. The fragments are of irregular shape so that they are subjected to some braking action by the resistance of the air. The impact velocity is about 700 feet a second. To locate the nose, protected instruments, radar and spotting airplanes are used at White Sands.

When the nose of a V-2 rocket is not blown off and what is left of the rocket strikes the earth more or less intact, a tremendous crater is formed. One such crater, measured 50 feet across and more than 30 feet deep. After a week's digging and sand-sifting nothing of importance was recovered. On the other hand, the after-body of another V-2 suffered little damage.

Melt on Impact

Prof. C. C. Wylie of the University of Iowa finds that if a projectile is travelling 5,000 feet a second, the total energy would be enough to melt it on impact with a hard target and vaporize 94 per cent of it. Bullets fired to strike at velocities of 4,000 feet a second explode. Since the speed of the record-breaking "Wac Corporal" was higher than this, it is certain that when it was hit of it exploded when it struck.

In the light of all this, it is small wonder that nothing of the "Wac Corporal" has been found. But somewhere in the desert of White Sands there ought to be a telltale crater.

'Book of Wisdom' For Eskimo Contains Many Useful Hints

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, March 21 (CP)—Interest aroused by the first polio epidemic among Canada's Eskimos draws attention to the government's "Book of Wisdom For Eskimo," a 28-page publication that tells the native nearly everything from what scarce baby to the statement that the family allowance is a gift from the King.

First non-religious book to be turned out in the shorthand-like syllabic writing the white man invented for the Eskimo, it is an unpretentious, simple booklet produced by the Department of Mines and Resources and the Health Department and placed in the hands of every Eskimo family.

A more elaborate, more detailed version is being prepared but is not expected to be ready until 1950.

The book, reported popular with the natives, 90 per cent of whom can read, is divided into two parts, one devoted to good health, the other to the allowances, care of rifles and boats, game conservation and other topics.

It, significantly, devotes its longest space, three pages, to tuberculosis, starting "lung sickness is everywhere."

Allowances

Of the allowances, it says "the King is helping all the children in his lands. He is giving aid to the Eskimo children also and has instructed his servants, the police, to proceed in this way."

The native is told that the allowance will not be issued in good times; "it will be saved and issued only when there is dire need for it."

Budgeting

The native is urged to do cyclit budgeting, piling up credit with the trader in good times. He is stopped over the knuckles for slaughtering more caribou, seal and walrus than he actually needs, is told that he should eat more fish and care for his boat.

Cleanliness is seldom urged cleanliness in a number of ways and advocates that no Eskimo live in whole winter tents or igloos. He should build a clean, new one every so often. In summer should move his tent around.

Child psychology culminates in these 13 sentences about crying in a new baby:

"A new baby cannot talk, so it cries. A baby cries when it is hungry. A baby cries when it is thirsty. A baby cries when it is wet. A baby cries when it is dirty. A baby cries when it is cold. A baby cries if it has a stomach pain. A baby cries if it does not get enough sleep. A baby will cry if frightened by noises. A baby will cry if the mother moves it too fast. If a baby thinks it is falling, it will cry. A sick baby cries a lot. A baby cries if it is lonesome."

TRAINING PARENTS

Montreal — (CP) — About 400 Montreal parents are now taking courses which train leaders to conduct discussion groups in child training classes are given by the Mental Hygiene Institute.

MADOC JUNCTION

Madoc Junction—A pot luck dinner was recently held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stapley at which a nice sum was realized.

During the afternoon, the regular March meeting was held with Mrs. Carl Bridges presiding over the program which was prepared by Mrs. Hugh McMullen.

"Call to Worship" was followed. Mrs. Harlow reading a portion of scripture and giving the commentary.

A solo by Mrs. Forde Stapley was greatly enjoyed. Then Mrs. Murney Kirkey read a poem "I Know Their Sorrows."

The 3rd chapter from the Study Book was presented by Mrs. Clarence Fitchett.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley rendered a piano solo which was greatly appreciated.

The president welcomed Mrs. Wilkinson who recently moved into the neighborhood.

The roll call was answered by each member naming some missalon field.

Mrs. Bridges offered her home for the dinner in April. Mrs. Nelson Stapley and Miss Mary Chambers were to prepare the program for this meeting.

A letter was read in regards to the Presbyterial meeting in Knox Church, Trenton, on April 6th.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

"PLEASE" AND "THANK YOU" ARE MAGIC WORDS

"Please" and "Thank You" are little words . . . words that everyone knows. It's a shame they are heard so seldom in our daily conversation! They are magic words, too . . . they often earn a friendly smile. They bring quick service . . . they make life happier. A gracious "Please" . . . a sincere "Thank You" will get results —just try them and prove it! Politeness in conversation is "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Remember That Night

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

Roxanne thought of Philip and she thought of Bill. There would never be any peace for her as long as Bill was somewhere needing her and she didn't know where he was. There were times when the suspense was so great she thought of going to Florida and looking for him — Florida because that was the last place he had been — where he had disappeared from as well. Bill McGrath had gone to Florida but a man with a false name had remained.

Too proud to be a burden, he preferred for those he loved and those who loved him to think him dead. But his parents, who wrote to her frequently, were still convinced he was alive, "Alive," she thought now. "Nearly blind." And because she couldn't think about Bill any longer she got up and joined Karen in the water.

Mary Catherine, the girl Jerry was going to come to New York and telephoned Karen. They had lunch together.

A tiny girl with short brown curls, wearing a printed frock with a blue straw sailor hat; she looked across the table at Karen with astonished blue eyes. Her ring, a large solitaire, glittered in the sunlight coming through the restaurant window.

"You're singing in a night club!" she cried. "Why, that's thrilling. Nobody in Harriston knows that."

They would know it now, Karen thought. Beneath the wide Bleck hat her eyes were amused. Mary Catherine Halsey had been one of the girls jealous of Jerry's devotion to her and she suspected that one of the chief reasons Mary Catherine had called her was to impress her with the elegance of the trousseau she was buying and to give her the feeling that she, Mary Catherine, had won and that Karen had lost Harriston's most eligible young man.

That afternoon she shopped with Mary Catherine. "Do you think Jerry will like this, Karen?" she asked often with a hint of sarcasm in her voice.

How quickly Jerry had fallen out of love with her, Karen thought, when he knew that marriage, at least for the present, was out of the question! "I could be Mary Catherine, buying my trousseau. Instead, in all these weeks, I've gotten nowhere and I'm terribly in love with a man who will bring his wife back from England with him."

Mary Catherine returned to Harriston and not long later Cora Billiman sent Karen a photograph of the bride and groom as they came out of the church after the wedding. She showed it to Roxanne.

"Don't be sorry is isn't you," Roxanne said. "Some people have an engine in them that won't let them stop until they've reached their goal. You're one of those people. I don't know whether you inherit the stage or not but if you do," she grinned impudently at Karen, "one of your small town ancestors must have yearned to do Hamlet." She passed the snapshot back to Karen. "You want to be a great actress, don't you?"

Karen's clear eyes softened. "No, Roxanne. More than anything in the world, I want Philip. And that night at Tommy's I made a fool of myself. He was furious with me. And that night I wanted to look lovely for him, I was ugly."

Roxanne was quiet, feeling with such feeling that Roxanne's eyes did not waver from her face. "It must be wonderful to be loved by Philip. He knows so much. He always says the right things. I gave up Jerry and a millionaire playboy I might have married on the rebound because even if I can't have Philip, I'll be faithful to him. That doesn't make much sense, does it — being faithful to a man who's going to marry another girl?" But when I'm with him, I feel I'm married to him. That's how much I feel I belong to him."

Roxanne said, "We've both got a right to sing the kind of songs we sing. I used to think that the way I loved Bill was the deepest feeling any girl ever had for a man. I didn't think any other girl ever cared that much. But you care for Philip that way, too. He's a lucky guy to have your love, Karen, even though he doesn't know it."

With her back to Roxanne, Karen said, "he doesn't want my love."

The next morning Tommy Nolting called.

"Karen! This is the bridegroom," he said gaily. "We're just back from a swell honeymoon and living in the new house. I don't know why I bought such a big house for two people!" He sounded very happy.

"How is Marion?"

"Great! She's bossing things already — down in the kitchen telling the cook how I like my eggs! We want you to come out. We owe a lot to you. But telling you how swell married life is isn't what I called about. Remember I promised to introduce you to Bernie Tappen?"

"Yes, I remember, Tommy".

"Well, he's in town. And there's a part in his new play that's perfect for you. The girl's beautiful and dramatic. How about meeting Marion and me for lunch and we'll go to see him this afternoon? I'll fix everything."

Her heart seemed to turn over. Then practically there!

Her hands shook as she dressed. But each dark curl was in place when she pulled the hat over them. She couldn't fail! Philip would see! Always thinking of Philip — he probably had not thought of her since she had driven off from Tommy's that night and he had asked, "Is it good night or good-bye?" But some day he would see even tho' that some day would be too late for him to love her. "If I stopped to realize that he will never love me," she thought, "there'd be no reason to anything."

Obviously Tommy and Marion were very happy. Even in a crowded restaurant Tommy held the slim hand that were the costly solitaire and the diamond circlet. So new, Karen thought, as new as their marriage. May they always be as they were today.

Tommy said, "Now to get down to brass tacks, Karen . . ."

Marion laughed her clear wholesome laugh. "We're boring her to death with all this talk about how many houses we're going to buy for the Maryland place." She looked at Karen and smiled. "I hope something comes of this for you. Heaven knows you deserve a break. Tommy and I would like for every one to be as happy as we are.

We don't want to corner the market on happiness and good breaks. I'm not going with you to Tappen's."

"Little Miss Unknown wants a real, a genuine Broadway star walks out. Let us pray."

An hour later Karen came out of Bernie Tappen's office with a script of the play, "Until Tomorrow" under her arm. She touched Tommy's arm.

"Why, you're crying!" he said. He took his handkerchief from his coat pocket and gave it to her.

"I can't help crying, Tommy."

"You were great. It's not a very important part but you can put a lot in it. You can't expect to be a leading lady right off, you know."

It had been surprisingly simple. Obviously Philip had talked long and convincingly of Karen's potentialities. And although Tappen had been impressed by her appearance and her voice, the part was hers before he saw her. Philip was a power in the theatrical world.

"I'll drop you at the apartment," Tommy said.

"No. I'd like to walk." She wanted to walk in the sunlight with a play under her arm. No one, not even Roxanne, could possibly share her feelings. The street, thickly peopled, was suddenly beautiful. The sky had never been quite so blue above the tall buildings.

With shining eyes she looked at Tommy who put his hand on her shoulder. His smile was twisted. "Don't thank me again, Karen. All the thanks I want is for you to make good." And you will. I've got to be running along now to meet Marion."

Karen Wallace did queer things to your heart, he thought, as he left her and hailed the first taxi. And Philip had been indignant when he had asked him if he loved her. Tommy thought, "what's wrong with the guy? Why go to England when a girl with everything a man could wish for is right here and crazy about him?"

In a hotel lobby Marion walked for him anxiously.

"Did she . . .?" she asked.

She let Tommy answer. "But she thanked me and she thinks she sold herself. I don't like this business. If she finds out that Philip gave her the big build-up . . . "

Feeling light-headed with happiness, Karen fell asleep that night and was awakened out her mouth with soap.

Mrs. Mulck told the court she had threatened to soap the mouth of her stepson, Bob, for using a "very nasty" word in front of a family gathering.

Her husband, Joseph, told her "Two can play at that game," Mrs. Mulck testified. "He forced me to the floor, held me down with his knees on my shoulders and soaped my mouth.

All the time Bobbie was standing behind him, laughing and making faces at me."

FIVE CHILDREN FOUND ABANDONED IN SHACK

Bancroft Police Say Conditions In House Appalling

Several Cried for Food On Journey to Hospital

Bancroft, March 22 (CP)—Abandoned for 48 days in a bush shack 20 miles east of here, five children, all under eight years old, have been placed in the care of Children's Aid officials.

Police said the shack was "not fit for animals ... appalling is a mild way of describing the conditions."

The father, 36-year-old Allen Turnbull, is scheduled to appear in court at Madoc Wednesday to face a charge of non-support. The mother is in hospital at Belleville with her sixth child born 10 days ago.

Made Wards of C. A. S.

The five abandoned children, ranging in ages from seven years to 15 months, have been made wards of the Children's Aid Society.

Police said the Turnciffes left the children with a friend, William Landry, 24, while Mr. Turnbull went to hospital. Eighteen days later, on Feb. 19, Turnciffe returned but remained only long enough to pick up the family allowance cheque.

Corporal C. W. Palmateer of the Ontario Provincial Police discovered the children while making a routine trip last Friday. The story was not made public until today.

"We had to roll each one up in a blanket and carry them to the car along the snowy trail," Corporal Palmateer said. "They had scarcely a stitch of clothing."

Rolled Them in Blankets

He said the three oldest children, Carol, seven; Freddie, six; and Rosie, five, cried for something to eat during the 30-mile car trip here. All were fed and clothed at the hospital here. Carol, Rosie, Shirley, aged four, and 15-month-old Betty were later placed in a children's receiving home at Foxboro. Freddie is still in hospital where he is under treatment for a severe case of impetigo.

The provincial police officer said Turnciffe, arrested later in Belleville, had been trying to clear a home in the bush but had spoken of "giving the children away."

Mercy Flight Almost Ends In Disaster

The Pas, Man., March 22 — (CP) — Four ailing Indians are in hospital today following a frantic mercy flight into northern Manitoba that almost ended in disaster during a bad snow storm.

Pilot Ripley of Winnipeg, pilot of the mercy plane, had to set his Norseman aircraft down on an isolated northern lake under blind flying condition on the return trip.

The plane took off last Friday from Cormorant, 380 miles northwest of Winnipeg, on a 40-mile flight to Wallaston Lake, Sask. A 42-year-old Indian, Edward John, was picked up at Wallaston Lake. Returning to Cormorant, the plane ran into a snow storm and Ripley landed blind on the frozen surface of Bear Lake. The airmen and the Indian stayed there overnight until the storm abated.

Upon reaching Brochet the next day, the plane picked up three more sick Indians.

B.C. Man Draws Two Horses In Sweeps Run by Quebec Vets

Quebec, March 22 — (CP) — Bruce Kerr of Burns Lake, B.C., had drawn not one but two horses in the sweepstakes conducted by Quebec Unit No. 33, Army, Navy, and Air Force Veterans of Canada on Saturday's Grand National at Alntree, it was announced today.

Management of the sweepstakes in which prize total $152,000 announced that the Burns Lake resident with tickets on Monseveen and Lucky Purchase is among 40 Canadian ticket-holders who will win prizes in the English horse race.

First prize is $38,000, second $22,000 and third $15,000. They will go to holders of tickets on horses that run first, second and third in the Grand National.

People holding tickets that start in the race will split a pool of $23,000 and another pool of the same amount will be divided among holders of tickets on horses failing to start though nominated for the race. There are also consolation prizes.

Ex-Convict From U.S. Held In Chicago in Connection With $80,000 Diamond Haul

Toronto, March 22 (CP)— Toronto police officials said today an ex-convict is in custody in Chicago in connection with the theft of an estimated $80,000 in diamonds from three safes in the downtown Kent building Monday.

They said the man, recently released from a United States penitentiary is known to have been in Toronto last week and is believed to be an associate of two Chicago jewelry salesmen, now in custody here on vagrancy charges.

"The ex-convict was in Toronto last week but we missed him," an investigating officer said. "We traced him to Chicago and instructed police there to pick him up."

38 Persons Questioned

A total of 30 persons here and in Hamilton were questioned last night as police continued their extensive search for traces of the two armed, masked bandits who raided three jewelry firms on the eighth floor of the Toronto building.

Police said they are investigating a black-market ring dealing in stolen jewels with contacts in Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and New York. They expressed the belief that the $80,000 gem robbery was planned by an American gunman but carried out by Toronto or Hamilton safecrackers. Rewards totalling $2,000 were offered today for information which might lead to the arrest of the safecrackers who scooped up only the more expensive items from the safes broken open in the office of Ben Libman, diamond setter, and the Superb Jewellery Company, both in the Kent building.

36 Nations Will Take Part In Extensive Trade Talks

Geneva, March 22 — (AP) — The most extensive tariff negotiations in the history of world trade are scheduled to open in the nearby French town of Annecy April 11.

Delegations from 36 countries in all parts of the world are to meet at Annecy to negotiate individual tariff concessions with each other. The talks among the 600 delegates are expected to continue for at least three months, and may result in more than 300 separate tariff agreements among the participating countries.

The 36 negotiating countries comprise two groups, one of 23 countries which have already concluded tariff agreement with each other, and another of 11 countries which are newcomers.

The original group of 23 met at Geneva in 1947 and drew up tariff agreements among themselves covering the trade of the world's trade.

During the three months' negotiations, the 13 newcomers will draw up tariff agreements with each of the original contracting states and with each of the other newcomers.

The most important group of countries among the newcomers—by volume of trade—are Denmark, Sweden and Finland, whose negotiations will cover all the trade of Europe's export from Scandinavia. The fourth Scandinavian country — Norway — is a member of the original group of 23, and will negotiate tariff concessions with each of her three neighbors. Two other newcomers, Italy and Greece, will negotiate agreements covering almost their entire foreign trade.

The remaining newcomers are Liberia and seven Latin - American countries.

The newcomers will negotiate with each of the original contracting states — Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Burma, Canada, Ceylon, Chile, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Lebanon, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Syria, the United States and the United Kingdom.

Pensions Bill For Teachers Gets 2nd Reading

Provides For Minimum $600, Maximum $3,000

By The Canadian Press

What Ontario Education Minister Dana Porter called "a new deal in superannuation," a bill amending teachers' pensions was given second reading in the Ontario Legislature Monday night.

It increases payments to the present 1,000 superannuated teachers, and provides for a minimum of $600 and maximum of $3,000. Teachers' contributions to the fund are increased from four to six per cent; the government pays four per cent.

If pensions payments in any years exceed contributions to the fund, the province will make up the difference. This was not likely to happen within the next 30 years, Mr. Porter said. In the meantime it is estimated that present superannuation fund of $50,000,000 will have grown to $100,000,000.

The Ontario House also gave second reading to the bills providing provincial grants to municipal fire and police commissions. The original bills, with their statutory requirements of residence to be met before such payments are valid, drew objections from the municipalities but Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell said Monday night that he would delete the section opposed by municipal organizations.

At Charlottetown, the Prince Edward Island House gave final approval to the public works and highways bill and the appropriation the Vital Statistics Act.

The Manitoba Legislature at Winnipeg was in committee on estimates of the Mines and Natural Resources department. Resources Minister McDiarmid said the government had arranged with a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of California to spend $500,000 in Manitoba exploration for oil and gas.

The Saskatchewan House gave first reading to a rural electrification bill, estimated to cost $100,000,000 over a period of several years.

Missing Woman's Skeleton Found In Dust in Cottage

Whalebone Corner, Essex, England, March 22 — (AP) — The well-clad skeleton of Ada Constance Kerr, 58, was discovered buried today in dust and cobwebs that had gathered undisturbed for 10 years in her secluded cottage.

Coroner F. E. Camp ordered an inquest.

Miss Kerr, theatrical performer who had lived quietly and alone, Miss Kerr was last seen in this village Nov. 28, when 30 miles northeast of London just before war broke out in 1939.

BUDGETS FOR DEFICIT

Ottawa, March 22 — (CP) — The Canadian National Railways today budgeted for a 1949 deficit of $27,900,000, an increase of more than $4,000,000 over its 1948 deficit of $23,532,741.

The 1949 deficiency as indicated in the line's annual budget tabled in the Commons by Transport Minister Chevrier would be the second largest on record and the largest since pre-war years.

Drew Would Limit to Year Exchange Controls

Ottawa, March 22 (CP)—Geo. Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, urged the government in the Commons today to limit the life of exchange controls to one year and initiate a meeting of member states of the international monetary fund to seek convertibility of sterling.

He spoke just before the chamber completed committee stage study of the bill to continue the foreign exchange control board for another two years—to 1951. The bill was called for third and final reading but Mr. Drew indicated his party wished to oppose this final approval, presumably in a recorded vote, at the next sitting.

He said there was no reason why Canada should lage behind any other country.

Canada should be the first to press for a "realistic" review of the currency situation with a view to restoring convertibility between this dollar and sterling.

We are simply accepting a defeatist point of view if we do not say to the member nations of the International monetary fund that such an immediate review of the whole situation."

Unless a start is made behind, this country "may well be heading for disaster."

In urging that the extension of the bill be limited to one year, Mr. Drew said the government of 1950 could decide whether there should be another extension.

$2,200 Grant Made For Cancer Research

Insp. Kennedy, Cons. Keays Clash Angrily at Hearing

A statement that Constable J. E. Keays has a tendency to play too much on theory to be a good investigating officer was made today at the Royal Commission hearing by Inspector Ward Kennedy, inspector in the Criminal Investigation Branch.

The Provincial Police inspector and Constable Keays clashed angrily as the commission conducted its probe into a nine-year-old bloodstained coliseum which Sgt. J. A. Stringer is alleged to have lied in his report to newspapers and at the inquest.

The commission is investigating allegation of falsification of records, perjury and maladministration of justice on the part of seven Provincial Police officers and of complicity in a fraud by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan.

Sharp Exchange

Keays during his cross examination of the witness suggested that Inspector Kennedy was not telling the truth.

"You are the last person in the world who should cast doubts on other persons' evidence," retorted the Inspector.

The Inspector was the second witness to testify today on the shooting of John Miki by Sgt. J. A. Stringer at Nevan, Ont., after Miki had shot Provincial Constable Dent.

George Paterson, night editor of the Ottawa Journal who reported the shooting in the Journal, testified that Constable Keays wanted to lay charge of murder against Sgt. Stringer.

The inspector and the constable clashed again when Inspector Kennedy said he had investigated a report that another translent had been around Nevan, 12 miles from Otawa, during the shooting.

Shots Answer

"I'm suggesting you did that because there was some doubt that Miki shot Dent," Constable Keays said.

"No, certainly not," the Inspector said curtly.

Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay said the evidence that Miki had shot Dent was completely definite.

Constable Keays asked Mr. Paterson about a story appearing in the Journal on Jan. 8, announcing the appointment of a commission.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, March 22 (CP)—Synopsis: Warm south winds are still pushing into southern Ontario but will be replaced by a northerly flow of cooler air during Tuesday evening. Snow and drifting snow continue quite general in northern Ontario. The falling snow will stop by noon Wednesday with the drifting persisting until evening.

Farmers Borrowed $30,000,000 Under Improvement Loans Act

Ottawa, March 22 (CP)—Farmers borrowed almost $30,000,000 under the Farm Improvement Loans Act in 1948, Finance Minister Abbott reported to the Commons in the annual statement of operations under the Act.

The 1948 amount was up 61 per cent from the year before and represented about half the total loans issued under the Act since it came into force March 1, 1945.

The report said that for the fourth successive year there have been no losses. Of the total of $60,000,000 lent under the Act in 70,000 individual loans, 57 per cent has been repaid.

The largest amount of last year's $20,331,000, in loans went to Alberta farmers, who drew $10,534,000. There were 10,962 loans. Ontario had 2,427 loans for a total sum of $2,320,000.

Greek Guerrilla Leader to Die

Athens, March 22 (AP)— Constantine Brettacos, commander of guerrilla forces in the southern Peloponnesus, has been sentenced to death by a Greek government military tribunal at Tripolis.

Brettacos was notorious for mass executions, the government said.

Scorpions, Snakes, Mosquitoes Descend on Australia After Flood

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Sydney, Australia, March 22 (CP)—A plague of snakes, scorpions and mosquitoes has come in the wake of flood waters that have swept through 500 square miles of "drought" areas of western Queensland and New South Wales.

Residents of the small town of Windorah in southwest Queensland are forced to keep smudges burning day and night to ward off the flies and mosquitoes. Snakes and scorpions driven here rushed into the smoke and pushed people away to their efforts to get away from the insects.

Fresh rain that fell Monday is expected to cause further floods, with a general increase in hardship for people in isolated towns and on ranches.

Small towns surrounding the basin of Cooper's Creek have been without fresh food and mail for three weeks and are likely to be isolated for three weeks longer at least.

Dr. Allen-R. Vickers, Queensland's "flying doctor," has been pressed into service by the government's chartered aircraft to fly essential foods into towns and ranches where it is impossible to land light planes. Where landing grounds exist, the food is dropped.

The heaviest rain in many years has fallen over the entire west country. Before last Christmas the same area was in the grip of the worst drought in history. Many small ranchers were ruined.

At Townsville, a city of 38,000 on the Queensland coast 900 miles north of Brisbane, more than 50 inches of rain has fallen since New Year's. Before Christmas Townsville citizens dug wells in their back yards to supplement their strictly-rationed water supply.

Further north in the sugar-cane district fully 80 inches has fallen to date in 1949—and it's still raining.

Inquiry Fails To Show Any Irregularities

Ottawa, March 22 — (CP) — Investigations into the charges of irregularities in connection with two Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation projects in the St. Catharines area, Reconstruction Minister Howe yesterday informed G. K. Fraser (C-Peterborough West).

He said the investigations were made after reports by a former employee of a sub-contractor. It had been suggested to this man that he "get a Grey government military tribunal at Tripolis."

Brettacos was notorious for mass executions, the government said.

Tall and Short Bandits Hold Up Two Drug Stores

Montreal, March 22 (CP)—Two Montreal girls learned not to be too nice to customers Monday night as a pair robbed them, themselves as "Toronto's tough Mutt and Jeff bandits" held-up two drug stores within a half hour, and made off with $260.

The girls, Joan Wilson, 21, and Yvonne Decaguerey, 20, ... employees of a sub-contractor. ... had been suggested to this man that he "get a Grey government military tribunal at Tripolis."

Miss Wilson said the two men, one short and swarthy, the other tall and slim, chatted with her at the drug counter for some time before committing the holdup. Ten people were in the store when one of the men yelled "we're the tough Mutt and Jeff bandits from Toronto."

She said the shorter gunman held the customers at bay while the taller man worked over to the cash register to collect about $75 after she refused to hand over the cash.

Half an hour later, two men, answering the same description walked into another drug store in the vicinity and ordered the girl, Decaguerey and another clerk, Guy Pelletier, 22, were working. The men asked for greeting cards, and Miss Decaguerey said she took them to the customers.

Then announced "this is a stickup and we don't want the nickles and dimes," the short man covered Pelletier while Miss

RCAF Continues Search for Plane

Royal Canadian Air Force aircraft are maintaining a constant search for a missing privately owned American plane en route from Buffalo to Montreal.

Weather conditions were severe for search purposes but RCAF officials at Trenton said two aircraft are constantly in the air. One is swooping low over the mountainous territory east of Quinte district and eastward while the other is patrolling the wooded country north of Trenton and to the west.

The RCAF craft out of Ottawa are in the air searching the country from Kingston to Montreal and the capital city.

Aboard the missing plane were two American business men, Henry T. Barenbrugge, 45 Elmira, N.Y., and Stewart M. Johnson, 41, of Mansfield, Penn. They took off Tuesday from Buffalo in a two-passenger Stinson monoplane.

The RCAF spokesman stoutly denied what he termed "stories" to the effect that the RCAF is not assisting in the search for the missing men. "Our aircraft have been in the air constantly since the plane was reported missing. The craft will continue to aid in the search until results are obtained or the search abandoned."

At Wiarton about 130 miles by airway, it was reported yesterday the search had extended to the Georgian Bay district following information given police by a farmer at nearby Oliphant.

Police said William McKenzie reported he had heard a low-flying aircraft over his farm in a snowstorm last Wednesday. He said the plane appeared to be in trouble and was headed inland, away from Georgian Bay, when he heard it.

Wiarton police also said rewards of missing men had been offered a $500 reward for information leading to discovery of the aircraft.

OBITUARY

PERCY ALLAN FRANKLIN

Madoc, March 22 — (Special)—Percy Allan Franklin died at his home at Queensborough early Tuesday morning after an illness of four years' duration.

Born in Madoc township 86 years ago the late Mr. Franklin was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Franklin. All his life was passed in this district where he was born and his occupation was that of a carpenter. He was a member of the United Church.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Mary Allan; four daughters, Mrs. David (Anne) Genereux, Actinolite; Mrs. Leo (Gertrude) Arsenior; Miss Mae Hadley, Arsenior; Miss Mary Franklin, Tedeschi; Manitoba, and Miss Helen Franklin, Madoc; also nine brothers and six sisters.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

Bird-Fancying Dogs Bring Home Hens They Killed

Even hunting dogs have to keep in practice.

But this pair of bird-fancying pooches unfortunately selected the wrong kind of hunting country.

They were caught killing hens belonging to John MacDonald of Dundas and Dundas Street, near the Home for the Aged. Not only that the dogs dispatched the hens but their retriever instincts caused them to carry the chickens homeward away.

County Constable Thomas Thorne took over as a result of complaints, and the two dogs were ordered shot up by their owners for nine days.

Aged Midwife Invented Story Of Chilean Quints

Santiago, Chile, March 22 (AP)—Police today said the long widely-published reports that the quintuplets were born in the village of Guallaquinga in Central Chile. They found out that the story was invented by "an aged and mentally deranged midwife."

Michener Nominated In St. Paul's Toronto

Toronto, March 3 (CP)—D.R. Michener, CCF provincial secretary of Ontario, has been nominated to contest the Toronto St. Paul's riding for the Progressive Conservative party in the next Federal election.

Mr. Michener, chosen at a nomination meeting here last night now is executive assistant to the party's national leader, George Drew, since 1945. Mr. St. Paul's seat has been held by Douglas Ross, Progressive Conservative, who is retiring.

Stewart C. Wood D.D.G.M. Visits Marmora Lodge

Marmora—The official visit of Right Wor. Bro. Stewart C. Wood D.D.G.M. of Prince Edward District to Marmora Lodge A.F. & A.M. 322 synchronizing with the traditional first day of spring, brought together out from near and far to the fine banquet served by the Saint Paul's Ladies' Guild in the Masonic Temple on Monday evening.

Wor. Bro. C.C. Watson, Master of Marmora Lodge, was toastmaster.

The Meaning of Masonry

After the "King and Craft" had been honored P.D.D.G.M., C.H. Buskard proposed "Colonial Sister." In response, Rt. Wor. Bro. Wood gave an interesting address on what Masonry should teach its followers. He mentioned that not only had the noble order exhibited the dignity of man, but also had not ignored the part in pointing out the weakness of human nature and the treatment that weakness should receive.

He digressed on three aspects of Masonic conduct.

The duty to recognize the seriousness of the act of living.

The duty to be strong, since strength is the ideal of a noble character.

The exercise of the act of thankfulness.

In the conclusion of his remarks, two songs "Galway Bay," and "Far Away Places" were rendered by Bro. R. Rundle, with Bro. Rev. J. M. Brownlie accompanying. Next Bro. Rev. W. G. Chrysler submitted the toast to "Visiting Brethren," and selected brethren replying in the lodge session which followed. The Junior Warden's Toast given by Bro. S. Sandham followed a message of thanks by the Master, officer on behalf of the brethren to Mrs. D. Robertson, president of the Ladies' Guild, and the wife on behalf of the Guild she made fitting reply.

Before adjournment to the Masonic Hall, the D.D.G.M. called upon Bro. Rev. J. M. Brownlie to propose the toast to "Our Grand Lodge" which was invested in the usual manner by Grand Lodge representative.

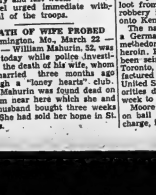
Police Blotter

Gordon Graves, charged with theft of furniture from the Personal Finance Store, Front St., had his case enlarged in Magistrate's court this morning. John D. Ortega is appearing for the accused.

A number of Liquor Control Act and Highway Traffic Act cases were settled in court. One of the accused, however, pleaded not guilty to a drunk charge and was remanded on request of defence counsel.

Jerome Jones, of this city was fined $12.50 on an intoxication charge and $5 with costs of $20 on an assault charge before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in magistrate's court today.

Adams pleaded guilty to both counts. The charges arose from incidents on Front St. and Bridge Street pool room after Adams, said to have been drinking was ordered from the premises. He refused to go and police were called.



Adams fought with police officers when they attempted to arrest him striking Constable Balyx a heavy blow with his fist.

Two Shopbreakers Are Sentenced

Toronto, March 2 (CP)—Edward Blair, 22, and Norman Bailey, 27, today were sentenced to 1-2 years each in penitentiary for shopbreaking at the Toronto Finishing Co. premises on Easter Monday last year.

Bailey's sentence will run concurrently with the six-year sentence he now is serving for another shopbreaking offence.

Bailey was one of two men wounded in a police ambush inside the building at the time of the breakin, A third man, William Poole, was killed.

2,000 Live Fuse Caps are Stolen At Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 22 —(CP) — Police in neighboring Stamford township are conducting an intensive search for thieves who raided the dynamite shed of Walker and Sons Limited there and stole more than two thousand live fuse caps. The robbery was discovered Monday by an employee. The shed door had been broken and a case of dynamite and more than 2,000 fuse caps stolen. A broken case was found by police a few yards from the quarry.

Chief Const. H. W. Worm figures it is the work of a safe cracking gang. Police are also searching for the bandits who broke into the office of a local estate agent Friday night and walked off with a safe containing several thousand dollars.

Tourist Season 1949 Will be Big

Ottawa, March 22 (CP) — Indications are that Canada is in for a big tourist season, Dr. Leo Dolan, Director of the Government Travel Bureau, said.

Mr. Dolan said in a statement there has been a marked upswing in inquiries received by the Bureau in January and February from prospective tourists.

The director also reported that establishments in the Canada has increased, with 32,590 motorists entering in January for more than 48 hours, compared with 28,243 in the same month of 1948.

Freight Rates Lower in Nfld. After Union

St. John's, Nfld., March 22 (CP) — Over-all Newfoundland railway freight rates will be lowered after Confederation with Canada March 31 but the decrease will not be as great as had been expected, it was learned reliably here today.

The decrease will vary according to class of goods but exporters said it would fall considerably below the 50-per-cent reduction that had been predicted in St. John's.

The reduction, however, would bring railway rates almost to a par with those charged by steamship lines would be lower.

The new rates schedules, now in the hands of Newfoundland importers, are complicated and their full effect on prices could not be ascertained at once. One source of confusion was that the Maritime freight-rates act will apply to Newfoundland and call for a 20-per-cent slice of rates of goods originating at Maritime points.

Wife Faces Charge Of Wounding

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Mrs. Mary Sala, 31, today was charged with wounding husband Stephen, 31, after what police described as a "drinking bout between husband and wife."

Sala was taken to hospital Monday night with serious head and eye injuries. Doctors, describing his condition as critical, said he will be permanently blind in the left eye.

Police said they found the man lying on a bedroom floor, bleeding profusely. A charge of his wife slugged him with a heavy cup and gored his eyes with the jagged edge.

Israel Concerned Over U.K. Troops In Trans-Jordania

Lake Success, N.Y. March 22—(CP)—Israel today expressed concern to the United Nations over the effect of the presence of British troops in Trans-Jordan on current armistice negotiations between Israel and Trans-Jordan.

The Israel mission to the United Nations charged in a statement that Britain violated the council truce order of last May by reinforcing the British garrison at Aqaba, Trans-Jordan's port on the Red Sea. British troops were reported arriving at Aqaba in January and last week.

Israel urged immediate withdrawal of the troops.

DEATH OF WIFE PROBED

Farmington, Me., March 22 (AP) — William Mahurin, 52, was held today while police investigated the death of his wife, whom he married three months ago through a "lonely hearts" club. Mrs. Mahurin was found dead on a farm near here which she and her husband bought three weeks ago. She had sold her home in St. Louis.

Semi-Nude Act Causes No Stir In Birmingham

Birmingham, England, March 22 (AP)—Six chorus girls naked from the waist up who were expected to shock staid Birmingham played safely today. Middle Moore, one of three men doing a strong-man act.

The occasion was the opening performance of the French Folies Parisiennes in this city, which once made dancer Anna Pavlova wear tights.

Under Birmingham rules a moving nude is against the law. But the six girls moved not a muscle to remain perfectly motionless during their act.

This they did, lying on a tier of steps leading to a fiery furnace while a dancer depicting the devil cast other half-draped chorus girls into the flames.

But first-nighters gave their loudest applause to the one almost bare men—Les Trois Mills —who did the strong-man acrobatic act.

The consensus of first-nighters was:

"Very ordinary. Nothing we write home about. They must have cut out a lot."

City censor Lt. Kitty McKie said: "I think it is a very reasonable show. There is nothing to be shocked about."

More had been expected by Birmingham.

Amended Fire, Police Department Bills Stop Revolt

Toronto, March 22 (CP)—Government concessions have apparently appeased the revolt started by municipalities over terms of bills to extend provincial aid to municipal fire and police departments.

The Ontario legislature today resumed routine consideration of legislation after giving second reading to the two disputed bills in a night sitting Monday. By a unanimous vote the house approved the principle of a bill to aid municipal fire departments, after Attorney-General Blackwell indicated he would delete clauses opposed by municipal counties. The House then voted by 47 to 18 to give second reading to a similar bill providing municipal police departments.

Will Delete Clauses

Attorney-General Blackwell told the Municipal Law committee today he would move an amendment to delete clauses providing that fire departments must satisfy the Ontario Fire Marshal that they are efficient before the full grant is made. Other amendments would be made to conditions governing superannuation plans more flexible.

He said also that municipalities would receive a proportionate share of revenue equipment in cash regardless of whether the equipment was used immediately or ultimately by Canadians."

The latter amendments, he said, would apply to the police bill.

Mr. Blackwell added he was aware many municipal councils were just as concerned with the importance of industrial security as the government.

Receives Commendation

The Attorney-General's statement brought commendation from C.C.F. leader E. B. Jolliffe but Minister's "flexibility—unknown in recent years," Jolliffe said he is glad to see that the government had "surrendered to some extent to the indignant municipalities," and he said he would support the measure.

In later debate on the police department bills Mr. Jolliffe said he felt that they may mean that objections been removed, referring to police appointed to the bill. One section which should have been marked "amended" was not, he stated. Mr. Blackwell said he had made no commitment that there would not be some "small revision in principle."

Couple Believed To Have Possessed German Drug

Toronto, March 22. (CP) — Harold Hamilton, 48, and his wife Louise, 47, today were remanded for eight days on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics. Bail of $3,000 was allowed Mrs. Moore but her husband was denied bail and remanded in custody.

The couple were arrested Monday in a Jarvis Street hotel room while police were searching for loot from the $80,000 diamond robbery in the downtown Toronto Kent building.

The narcotic is believed to be a German drug, known as methedone, more powerful than heroin. Police said the drug had been seized only once before in Toronto, but now is being manufactured by drug firms in the United States and Canada. Authorities declared it would take a week to make a definite analysis.

Moore was said by police to be on bail on another narcotics charge, in Windsor.

Two Air Force Pilots Killed East of Ottawa

Ottawa, March 22. (CP)—Two Air Force headquarters pilots were killed today on a routine practice flight when their two-seater Harvard aircraft crashed and burned in a field about 20 miles east of Ottawa.

Following reports of the accident, a ski-equipped Harvard left Rockcliffe Air Station to make a preliminary investigation by members of the two men. Meanwhile, Ottawa Rockcliffe police began receiving notification of next-of-kin during their search about one mile east of Maxville on the farm of John Christie, and the Maxville telephone operator notified officials at Rockcliffe. The plane was reported to have crashed at 10.55 a.m.

Flt.-Lt. officials said the flight, which left Rockcliffe at 9.30 a.m. S.S.T., was a normal training flight. The pilots were designed to keep headquarters pilots in practice at all times.

Developed Engine Trouble

Mr. Christie's wife gave an eye-witness account of the crash. She said: "Suddenly I noticed that the single-engined plane apparently developed engine trouble at a height of about 500 feet.

"The plane seemed to be trying to make a forced landing in a field. There are six barns close together on the farm. The plane were trying to keep from hitting the barns.

"My husband saw the plane hit the ground just over a hill about 200 yards from the rear of our house. All I could hear from inside the house was a loud noise.

"Mr. Carman Howe, who lives next door, hurried down to the scene. Then I heard him say:

"They found the plane twisted and pretty much a wreck. The two men were still in the cockpit.

"Mr. Christie immediately put in a call to Dr. Thomas Bell, of Maxville, who came out here as fast as he could.

"He said the two were killed instantly the plant hit the ground. It didn't catch fire."

Canada's Economy To Exceed 1948's In Some Respects

Ottawa, March 22 (CP)— Labor Minister Mitchell told the House Immigration Committee today he feels that Canada's economy in 1949 will maintain levels reached, in some directions, exceed it."

He said he hoped to see the 1948 rate of immigration continue, but any cut in U.S. Labor Department policy to look a year ahead in judging what the influx of immigrants will be is likely to be in position to "shut off the immigration of people before we know what work we can put them at before bringing them in, and to be sure they will be good citizens."

"From the employment standpoint, 1949 would see demands for farm labor persist, probably at much greater levels, and for great labor, and "certainly a great demand for materials for power projects...there seems to be an unending demand for cosmetics."

"I am not unoptimistic but I am high on Canada's great future" Mr. Mitchell said, "and I believe we need more population."

Toronto Ticket-Holders Have Wonderful Plans

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Two Toronto ticket-holders on the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes said today they hoped to be in the Grand National at Aintree, England, March 26.

They are Mrs. Alice Linklater, who drew the 40-1 shot Bruno II and said she will quit work today, buy a house and a car and take a trip to Glasgow if Bruno and Bill Voase, 45, elevator operator, who drew Magnetic Fin at 50-1. Mr. Voase drew the ninth Toronto persons to draw a pay-off ticket. The residual cash prize of about $1,400.

MARMORA

Marmora—Mr. and Mrs. James McGrath have returned to Tipperary Hotel, Crowe Lake, after spending the winter in Cobalt.

Mrs. I. B. Nichol is confined to her home with illness.

Miss Marjorie O'Neill daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Neill is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where she underwent an appendectomy on Saturday.

ALLAN E. MARKS DIES

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Allan E. Marks, 76, assistant secretary of the Toronto Stock Exchange, died last night of a heart attack. He was born in Bruce Mines, Ont.

An employee of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the Yukon and Territory during the gold rush and a former official of the Sourdough Association, Mr. Marks joined the Toronto Stock Exchange in 1927.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 22 (CP)—Activity increased in mid-session and golds began a steady advance on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials on the case remote were slightly easier and only a few were unlisted.

Volume for the first three hours was 425,000 shares, about 130,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Nicholson Mines featured the market in mid-session, suddenly spurting ahead for a 13-cent advance at 75 cents. The company has a uranium property at Gold-fields, in Lake Athabasca district, Saskatchewan. Athona Mines, with claims adjoining the Nicholson property, moved upwards to a new high at 17 cents, a gain of five cents.

Several junior gold producers also edged slowly upwards on gains ranging up to 10 cents. Lake Shore was stronger in senions.

Base metals moved on a slightly easier tone as several key issues backed down.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Prices remained firm at Monday's advance on cattle in the livestock market up in mid-session today. Hogs were 25 cents a hundredweight higher than yesterday, while no sales were reported on sheep or lambs.

New Guinea Natives Now Run Sheep Farm

Sydney (Reuters)—New Guinea tribes who saw their first white man only 15 years ago are today running an experimental wheat and sheep farm.

The farm is the realization of a dream of Neptune Blood, a member of the New Guinea administrative staff, who wants to help the natives of the central hills to progress.

He first met them when he was a member of the Papuan-New Guinea Constabulary in 1934. When New Guinea was evacuated during the war, he stayed on. He became a member of the cloak-and-dagger outfit called Mogs (Services).

After the war, he transferred to the administrative service. He told C. J. Hallstrom, a New Zealand industrialist and philanthropist, of his dream of a stock farm and community centre which could teach the adaptable highland natives to develop without an influx of white men who would exploit them.

Hallstrom gave $80,000 to help him in the development of his project. The department of external territories chose a 500-acre site at Mendogul, 40 miles from Mount Hagen, near the Papuan border.

Sheep Flown In

Several hundred Romney Marsh sheep have been flown in as well as supplies of seed.

The natives, now being taught to shear, spin, weave and make their own clothes, from the wool of the sheep.

When the flock has increased sufficiently, meat from the station will supplement the present meat diet of the natives, mainly pork.

The station is administered by the Nundugi trust on a non-profit making basis. Hallstrom is in addition to his gift of $80,000, recently chartered a plane and flew from Sydney to the station, taking with him gifts of more sheep.

The natives knowing that their benefactor is chairman of the Taronga Park zoo in Sydney, nattured some rare specimens of animals for him, including a three-toed echidna—believed to be the only three-toed echidna in captivity.

ABSENTEES CONSUME TIME

Edmonton (CP)— Some 50 Alberta school superintendents complained to the provincial government recently that they have to spend too much time tracing absent children. Parents of children who do not attend 85 per cent of classes may be suspended from the family allowance lists.

INSP. KENNEDY

Mr. Paterson said the story was a Canadian Press despatch which he had edited and put in the paper. One paragraph was written in the Journal office and added to the story. It said there were "harsh words" exchanged between Constable Keays and Sgt. Stringer.

"What were the harsh words?" Constable Keays asked.

"You told me not to believe a word Sgt. Stringer told me."

"But what were the harsh words?"

"Everybody was getting very mad because you insisted on laying charges of manslaughter against Sgt. Stringer."

Once, Malcolm Robb, counsel for five of the officers, interjected that: "Now we seem to have the two words we want."

He said Cons. Keays should not call a man as a witness and then try to discredit him.

Reads Press Accounts

Cons. Keays asked Mr. Paterson to read the newspaper accounts of the shooting and the inquest. Mr. Paterson read the sergeant killed Miki on the first shot, the other said he killed him on the second.

Mr. Robb produced a newspaper account of the coroner's inquest which said George Smith of Novar identified at the inquest.

Mr. Paterson said the clipping came from the Ottawa Citizen. He had covered the inquest, he said, but could not remember if Mr. Smith testified.

Inspector Ward Kennedy of the Provincial Police Criminal Investigation branch was called next. As a constable, he had gone to the scene of the shooting.

Inspector Kennedy said he had fingerprinted Miki's body after the shooting. He testified July 8, at the second session of the coroner's inquest.

The witness told by Inspector Cousens and Sgt. Stringer that Constable Keays was not competent to investigate the occurrence" Constable Keays said. "Do you agree with that?"

"I'm wondering now," the inspector said. "At the time, I had no doubt of your ability. But looking back now I would want some other man to investigate."

He said he had found the constable a smart and conscientious police officer during the year he knew him.

Demonstrate Miki Shooting

The inspector and the constable then demonstrated the way in which Sgt. Stringer shot Miki. The inspector stepped from the witness box to a dais in front of the bench while the constable knelt on the floor.

He asked how it would be possible for a bullet to pierce Miki's head on a flat trajectory. Inspector Kennedy said he could not predict the path a bullet would take after striking the head.

Sgt. Stringer had testified a .45-calibre Colt automatic would hold up to 11 cartridges.

Constable Keays produced an automatic and removed the barrel, and asked Inspector Kennedy to load it.

"I got seven in it," the inspector said after loading the cartridges.

The report on the shooting by Deputy Commissioner A. J. McCreedy said the gun had six shells in it when it was found beside Miki. Two had been fired at Dent. Constable Keays said either Miki or Dent had reloaded or changed guns when he said Miki fired three times.

"I would have to see Miki's gun," Inspector Kennedy said.

Whether George S. Smith, Navan farmer, testified at the Dent-Miki inquest at Navan in 1940 apparently still remained undecided as the Royal Commission hearing here Monday despite the fact that it had been stressed on several occasions that he had been called to give evidence.

Smith yesterday testified at the hearing with respect to the double shooting affair some ago in which Constable Harold Dent and transient John Miki were killed.

John Miki had killed Constable Dent at the Navan railway station and in turn had been shot to a nearby woods by Sgt. J. A. Stringer.

The Royal Commission hearing is investigating allegations of Provincial Constables E. E. Keays charging fellow officers with falsification of reports, perjury and obstruction, and involving Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan who Keays said had been a party to a fraud with F. M. Carefoot against the public.

Allegation Dealt with

The principal evidence yesterday dealt with the allegation by Constable Keays that Sgt. Stringer had lied to newspapermen about the Miki shooting when he said that the transient had been killed in an exchange of shots. Keays had contended that only one shot had been fired and that Miki could have been taken alive.

The King's Medal for bravery was awarded to Sgt. Stringer as result of the shooting incident.

George Smith who throughout the hearing had been termed as the "missing witness" at the Dent-Miki inquest, yesterday substantiated Sgt. Stringer's report that there had been more than one shot fired in the woods. His said he had heard three shots and that he had also given evidence at the inquest.

Heard Two Shots

Under cross examination by Constable Keays, Mr. Smith was still certain that he had heard two definite shots after Sgt. Stringer had entered the Navan woods in search of Miki.

He denied that Keays had been in the woods when Miki's dead body had been found by Detective T. Stoneman. Keays, he said, had come into the woods later and had had "harsh" words with Sgt. Stringer. He did not recall what the harsh words were about.

Keays here turned to the Dent-Miki inquest and asked the witness if he was giving similar evidence on the stand. Smith said he had been questioned and did not recall the nature of his evidence. Smith told of being visited by Constable Keays in January 1940 when Keays "had made so many suggestions that I would take a lawyer to follow them."

Says He Gave Evidence

Smith admitted that he had not then recalled giving evidence at the inquest and had stated to Keays "if they didn't want my evidence nine years ago why should they want to call me now," when the officer had asked him to appear before the Royal Commission.

"I suggest that you did not give evidence at the inquest and also that you did not appear at the inquest," said Keays.

"I can get evidence to show I was there," replied Smith.

Here Commission counsel C. P. Hope interjected that in that Keays' own report of the inquest it stated Smith appeared at the inquest.

"I don't know how the learned counsel can say that," replied Keays. "Nowhere in my report does it say that George Smith appeared at the inquest. It says G. Smith, referring to Gerald Smith."

"There is no Gerald Smith in that section of the country," said Smith.

Was Truck Driver

Constable Keays said that the Gerald Smith referred to in the report has been the driver of the Hydro truck which had carried Miki's body from the woods.

Keays again referred to the question of Smith's appearance at the inquest and again suggested Smith had not been there when they wanted him at the inquiry when they did not want him nine years ago.

"You said it was because I was a dangerous man," replied Mr. Smith. "I don't think I am a dangerous man. I think I testified at the inquest."

Keays suggested that Smith had "remembered" testifying at the inquest only after he had been visited by Sgt. Stringer a short time before the hearing commenced.

Keays said that the transcript of the evidence would show if Smith had testified and added that Queen's Park would not produce the transcript.

Commission counsel C. P. Hope interrupted to say he did not like the constant stating that Queen's Park "would" not produce the transcript, adding that "anything possible had been done to produce it.

Constable Keays referred to Judge Marion's evidence indicating that Smith had not given evidence at the inquest. "I suggest that Judge Marion was right?" said Keays.

"Well, I am not prepared to say, possibly I did not give evidence," was the reply.

Malcolm Robb, counsel for five of the Provincial Police officers charged by Keays, brought the cross examination that Keays had suggested to Mr. Smith in January that Miki was found in Miki's hand had been planted.

Mr. Smith replied that Keays had said Miki was giving himself up and that he was "pretty desperately shot him," said Mr. Smith.

Smith said that his own son had pointed to Constable Dent's clipped off trees by bullets and that it had been himself and not Miki who had been pretty hot here.

Prior to the conclusion of the afternoon session it was decided that all witnesses in connection with the Miki case would be called to clear up this phase of the investigation before proceeding.

Expected to be called during the morning session is Deputy Commissioner Patterson, reporter for the Ottawa Journal, and Inspector Kennedy of the O.P.P.

SAYS PACT BEST BET

Washington, March 23 — (AP) Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.) said today the Atlantic Pact is the "best bet to keep the present world war from getting hot."

Vandenberg discussed the proposed alliance in a speech prepared for the United States Conference of Mayors. He said the ultimate value of the pact, negotiated by the United States, Canada and six Western European countries, will depend largely upon the extent to which the country "wholeheartedly" accepts its concept of defence unity."

Refuse Screening Edible Oil Source

Fort William, Ont. — (CP) — Mustard and similar seeds, once classed only as waste removed by elevator and grain men, now are being processed into valuable oil at a plant here.

The various types of oils are finding their way to many markets. Shipments of crude vegetable oils have been made to United States points. Another shipment of refined oil has been made to Italy.

The edible oils go into the manufacture of salad oils, hydrogenated cooking fats — which are often used as substitutes for lard —and as a basic ingredient for the manufacture of margarine.

Refuse screenings, obtained chiefly from farmers, from all parts of the West, are the source of the oil seeds. Mustard seeds have been brought for $35 a ton and up, depending on purity.

The plant, operating on different premises, now can process about 18,000 tons of oil seed crops annually. Provision has been made for duplicating the processing department and the addition of machinery would double the plant's output capacity.

Production of margarine is envisioned for the plant some time in the future. Potentialities of the industry here are considered great.

Roisterers Annoy Park's Squatter

Vancouver, — (CP) — Wilmer Kennedy Cummings, only squatter in Stanley Park, says his home near Brockton Point is not the quiet retreat that it used to be.

Since he was a boy the only thing that bothered his parents was beers and corpses. Now the drinkers and spooners carry on beside his window when he isn't there.

Despite this handicap, Tim has built nearly 1,000 birds like the district where he lives. He is a taxidermist by trade, specimatising after all of his scores of companions who've driven out and he will probably remain there until he dies.

His only companion in the little house is his sister. His father was a Scottish seaman until he went reaching to his waist who jumped ship here while his wife-to-be was loading lumber. His mother was a beautiful Bella Coola Indian squaw.

The cottage has four small rooms, each packed with framed pictures, of which King George V and Queen Mary occupy the place of honor.

Tim doesn't know why the Cummings were allowed to stay there, but suspects when other squatters were evicted in 1918. He pays five dollars a month rent. The Parks Board assures him his plaudit routine won't be disturbed until his "property is needed for development" which, it indicates, won't occur in his lifetime.

PETS HAVE OWN HOSPITAL PLAN

Vancouver — (CP) — Fidos and tabbies here have their own hospital insurance scheme now.

It is made possible by co-operation of veterinaries with the Animal Welfare Association and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

When seriously injured they can be rushed to a veterinary hospital. Fees will be adjusted to the owners' incomes. It's free if they can't afford it.

"Often in the past," a veterinary explained, "a dog or cat run over by a car or hurt some other way had to wait until the free clinic opened on Monday and Thursday. Now they can be treated any time.

Birthday Cake Given in Honor Royal Commission

Toronto, March 23 (CP)— While C.C.F. members of the Ontario legislature sang "Happy Birthday to Royal Commission," Agnes Macphail (CCF-York East) Monday night presented Education Minister Fortier with a cake with four candles.

C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe said the cake represented the fourth birthday of the Royal Commission on education, appointed March 21, 1945.

He could not with many happy returns of the day.

Mr. Fortier accepted the cake for the commission, which has yet to make its report.

"To satisfy the honorable members that the work of the commission will close at the earliest possible moment I shall blow the candles out."

He made it with one blow.

Bacon Exports To U.K. Drop

London, March 22 (CP)—Canadian bacon exports to the United Kingdom dropped sharply last month to less than one-quarter the amount shipped during February, 1948, the Board of Trade disclosed.

The board's monthly statistics showed a total of 9,000 February, 1949, slumped to 31,279 hundredweight. This compared with 136,575 hundredweight in the same month last year and 104,134 hundredweight in January, 1949.

Denmark, Canada's principal rival as a bacon exporter to Britain, supplied 83,102 hundredweight last month. This was more than twice the 36,300 hundredweight Denmark shipped in February, 1948.

50-MILL TAX RATE

Owen Sound, March 22 (CP)— A 1949 tax rate of 50 mills for Owen Sound was set Monday night by city council. The rate was earlier predicted at 47 mills, but a reduction in the total assessment of the city through appeals was a factor in the increase. The over-all assessment of the city this year is 62 per cent higher than last year, when the rate was 67 mills.

Total amount to be raised by taxes this year is $745,000, compared with $640,000 last year.

Transvaal Alarmed Over Spread of TB

Johannesburg —(CP)— Tuberculosis, which has been considered a serious menace to the native population in the Transvaal, is now confined by doctors, spreading among Europeans, largely through lack of hospital accommodation, facilities for proper treatment and means of isolation.

There is not a single government institution in the Transvaal for European patients suffering from this disease.

Most private nursing homes are afraid to admit patients suffering from tuberculosis for fear of spreading the disease, and many are dismissed from their work once employers learn of their complaint.

The Transvaal representative of the National Tuberculosis Association, who is a chest specialist, said recently: "I am appalled at the lack of official and public interest in tuberculosis. The position is far worse than is generally realized, and it is criminal that sufferers should have to die in their own homes and infect the rest of their families.

"If a serious threat to the health of the people of this province is to be avoided, immediate steps will have to be taken to provide adequate hospital and isolation accommodation." Measures will also have to be adopted to prevent infected people giving the disease to others.

A GOOD DEED

There has been given in Belleville a demonstration of good will by associates of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet and family who lost everything, their house and its contents by fire on Thursday night. Many took a part. The proof was the sight of these friends putting up a new (and the Brunets say a better) house than they had before, all in the space of a few short hours. Such sense of readiness to assist those in a very sad plight — to be homeless with all their furniture and clothing gone — is a cheering sign in an age in which there is so much concern over world events which seem to dominate our every thought. But this illustration of kindliness and consideration proves that there is a very real core of kindheartedness and sympathy in most people, probably in practically everyone.

The spirit of such a deed is infectious. In the case of the Brunets there have come gifts from many persons who did not know them personally but feel the need in themselves to do something to put the family back in their own home and to restore to them as far as possible all the comforts they had been enjoying and should be able to enjoy.

Here good will has been demonstrated in a marked degree and those who made others the object of their thoughtfulness feel the happier for the opportunity they embraced of helping their fellow-creatures.

Every city, every town, every hamlet and the great countryside are full of people with kind hearts and good will. But sometimes people allow themselves to become wrapped in too narrow circles and so miss the great privilege of comradeship with others.

Those who have participated in this good deed before not only the local community but also before the eyes of other communities in this Province have done that which is good in the sight of all men and women and will not be forgotten. Naturally there are good deeds constantly being done day after day which do not get into print to help to assist others. But an affliction like this which struck the Belleville family in the sudden destruction of their place they rightly called "home," was the impulse which revealed to them the spirit of good will to be found among Mr. and Mrs. Brunet's friends including associates of Mr. Brunet in the Northern Electric which recently came to Belleville, a spirit which has also been found so manifestly in others through their kind actions.

That cloud of smoke and the destruction of the family residence of a family has been seen to have a silver lining which many have helped to create. Human kindness has made the loss of chance or fate which in many it may be called and has "transformed the smouldering ashes of the home into a brand new residence, completely furnished in a few short hours and re-equipped," as a newspaperman said in a story referring to the miracle which citizens at large and the family in particular have seen take place before their very eyes. Many others who would have helped could neither find a place in which to do their bit for others or were unable to do so for lack of training in the operation of building a home. Then too an example of feeling for others have been gifts of such residents as inmates of the County Home for Aged expressed in giving something of their small possessions of wealth for the distressed family.

Many have done this, their good deed, the echo of which will go rolling on like the echoes of which the poet sings in the words "Our echoes roll from soul to soul and grow forever and forever."

LOVER OF TREES

Down in Ottawa there died a man who loved trees, who made a hobby of trees, contributing to his own enjoyment and fulness of life and to the betterment of the area in which he lived, says Windsor Star.

Canada knows men such as Mr. Blanchet. We have had too many interested only in slashing down forests for the lumber that was in them. Most of the oak, walnut and other fine woods of Southern Ontario have gone the way of the wild pigeon, and the buffalo of the western plains. Just think what a large grove of fine oak or walnut would be worth at current prices!

We have a big reforestation job to do, and the more rapidly it is done the better. There are many thousands of acres of wasteland in Southern Ontario, useless for anything else. These could be growing fine trees, a growing economic asset not only for the wood in them but as a preventative of floods and soil erosion.

RETURN TO JOE'S

Although there are fancier places where the proudest go to dine,
And the waiters, dressed in uniform, serve caviar and wine,
Bill, who looks after my comfort, has a positive prose:
"For that ham and egg sandwich at noontime we now are returning to Joe's."

There's a fresh coat of paint on the building. The gadgets he uses are new.
The cups for the coffee are thinner, and larger the bowls for the stew.
Those verses I fashioned last winter are hung in a frame on the wall,
But the stools at the counter,
I'm certain, are those that
I fondly recall.

Let others praise dishes expensive, and dine where it costs them the most,
My choice when I'm hungry weary is a ham and egg sandwich on toast.
And, what if the cups now are thinner? They hold just as much, I suppose,
So I chuckle whenever Bill tells me: "This noon we are eating at Joe's."

We sit at the counter together, for no one can dine there alone.
We have met in the kinship of hunger — the commonest fellowship known!
The gadgets are modern and gleaming, but oh, so much brighter than those
Are the smiles of old friends and the welcome we get at the counter at Joe's.

"You're just in time to help him buy his two-o'clock bottle—
I see that you've already had yours!"

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TWO GREAT FRIENDS

The saddest thing about life, as you journey along, is to bear the parting from those who have been so much to you through the years. Something vital of ourselves goes with them when a friend dies. It is buried with him.

Within a week of each other two of my earliest New York friends passed away — Charles Stetson Tyng and John Phillips. Brilliant, inspiring minds both had, and no one who ever knew them, left them without loving them. They were like fine wines to me, coming to the big city many years ago from the small towns of the North.

Charlie Towne was a fine poet and a great editor. He bought the first thing I ever wrote for a magazine, a small one entitled "The Gold-Star Mother," which he ran it in his McClure's Magazine and sent me twenty-five dollars — a great thrill for me then. But that was only the beginning of a long and wonderful friendship. He lived in Greenwich Village, entertaining them, and they loved to be with him. He and I both loved Nova Scotia, he writing a book

"Ambling Through Acadia."

John S. Phillips had a genius for drawing people to him. He was one of the most inspiring men I ever knew, but most modest, and one of the most influential. He had an alert mind and was a splendid American editor. He, with Bert Boyden, William Allen White, Jay Tarbell, and others were just startling Canadian Magazine. I was fresh from the West and they seemed a glow of light to me. I was boiling with enthusiasm, and Phillips would call in John Siddell, Boyden and often others, to listen to this enthusiast who was trying to paper syndicate and helping to make people's minds, generally amused Phillips — but what a friendly human he was!

I saw much of these men over the years, mostly at The Players, where their talk about books and interesting people was always a treat. Now there has been created a void that will never be filled. Something deep within each of us dies when our friend dies, leaving a glow of blessed memory that is helpful indeed to give direction to each of us, lighting up our own remaining years.

New York, March 22 (AP)—Negroes competed Monday night in an event sponsored by the American Contract Bridge League for the first time in the league's 21-year history. Four Negro women from the Municipal Bridge League played as teams entered American-League competition.

London, March 22 — (Reuters) — Carol Lynne, 21-year-old American skating star, suffered a cut thigh Monday night when she tripped and somersaulted into the orchestra when she made her first appearance on the stage of the Stoll Theatre. She was able to continue her act after treatment.

Russians Prepare To Meet Ban On Zone Currency

Berlin, March 22 (AP)— The Russians disclosed Monday night they are preparing plans to "meet the situation" presented by the ban on Soviet-zone currency in the western sectors of Berlin.

Col. Alexander Lieberov, acting Russian commandant of Berlin, announced the ban as a step to "deepen the split in Berlin." He asserted it would hurt the people and the economy in the Soviet zone, and "cannot inflict any serious injury" on the stability of Soviet zone currency.

In an effort to help the population of Berlin's western sectors, the Soviet military administration does not intend to carry out any measures restricting the use of the marks of the German bank of semission (the west mark) by residents of the western sectors in the Soviet sector of Berlin and in the Soviet occupation zone.

The statement contrasts with actions Monday of Russian-controlled German police, who attempted to stop west Berliners from dumping their Soviet-zone marks.

Dumping of Red Marks

The dumping started almost as soon as the Allied powers announced Sunday that they were outlawing Soviet-zone currency on the west side of the border.

Jelissarov said in his statement that intensive preparations going out "to the financial experts (of his zone) to meet the situation presulting" under the ban. He gave no clue as to what sort of plan was being hatched for the use of marks or expected from them.

The Allied order had been expected for some time. The western zone mark long has been banned in the Soviet zone. The Russians contend the fight over which currency should be used in all Germany is a big factor behind their blockade of Berlin.

The western powers predict their ban will help the economy and even hasten by it more closely to the rest of west Germany which, they report, is developing faster than the Soviet zone.

Girl's Body Found In River Weighted With Cement

Milwaukee, March 22 (AP) The investigation of the slaying of pretty Patricia Birmingham, 16, turned today to a search for the girl's missing sister.

The girl from suburban West Allis, missing since Feb. 10, had been shot twice through the head. The body, weighted with a heavy, concrete building block, had been dumped into the Milwaukee River near their harbor entrance. She had not been raped.

The grisly slaying came to light Sunday afternoon, dragging the river for another body, found the girl's body.

Patricia's sister, Kathleen, 17, has not been heard from, police say, since she left home with all her clothing Friday night. The girl left a note saying she was eloping with Milton Babich, 19, West Allis, with whom she had been keeping company.

Police hope they will get in touch with their homes when they hear about Patricia. They also hope that the two may be able to add something to what police know about the victim's movements on the day she disappeared.

Four youth, 15 to 17, who were taken into custody shortly after Patricia's body was found, were released by Police Monday night after almost 24 hours of questioning.

Police today were to question 60 to 70 of Patricia's school friends in an attempt to learn more about her movements.

DIES SHORTLY AFTER ACCIDENT

Brockville, March 21 (CP)— Mrs. Martin Hunter, 53, of nearby Wexford, Ont., died in hospital here Monday night a few hours after she was struck by a car driven by Allan Hay of Brockville. Police said Mrs. Hunter apparently stepped into car's path while mailing a letter outside her house.

Mackenzie's Column: New British Dominion Seen In Southeast Asia

(Editor's note: This column is prescribed as an Indication of American reaction to major world events.)

By STANLEY SWINTON
(Of DeWITT MACKENZIE)
Associated Press News Analyst

A new British Dominion is in the making for picturesque southeast Asia.

Colonial Undersecretary David Lees-Wilson has told us that Great Britain's rich Southeast Asian colonies and protectorates definitely are slated to become a self-governing dominion.

The Southeast Asia Dominion probably would encompass 132,000 square miles. The population should say multiplied by eight would be slightly less than California's — about 6,500,000.

Almost certainly these countries would be included:

	Area (Sq. (last miles) census)	Population
Federation of Malaya	50,810	4,134,849
Singapore	1,356	1,134,564
Sarawak	50,000	490,585
North Borneo	30,500	270,223
Brunei	2,226	30,135

The progressive dominion's most far-flung point would be that 1,800,000 Hong Kong Chinese, miles southwest of Java, and longer Christmas Island, 32 miles south of Nova. Both are considered part of Singapore Colony.

Hong Kong In?

Possibly Hong Kong might be included. That colonial Chinese island-city has a population of at least 1,800,000. Hong Kong proper, Kowloon, on the adjacent China mainland, have an area of 391 square miles.

A Southeast Asia Dominion would be of tremendous importance to the United States as well as British. British Southeast Asia produces many of the world's most essential raw materials, many of them available nowhere else.

More important than the economic side, though, is the political.

By building toward self-government as a dominion in the British Empire, Britain is dealing the communists a real blow. It ruins their chief propaganda weapon. The communism offers their only chance for independence.

No Double Talk

The big thing has been to convince the island peoples that Britain isn't handing out political double talk. Its actions indicate they feel they have largely succeeded in that.

That means Britain can work together with the Asians toward their common goal — Dominion status. It may be 10 years off, probably a good many more.

As the eighth dominion, Southeast Asia would have the same status as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan or Ceylon.

HEMORRHOIDS AND GENERAL HEALTH

You may not remember (writes B. F. M.) but I wrote you about six months ago. I had a very bad stomach, poor digestion and, in the opinion of one doctor, gastric ulcer, although other doctors seemed less certain about that. I know only that there was so much hyperacidity that I nearly burned up.

You referred me to a good doctor for examination. In considerable experience with doctors and specialists I never had such a thorough examination before. When it was finished the doctor interpreted his findings I was astonished and I might say chagrined by his diagnosis, in view of the fact that when I went through the clinic I think they attributed most of my trouble to adhesions.

Dr. —— told me what I already knew, that I had internal piles.

Oh, yes, I had been troubled like that for many years and had been compelled to take physics every day....

It took me a while to realize what the doctor was telling me, namely, that he thought most of my trouble came from the piles. I started having injection treatments—which, of course, are not painless—and soon became practically painless—and soon became painless.

Now I can eat anything I like, have gained 15 pounds, am much stronger and I am enjoying life for the first time in years. I have much to be thankful for, but most of all for your fine column. Long may she live and prosper.

The pamphlet H Is Stupid to Suffer from Piles is available to any reader who will drop me a line writing and inclosure a stamped self-addressed envelope. A postcard ping will not suffice, and if you change the name of the pamphlet you will be disappointed. I am quoted on this because I want you to know exactly what you are getting about which I should like to have a word with you. I am firmly of the opinion that it is stupid to suffer from piles.

Such is the case of B. F. M. for instance. He or she had been troubled with piles for many years, yet, because of somebody's stupidity the piles went untreated for so many years. Perhaps we should say maltreated rather than untreated, for every dose of phrsic B. F. M. took undoubtedly aggravated the piles more or less.

That word geek—I thought I had coined it myself and I felt proud of it, for it seemed to describe so well the marvelous credulity of the individual with a little knowledge. But the Young Snip let me on my dear when a volume called The American Language by a fellow named Mencken with a marker at p. 584. There, drat it, geek is defined Dilla Co.)

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Truth has a smiling and patient way of establishing herself. Unlike most of those who seek or pursues her, truth is not in a hurry.

As a matter of fact, truth appears to be lazy and easy-going. She likes dallies about, and enjoys allowing herself to be entertained by any passing company.

We like to imagine truth to be tall, lean and athletic-looking, but when you come to think of it, truth is better envisaged as fat, comfortable and accommodating. Across the centuries, truth comes and leaves, never taking up residence anywhere for long. Every generation in every new country, some party, some clique or platform itself that it has at last persuaded truth to come down as a permanent member of the community. Truth would be a big house. Advertising material is got out and widely distributed, announcing the advent of the new and distinguished resident.

But after a while, up she gets and smilingly goes her way, fatter, lazier and more at ease in the clothing and some of the property accumulated by her admirers.

Some have tried to make her a prisoner. That's how valuable truth would be. But truth immortal, she just vanishes through some wills and even past the serried ranks of armed guards.

This slightly scandalous allegory comes to mind in trying to find the truth about the state of democracy. Democracy may be said to symbolize social and political philosophy that typifies the people's aspirations. Therefore democracy does not try to pin her down. Democracy follows after truth, catching up with her as often as possible to revel in her company and entertain her, realizing all the time that truth is eternal, that eternity is the end and that age implies ceaseless movement and growth.

Truth is just minute or two, I thought I had the truth by the hand!

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

FOUNDATIONS AND SUPERSTRUCTURES

The chairman of a campaign committee to raise funds for a new hospital was talking to the workers why it is not possible to raise more money to the present building. The foundations, he said, have not been built to stand that strain.

It occurred that the man who hearkened to His words could be likened to a person who built his house upon the rock. Whether it be a moral character or a modern building, foundations are important but supremely important. The foundations of our houses are not particularly beautiful; in fact so little so that we usually try to cover them up with shrubs. That we are proud of is the superstructure. But the superstructure is possible only because of the foundation, and the house is hurt as secure as the walls upon which it is built.

Many people go to pieces because the foundations of moral integrity and character have never been built into the inmost recesses of their souls. They may have very fancy superstructures along the line of intellectual brilliance, social standing, and position, but the foundation is weak. Sometimes heavy burdens come upon us, which test our foundations to the limit. Many know in the day of testing whether we have built well or ill.

MANUFACTURING RECORD

Winnipeg — (CP) — The 1,440 industrial plants in Manitoba had a gross manufacturing output of $450,000,000 in 1948, an all-time high, R. A. Sare, managing secretary of the industrial board of the province told a service club here recently.

Davies Rebuked For Stand on Family Allowance

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 22 — (CP) — A rebuke administered to Senator W. Rupert Davies by a fellow Ontario Liberal, Senator Arthur Roebuck, for the former's stand on family allowances, marked the end of the throne speech debate in the Red Chamber.

The Senate Monday night adopted the address in reply to the throne speech without a dissenting voice.

The Chamber also gave first reading to a government bill giving wide powers to the Board of Evenuport Commissioners to supervise functions of oil and gas pipe-lines.

This bill is preliminary to a number of expected private measures for incorporation of pipeline companies and will give the board power to oversee operations of such companies as it now has in respect of transportation.

Senator Roebuck, last speaker in the throne speech debate, took Senator Davies to task for saying that the family allowance plan would "help the thriftless and penalize the thrifty."

Throne Speech

Senator Davies sat quietly through his colleague's long speech, interrupting only once.

He said he wished to be quoted correctly and read from his Mar. 17 speech:

"When family allowances were first talked about I was opposed to them, not because I begrudged help to needy families but because I felt they would help the thriftless and penalize the thrifty.

"However, I listened to the debate in the other place (House of Commons) and also in this House and was won over to support the measure. I am still in favor of it but think we have gone far enough."

Senator Roebuck said he had not misquoted Senator Davies and that the latter, in discussing family allowances, "took every whack at the legislation that he had in his bag of tricks.'

"To say that parents of children under 16 years of age were thriftless "is a suggestion so unworthy that I do not believe the senator from Kingston meant what he said," Senator Roebuck commented.

Senator Roebuck said 84 per cent of the children in Canada were supported by only 19 per cent of the gainfully employed.

TAXATION PROBLEM — Tom Pyrma, 30-year-old oil company employee at Redway, Alta., wonders what income tax is all about. Pyrma says he has been charged more than $600 by the Edmonton income tax office for earnings on gambling winnings of $1,500 in 1945 and 1946." Pyrma declares he has never gambled in his life. The Edmonton tax officials refuse to comment. Ottawa says he has nothing to worry about. But Pyrma still wonders what's happening. (CP Photo)

Boost Purchasing Power

He said the Family Allowance Act, by June 1949, will have added $1,000,000,000 to the purchasing power of the mothers of Canada.

Senator Thomas Crerar (I—Manitoba) interrupted to say that the $1,000,000,000 came from the taxpayers and therefore was not increased purchasing power.

Senator Roebuck said it was increased purchasing power in that when put in the hands of needy mothers it was spent, and not kept in savings or bonds held by the more privileged.

In real wages the average earnings in Canada had advanced only 15 per cent since 1939, Senator Roebuck said. But for rent controls alone "that meager 15 per cent would have long since disappeared in the pockets of the owning classes," he said.

"The Senator from Kingston is worried about the effect which 'all this governmental generosity is going to have on the rising generation'."

"He does not refer to the effect of this generosity upon those who pay for it but I fancy that was not entirely absent from his mind."

$18 Per Capita Cost

Family allowances were costing each Canadian about $18 a year; about $1.50 per capita per month. "I do not think we are going generosity-bankrupt," he said.

"The honorable senator quotes Lloyd George as saying 'it is awfully cold at the top.'

"Oh, no it is not. At the top you will find steam heating, plush furniture and oriental rugs. It is cold only at the bottom.

"At the top it is not the atmosphere that is cold but rather some of the people who get there."

Form of Paternalism

It was "quite correct to term family allowances paternalism for they spring from the paternal solicitude of this generation for the welfare of that which will succeed us."

Senator Davies had asked "why talk so much about social justice in these times of abounding prosperity?"

Said Senator Roebuck:

"This is indeed a period of comparative prosperity but will he assure me that prosperity has extended to everyone in the simple measure which he has himself enjoyed."

He doubted that "anyone will have the hardihood" to tell him that rents and profits have not advanced a good deal more than real wages.

"Let those who are primarily concerned in business activity and who squawk about taxes not overlook the effect of the fact that by June the government will have increased the purchasing power of the mothers of Canada by family allowance cheques to the amount of $1,000,000,000." An average of $2.60 per child has been paid out to 5,673,263 children this fiscal year.

Few Complaints

Administration costs amounted to 1½ per cent. There had been only an average of one complaint of misuse for every 1,578 families. It had been found necessary to change the payee in only one out of 8,000 recipients.

The money was being used for better clothing, food, medical and dental care, educational and recreational opportunities. School attendance had improved because payments depended on attendance.

Senator Davies had wondered how many senators would be in the Chamber now if there had been family allowances to blunt their initiative and ambition in youth. "Would the question not be better reversed," asked Senator Roebuck. "How many of our generation are not senators today because when we were young we did not have family allowances?"

Cities Loving Care

"I can tell you why I am a senator," he added. "It is because when I was very young my father was able to buy a cow which he himself milked for his family before and after office hours and because my mother expended her often scanty resources for food and clothing for her children with a loving care and solicitude of which only mothers are capable."

"Viewing a Senate seat as a symbol of success, I take it that the honorable Senator attributes his own scaling of the heights to child labor exacted of him after school. That fiction may be pleasing to his ego but let him not fool himself in the presence of others. The foundation of his ability to work, to strive, to scale the heights and to acquire were laid not by himself at all but by his parents in his early years and the bricks and mortar with which they builded were warm clothing, and good nourishing food."

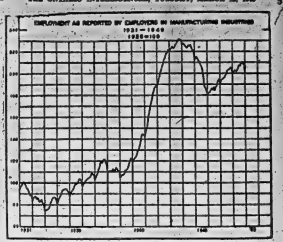
Britain to Buy Huge Quanity Canadian Timber

London, March 21 — (CP) — Britain may take a total of 220,000 standards (648,400,000 board feet) of Canadian timber in 1949, the Financial Times says today.

Reviewing the effect on the lumber trade the paper says the maximum quantity of timber available from non-dollar areas "will leave a gap which can only be met from Canada."

The article says that J. L. Baynes, a member of the government committee named last year to estimate minimum requirements from 1949 to 1953, suggested "we may look for total import of 1,100,000 standards this year, about five per cent in excess of 1948."

"He pointed out that the necessary additional timber is available in Canada but the full purchase is precluded by a lack of dollars." Baynes is a former president of the British Timber Trade Federation.



Italian Reds Lose 700,000 Members in Year

New York, March 22 (CP) — The New York Times said in a Rome dispatch today that the Italian Communist party has lost 700,000 members in the last year.

Quoting Defence Minister Randolfo Paccardi, the dispatch said the party's strength was "decreasing rapidly," while the "forces at the disposal of the Italian government had reached such a degree of efficiency and organization as to be in a position to crush any insurrectional movement if it were attempted without the support of foreign powers."

Paccardi is a member of the government party, the Christian Democrats, a middle-of-the-road group.

Paccardi said that not even a general strike for political reasons, "which would be a prelude to insurrection," would have a chance to succeed in Italy now.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH—The growth of manufacturing in Canada is illustrated by the growth in the number of employees. An index compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on the basis of 1926 equalling 100, shows the deep depression in late 1933 and early 1934, an improvement until 1937, some falling off, and then the steep climb of the war years. The decline at war's end turned upward again through 1946-48. Each square represents a year. Each shows a December seasonal drop. (CP Photo)

Art in Laundry Puts Paintings Before Public

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York — (AP) — Izzy Redman, proprietor of a self-service laundry on the East Side, today finds himself a patron of the arts. His likes it fine, he says, because the 16 oil paintings above his 22 washing machines have brought in new customers and charmed the old ones.

Redman, a former professional boxer who fought as a middleweight in the 1920's, is the entrepreneur who has loaned wall space to the devotees of line and color. His is the latest show by the Greenwich Village art centre, which has been setting up exhibits in unorthodox places for some time.

Centre officials hope the practice will be copied wherever there are artists who want to get their works where they will be seen.

We felt that an unknown artist had no more chance of being shown in a 57th street gallery — (New York's art row) than an unknown singer had at the Metropolitan Opera," says Mrs. Maxine Elliot, centre president.

So we decided to take the paintings to places where the public could see them, instead of holding aloof formal exhibits."

Got Idea In Bank

Mrs. Elser got the idea while talking to a bank executive who handled the centre account.

"I looked around the bare walls of the bank," she recalled, "and told the vice-president that the bank would be a nice place to exhibit paintings in — that people had to stand in line waiting their turns and it would be pleasant to have something nice to look at."

The banker went along and the centre shipped over the work of artists who had won awards and reputations in most recent showing. Thereafter the bank walls were never without paintings on exhibition.

Next, someone spotted more bare space on the walls of the lounge in a Greenwich Village movie theatre. So a "roving exhibit" of the centre went in there, too. Pretty soon the centre was sending paintings to a church and a restaurant.

The laundry show was the brain child of Writer - painter William Allen.

"A laundry is my idea of an unconditioned nightmare," he explained. "A cold, frigid atmosphere, depressing and full of open spaces. What could be better than to fill it with warmth and beauty? Give the men and women something to enjoy while waiting for the machines to do their sterilizing work!"

Now Allen is looking for other likely quarters — shoe stores, food stores and the like.

Soroptimist Club Hears Talk Habits of Bees

The Soroptimist Club met on Monday at the supper hour at Bridge Street Church. Following an enjoyable box-lunch supper, Miss Sally Calon presided for the program.

Miss Leona Riggs, chairman of Ways and Means committee reported on the success of the Peter Pan Festival.

Mrs. Minnie Kerr, spiarist of Toronto, member of the club, was the speaker. She told many interesting items regarding the habits of bees.

As early as 3500 B.C., the honey bee was so valued in Egypt, that its image appeared on many monuments. Man and the bee have been in close association for more than fifty centuries, yet even today the hive is a realm of mysteries.

The life of the colony revolves around the queen. She is responsible for the egg laying, but does none of the other necessary work. Every bee is busy at her own work. There are the nurses who care for the larvae, the ladies in honor who wait on the queen, the house bees whose responsibility is the air conditioning of the hive, the architects, masons, and engineers who design and build the comb, the foragers who gather the nectar, and the guards who stand at the gate, at the threshold, are all equally important.

The Queen Respected

The construction of the comb is remarkable, while it is all in the dark, it is more perfect than any walls that have been built by human hands. The bees have a great respect for their queen, if anything happens to her, she is buried by those of the princesses, and all the other princesses are stung to death. A worker bee dies after stinging, except in the case of the guards.

Contrary to general belief the life of the bee does not cease in winter. They are dormant and are hung suspended clinging to each other. The bees nearest the outside pass it on to others, it is often necessary to supplement their food in winter.

Science has now found that the bee is the best pollen carrier in existence. It has been used to treat skin cancer. It is also successful in the treatment of rheumatism and arthritis. To avoid the slight danger of following the direct sting of the bee, doctors have prepared a solution of the bees poison which is injected with a needle.

Honey the product of the combined efforts of the bees, is a valuable food. It is good on toast, with grapefruit, or used as sweetening for peaches or other fresh fruit. It also has antiseptic qualities.

Tillie Mazer expressed the thanks of the club to Minnie for the interesting and short question period followed, bringing out many other helpful items in connection with bee culture.

Gifts and Shower Given by Neighbor Friends

Bellcreek school was the scene recently of a neighborly gathering held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wickens, who are leaving the neighborhood in the near future.

Mr. Ellen Bedell was master of ceremonies, and presented them with a floor tri-lamp and a wagon for the children.

At the same time a miscellaneous shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Orval May, who had been unfortunate in losing their home and its contents through fire. Mrs. Grace Akey read the address, after which the many useful gifts were presented.

During the course of the evening progressive euchre was played, and those who were fortunate in obtaining prizes were: 1st, Mrs. Vera Burns; 2nd, Mr. Martin Hamelink; 3rd, Mrs. Wm. Levecque; consolation, Mrs. Mildred May.

Following the dancing, refreshments were served.

ROSLIN Roslin W.I. Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Roslin Wednesday evening last will long be remembered by members and charter members of the Roslin Women's Institute, their friends and families, who met together in the Anglican Church Hall at a banquet in connection with the 40th anniversary celebrations of the founding of the Roslin Women's Institute.

This branch of the Women's Institute was organized at a meeting held in the Chosen Friends' Hall during December, 1908, forty - eight ladies of the community joined the Institute during the first year.

Twenty-four of the Charter members are living and eleven of these ladies were present at the banquet, namely: Mrs. J. Fargey, Mrs. M. Fargey; Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. W. Wilkin, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. D. Leslie, Mrs. H. Howes, Mrs. J. Hart, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. M. Hamilton and Mrs. A. Wilson.

Charter Members Honored

At the December meeting of the Women's Institute, two of the charter members, Mrs. D. Leslie and Mrs. M. Fargey who have been faithful workers through all the years, were honored when presented with corsages of red and white carnations, the colors of dress, and gifts. At that time it was decided to have a banquet and invite all the charter members. Plans were made and on this occasion the banquet became a reality.

The Hall was suitably decorated with the Institute colors of blue and yellow, these colors were used in streamers, favors and programs; the tables were arranged in the shape of the letter U, with the guests of honor seated in the centre.

90 Guests

The long tables, at which ground 90 guests were seated, looked lovely with their white cloths, crisscrossed with blue and yellow streamers, and centred with ivy candlesticks with blue and yellow tapers, programs, favors and place cards and an abundance of delicious food and centred with a two-tiered anniversary birthday cake bearing 40 candles.

Mrs. F. E. Seazer, in a capable and delightful manner, ably performed the duties of toast mistress, and used the gathering to stand for a two-minute silence in memory of the departed members, which Mrs. Seazer led in prayer. The first toast, "Our Empire" was proposed by Mrs. Seazer.

The president lighted the candles on the birthday cake and the toast mistress called on Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Fargey to cut the cake.

Letters Read

After this the secretary, Mrs. H. Sills read congratulatory messages, which had been received from the following branches of the district:

Tyendinaga East, Melrose and Quinte and from Mrs. Arnold Mitchell, the representative on the Provincial Board.

Charter Members' Letters

Letters of regret at being unable to attend, and wishing for the Institute every success in the future were received from the following charter members, one current members living at a distance:

Mrs. (Dr.) F. W. Hill and her mother, Mrs. White, Ottawa; Mrs. (Rev.) H. Boulter, Napanee; Mrs. E. Bater; Mrs. L. Graham and Mrs. J. Preston, all of Belleville; Mrs. E. May, Thomasburg; Mrs. S. Elliott, Shannonville; Mrs. W. Pitchett, Moira; Mrs. J. Kingston, Tweed; Mrs. W. S. Fawns, Calgary, and Mrs. C. Hart and Mrs. N. Breech, Point Anne.

Mrs. H. Chisholm

At this time, Mrs. H. Chisholm was presented with a basket of roses, from the members of the local branch, as a slight token of appreciation, of her work in planning and arranging the banquet, so successfully.

Mrs. Chisholm, though taken by surprise, very graciously thanked all for the lovely gift, saying she did not feel she deserved it as all had willingly given their help and closed her remarks with the poem, "If you can't be a pine on the top of the hill, be a scrub in the valley. But be the best of whatever you are."

Toasts Proposed

The toast, "Our Guests" was proposed by Mrs. H. Chisholm, and responded to by Mrs. D. Leslie, Mrs. J. Fargey and Rev. F. C. Beazer.

Mrs. Earl Gray sang a solo "Bless This House" with Mrs. A. Bates as accompanist.

Mrs. MacMullen, Rawdon, then favored with two readings, "Lady's Fountain" and an "Ode to the W.I." as written by a man.

The district president of East Hastings, Mrs. Thos. Leslie, of Tweed, spoke words of greeting, and proposed the toast to the Institute, which was responded to by Mrs. J. Robinson gave the reply.

Mrs. Roscoe Robson, of Hallowell, brought greetings and also regrets from her husband, who was unable to be present, and read a letter from Fullilpeau, Zion branch of the W.I.

Mrs. Wm. Ellis closed with another solo "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and two more readings were given by Mrs. MacMullen, "Jake's Whiskers", and a poem by James Whitcomb Riley.

Talks About Native Land

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Ralph Parker, of Stirling, who gave an address illustrated with slides of his homeland, Czechoslovakia.

The speaker said there are thirty million people living in Czechoslovakia, a country one-fifteenth the size of Province of Ontario.

The country is mainly industrialized with sixty per cent of the people in industry.

Prague, with its old castles, cathedrals, ancients caves and museums, is the show factories, and many scenes from his home town in Moravia.

Thanks Expressed

Mrs. Beazer expressed the thanks of the gathering to the speaker for his address and slides.

Mrs. Chisholm extended a vote of thanks to all who assisted in making the banquet a success.

All joined hands in singing of "Auld Lang Syne" bringing to a conclusion a very memorable and happy evening.

HALLOWAY W.M.S.-W.A.

Halloway.—The joint meeting of Halloway W.M.S. and W.A. was held in the home of Mrs. Earl Snider, on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Cliff Mumford, president of the W.M.S., opened the meeting and conducted the worship service as outlined in the Missionary Monthly, the theme being "The Kingdom Come". Miss Lois McMullen and Mrs. Earl Snider assisted with the worship service and a prayer was offered by Mrs. Lorne Wellman.

In the business discussion, it was decided to send two members, who are on the list, some gifts. Plans were made to attend the W.M.S. Presbyterial at Trenton, in April. The Secretary, Miss Bessie McMullen, read the minutes of the last meeting, and roll call was answered by "Why the Church is important to me"; Mrs. Harry McMullen outlined a chapter of the Study Book followed by prayer by Rev. A. L. Shorton.

Mrs. Earl Snider, president of the W.A., then took charge of the meeting and called on the Secretary, Mrs. Harold Wilkinson, to read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Coleman Townsend, Mrs. Ralph Bedford, gave readings on the objectives of the W.A. Plans were completed for a pie social to be held in April. The meeting closed by singing "The Lord's Prayer."

The hostess then served dainty refreshments.

VICTORIA W. A.

Carrying Place—Victoria W. A. on the Rednersville pastoral charge sponsored a social evening in the church congregation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Brown, on Thursday evening, with a good deal of much sickness in the neighborhood, there was a splendid attendance.

Following a short business meeting, Miss Betty Dempsey led the gathering in some good old Irish fun of stunts and contests. Mrs. Harvey Brown conducted a "Bicycle Contest". The remainder of the evening was spent in progressive games.

Bountiful refreshments were served by Mr. Brown and assistants and a pleasant evening thus brought to a close. A hearty vote of thanks was extended Mr. and Mrs. Brown for their kind hospitality.

Proceeds of the evening was $8.30.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walker (nee Eva Brown) of South Bay attended the W. A. at her home and enjoyed the social time with Victoria friends again.

BEAUTY JUDGES HAD TOO MUCH TO CHOOSE FROM

Gloria Gray, 20-year-old beauty from Winnipeg, crowned "Miss Winnipeg" in the annual contest held by the Associated Community Clubs. The panel of Judges of the contest had a difficult time sorting out the 22 contestants and attribute their difficulty to the fact that the prairie city has the most beautiful girls in Canada. That is what Winnipeg citizens say anyway.—Central Press Canadian.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

This Mistreated Wife Needs Spunk

If a wife is unhappy because of her husband's disposition or behavior, but is certain that she loves him so much in spite of the way he treats her that she could not be happy without him, what is she going to do?

The obvious answer seems to be that she will simply have to put up with the things she doesn't like about her marriage.

Here, for example, is a letter from a young woman who has been married only nine months and already she is miserably unhappy.

"I work all day," she writes, "and of course when I come home I am worn out. My husband expects me to cook, clean and run whenever he calls. He gets a big bang out of dragging me and making me angry. Then he says he is sorry and everything is supposed to be fine.

"When I ask for ice cream, he says 'No, we can't afford it' I don't buy clothes that I'd like to have because he says that I shouldn't. We don't have a lot of money but we do have enough to be happy. Of course when he wants something that's different. He just gets it and I have nothing to say about it.

"All he wants me to do is work and then work at home at night and of course do everything he thinks is right. I've got so I can't stand it much longer, but I can't leave because I love him too much.

Now, as I have just said, if a girl loves a husband, who is making her unhappy, how much to leave him, she is obviously going to have to put up with the situation. Then the question becomes one of how she shall behave so that she can be least unhappy and so that there will be the least possible friction.

I doubt very much if this objective can be accomplished very often by giving in constantly to a man. Apparently this girl has been doing just that for the sake of peace. No matter how she gives in, her husband seems to keep right on nagging and knocking her around.

Since her program of reconciliation hasn't accomplished anything, therefore, I think she had better change her tactics and see what a little spunk will do. That is, she might try standing up to her husband instead of letting him walk all over her.

I don't mean that she should constantly quarrel with him, either. I do mean that she should quietly insist on her rights and stick to it.

Since she works, she has a right to spend some of the money she makes on herself. Why should she have to ask her husband when she wants some ice cream, or when she wants to buy something for herself? Does she hand over everything she earns to him? If she does, she should stop it.

Another thing to which she has a right is a little time to herself. If she works all day she should not spend every evening doing house work. A third right is to be able to live without being slapped around And on this point I might say that I think any woman who continues to love a man who does that to her so much that she can't leave him, must have that curious something in her that makes her unable to be at all treated roughly. If I were this girl, the very first time I got slapped, I would walk out and go to a hotel. I'd go back to my own home, or some other place, and see what happens. If it didn't bring my husband to me with an apology, I would stay where I was, and if he did come after me, I would make it quite plain that the next time he hit me, I would be gone for good.

Men of the type of this girl's husband are not going to respect, or appreciate, or treat properly a wife who doesn't stand up for herself. I advise this girl to start doing so at once.

Know How to Sit Prettily?

If you have a pretty figure show it off to advantage by sitting and standing properly, advises Gail Russel, of the Silver Screen

By HELEN FOLLETT

NOT every woman is a pretty sitter. Many of the sisters walk with a certain splendor, have good lines when they are standing, but when they sink into a chair they fold up, place their feet awkwardly, don't know what to do with their hands.

Dr. William R. Sadler, in his book "The Science of Living," published some years ago, says that there are numerous physical conditions which might very properly be termed "chair diseases," flat chests, weak and crooked backs, flabby abdominal muscles.

Ordinary Chairs

"This chair difficulty," he writes, "owes its origin to the fact that the ordinary chairs are straight backed, while God made the back with a curve in it; therefore when man sits in a chair of his own devising, his frames or dig at hangnails are not restful companions. They are as not so natural as God intended. to get around this difficulty is easy enough, if one will only remember. Do not flatten your back against the chair. Sit far back on the seat, let buttocks and shoulders rest against the back and keep the inward curve at the back of the waist by forcing up the spinal column. This practice will tend to make the muscles of the rear portion of the body strong and restful while, if you slump in your chair, they will be so relaxed that they will give no support.

Feet Together

Place your feet close together on the floor, toes pointing straight ahead. If you must cross your legs, cross them at the ankles, not at the knees.

Endeavor to keep the chest lifted, head perfectly balanced; the shoulders relaxed. That is an easy graceful pose.

Hands, of course, should be in a state of repose. Girls who diddle with dress ornaments, twist at the ankles, are not restful companions. They are as not behave that way.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Are You a Lisp? Don't Overwork It.

It's the aim and ambition of every normal girl to be attractive, pret and charming. Very good. That's as it should be. But it sometimes happens that beauty and charm are overplayed.

Ty Dottie Dimple, with those cutiettie dants in her whole Theplay peck-a-boo when she smil so she laughs a lot to show playbeau. Fine at times when her ge looks very tired. Why wouldn't it be? It's always on the dimpling job, needs a rest now and en. Here is a case of overemphis on a quality of pulchritudes

Colder Eleanor. She was the bright girl in her class in college and a lively wit, walked away with honors. She was a screa, actually the funniest girl that ever was. At every social gathing she was the star. Had an ousing comment on every subje.

Wit, she had a reputation to susta and it must have been a bit waring. It just wouldn't be in cracter for her to sink into a chatiray nothing, listen to other people's smart cracks.

Elanor is now married, the mothr of three lively kids, has a large house, no household help. She loes her washing and ironing, ke millions of other women. But no matter how tired Leela, she has ; to be witty and show off.

Al her life Joan has heard talk about her beautiful hair. Then she was a little girl her mother said, "Do look at Joan's hair," at ih child's hands. Did you ever see ny more perfect!"

Vivid polish on long, claw-like nails is terrible.

So the child got to asking other children to admire her hands, and she bragged about them. When she went to high school she was extremely vain of her paws. She fluttered them, she almost stuck her fingers in other people's eyes. She played with the buttons on her frocks, twisted strands of her hair, all in an effort to make others notice her slender fingers and neat wrists.

I feel sure wondered why her hands were never still. Joan never has found out that hands are most beautiful when in a state of repose, that to be truly attractive a girl should have poise, appear at ease.

And the amount of bright, vivid polish she put on her nails! Terrible!

Over-awareness of one's goodlooks qualities robs them of their charm; they should not be boldly exploited and displayed. It isn't necessary to call attention to them. People have eyes.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Bookman

Should Wedding Presents be Shared With Ex-Husband?

Dear Mrs. Bookman:

My sister is troubled about a circumstance neither she nor I have ever heard about before. Will you advise her, please? She has been married less than a year, and is getting an annulment of the marriage. Her husband to day insisted that she allow him to take all the wedding presents given them by his family and relatives (and he has many relatives, while we have very few) and friends. My sister maintains that practically all the wedding presents belong to the bride, and that she should keep them, particularly since she is going to continue to live in the apartment they occupied for a short time. What are her rights in this matter?

A. U.

Her "rights" are that the wedding presents, always sent to the bride, legally belong to her, and that she can hold onto them all if she so chooses. But no matter what their status together, it would be fair, would show a reasonable consideration and good taste, for her to allow him to have certain of the wedding presents that were obviously sent for his special use or because of his connection with certain gifts from his family, and certainly family heirlooms; the gift of jewelry he has received or his college friends or fraternity or lodge brothers; perhaps a gift from his co-workers or business or professional associates.

The Godfather's Responsibilities

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be godfather for my brother's child. Will you please tell me as to what I am supposed to do, so that I will not be confused with my responsibility at the time of the christening? The christening will take place in a Catholic church. Who pays the fees, or any other expenses? Who makes the arrangements?

P. S.

As godfather you have the responsibilities as far as making the arrangements are concerned, and as far as any expenses are concerned. It is your brother, the child's father, who should make all arrangements with the priest for the christening, and it's your brother who makes an offering to the priest on the occasion.

All of the christening the godparents (it is the godmother who usually holds the baby) go up to the font, and the child's parents and the christening guests stand behind during the ceremony. The ceremony is very interesting to the ritual (if you have any special questions about this service, consult with your priest or the priest who is to perform the ceremony, so that you will be "letter perfect."

The godparent should give the baby a christening present. You may wish to follow the tradition of giving a present made of silver: a silver cup or a silver or mug; or a set of silver in small size – spoon, fork and knife; or a silver dish, or silver dish of some size. You may have any of these

"Suffered much with constipation"

Famous naval helps where "remedies" failed

Are you among those who long for constipation relief? Then read this unsolicited letter:

"I tried several remedies but would not get rid of trouble. One day I decided I should try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I began to eat this every morning. And without exaggeration, I am cured and to be perfect for me!" H. Lemay, 2787 Rue Lemoine, Rosemont, Montreal.

Fashion Flashes

GOOD TEAMWORK of straw and felt is responsible for a very pretty early-spring hat. The brim and the top of the brim is of palest pink felt. The facing of the brim, which rolls slightly about the face, is wider in front than at back, is of gray straw braid. The whole thing is mushed in layers of palest pink tulle veiling. The bake is thick

PERFECT FOR A PORTRAIT sitting is a ball gown fashioned of yards and yards of palest maize gutaette. The fabric is pleated back in flat triangular handkerchief folds on the sexy, strapless bodice. Bands of black Chantilly lace, starting in overlapped miter points at the waistline, are applied in ribs down the skirt and in overlapped-V pointed bands near the hemline.

BECOMING A CLASSIC is the beautifully cut greatcoat of pale wool fleece, now appearing each season. Pale golden fleece makes a greatcoat cinched at the waist with self fabric rope sash. Huge, bone turn-back cuffs reach almost to the elbow and the rising collar forms a petal points at either side.

EASY-TO-WEAR dresses after this spring. Black dress-dotted white silk twill makes an easy shirtwaist dress with cuffed elbow sleeves and deep, plunging, roll-collared neckline. Black velvet sash with side streamers; pockets in skirt folds.

A FINE IDEA is that of teaming sheer wool jersey blouses in pastel shades with matching flannel skirts. Pale mauve shades, pale or silver gray, true navy blue, lime and orange are some of the shades available. Blouses go in for deep necklines; skirts have a moderate flare.

Elegant Ensemble

Black crepe with colorful print

By VERA WINSTON

A SKIRT, a CAPELET and a blouse shape up into a nice costume with which to greet spring. The blouse is of white mousseline de soie tucked in crossbar effect. The skirt has a one-sided pannier drape and an inverted pleat in front, and is topped by a leather belt. The capelet has a dolman-like sleeve effect. The fabric is black crepe with a vivid print in red, white and green.

LATEST SHADE for accessories — gloves, shoes and especially bags — is a delicious, straw-colored beige that the trade has named bamboo. It goes beautifully with navy, with green, with some blacks, with white, and, strange to say, with another neutral, gray.

THE IDEAL traveller is a costume of drinkproof cotton tweed. Deep violet blue is used for the redingote of a fine trav-eling outfit, the dress of which uses the same color but a little lighter. Accessories are barred in green and blue.

IT'S COLOR all the way now, what with lingerie available in various colors and shades—deep and dark, light flower pastels, delicate lilacs, yellows, greens and mauvey-pinks. Shoes, too, with a series of beautiful pumps in fine, high-polished calf, in lovely colors.

WANTS HARD WORK

Auckland, N.Z. — (CP) —After years of pleading effort to make conditions easy in order to attract staff, the local fire brigade is starting to lose men because the jobs are too easy. Sidney School Area News Notes

The March meeting of the Sidney School Area Board was held in the Wallbridge School with all members present. The members of the Board were glad to see Mr. Harry Brown was able to be out again after almost a month's illness.

A delegation from the Chesterton Women's Institute, consisting of Mrs. B. Bleecker, Mrs. Lorne Reid, and Mrs. B. Finkle was present to interview the Board. Their organization offered to pay half the cost of purchasing three dozen folding chairs for Turner's School, where their W.I. meetings are held. The Board was in favor of the idea and the secretary was to obtain prices on this type of chair.

Lease of Land Favored

Mr. Murney Mason of the H.J. McFarland Company, who had attended the January meeting was also present. The Board was in favor of leasing approximately ten acres immediately north and east of the old quarry. A discussion followed as to the method and amount of payment for its use. The secretary was to inform Mr. Mason of the Board's decision and if acceptable, draw up an agreement.

H. M. Rutter, J. Sargent along with J. A. Warren were appointed a committee to attend a meeting at Avondale School to discuss the feasibility of getting the water pipe line from the Trent Road to the Public school at the Avondale Street where it would be accessible to the house-holders along that street, instead of going across the fields as originally planned. Members of the Sidney Council were also to be present to give a general idea of the cost and the procedure to be followed.

Word was received from the Wallbridge Women's Institute that they would be willing to pay half the cost of installing blackboard lights in the Wallbridge School. Herbie's Electric from Stirling was given the contract to install them as soon as possible, as well as put a light in each of the toilets in the basement.

Attendance Banner

In spite of the epidemic of flu which struck teachers as well as pupils, several schools had very creditable attendance. For the last February attendance the Banner goes to the pupils of Centenary School with a percentage of 96.43. Mrs. Spafford and the pupils are to be commended. Mapleview School, with Mrs. Agnes Loveless in charge was second with 94.53 per cent.

All schools had been visited in February and a uniform spelling test carried out with grades five, six, seven and eight. The results are being tabulated and returned to the individual schools for study on the March visit. Its purpose was not only to find the good spellers and the poorer ones, but to compare the merits of the various methods of teaching spelling. Kathleen Dennie, Wallbridge had a perfect score for grade 5. She was followed closely by Marion Bush, Johnstown and Thelma Frost, Eggleston's, who each had one mistake. Barbare Stewart, Avondale, and Joan Campbell, Marsh Hill were tied at the top of grade 6. Claire Flindall, Glen Miller, and Mavis Coombes, River Valley had the highest scores in grades seven and eight respectively. Teachers' March Meeting

As a result of Mr. B. W. Patterson's invitation to the Sidney teachers, their March meeting will be held at Hardey's School (S.S. No. 5) on Tuesday evening March 29th. Mr. Musgrove, Guidance Director of Belleville Collegiate, will explain the use of the Guidance folders sent to the schools for the Entrance pupils through the efforts of the S. H. Educational Association. A demonstration of various simple forms of weaving will be given. Discussion of marking Entrance Mathematics papers will be the main item.

Music Festivals

Miss Grace Pitman, music supervisor has begun preparations for musical evenings at which pupils from the various schools will put on part of the program. The schools will be grouped to allow them to take part in the one closest their school. These will be held at suitable dates during the first two weeks in May, so that some of the numbers may be used at the spring meeting of the S.H.E.A. Dates, places and groupings will be announced later, when details are arranged.

HOODED THUGS GET $75,000 IN GEMS IN DARING ROBBERY

Wearing shoulder-length Ku Klux Klan-type hoods, two armed men robbed wholesale diamond and jewelry firms in Toronto of an estimated $75,000 in gems. Working for six hours, the thugs dilled through two safes and blew another to pieces. W. Reichman, left, bookkeeper for one of the jewelry firms, said loss to his firm alone was near $60,000. The thugs, after binding the night watchman, carried the safes into the office, shown right, where they sorted out the gems before making their way.—Central Press Canadian.

Bancroft P.S. Pupils Compete In Music Festival

Bancroft (Special)—Pupils of the Bancroft public school competed in the third annual music festival sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club on Monday, bringing home first and third honors. The pupils were under the direction of teachers Miss Theda Anderson and Ed Alexander.

The girl's chorus attained 87 points and were given a first prize certificate, while grade 6-7-8 attained 86 points and a third prize certificate. The pupils went to Peterborough by bus and before returning visited the Quaker Oats plant.

Undeclared War Between Church, Polish State Grows More Bitter

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw, March 22 — (AP) — The undeclared war between church and state in Poland is growing more bitter, but the new Roman Catholic Primate, Dr. Stefan Wyszynski, is holding his fire.

It is no secret, however, that he doesn't like what is happening in the 97 per cent Roman Catholic country under a Communist-led government. Likewise it is obvious that he has given the nod to Catholic bishops who are boldly criticizing the government in pastoral letters.

The most recent letter was issued by Bishop Stanislaw Adamski of the Katowice Diocese who charged the government was abolishing the teaching of religion in the schools and removing crucifixes from schoolrooms. The government promptly denied this.

Claim 24 Priests Arrested

Catholic circles claimed 34 priests were seized by security police for reading the pastoral letter. The government denied knowledge of such arrests.

But that's only part of the story. Tall, blond, blue-eyed, 47-year-old Archbishop Wyszynski knows there's tough sledding ahead.

Here are some of the reasons: The government says it does not interfere in any way with the Catholic Church and its activities. Simultaneously, it has promised "severe punishment" for those priests who use their pulpits for political purpose.

Priests complain they are not permitted to visit the condemned in prisons.

Numerous newspaper articles charge that Catholic priests refuse to officiate at funeral service for Communists. Others accuse some priests of "exploiting" peasants in farming church-owned lands.

Other articles accuse priests of using their confessionals to advise underground bands to kill Communists and all other adherents of the Warsaw regime.

Pope Pius also comes in for bitter editorial assails. Newspapers don't overlook any opportunity to accuse him of being "anti-Polish" and a tool in the hands of Anglo-American imperialists.

All Catholic newspapers are heavily censored.

The chief organ of the Catholic hierarchy, The Tygodnik Powszechi Warszawski, was sealed by security police last September. It still is closed.

Archbishop Wyszynski has declined to be interviewed by any foreign correspondent. There appears little doubt, however, but that the new Primate will closely follow the line of his predecessor, August Cardinal Hlond, an outspoken foe of both Nazism and Communism, who died last October.

Archbishop Popular

There's little doubt that the quiet-spoken but determined Archbishop already is immensely popular in Poland. Fifty thousand Poles thronged the square outside the Primatial in Warsaw when he was enthroned Feb. 6.

Archbishop Wyszynski, slated to be named a Cardinal at the next Consistory in the Vatican, is known by his friends as "courageous and forward-thinking."

His policy thus far has been to "wait and see."

Those close to the primate say he would be willing to talk things over with the government, but the initiative would have to come from the government's side.

Government officials have made it clear they think any peace move should come from the Catholic hierarchy.

With neither side disposed to yield, the undeclared war goes on.

Brighteners

Glasgow (CP)—The landlord, for all his quoting of Robert Louis Stevenson, was found guilty of being drunk in his own pub and was fined £3 (£4).

He was experimenting, his lawyer told the court. He was trying to make that "traditional" Scottish drink, athole brose, a cold cure described by Stevenson in "Kidnapped."

Said the lawyer: "Stevenson says athole brose was made from old whiskey strained honey and sweet cream slowly beaten together in the right proportion . . . unfortunately Stevenson did not give the proportions."

The drink produced by the landlord to cure his own laryngitis was too sweet, so he added rum.

That departure, the court agreed, brought about his downfall.

He is 100 years old.

Manhattan, Kas.- (AP) — Bob Chisholm, a student at Kansas State College, recently decided to test his skill as a cowboy.

He bought a spirited horse and selected a fine saddle from a mail-order catalogue. Monday Chisholm climbed the new saddle on his mount and climbed aboard.

Minutes later a doctor was treating him for a broken arm.

Then Chisholm discovered the unknowing he had ordered a saddle with a rodeo attachment designed to encourage a horse to buck.

Marysville, Mo. (AP)—Dr. D. J. Thomas has given away all but 10 of his dogs.

The dentist gave away the other 40 yesterday in two hours because they were breaking him.

He established a dog refuge six years ago in memory of his sheepherd dog, which saved his life years ago when he was a boy.

"I promised that dog," he said, "I'd do something for the animal kingdom when I could."

But it was costing Dr. Thomas $50 a week for dog food, not to mention his time.

PENSIONS BILL

At Victoria, Labor Minister Wismer told the British Columbia Legislature that it was dangerous for any labor union to affiliate with one political party. He suggested that A. R. Mosher, head of the Canadian Congress of Labor, was attempting to raise $50,000 for the C. C. F. party because he wanted to control the workers of British Columbia. Labor members said local unions had complete autonomy, that they had merely been asked to support the C.C.F.

The Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves and the Ontario Municipal Association last week met with the Attorney-General and presented briefs contending that the two bills represented an infringement of municipal autonomy.

Mr. Blackwell told representatives of the mayors and reeves that the bills were intended to standardize equipment of all municipal police and fire departments and to increase their efficiency in the interests of national defence.

He knew municipal councils throughout the province were "just as concerned" with the importance of national security as the government, he said Monday. The necessary standardization of equipment and increase in efficiency could be achieved by "education, conference, and co-operation" without compelling legislation.

Opposition members said in approving Mr. Porter's superannuation bill it did not increase pensions sufficiently, particularly in the case of persons already superannuated.

Mr. Porter said the bill's "sweeping changes will mean that within 10 years teachers will be retiring at pensions which will be twice as much as they are today."

Pensions will be increased from 60 to 70 per cent of a teacher's salary. The pension will be based on the teacher's average salary during the 15 years preceding retirement.

"Under the old act, the percentage was based on the whole contributory period, which . . . includes the earlier years of service when the average salary was lower," Mr. Porter said. "Also during the last four years the average of teachers' salaries throughout the province has steadily risen. The full effect of this will show in a steady increase of pensions in the next 10 years."

Teachers' contributions will be increased from four to six per cent of their salaries. The government pays four per cent.

Should payments in any year exceed contributions to the fund, the government will make up the difference.

"This is not likely to happen within the next 30 years," Mr. Porter said.

The bill also provides that teachers now on pension under the old scheme will receive at least $600 a year. All present pensioners will receive an increase of at least $120 a year. Dependents of pensioners "under certain conditions" will receive pensions at half the rate paid pensioners. Partial pensions will be paid teachers who have taught for 25 years.

Suicide Finding Of Marine Court

Southampton, England, March 22 — (AP) — A merchant marine inquiry ruled Monday that Frederick Harper, 24, committed suicide in his cabin on the liner Durban Castle March 12, while returning from his honeymoon.

Harper was found shot four days after the ship left Capetown for England. He was travelling with his bride, whom he married last January, and her brother.

The liner is the same ship on which actress Gay Gibson was murdered a year ago. A ship's steward is serving a life term for the killing.

Manpower Lack Australian Worry

By LESLIE BRODIE
Canadian Press Correspondent

Sydney, Austrial (CP)— Australia's unemployment figures have dropped to an all time low. Today there are less than 7,000 unemployed union workers in the country. This figure includes the unemployables and many persons off from work through long illness.

In the employment field there is an estimated 200,000 jobs waiting to be filled.

Newspapers carry columns of attractive "Positions Vacant" while factories in many instances have regular "Staff Wanted" placards prominently displayed.

No solution to the present labor shortage appears in sight. Large scale immigration has been suggested, but lack of shipping and apartments is house newcomers is the big problem.

True, immigrants are arriving at a greater rate than at any time in Australian history, but they all have housing worries. Some British 1st migrants have gone home. The stories of hardship some of them tell on their return have been angered and amused Australians.

But underlying the independence that today's labor shortage has given to lower income workers is a feeling of uneasiness.

Workers read stories of unemployment in the United States and similar stories from other countries, and they remember the depression days of the early 1930s when over 124,000 unionists were out of work.

Young men and women in industry today have bitter memories of the hardships many of them suffered as children during that period. Much of the prevailing "go-slow" tactics in industry can be traced to a fear that over-production will bring about another depression.

The president of the Australian Trades and Labor Council, Percy J. Clarey, said recently that one of the ways to overcome labor's fear that increased effort and higher output would lead to overproduction and unemployment was to satisfy the worker that full employment could operate indefinitely.

"The mistakes of 20 years ago, as reflected in the conditions experienced by Australian workers in the world wide depression, has had a profound effect on labor thought," said Clarey. "The suspicions and antagonisms created can be removed only by constant education about the new outlook."

The new outlook Clarey referred to is the government's policy of full employment for all no matter what the circumstances.

Australia's prosperity is based on the high price of primary products, wool, wheat and dairy produce. Should world prices for these commodities crash, Australia's economy will nose-dive.

Figures Altered Night of Election Says Committee

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — A committee of the Ontario Legislature decided yesterday that documents relating to the election of Education Minister Porter in Toronto St. George constituency were altered the night of the election last June 7.

Provincial Treasurer Frost, chairman of the select committee on privileges and elections, said the question now is who changed the figures.

The committee was appointed to investigate charges by the C.C.F. that a report submitted to the chief electoral officer by returning officer Dan McCabe gave Mr. Porter a greater plurality than reports submitted to Mr. McCabe by deputy returning officers.

Evidence

Witnesses testified that deputy returning officers on the night of the election handed their reports to Mr. McCabe who passed them on to his wife. Mrs. McCabe after telephoning the results to Mr. Porter's campaign headquarters handed them to a newspaper reporter.

Mrs. McCabe testified today she had no idea how any changes could have been made. She could not recall details of the election night. She declined to tell the committee her age or the name of her employer. She said she was a bookkeeper and was not employed by a government agency.

Mr. McCabe in a form submitted to chief electoral officer Alex Lewis gave the following totals: Porter 11,774; Frank Frier (CCF) 7,010; John A. MacVicar (Lib) 4,904.

A recount conducted by Judge A. J. Gordon of Essex County at the request of the committee gave the following totals: Porter 10,181; Frier 7,450; MacVicar 4,893.

C.C.F. members have said there was never any question that Mr. Porter had not been elected.

ANTALGINE

Your right to know!

A NEWSPAPER, like a lamp, is valued for the light it gives. The more you see and know the greater your freedom of action.

The facts and opinions, good and bad, pleasing and displeasing, that are brought to you by the newspaper give you knowledge on which to base your decisions about what to do to get more out of life — to earn more money, raise your family, protect your home and to enjoy all the rights of a free citizen.

Some men and women don't think you should have such freedom. They have other plans for you. They think you should change your way of life to fit their ideas. And as a part of their planning they include the newspaper.

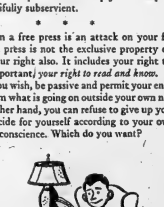
Because they know they can control your thinking if they control your sources of knowledge, they are agitating for control of the press. Not only of newspapers but of all publications. And in the background is control of the radio and the movies. Each of these supplies information to you and helps you remain free. The newspaper is first on their list because it is your main source of facts and opinions.

From the newspaper you get the kind of information you need to see that you get the right representation in government and the right laws. You learn of crime and corruption, of good deeds and better products. You know what is happening and have a free choice of ideas.



That doesn't fit in with what certain individuals and groups have in mind. They claim that editors are irresponsible and that you can't be trusted to read what the editors print. They propose a sort of over-all agency to pass on what shall be printed and what shall be read. Hitler had such a set-up. Stalin still has.

You may disagree with much that now appears in newspapers. You may argue for a more enlightened press. But, in place of the great variety of facts and opinions which newspapers now print, what is in prospect is one kind of facts and opinions selected and published to keep you incompletely informed and dutifully subservient.

The attack on a free press is an attack on your freedom. Freedom of the press is not the exclusive property of newspapers. It is your right also. It includes your right to print. And equally important, your right to read and know.

You can, if you wish, be passive and permit your enemies to shut you off from what is going on outside your own neighborhood. On the other hand, you can refuse to give up your right to read and decide for yourself according to your own common sense and conscience. Which do you want?

Your right to know is the key to all your liberties

Detroit Red Wings Reign Slight Favorites Over Habs; Boston-Leafs Clash Tonight

Detroit, March 22 — (CP) —Id past performances are any indication, Detroit Red Wings have a slight edge over National Canadiens in their "series A" playoff for the Stanley Cup which starts tonight.

They have clashed twice before in playoff action and both times the Wings won. In 1937 the Wings won the best-of-five series for the National League title. Detroit went on and won the Stanley Cup. In 1943 Montreal was eliminated in the first round by the Wings. Detroit met Toronto Maple Leafs in the final with the Leafs winning.

In regular season play, Detroit holds an edge over Montreal this year. Detroit has won seven, lost four and tied one.

The N. H. L. champions drew the Canadiens as first-round opponents this year by defeating them 2-1 Sunday night. The defeat placed Montreal in third spot.

If Sunday's game was any indication, the playoffs will be a rousing series. There were 25 penalties handed out, totalling 190 minutes. The Wings were nicked for 16 of the penalties, totalling 78 minutes.

Montreal is bidding to win the cup for the sixth time and Detroit for the fourth.

The first two games of the semi-final series "A" will be played in Detroit tonight and Thursday. The next two will be in Montreal Saturday and the following Tuesday. Further games, if necessary, are booked for Detroit March 31, in Montreal Saturday April 3, and in Detroit Tuesday April 5.

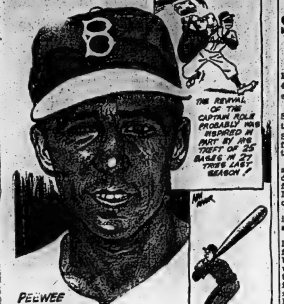
SPARKPLUG AT SHORT - By Alan Mavor

Boston, March 23 — (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins, both reinforced with slight forwards and two goalies, clash tonight in the opening game of series "B" of the National League's playoffs for the Stanley Cup.

Toronto's halpers are topped by Pittsburgh Hornets' star left winger, Sid Smith, who copped the American Hockey League's scoring honors. Others from Pittsburgh are Eldred Kobussen, Rudy Migay, Frank Mathers, Bob Dawes, Fleming Mackell and goalie Baz Bastien.

Bastien has been leading goaltender in the A. H. L. for three straight years and this season led the loop in shutouts with six. He ended the season with an average of 2.77 — 173 goals scored against him in 68 games.



The Leafs, who finished the regular season in fourth place, are also drawing two forwards and a goal tender from Toronto Marlboros who won the Ontario Hockey Association's senior "A" title Saturday. They are forwards Bobby Robertson and Ray Hannigan, and goalie Howie Harvey.

Jack Gelineau, former netminder with Boston and the University's hockey team, who was signed in mid-season, has been ordered to "stand by" as the Bruins' spare goalie.

Other Boston call - ups are Sliwa Bettio, Arnie Kullman, Phil Maloney, Ross Lowe, Clare Martin, Cliff Thompson and goalie Gordon Henry from Hershey Bears of the A. H. L. and Gordon Young and Lloyd Durham from Tulsa Oilers of the United States Hockey League.

Doubtful Boston starters include Murray Henderson and Dave Creighton. Creighton sprained a knee in the closing minutes of last Saturday night's game with the Leafs.

The Leafs will still be without the services of Howie Meeker. He is recovering from a broken bone in his foot.

ROCKS ON THE SPOT

Rockets Juniors took the long trail to Toronto this afternoon via bus where they battle the Upper Canada College juniors in Maple Leaf Gardens tonight in the second game of their two-of-three Junior "B" playdown series. The collegians in a third-period splurge defeated our beardless buckaroos 8-2 in the first tilt on Saturday night last to take the initial argument but Rockets are of the opinion the situation will be reversed tonight.

• • •

They feel they are as good as the Toronto team, and with a little more zip around the nets and a few extra minutes staying power would have grabbed the Saturday gloaming verdict. However, they are not crying over the spilled milk and are determined to do their best to bring home the bacon tonight and force the third game.

• • •

By the way the UOC-Rockets game will be broadcast direct from Maple Leaf Gardens over Stirling CFRC with Jack Devine at the microphone. The airing is being made possible through the efforts of the Reid Brothers of Reid's Dairy fame. The broadcast will start at nine o'clock and will likely include the two last periods. The game starts at 8.30.

Quite a number of fans made the Toronto trip today to give the Rocks some encouragement. The larger ice surface of the Gardens (10's only ten feet longer than the Memorial Arena ice,) shouldn't bother the Rockets too much. In fact they might be more at home on the bigger chunk of frozen water.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW . . .

With Spring in the offing, anglers are beginning to eye fishing tackle, boats and other piscatorial paraphernalia. It might interest the gentlemen of the rod and reel to learn that plans for fish distribution are already under way. Back at White Lake Ponds, east of Arden on Highway No. 7, approximately 165,000 young speckled trout are ready for planting in suitable lakes and streams next month. The fish have reached the yearling stage averaging from four to seven inches in length, and seem to be thriving on the three hundred pounds of beef liver they consume every week.

At the Glenora Hatchery near Picton, some 150,000 speckled trout fry are now hatching following a good batch of eggs since the first of the year. Also on hand are 195,000 lake trout eggs 185,000 brown trout and 156,000 Atlantic salmon eggs. The eggs received from Newcastle, New Brunswick. Nets are ready for pickerel spawn-taking operation as soon as the Bay of Quinte is free of ice, possibly by the early part of April.

THE CHIPS ARE DOWN

The gruelling National Hockey League playoffs start tonight in Detroit and Boston with the Redwings clashing with the Montreal Canadiens and the Bruins taking on their old feuding enemies the Toronto Maple Leafs. The series is the best of seven games and there is likely to be plenty of fireworks before the battered old Stanley mug is presented to the ultimate winners.

• • •

Conny Smythe has called up six reinforcements from the eliminated Pittsburgh club to bolster his Stanley Cup shock troops. Included are Baz Bastien, goalie, the boy in the American Hockey League, Sid Smith, Bob Dawes, Fleming Mackell, Les Cosiello and Eddie Kobussen.

SOURCE OF PRIDE

Marmora's fine new recreational centre is a distinct asset and a credit to the inhabitants of that mid-Hastings village. It has an ice surface 175 by 75, which while smaller than that of the Arena here serves the purpose very nicely for hockey teams of the village and district. It's an all metal affair with large airy dressing rooms, which are well-heated. Marmora are justifiably proud of the new structure. It represents months of effort and time, and a filling memorial to a civic-conscious group of residents.

Marmora's game little band of midget puckchasers hit the long trail for Fergus, near Guelph today where they meet the braw "Scotties" of that town in the second game of the Midget "C" championship series. Fergus scored a three-one victory over the Hastings County kiddies on Saturday last to take a two-goal lead into tonight's game. Marmora have a sturdy, well-balanced team which at full strength might pull the midget title out of the fire. They were distinctly short handed on Saturday with their star players, or at least one of them out of action.

Wow! Ouch! and a couple of Yipes. What ever happened to the Kingston Nylons. The flaming Peterborough Legionnaires not only cooked the hocking boys from Kingston 5-1 in Peterborough but went to the Limestone City last night and hung a decisive 15-3 shellacking on the Paris-Galt-Dorrow crew. Legion, from what we have observed are not that much better than Nylons. The Ottawa crew are either playing away over their collective noggins or Nylons have crumpled like a dropped egg. It should be a parade from now in for the rampaging ex-soldiers from Fordsville, unless there is a startling reversal of form on the part of Nylons. Just where the third game of the three of five series will be played was not ascertained before going to press. Present weather conditions may force the Legion to seek artificial ice in some nearby or farmery places. Probably Lindsay or Oshawa, or perhaps Belleville. Strange pastime, this hockey.

Pittsburgh Smith Wins AHL Scoring Title

(By The Canadian Press)

Sid Smith, star forward of the Pittsburgh Hornets, is the 1945-46 scoring champion of the American Hockey League.

Official figures released credit Smith with scoring 112 points in the 68 game season which ended Sunday. Smith will receive $300 from the league sponsored trophy fund.

Smith scored 55 goals and 57 assists. Carl Liscombe of the Providence Reds, defending champion finished second with 105 points. Liscombe tallied 118 last season, a circuit record.

Smith and Liscombe wound up in a tie for goal getting honors at 55 apiece.

With his 48 goals topping the loop, Ray Powell had 106 points for the scoring leadership in the United States Hockey League, it was announced at Minneapolis today. Frank Ashworth of Tulsa finished with a 96-point total and second place. Bing Jukes of St. Paul was third in third place with 94 counters.

Favored Cromwell dropped sharply to 5 to 1 Monday night in a betting line for the feature on Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase. The dip in his odds comes 8 to 1 from the previous, in great, to Fair Judgment's horse Derrick Hamilton in the Lincolnshire Handicap Saturday.

The gamblers have paired Cromwell with Fair Judgment in a host of "spring double" bets. Bookmakers in the English betting realm stand to pay out pounds sterlers if the 1945 four-year-old gelding captures jumping's blue ribbon classic at Aintree.

At Nottingham, England, Sudbury Wolves, Canada's touring hockey team, Monday night won defeated 6-3 by Nottingham Panthers. Bill Dimock paced the Canadian team's attack with two goals. Jim Russell notched the third tally.

At Garmisch, Germany, the touring Canadian Army hockey team defeated the German club champion, Fussen, 9-3 Monday night.

Barbara Ann Scott former world figure skating champion, will perform at Sault Ste. Marie's new $750,000 Memorial Gardens, officials announced Monday night Miss Scott will perform March 31-April 3 along with Ottawa's Mildred Watt.

At Philadelphia, Arthur King, Canadian and Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, Monday night outpointed Phil Terranova Cesaro of Peru in an eight-round boxing bout. The Toronto fighter weighted 137 1-2.

At Jacksonville, Fla., Cary Middlecoff rolled down birdie road to the tune of $2,500 prize in the Jacksonville Open golf tournament Monday. He fcored a 33-36-69—three under par—on his final 18-hole round for a 274 total. The victory here makes him the top money winner of the year.

NHL Releases Official Records

Montreal, March 22 (CP) — The National Hockey League office made it official today— Roy Conacher of Chicago is the 1945-46 scoring champion.

Final figures show the Black Hawks' sharpshooter with 68 points on 28 goals and 42 assists, which edged Doug Bentley, the Chicago linemate's 23 goals and 43 assists for 66 points.

Detroit's Sid Abel led the goal-getters with 28 markers, while Bentley's 43 assists headed that department.

Bill Durnan of Montreal, who captured his fifth Vezina trophy in six years, led the netminders in shutouts, with 10, and had the best goals-against average, 2.10 per game.

Wild Bill Ezinicki of Toronto, although he missed eight games because of injuries, still took penalty honors in a breeze, racking up 145 minutes in penalty time. Defencemen Bill Quackenbush of Detroit, Charlie Harry Watson and Buddy O'Connor of New York, all went through the season without drawing a single penalty.

Halifax, March 22 (CP)—Hockey fans in the Maritimes, and particularly followers of Sydney Millionaires, Maritime Senior amateur champions, are mad at the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Alex (Halifax Chronicle-Herald) Nickerson says: "In Sydney they are seriously up over the action of the C.A.H.A. in granting three replacements to Pembroke Lumber Kings, and refusing all requests for extra players for the Millionaires, as were the good citizens of Halifax 16 years ago when the C.A.H.A. refused to defend Halifax Wolverines to the Olympic games because they had demanded payment for 'broken time.'"

Millionaires and Lumber Kings opens a best-of-five Allan Cup preliminary at Sydney tonight).

"They say in Sydney, that Ottawa and district hockey politicians, who fear the Capa Breton threat lining along the Gulf trail, are doing everything in their power to insure that Pembroke will take an all-star club into the series.

Last year, says Nick, Renfrew Lions, who eliminated Millionaires in the three straight games, lined three replacements before starting the series.

Millionaires were permitted this season to use six imports. "They are two under the quota," pointing out the fact that defenceman Larry Trivia was snapped up by the Montreal Canadiens.

"Charlie Campbell, President of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association has sent a scathing wire to the C.A.H.A.

"But if last August body follows the line adopted in dealing with Halifax Wolverines survivors and the Halifax Wolverines in 1935, the answer will be a two-letter word: No!"

SWEDEN'S MILD WINTER

Stockholm — (CP) — Sweden has had the mildest winter in 180 years. The average February temperature was higher than normal all over the country. In the north it was 14 to 18 degrees higher and in the south about six to seven degrees.

Barrie Flyers Defeat Marlies For Ont. Title

(By The Canadian Press)

Fresh from their eighth straight playoff victory, the free-wheeling Barrie Flyers today awaited the arrival of their own representatives along the Memorial Cup trail.

The fly finalists last year, the Flyers last night made a clean sweep of their playoff games in the Ontario Hockey Association junior 'A' series by defeating Toronto Marlboros 8-4 in the fourth game of their best of seven series at Toronto.

Previously, coach Hap Emms' charges downed Windsor Spitfires, winners of the league schedule, in four straight contests.

The Flyers now will meet Porcupine Combines, winners of the N.O.H.A. for the all-Ontario title.

Dates of the series have not been announced officially but it was reported in Toronto last night the first game has been tentatively arranged for next Saturday afternoon in Maple Leaf Gardens at Toronto. It was also unofficially reported that the series would be a best-of-three affair.

The Flyers were right at home as they displayed superior hockey savvy and rugged back-checking. They weren't waiting for opportunities to knock twins as they drove into a 3-1 lead in the first period and held a 5-2 margin at the end of the second.

For the slim crowd of 2,782 fans, the Flyers at didn't have what it took. They suffered too many lapses and had to struggle as hard in this, their last game of the season, as they did in making the league playoffs after losing 16 of their first 20 games.

Score in 29 Seconds

Gary Gordon and Sid McNabney led the Barrie marksmen with two goals apiece. Nick Hogg, Gord Pennell, Real Chevrefils and Paul Meger counted one each Toronto goals were by Don Windsor, Howie Lee, Murray Grenda and Red McKennell.

Gordon started the Flyers off before the period was 29 seconds old. The Dukes got that one back minutes later when Windley scored on a pass from Ron Hurst and George Armstrong but McNabney and Hogg tallied to give the Flyers a 3-1 edge.

In the second session McNabney lengthened the Flyers' margin with a goal at the five-minute mark. Lee drove back for the Dukes but Gordon and Pennell retaliated with counters.

Chevrefils and Meger counted in the third period for the Flyers and McKennell and Grenke tallied for the Dukes.

A donybrook in the second period resulted in six players receiving major penalties.

It started when Lorne Pirie of Toronto began flinging arms at Barrie's Harold Hopper. Hurst barged in to help Pirie and the two teams joined in. When Referees Bill Morrison and Norm Locking stopped the fracas, Bob Bingley and Stan Long joined Hopper with majors as did Windley, Hurst and Pirie.

Fine Vacation IN FRONTENAC COUNTY

Midway between Toronto and Montreal, where Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River merge, Frontenac County takes in some fine vacation land. If you're historically inclined, you'll enjoy visiting old Fort Henry at Kingston —said to be the greatest colonial restoration on the continent. Then, too, you may like to visit Queen's University and see the Royal Military College—one of Canada's two great service colleges. You can—and should—take the 1,000 Islands cruise from Gananoque; you may fish for muskies, trout and walleye in the nearby lakes—play golf, swim or just enjoy the scenery. There's pleasant accommodation in Kingston, Gananoque and all points between. Write the Chamber of Commerce in either of these two cities for details.

Phillies Sawyer Says Squad Will Spring Surprise

By JACK HAND

Clearwater, Fla., March 22 (AP) — Eddie Sawyer says 1960 as "the year of the big if" in the National Baseball League, with his Philadelphia Phillies prepared to spring a surprise.

As optimistic as a fellow can be who finished sixth last year, Sawyer finds hope in the problems of others. The 57-year-old Sawyer, came from the Toronto farm club to take over the job of bossing the club last July after Ben Chapman was replaced, expects no miracles. But he thinks improvements is to be expected.

"We have added power in Bill Nicholson and Eddie Waitkus. Sure, we gave up pitching in Dutch Leonard and Monk Dubiel. But Leonard is going on 40 and Dubiel was a must for Chicago. He was their key man in the deal. Hank Borowy and Russ Meyer, who came to us from the Cubs, are going to help.

"We'll do better than a lot of people think."

The outfield should show a definite improvement in power with Nicholson in right, Richie Ashburn in centre and Del Ennis in left. Johnny Blatnik, a fine "spring hitter" will be held in reserve.

Waitkus, a sure fielder and .296 batter at Chicago, gets the call at first. Eddie Miller, moved over from shortstop, has the nod over Buddy Blattner, ex-Giant acquired in the draft, for second base.

Granville Hamner is set at short and Willie (Puddin' Head) Jones, up from Toronto with a .275, is the third baseman. Great things are expected of Jones, who cost the Phils $16,000 three years ago.

Stan Lopata, a .285 hitter at the Toronto farm where Sawyer started last season, has the edge on the more experienced catching for the No. 1 job. Andy Seminick, who slumped to .223 last year, is next.

Borowy, Meyer and Robin Roberts, one of the three "bonus" pitchers, have been named as regular hurlers. Schoolboy Rowe will be used for spot work as will Jetty Ken Heintzelman.

Curt Simmons, the $65,000 bonus schoolboy who had a 7-13 record for the Phils last season, is being asked to earn a place on the starting line. Lou Possehl, right-handed grad from Toronto with an 11-11 record, is a starting candidate. So is John Thompson, who won 12 and lost 8 at Toronto.

Saturday Next Big Sports Day For British Fans

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 22 (CP)—British sport fans have put a big red ring around Saturday, March 26, on their calendars.

This is a day on which, given a break by Old Man Weather, perhaps as many as 3,000,000 fans will attend big-time sports events all over the United Kingdom.

Here are the top attractions on the all-star fixture list:

1. The Oxford-Cambridge boat race, to be rowed over the traditional Thames course between Putney and Mortlake— a 4-4 miles. Authorities say about 1,000,000 people annually see this contest.

2. The Grand National Steeplechase will be run over the world's most rugged course, at Aintree just outside Liverpool. Probably 300,000 or more will see the four-mile, 856-yard grind over the 30 jumps.

3. Soccer bugs will scramble to see the football association's cup semi-finals when Portsmouth meets Leicester City in London and the little-holders, Manchester United, travels to Sheffield for a clash with Wolverhampton Wanderers. More than 100,000 fans are expected to see these games.

4. In Scotland, the cup semi-finals pit Clyde against Dundee at Edinburgh and the Rangers against East Fife at Glasgow.

All good Welshmen will have at least one eye cocked toward Golomber Stadium outside Porta where the Welsh rugger team meets France in the season's last international match.

Further afield, boxing addicts will follow Joe Erskine of Bruce Woodcock, British, European and Empire heavyweight title-holder, who tangles with South Africa's Johnny Ralph at Johannesburg.

The spectators will find the action is well along . . . Besides that, Charley Keller still has no sing in his swing. He's meeting the ball solidly, but it doesn't go anywhere . . . just to top it off, the report adds that the Yankee players aren't taking too well to the Harris - Stengel managerial shift and Ol' Case is plumb out of baseball's good graces as a clown baiter and trying to prove he isn't a clown . . . and, speaking of that managerial shift, the boys in California are guessing that Bucky Harris is getting about $25,000 per to manage San Diego. Not bad for the minor leagues.

Brooks Damned

When the Dodgers played the Athletics the other day, the boys on the Brooklyn bench started riding Philadelphia coach Jimmy Dykes with impertinent questions about what happened when he lost that managerial job in Hollywood . . . Jimmy, an old hand at bench jockeying, took it just so long before he remembered the Brooks have a working agreement with Montreal this year . . . then he silenced them for good by shouting: "You'd better learn all you can 'bout Hollywood because Bob Cobb is coming here to take back a carload of you fellows."

One-minute Sports Page

Jim Ellery, American Hockey League statistician, figures his circuit's western division had the closest race on record. Then first four teams finished within three points and the deciding game in the third-place race wasn't settled until the 19th minute on the final period Sunday night . . . Ed Dudley picks the "probable" finish order in the Masters Golf Tournament as Lloyd Mangrum, Jim Demaret, Byron Nelson, Claude Harmon and Sam Snead.

Sydney Defeats Pembroke 3-1 In East Series

Sydney, N.S., March 22 (CP)—The Maritime Senior Champion Sydney Millionaires polished off Pembroke Lumber Kings, Ottawa district titlists, 3-1, in the final game of a best-of-five Allan Cup eastern quarter-final before 2,400 fans here Monday night. The teams then move to Ottawa for completion of the round, with the third contest billed for the Ottawa auditorium Saturday night.

Lumber Kings stepped into the fray minus defenceman Ralph Tooby whose eligibility was questioned by the Sydney club before start of the game. Tooby started the season with Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Senior League but was later released because he showed "insufficient ability."

A heavy team, reputed for their hard hitting style of play and employing such former professionals as Cully Simon and Roy Giesebrecht, Lumber Kings were unimpressive in their first bid against the fast-skating Sydney squad.

Inkerman Rockets Swamp Halifax Under 13-3 Score

Ottawa, March 22 (CP)—Inkerman Rockets, Ottawa District Junior champions Monday night rode roughshod over Halifax St. Mary's, Maritime Junior champions 13-3 in the first game of their best-of-five series for the Memorial Cup playdowns.

The teams then move to Ottawa for completion of the round, with the third contest billed for the Ottawa auditorium Saturday night.

Lumber Kings stepped into the fray minus defenceman Ralph Tooby whose eligibility was questioned by the Sydney club before start of the game. Tooby started the season with Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Senior League but was later released because he showed "insufficient ability."

American Loop Opens Playoffs

New York, March 22, (AP)—The top three teams in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the American Hockey League will open the circuit's Calder-Cup playoffs tonight.

Cleveland Barons qualified for a western playoff berth Sunday night by trouncing the pennant winning St. Louis Flyers 7-3, while the runner-up Indianapolis Capitols knocked Pittsburgh Hornets out of a berth by beating the Hornets 2-1.

Providence Reds, Eastern Division pennant winners, will entertain St. Louis Flyers tonight in the first game of their best four-of-seven series.

Indianapolis will take on the East's second place Hershey Bears at Hershey in the first game of a best two-of-three series while the Barons clash with Springfield Indians in Springfield in the first game of another best two-of-three set.

Braves Drop Seven of Nine Pre-Season Games

(By The Associated Press)

President Branch Rickey of Brooklyn Dodgers is much impressed with the showing of 3rd-baseman Johnny Jorgensen. Jorgensen, who appa[illegible]ally has recovered from a sore arm last year, blasted a bases-loaded triple against Montreal Royals Monday and then scored the winning run in Brooklyn's 6-5 triumph.

Left-handed Ed Lopat of New York Yankees is working on a knuckle ball. It must be effective because Lopat used it in batting practice Monday and it resulted in an injury to catcher Charley Silvera.

Silvera was bruised on the shoulder and knee after Phil Rizzuto fouled off one of Lopat's knucklers.

Bert Hass is giving rookie Pudin' Head Jones a run for his money at the third-base position of Philadelphia Phillies. Hass has been garnering hits in the club's exhibition games to match the performance of Jones, a star with Toronto Maple Leafs last year.

Boston Braves won the pennant in the National League last year but their record this spring has been poor. They've dropped seven of nine exhibition games against big – league opponents since the "grapefruit" season started.

Philadelphia (AP)—Dice are sometimes referred to as "gallopin' detective bait." Detective Nicholas Laurelli says a crap game lookout on horseback is carrying things too far.

Laurelli and other detectives converged on a small shack in south Philadelphia Sunday in search of a reported dice game. The detectives surrounded the shack, a man on horseback shouted a warning and galloped off across vacant lots.

The mounted man got little avail, however. In the shack the detectives arrested eight men and seized about $1,000 cash.

Hollywood, (AP)—Burt Lancaster, movie "tough guy" is going back to his circus days, the circus.

Lancaster, who started his theatrical career as a circus acrobat, has signed a four-week contract to appear in this role with the Cole Brothers circus at Louisville, Ky., opening April 14, his studio announces.

He will do parallel bar work and will participate in a balancing act.

His original salary under the big top 14 years ago was $3 weekly. His stipend with Cole Bros. was not disclosed but it will be much more than that.

San Francisco, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Lorraine Koehler, 44, San Francisco housewife almost missed a chance to start a chinchilla farm.

Winner of a $14,500 jackpot on a radio program (Slice the Music) Sunday, Mrs. Koehler told reporters she would probably have attended a St. Patrick's Sunday parade if her small daughter had not been ill.

But now Mrs. Koehler, who says she never "won a dime before in my life," plans to start a farm with the two chinchillas, valued at $1,000, which were part of the award for identifying "Paramount on Parade" as the mystery tune.

Old Country Letter:
Brewers Moan, Pub Customers Wail Over Govt. Policy on Watery Beer

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 22 — (CP) — British brewers view the falling off in beer consumption with a low moaning and a wringing of hands.

In two years Britons have cut down their beer drinking by 2,000,000 barrels a month and now find a meagre 2-month and now sufficient for their monthly needs.

True, they still spend about £300,000,000 ($2,000,000) annually on beer, but the government takes more than half of this in duty — the brewers feel the tax is too high.

Not for Poor Men

"The price of beer today is too high for the average man," said an official of a well-known brewing company. "An increasing number are refusing to pay eight pence and nine pence for draught beer that cost only four pence and five pence before the war."

Most of the beer sold today contains from four to five per cent alcohol whereas it was seven or eight per cent in pre-war times.

Most drinkers agree that the beer of today is only a watery imitation of the pre-war drink and lament the passing of strength.

"I gave up the last time they watered it," a burly Cockney printer said. "Then I began to miss the taste. I decided it was better to drink colored water than go without a joke and a chat now and then. After all, what's life without a joke?"

The more plentiful supplies of wines and spirits — for those who can afford them — are having an adverse influence on the beer trade. Wine in particular is rapidly growing in popularity with the pub-going public.

Fort Comeback

"I get more lift out of one small glass of port wine at 18 pence than I do from a pint of beer at the same price," a middle-aged office worker said, "and it's a darn sight more palatable, too."

Wine-drinkers in London now are receiving encouragement from old-established taverns offering large glasses at slightly reduced prices.

Many pub customers say they cannot afford whisky — at one shilling and nine pence a nip — because "it takes at least two to make a drink."

Mother is Sent To Psychopathic Hospital

Boston, March 22 — (AP) — A sobbing mother, accused of keeping her 5-year-old son a captive for most of his life because he was illegitimate on Monday was ordered committed to a psychopathic hospital.

Mrs. Anne Sullivan, 45, cried openly and clutched the hands of her oldest son, James, a marine private, as Judge Samuel Rosenstadt ordered her to the hospital for 10 days.

She is charged with neglecting a minor child.

Gerald — the captive boy — was found on the street a week ago Sunday dressed in tatters and barefooted; his hair hanging to his shoulders.

He has been placed in the custody of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Teachers say he is very bright in learning how to read and write.

Tiny Helicopter Rescues Four From Mountain

Marysville, Tenn., March 22—(AP)—A tiny helicopter rescued four injured persons Monday from a rugged mountainside. They had been stranded three days beside their crashed plane. The plane crashed Friday.

The craft, shuttling between the crash scene 300 miles south of Marysville and nearby Calderwood, brought out the victims one by one in about three hours.

Those rescued were: James Hardy, 21; Orville Rich, 38, and Mrs. and Mrs. Reed Hall, all of Detroit.

Pilot J. N. Newcomb of Glendale, Calif., grinning as if he were enjoying his rescue mission, set down in a small backyard garden near a store at Calderwood. From there the injured were in turn removed by ambulance to hospital. They were reported in "good" condition.

SAY ARGUMENT WAS OVER MIXING OF DRINK

Palm Springs, Calif., March 22 — (CP) — Frank Sinatra, crooning idol of the teen-agers, has thrown another punch, police said today. Police Chief A. G. Kettman said Sinatra and a guest, Jack Winstemyer, acted as a party over the mixing of a drink. Winstemyer was treated for a gash in the head. No charges were laid and Sinatra said "We're All Friends."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Milkman

The foresight of an expert bridge player will often amaze you. That he knows when to make a startling play may cause you to wonder. Actually, however, there is nothing uncanny about.

Basic principles are known to him by study and instinct. Much experience makes him familiar with combinations that fall too often. They challenge him to look for alternative measures.

He combines all this with a good memory and adds a mathematical skill. It is the percentage rule that tells the best chance of success in a given situation. A safety play it is known as.

There came in a championship panel this deal:

NORTH
♠A 8 6 5
♥K 8 7 4
♦Q 7 5
♣7 2

WEST
♠K 7
♥A 10 9 6 3
♦J 10 8 6
♣A K 9 8 5 3

EAST
♠10 9 4 2
♥Q J
♦K 9 4 3
♣10 6 4

SOUTH
♠Q J 3
♥K 5 2
♦A K 8
♣Q J

At some tables there was competitive bidding by both pairs. One side or the other was penned into a hard bidding like this:

South	West	North	East
1♠	1♦	2♠	All Pass
1♠	2♦	3♠

Throw out the west and east bids. They were incorrect by rule. If they have any conviction or sacrifice value, somebody else can make up a rule for it. Not me.

West took a very chinky and led another. East made it tough by ruffing with Ace, ten to force a south honor. West will then get a trump trick. Two clubs and a heart thus kills the contract.

So, instead of covering the lone spade ten, East ducked and this declarer wisely chucked a heart. Trump thereon was kept west from a trump trick. And south later ruffed the third heart.

The theory is easy to understand. If you must lose a trick, do so when it loses the most. Sounds good. Remind me to think of it in a bridge game.

Receiver Knocked Off Hook Gives Rise to Alarm

Midland, Ont., March 23 — (CP) — Two suspected safecrackers gave themselves away today when they knocked a telephone receiver from its hook while trying to move a half-ton safe from a coal company office.

Police said they were informed of the conversation by the telephone operator, Mrs. V. A. Quackenbush. Arrested outside the coal firm were Clarence Frazer, 26, and Russell Crosby, 22, both of Orillia. Police said the pair had put the safe in the rear of a stolen auto which would not start.

SCRAMBLED DELIVERIES

Hollywood, March 23 — (AP) —The fear of overdoing a good thing never seems to bother Hollywood.

Glowing with the success of Red Skelton's "Fuller Brush Man," Columbia now plans a "Fuller Brush Girl." The girl will be Lucille Ball.

Speaking of sequels brings us to Bill Holden, who is co-starring with Ruth in "Miss Great Yakes Richmond." He has been in "Dear Ruth" and "Dear Wife" but says to count him out of the planned "Dear Mom."

People and Things

Vera Ellen always danced alone in films until the "slaughter" number with Gene Kelly, which was the main attraction in "Words and Music." Now the gal dances with Kelly in "On the Town," and Fred Astaire in "Royal Wedding."

Deborah Kerr is glowing about British reviews of her work in "Edward, My Son." Until now the Britons had been prejudiced against her for deserting their industry for Hollywood . . .

Joan Bennett isn't touchy about being a grandmother. "If I'm old enough to have a daughter who can have a child, why shouldn't I admit it?" she said on "Duffy's Tavern."

"A Connecticut Yankee" (Par) is a handsome $ uninspired refilming of the familiar Mark Twain story. This time Bing Crosby is the Yankee who gets transported to King Arthur's court and he performs with his usual easy grace. Rhoda Fleming and Bill Bendix support, but Sir Cedric Hardwicke steals the show as the knitting king.

School Bell Rings Again On Pitcairn

Pitcairn Island (CP)—It is 158 years since the mutineers of H.M.S. Bounty formed their south-sea island paradise here on isolated Pitcairn in the middle of the Pacific.

Pitcairn Island is midway between Wellington, N.Z., and the Panama Canal.

Now the children of the island, descendants of the original mutineers and Polynesian women, are going to a regular school for the first time in years.

Teacher there is one Fletcher Christian, aged 6. He is six generations removed from the original namesake who led the mutineers.

The school opened early this year, but even before that children were going to the public hall for lessons. The school has been set up by the British colonial office with a New Zealander, A. W. Moverley, as its only teacher. A university graduate, who began teaching in New Zealand, he has had a deal of life experience.

Among the subjects he teaches are English, arithmetic, history, geography, physical training, music, arts and crafts useful locally: hygiene, horticulture, and also domestic and culinary arts. Mrs. Moverley and their 10-year-old daughter are at Pitcairn with him.

Important Date

The Pitcairn Island school exposition reached the island July 21, 1946 in the ship Arahura. That date likely will go down as one of the most important in the island's recent history.

Aboard the Awahou were the Moverley family, 330 tons of building material, and furniture. All this material had to be landed on the beach from boats, then hauled 300 feet up to the top of the island's cliffs.

Today, the school has been finished and the teacher's house is being built. The school comprises two classrooms, an office, and a cradle room. The house will have five rooms. Both will have electric light and modern plumbing. The wooden buildings were ready cut in Fiji for easy erection.

When the education officer announced he was ready to enrol pupils, 19 mothers with 19 children dressed on him. Then word went around that uniforms would be provided, and a half dozen more boys came out of hiding. Now 25 pupils are enrolled. Among them are 16 young-sters named Christian Young.

Schooling is not entirely new to Pitcairn Islands. More than 100 years ago the Islanders were taught by an educated sailor who landed from a passing ship. There were later teachers, and from 1892 to 1912 the Seventh Day Adventist Church put pastors and teachers on the island.

Then there was a break of 22 years when the islanders had to find their own teachers.

Since 1934, Seventh Day Adventist Church representatives have been on the island again. They continued teaching until the collapse of the old school building and the change to set up a government controlled school.

JUDGE AND DIVORCE

Hull, England (CP)—Judge Kingsley Griffith sat at Hull's first divorce court, and he had pronounced 1,600 decrees nisi in the last two years. "I should be far prouder to have contributed in that period to one happy marriage. Perhaps I may claim one but even there the credit is due to someone else."

Early Lotteries In Nova Scotia Recalled by Ban

By RAE CORELLI
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, (CP)—Not far from a pile of confiscated lottery tickets in R.C.M.P. headquarters here, a British governor once invited citizens to step up and take chance.

Start a lottery today in Nova Scotia and you may be sent to jail for two years and fined $1,000.

In 1760, the ratio—other than losing your investment—is negligible and you performed a public service.

Lotteries were operated at Halifax in the late 1700s to finance two of the district's current landmarks—Halifax County Academy and Sambro lights—the oldest lighthouse in Canada.

A recent police crack-down disclosed a $125,000 lottery racket operating in Nova Scotia.

The objective in the Academy lottery among Halifax's 8,000 citizens in 1760 was $8,000.

To Raise £450

The Sambro lottery originated in this announcement:

". . . a lottery will be set on foot for raising a sum of £450 toward building a lighthouse at or near Cape Sambrough, whereby besides the advantages before mentioned or considered, a number of settlers will be usefully employed for some time. . . .

". . . and a great and lasting benefit to the province be gained by a voluntary tax upon their persons, who at present contribute nothing toward the expense of government whose protection and favor they enjoy."

A council "held at government house at Halifax, Friday, June 13, 1760" decided "that the number of tickets to be sold—3,000 at £3 each."

Prizes ranged from £500 to £7. The government made its quota by collecting 15 per cent of all winnings.

The announcement said: ". . . in case the said tickets shall not be disposed of before 31st August next the money received for any sold to be returned to the persons or thereof on demand. . . (signed) Edward Cornwallis," Lord Cornwallis, founder of Halifax.)

The plan didn't work and 2 years later the first permanent built Sambro Light near the entrance to Halifax harbor at the people's expense.

Authorized by George III of England, the Academy lottery attained 50 per cent of its objective but the £750 never was used for the Academy, later built by private enterprise.

14 Albanians Put On Trial Charged With Spying

London, March 3 (AP) —Fourteen Albanians charged with spying for Yugoslavia went on trial in Tirana Monday.

The Albanian Telegraph Service quoted by telaradio reported the 14 also are charged with having organized and participated in a terrorist organization, with supplying economic and military information to Yugoslavia and attempting to flee to Yugoslavia.

WORK NEARING END—With the March 31 confederation date drawing near, the work of the Canadian officials in Newfoundland supervising arrangements for that island joining Canada nears an end. Seeks to Break Deadlock of West And Communism

Swanzon, Ill., March 22 (AP)—American Protestantism today began a search for a way to "break the deadlock between the West and Communism," but which would transcend both social systems.

The 90 delegates of American Protestantism at the meeting of the American section of the World Council of Churches received a proposal that they seek such a break by means of a "responsible society."

Robert S. Bilheimer of New York, general program secretary of the World Council in North America, urged that the American churches support a study that would: 1. Define the rights and duties of a responsible society; and 2. Point a way for churches to work in attaining it.

The plan stems from the Amsterdam organization meeting of the Council last summer.

Bilheimer said the proposed study would be made by the Federal Council of Churches "among and by laymen" with funds already available. It would be a world-wide study, the International phase of which would be made by the laity in their respective countries.

FROM CASTLE TO DAM

Perth Scotland (CP)—A Perthshire castle, built at fabulous cost some 12 years, but never occupied or even completed, will provide 200,000 tons of stone for the construction of one of the dams in Scotland's big Tummel-Gerry hydro-electric power scheme. Murthly Castle has been a white elephant since its owner died while trying to erect a building better than his neighbors.

Labor Disputes Idle 14,350 Detroit Workers

Detroit, March 22 (CP)—Labor disputes Monday idled 14,350 workers at the Dodge main plant at Chrysler Corp. United States Rubber Co. and Robbins Engineering Co.

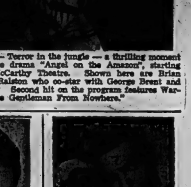
Groundwork Laid For Soccer League In City and District



Belleville is at last definitely in the soccer map. Last Thursday a small body of soccer enthusiasts got together at the Y. with the idea of forming up a soccer league in the Belleville district. This meeting was mainly arranged to sound out the ides and to get the backing of those interested in the sport.

From this meeting a small committee was formed who met on Monday evening to draw up and recommend a constitution for the league, and to arrange a proposed agenda for a general meeting for all those interested in soccer to be held at the Y.M.C.A. 8.30 p.m. Thursday the 24th of March.

It seems probable that teams will be entered from American Optical, Bata Shoe, Belleville United, Northern Electric and Trenton. One or two other feelers have been put out by the committee. All those interested in the formation of a soccer league in Belleville this year are cordially invited to attend the general meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening.

AT THE CAPITOL — Dan Dailey, who created a sensation with his performance opposite Betty Grable in "Mother Wore Tights," is currently starring with Betty Hutton in "Give My Regards to Broadway," 20th Century Fox Technicolor hit now showing at the Capitol Theatre for its first Belleville showing. Matinee daily at 2.30 p.m.

AT THE BELLE — Betty Lynn and Raymond Rox are the romantic interest in "Seeking Vengeance." Bette Davis is starred with Robert Montgomery and Ray Milland in "Deception" which opens today at the Belle Theatre.

SEE ON OTHER FOOT

Edmonton (CP)— A delegate attending a meeting of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council wanted to know when they are going to start coloring butter so it can be distinguished from oleomargarine. The question didn't get to the resolution stage but it did produce a laugh.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT

IN CANADA PARK OF ASIA WHEN DEATH HAS OCCURRED A LARGE PAPER DRAGON IS BURNED AT THE PLACE OF BURIAL AS THE SOUL OF HE DECEASED IS SUPPOSED TO RISE WITH ITS SMOKE INTO HEAVEN.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was in the bathroom this morning shaving his face and whistling, and all of a suddin he stopped whistling, saying, Horse blanket to blazes, I've cut my face again.

G, pop, ma hates you to do that, I said, and pop said, I know, that's why I dont like to do it, although as far as I'm concerned I can cut my face or leave it alone depending on my mood at the moment. Now your mother will probably carry on all though I had just stuck my face into a blizzy meat grinder, he said.

And he put some stuff on his face to help the bleeding, and I was glad of that, because I had just had my breakfist and ma hat on reddy to go out, after breakfist, and I said, Pop cut his face again, ma, and he's afraid you're going to make a usual big fuss about it.

Then her comed to a plezant disappointment, because I'm not even going to notice it, ma said. He hasn't seen my new hat yet, and I want him to get the full effect of it without any minor irritations, she said.

Which just then pop came down, and after a while I gave him a private wink meaning for him to notice ma's new hat, and he winked back meaning he was lucky ma hadn't noticed his face and after a while ma said, I suppose they call them safety razors because they're garanteed not to cut you more than once at every stroke.

Oh, you've noticed it, pop said, has ma said. If somebody didn't make something around here it might be blind. There you sit, slashed and gashed like the last days of Pompeyy and that's all you can say, exter hard wink and he made a long, fancy speech about ma's new hat.

Asks World-wide Co-operation Between Municipalities

Washington, March 22 — (AP) —Mayor H. E. Stokke of Oslo, Norway, asked the United States Conference of Mayors yesterday for world-wide co-operation between municipalities."

Stokke told the 600 Canadian and American mayors at the opening session that this co-operation is needed as well as the Atlantic pact for world peace.

Mayor Lucien Borne of Quebec City gave a short opening address in behalf of the Canadian Federation of Mayors.

In an address to the conference, president Truman welcomed those from foreign countries.

"The mayors from Canada are such old friends that we almost forget that they come from another country," he said. "To the mayors who are here from Europe, we express our admiration. They and their cities have given us a wonderful example of the vitality of democracy."

Be-Bop Addicts in Britain Dress as Crazy as They Dance

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 22 — (CP) — Nobody seems to know exactly what it is, but be-bop, North America's newest ballroom craze, seems to be catching on among Britain's teen-agers.

Their elders, unused to dancing at arm's length or being suddenly grabbed from behind and spun like a top, can only stand and stare in frozen horror.

It's serious, too. The youngsters dress for it — a sort of clear the ankles for action. Be-bop boys wear tight trousers cut well above the ankles, and shirts of dazzling pattern. Jackets, often of two colors, are minus lapels.

Really classy be-boppers sport floppy bow ties and collar points that reach almost to the ears; but the crowning glory of all is the bop-crop — hair long on top short at the back, with long sideburns sweeping round to the nape of the neck.

The girls go in for speed with comfort — sloppy Joes (shapeless sweaters) and jeans, short narrow skirts, short full skirts or tartan trews.

"Anyone who thinks be-bop is easy has another think coming," said 18-year-old Peter Musk, one of the "Be-Bop Club's leading lights. "For one thing your hips have to be as loose as your feet, which isn't so easy for old fellows who have turned 30."

Peter, in his wall-paper shirt and peg-top drape trousers, "bops" a wicked foot, specializing in the Camel (a kind of heel and toe dance) and the Jersey Bounce.

His favorite partner is a lissom, blue-eyed blonde named Joy.

London be-boppers do not talk or sing as they dance; they do not even look at one another. They are too busy.

Some staid old codgers of 30 or over have an idea that when be-bop comes in romance goes out.

Madoc Beaten By Bancroft

Bancroft (Special)—The Bancroft senior hockey club trounced the Madoc entrant in the Trent Valley League 8-4 in an exhibition tilt played here Monday evening at the Bancroft arena.

The game was one of the fastest played here this season despite the fact that the ice was fairly slow. Bancroft took the lead in the first period but this was quickly equalized by the Madoc boys and the period ended three all.

Tempers began to flare in the second canto with one Madoc player being consistently in the penalty box. In fact this player refused his last penalty and his time in the box was served by a substitute. The home boys added three goals in the second, while shutting out Madoc and each team added a goal in the third. One goal by Madoc was disallowed.

Referee for the game was O. Houle of Coe Hill with Tom O'Shaughnessy and Jack Young acting as linesmen. About 500 attended.

Westmount, Que. — (CP) — Motorists who persist in splashing pedestrians on the streets here will face the police department. A traffic by-law to this effect will be enforced because of the prevalance of wet streets and complaints of residents.

First Maple Syrup Brings $6 Gallon At Brantford

Brantford, March 22 (CP) — Along with the first day of spring, the first maple syrup this year went on the market here Monday. At $6 a gallon, the syrup was $1 less than last year. A good run of sap is predicted, with trees tapped in Brant, Norfolk, Oxford and Haldimand Counties and warm days and cool nights expected.

MERCHANTS GYPPED

Vancouver —(CP)— Roy Clark of Seattle, Wash., hotel manager, told business men here recently that there are 10,000 professional bad cheque writers and 60,000 to 70,000 amateur fingers in the United States. Merchants lose $400,000,000 a year to them.

LOSE CLAIM FOR INCREASE, COUNCILLOR CONSCIENTIOUS

London, March 22 — (Reuters) — British railwaymen who work at docks and inland waterways have lost their claim for a wage increase of 12s 6d. ($2.50) a week, it was announced last night. The claim was turned down by the National Railway Tribunal.

Castor, Alta. — (CP) — It took more than 20-below-zero weather and blocked roads to keep John Wakefield from attending a meeting of the municipal council. He walked 10 miles from his farm at Coronation and then took a train the rest of the way.

Remember That Night

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

"I have a part in a play and..." He took the strong cigar from his mouth. "You leave a good steady job for a part in a play? How long will it run? It might close in a week."

She had not considered that before. "I'll have to take that chance. But before I go, I want to thank you for giving me a chance here."

Nodding and smiling, he said, "You'll come back. They always come back."

"Not never to sing again," Karsen said.

Rehearsals for "Until Tomorrow" began with the usual difficulties. For Karen there were long impatient hours of waiting before she spoke her small part. Little notice was taken of her by other members of the cast. The star, Lucia Chancery, stared coldly through her. Only Bernie Tappen noticed every gesture and every inflection of her voice. But his criticisms were often stingingly brief.

Despite the snubs and criticisms, Karen was happy, she was living! One night she told Roxanne, "Everybody looks at me as if they wonder what I'm doing there." Completely absorbed, she was entirely unconscious that to many members of the cast she was "The pretty dark-haired girl, you know, the one who doesn't make a trick."

Summer was over. The shops displayed the newest in furs. Theatres were opening and night clubs lavishly advertised their attractions. Ships were filled to capacity bringing people from far to no ship as yet brought Philip and Lilyan. Karen heard that Brenda Bond was rehearsing in Philip's new play.

Slowly, painstakingly as the difficulties were minimized, "Until Tomorrow" took shape. But often Karen felt that Tappen was not pleased with the pay about which he had been so enthusiastic. He is not yet brought worried.

At breakfast she told Roxanne, "The play is good but Lucia Chancery isn't."

"You'd better not tell that to anybody else," Roxanne said. "They'd ask you how you know so much about it when this is your first professional part."

"But she doesn't have her mind on it. She seems upset about something. Her private life, I suppose."

"She shouldn't bring it to work with her."

Dreamily Karen stared out the window. "To be in Philip's play with Brenda Bond! And to work with her! She wouldn't look through you and she wouldn't bring her private life to work. I wonder what his new play is about." She looked down at the cup of black coffee before her. "I wonder where Philip is this morning. I wonder if he's given me a thought since he left. I've kept him close to me during these weeks of rehearsal. Sometimes it's almost as if he were standing next to me telling me what to do. I wonder if I'll ever meet Lilyan. She must be wonderful if he loves her."

"Until Tomorrow" opened in Washington.

Roxanne saw Karen, excited and tired from the last minute rehearsals, to the train .The morning after the opening she hurried out to buy a Washington paper and could not wait to return to the apartment to read what the Washington critics had written. Standing in the center of the sidewalk, she turned the pages quickly and read quickly.

The critics were doubtful of the play's worth. Lucia Chancery's performance received favorable praise from one critic, another flayed her. It was only a sentence but Roxanne read it many times: "A new and exciting personality is Karen Karsen."

The night the play opened in New York Roxanne arrived late and slid in the balcony seat.

Lucia Chancery and the leading man were on the stage now. Roxanne knew the play almost line for line. Knowing that Karen was soon to appear, she clasped her hands tightly and sat stiffly. Her heart beats were loud and fast.

Karen, wearing a dark red suit and dark hat, came on. Roxanne held her breath until she spoke and then sighed with relief at Karen's rich, contralto tones. The scene, one of the most dramatic in the play, swept on to the climax. But Roxanne thought, "Karen was right. Lucia Chancery doesn't have her heart in this. She is pretty bad."

Was it because she loved Karen and believed in her that she thought Karen dominated one of the most important scenes. "I didn't believe she was as good as this," she thought. The man next to her noisily crushed his program. Was he looking for Karen's name? Proudly Roxanne had looked at it.

When it was over, she hurried out to wait for Karen at the stage entrance. She had to have some one wait for her this night.

At last Karen came out. She was wearing the gray suit and small black hat. Her face was flushed and her blue eyes were dark and bright.

Roxanne said, "You were marvelous! You . . ."

Tears were in Karen's eyes. "Mr. Tappen liked me, too! He said even his staff was fine! Tommy and Marion sent flowers and a note. They couldn't be here. They're in Maryland." She looked straight in Roxanne's eyes. "Philip didn't send me those red roses. You did. Tell me the truth."

Roxanne's cheeks colored. "Guilty. I thought it might help it if you thought he sent them."

"You didn't fool me. It was sweet of you to think of it."

"How do you feel?"

Karen laughed. "That success is a ladder and I have one foot on its first rung. Now I'm going home, morrow night and the night after that and all other nights I'll be home, not every night. I'll get a little better. I've done it! I'm actually in a play!"

But ten days later when she came out of the same entrance no one was there to meet her. She stood an instant, shivering in the October wind. Karen Karsen's remark had been prophetic. "Until Tomorrow" had closed tonight. She was out of a job.

On a cool cloudy evening Karen and Roxanne came into the apartment after dinner. Roxanne went into the kitchen. Pulling off a green felt hat from her ash-blond head, Karen sank on the old brown divan.

It had been a week since "Until Tomorrow" had closed. Again she was living on her savings. And again for the vague promise of one man, the week of looking for work on the stage had availed nothing. She had lost her best weeks of work were clippings from New York newspapers which briefly mentioned her as a new and interesting personality. And a small part in a play which had closed after a week's run had little weight.

Wearing a new black net frock, Roxanne came out of the bedroom. Karen's face lit with cheerful and encouraging.

Karen said, "I've been everywhere. There's nothing else to do. Did I tell you Marion called and said she was sorry?" She tried to smile. "I was a meteor that flashed across Broadway, the fastest flash on record. You look nice, Roxanne."

"You're not going back on the roof, are you? If you do, you'll be stuck there. You won't have the energy to leave again." She sat beside Karen on the divan. "I do wish you'd stay home. You know you have got everything. You're in a slump now. But think of a lot of famous people who were told they couldn't paint or act or write. Maybe you're like Philip. He was one foot on the ladder and you're going to hold on until you get the other foot on. The first couple rungs are the hardest."

Then she felt Karen continued to sit quietly, hearing only the ticking of the little clock on the mantel. Where was Philip tonight? Was he dancing in a glamorous night club place with lovely Lilyan Kane?

Karen looked around at the ugly room and then at herself. Her black slippers were worn from walking. There was a hole in her stocking. Her nails were untended and one had broken today. How unlovely she was! How unlovely were her surroundings! All her life she had dreamed that she'd be sitting in an ugly room alone, wearing a dress two years old, and near to tears. Where were the glamor and triumphs she had been so certain would be hers? Where was the love in which Aunt Hetty had told her she would be happy and faithful?

Getting up, she put on her brown tweed coat and small green felt hat and went out. No longer could she bear to think of Philip and her failure. The people on the street or the shop windows would divert her. But beautiful clothes in shop windows only made her think, "I'd like so much to be beautiful, for Philip to be beautiful for Philip the next time he sees me."

TRAPS FOR PESTS—One of the worst festivered pests in southern Ontario is the starling. Many devices have been used in the trapping of the birds and two of the latest are shown here. Both are the work of Dr. W. E. Russell of Kitchener. The one at left is a government-designed affair. The birds drop through a central opening running the length and are then trapped. The one on the right is the design of Dr. Russell and works even better than the other. The birds enter a small opening, drop to the ground to eat the poisoned bait, and find themselves trapped. More than 1,000 starlings were trapped in one weekend in the device, which costs $15. (CP Photo)

Urges Peiping Govt. to Name Peace Delegation

Nanking, March 22 — (AP) — The Nationalist representative in Communist-held Peiping urged the government today to name its peace delegation.

Urgency was stressed in a telephone call to Acting President Li Tsung-Jen from liaison officer Huang Shi-Han. Huang said he believed the Peiping Communists would agree to peace talks when the delegates were named.

Li immediately ordered the new cabinet to assemble here. They include the new foreign minister, Fu Ping-Chang, ambassador to Moscow.

Li and Premier Ho Ying-Chin are reported to have drafted a list of delegates, if acceptable to the Communists, they will go to Peiping for the peace talks.

But two grim facts served to remind the government that it was still at war. Communist troops continued to mass north of the Yangtze River.

Chinese planes are said to have bombed the ports of the Chinese navy during the weekend.

Other developments served to remind the government that all of its problems do not lie to the north. In the southern provinces, Communist activity has been reported.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRUCKING

Russians Threaten To Sue Firm For Non-Delivery

Berlin, March 22 (AP)— The Russians today threatened to sue a western German firm which has been unable to deliver orders to the Russian zone because of the Allied counter-blockade.

The Russian complaint was stated by Lt.-Gen. M. I. Dratvin, Soviet deputy military governor, in a letter to his American counterpart, Maj.-Gen. George P. Hays.

Dratvin threatened suit against the German metals firm of W. Herseus at Hanau, in the United States occupation zone.

The Russians complained that about 23 pounds of platinum had been supplied to this firm from the Russian zone to be processed into electrodes and that the State Chemicals, Incorporated, of the Soviet zone had not got its platinum back.

He charged that the Allied counter-blockade represented an "unjust business practice" which gave the Russians licence to do the case into court.

Hays said he would answer Dratvin that "the blockade was not of our making" and that when the Russians lift their blockade of Berlin "free trade can be resumed."

"Boy in Brown" Almost too Much For the Police

Montreal, March 23 (CP) — The "Boy in Brown," a 15-year-old gunman who specialized in robbing messenger boys of small sums, has outdone himself by swiping 54 bottles of soft drinks at police headquarters.

Police said today the boy, in a call at headquarters, collected nine liters from other policemen. Saturday night, tied the laces together and made a noose on one end.

Then he neatly lassoed the nearest 23 bottles, one at a time while turnkey was busy elsewhere in the cell block.

Their supply of soft drinks depleted, the police decided they wanted no more of the "Boy in Brown." They turned him over to juvenile court authorities but he created such a rumpus in detention there that he was finally sent to Bordeaux jail pending trial.

"The next thing we know," said one policeman, "he will be stealing our badges."

1,200-Acre Area Site of Project To Prevent Floods

Toronto, March 23 (CP) — A 1,200-acre area in the Humber River basin some 20 miles north of here will be the site of the Humbery Valley conservation authority's efforts to prevent yearly floods and improve farmlands throughout the valley. The authority will develop land ponds, preserve existing swamps, and plant new forests, and encourage farmers to follow suit. Plans call for developing major recreational areas for residents of Toronto and nearby municipalities.

Uranium Prospecting To Begin in Malaya

Singapore, March 23—(Reuter) — Prospecting for uranium is to start in Malaya. This follows Monday's announcement by the British colonial office that Britain will buy all uranium ores containing more than 10 per cent of uranium produced in the Commonwealth during the next 10 years.

It is known that in Malaya there are monazite sands containing thorium, but terrorism has held up prospecting operations.

TWO KILLED BY STORMS

New Orleans, March 23 (AP)— Two persons were killed and about 50 injured Monday by storms which hit two scattered areas of Louisiana and Mississippi. Tornadoes and windstorms also struck in Texas and Arkansas but no casualties were reported in these states.

Lost Nickel, Balloon Cause of Boy's Death

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22. (AP)—A lost nickel and a penny balloon led a little boy to his death Monday.

Seven-year-old Johnny Dunn found the five-cent piece on a street near his home. With two older brothers and a sister at his heels, he dashed around the corner to a confectionery store to buy balloons.

"I want an orange one," Johnny shouted in his excitement. The clerk gave him an orange one, and handed similar colored balloons to his brothers, Martin, 12, and Ray, nine, and his sister, Dora 13.

As they ran from the store the smallest of the four fell. The balloon lodged in his throat. Two neighbor women ran to the scene and applied artificial respiration.

The boy's father, James Dunn, a truck driver, ran into the crowd of neighbors which had gathered and clutched Johnny in his arms. But police said the boy already was dead.

'Inexperienced' Gang Of Safecrackers Work In Vain on Safes

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Described by police as "inexperienced," a gang of safecrackers worked for hours early today in a futile attempt to open safes in two east end service stations.

Police said they used crowbars, sledge hammers and acetylene torches but failed to open the safe doors at the Orval Johnson service station and the Logan motor firm.

NEW JOB FOR WOMEN

Halifax (CP)— Three Halifax girls are pioneering an entirely new field for women in Canada—assembling television sets. J. H. Rowlatte, vice-president of Consor (Canada) Limited, expects to employ 70 women this year, as women are better adapted than men for assembly work.

Exchange-Control Board Continued For Two Years

Drew Charges Control Used Beyond Spirit of Law

Ottawa, March 23 — (CP) — The Commons today voted 146 to 27 to adopt the government's motion continuing the Exchange-Control Board for another two years, after rejecting suggestions by the Progressive Conservatives that the board be kept in operation for only one more year.

The vote came on third and final reading and was forced by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, as he carried his opposition to the measure to the last legislative step. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The C.C.F. and Social Credit parties voted with the government.

Before the vote was called, Mr. Drew renewed his fight against the legislation, charging that the board had been used to control exports and imports beyond the spirit of the law.

The vote would be extended for only one year and, whether the bill passed or not, Canada should take the initiative in obtaining international action to restore currencies to convertibility.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he did not think it was in Canada's best interest to seek convertibility at this time.

Finance Minister Abbott said the government was just as much interested as anyone in a return to convertibility but it was a job that could not be done by one country alone. In his judgment it was "useless" to expect to count on convertibility "for some little time yet."

Search by Air For Missing Priest in North

Churchill, Man., March 23 (CP) —An air search for a priest unreported since last September was disclosed today to have been launched into the spills-quarantined area of the Northwest Territories north of this port.

The missing priest is Rev. Joseph Bullard. All reports from Rankine in the region say he has neither been seen nor heard from since he started a round of visits to northern settlements in September.

Pilot of the search plane, Gunnar Ingebrigtson, chief pilot of Arctic Wings at Churchill, has received special permission from the Federal Health Department at Ottawa to enter the quarantined area.

Ingebrigtson took off from Churchill at noon Tuesday for Garry Lake and Queen Maud Gulf, 530 and 670 miles northwest of here, respectively. There he will attempt to pick up the trail of the priest before he disappeared.

Smuts' Party Loses One-Man Lead, Expels Member

Capetown, March 23 — (AP) — Jan Christian Smuts' United Party lost its slim one-vote control of the South African house Tuesday by expelling one of its own members.

He was Senator M. J. Van H. Brink, who refused to support the United party's opposition to Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's color policy.

Two Safes Blown For $250 in Toronto

Toronto, March 23 — (CP) — Safecrackers early today smashed open two safes in the office of the Metro Theatre in west-end Toronto and escaped with $250 cash.

They forced open the office door and smashed both safes with sledge hammers and crow bars, taking about $200. A large crow bar was also smashed and $50 in silver taken.

Commissioner Mackay Asks Constables to Cut 'Verbiage'

Two provincial police officers, principals in the morning session of the Royal Commission inquiry were given a brief lesson in the proper methods of questioning and answering today by Commissioner Mr. Justice Roach.

Constable J. E. Keays was questioning Constable J. R. Purdy regarding reports the constable had written of an accident which had occurred on the Osborne Road during November, 1947.

Answers Became Involved

Questions and answers had become so lengthy and confusing that Commissioner Mackay stated that he himself was at sea and asked the two constables to reduce the amount of "verbiage". At times he took over questioning himself when Constable Purdy's answers became involved.

Constable Purdy is the tenth witness to appear before the Commission inquiry into alleged misconduct on the part of Crown Attorney B. C. Donnelly and seven provincial police officers.

Const. Purdy Questioned

Constable G. R. Purdy was still on the witness box during the morning as the Royal Commission investigation inquiring into allegations against Mr. J. C. Donnelly continued.

Tuesday afternoon the constable had been called to give evidence in the LeRoy Woods' case in connection with which Const. Purdy and Const. Ervine are alleged to have falsified police reports.

Cross examining the witness, Const. Keays again referred to Const. Purdy being "paraded" before Inspector A. W. Pagg with respect to alleged misconduct.

Const. Purdy said the interview with Inspector Pagg had been in connection with his absence at a police post at a plowing match at Lindsay. The witness stated he had been sick at the time in question.

Denies Statement

Const. Purdy denied ever saying to Keays that the detachment office wanted to make him the goat in the LeRoy Woods' case. Also that he had been requested to go to Keays' home to discuss the matter.

He said he had gone to Const. Keays' home on Oct. 28, 1948, "out of curiosity" when Const. Siple had implied it might be to his advantage to do so.

Refunds for 750,000 Taxpayers Should Start in a Few Weeks

Ottawa, March 23 (CP)— Three quarters of a million Canadians—wiped of, the list of income taxes levied by the budget—are probably wondering today when they'll get back the money they have already paid.

The Department of National Revenue couldn't tell them the exact date because it depends on the employers. However, the cheques should start rolling in a few weeks and the refunds be cleaned up by the start of summer.

A notice was sent today to employers asking them to list all employees, who, under the new regulations, cease to be income taxpayers. The sooner those lists get back to the government, the sooner the Treasury Department will be able to send the cheques back. They'll be sent to the employer who will distribute them.

As for the rest of the taxpayers, whose levy has been reduced, the revised scale of weekly deductions at the source should be available at the post office new tables were sent to the printer in Montreal last night and will be rushed to the employers within a week or two.

The fact that deductions at the source will be revised to conform to the old scale for almost three months of this year will mean a possible refund in taxes when time rolls around next year to pay up.

The Revenue Department said that the way the new deductions are being established, the refunds will amount to only a few dollars in practically all cases. Taxpayers should get those refunds around the summer of 1950.

MAN-IN-STREET GIVEN BIG LIFT BY BUDGET CUTS

$369 Millions Will Assist Living Budget

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 23 (CP) — "Thank God," said the man to Mr. Abbott, "for taking your hand out of one of my pockets."

He wasn't exactly the mythical man-in-the-street; he was a corpulent member of the more-or-less-affluent parliamentary press gallery.

But his sentiments, by and large, probably echoed those of the little guys across the country on whom the sunshine of Hon. Douglas Abbott's budget beamed today with a beneficent candle-power of $369,000,000 a year.

For Mr. Abbott, while keeping an unrelenting grip on the contents of one pocket, did give the little fellow—the worker, the householder, the consumer—all the best of his 1949-50 budget.

He had big slashes in his income tax—or, if he was in the $50,000 who came in under the belated umbrella or tax exemption, no tax at all.

No Tax for Thousands

His general living budget seemed due for a cut, too, what with the pegging—or elimination—of taxes on soft drinks, candy, chewing gum, jewelry, cosmetics, luggage, and even his pipes and matches.

On all these articles, the tax eliminations of reductions mounted to $100,000,000 a year, in Mr. Abbott's estimation.

He got no tax cuts on foods—there were cuts on these in the last budget.

He would have to wait a bit to see the effect of budget moves and concurrent action in other directions on his food bill.

For Mr. Abbott handed him two things simultaneously.

Ceiling Prices Off

He eliminated ceiling prices—effective today — on flour, bread, sugar, molasses, canned fruits and vegetables, and imported apples, celery, lettuce, onions, spinach and tomatoes.

At the same time, he opened the United States spigot a little more wider to a large number of articles that go on the kitchen table.

Just how this will work out in the household is another story time will tell.

Mr. Abbott apparently was figuring that a new law of supply and demand will put more goods on the table without sending up prices.

While he removed the government subsidy on flour and lifted the ceiling on bread, the government announced today that it will not send up bread prices by the cent-a-loaf that appears to be operative.

Time will have to settle that, too.

Canada's Trading Position Strengthened by Greater Gold, U.S. Dollar Reserves

Ottawa (CP)—Canada's reserves of gold and United States dollars have risen to $1,065,000,000 from $968,000,000 at Dec. 31 last and the "dangerously" low level of $502 000,000 touched in December, 1947, Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons in his budget speech.

He said this latest total, while "not yet satisfactory," was "much more nearly adequate" as safeguard our position against the deficits which could develop without much warning in a trade as large and vulnerable as ours."

Mr. Abbott reviewed Canada's 1948 trade with the world, spoke of the need for maintaining and extending overseas markets, again rejected suggestions that this country go "it alone" trading deals and paid tribute to the United States European recovery program.

Substantial Balance

In a nutshell, he summarized Canada's position for 1948 thus: The debit balance with the United States has been reduced by $635,000,000 while the credit balance with all other countries has gone down by $400,000,000, leaving a net increase in over-all credit balance of $235,000,000.

Expressing appreciation for the far-sighted action of the U. S. in promoting the economic recovery of Europe, he said, E. R. P. already has overcome some of the difficulties which 18 months ago seemed "insuperable" and is slowly but surely putting back on its feet one of the great productive areas of the world.

"This economic restoration is clearly a prerequisite for a stable and progressive political life in this key area and as such it is a matter vital not only to our future economic welfare but to our very national safety. To us in Canada, the general and longer-run benefits of European recovery and progress are of prime importance."

The future holds many uncertainties, but we can express gratification for the progress that the first year of E.R.P. has witnessed."

Turning to Canada's trade with the U. S., he said the change in this country's reserve position has been "remarkable." The most encouraging feature was the fact Canadian exports to the U. S. had climbed to more than $1,500,000,000 from $1,000,000,000 in 1947.

Much of this was due to "improved Canadian ability to produce for, and sell to, the United States market, and of the reductions in tariffs obtained in the Geneva Trade Agreement."

The exchange problem now was approaching "manageable proportions." While exchange controls would have to be continued, they need "not be so general or severe as to interfere seriously with the free working of our economy."

Must Have Foreign Markets

On the question of future trade, Mr. Abbott said overseas markets in many traditional areas have been declining during the past year under pressure of the dollar shortage as to United States. The government must seek improvements and adjustments which would help to maintain those markets. Where some were closed, alternative outlets must be developed.

As for barter arrangements, the government felt "the inevitable effect of the bilateral, discriminatory deals is to diminish the total volume of world trade." Some arranged by other countries already were interfering with this country's trade.

They also would lead to a multiplication of import controls, export controls, licences and permits, and more government buying and selling which frequently involved subsidies and trading losses.

Budget Highlights

COMMONS GIVES OMNIBUS BILL FINAL READING

Will Control Rents, Food, Timber and Steel

Ottawa, March 23 (CP)—After fighting heavy gears, the omnibus control bill—legislative basis for rent and other controls—received its ironclad blessing of nearly the Commons late Tuesday.

Previously by a margin of 149 to 55, the Commons upheld Speaker Gaspard Fauteux in his rejection of a Progressive Conservative attempt to throw another barrier in front of the bill.

He ruled out of order an amendment moved by Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) which would have referred the bill to the Banking and Commerce Committee to be split up into separate measures.

The controls include those on rents, food prices, timber and steel.

Measures Thrown Together

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said it was "unadulterated nonsense" to argue that specific bills could not be brought down to deal with measures now thrown together in the omnibus bills.

The "excellent civil servants" who adm.nistered those controls could "put out separate bills" of clear-cut legislation.

Prime Minister and Justice Minister Garson for calling him "the John Hampton of Bay Street."

(John Hampton was an English reformer of several centuries ago who earned fame for his fights against excess taxation).

He hoped Mr. Garson wouldn't "get into difficulties with his sponsors, the Sifton "whom he described as the "fugatives" of the beneficiaries of an earlier Liberal administration. Mr. Drew suggested the Siftons "might not like him (Mr. Garson's) attitude towards a street from which they had chosen to direct their affairs in Western Canada.

Mr. Drew said a vote for the bill in its present form would be a declaration that four years after the war a general emergency, warranting "arbitrary powers" still exists. It would be an agreement to allow the federal government to establish centralization a trend by further invasion of provincial jurisdiction.

Now Board Allows Up to $40 for Burial

Omagh, Northern Ireland, March 23 (AP)—Four days after the wake in County Tyrone and it was all on the national health service.

The family spent £21 ($84) on the funeral and the wake. Then the undertaker turned in a bill for £42. For didn't the law say funeral expenses were allowed?

The undertaker set down £2 for whisky and 13 shillings for beer. The rest he knocked off for cigarets, tobacco, matches and clay pipes to sustain the mourners through the 24 hours of watching over the corpse.

The health service committee studied the bill for some time. Finally they ruled it was all right this time, but never again.

In the future the committee will allow corpses up to £10 — for burial alone.

Popular Budget Seen as Tie-up With General Election This Year

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 23 (CP)— A budget that leaves more money in the pockets of virtually every taxpayer, that abolishes nuisances and with it the question of the date of the next general election.

Finance Minister Abbott brought the good news to the people in his budget speech Tuesday night.

Progressive Conservative circles immediately concluded that the government would follow this real money gift to the people with a snap election.

A "bribery budget" was the blunt description given on the floor of the Commons by J. M Macdonnell (PC-Muskoka - Ontario), budget critic for the official opposition who followed the finance minister in the debate.

However, the most sage of the Liberal ranks dismissed the idea that the government planned an election this spring. October is the month they believe will be most propitious for the party.

"The reason against a spring election is that we are not ready," was the answer of a veteran not close to the inner circle.

Apart from any partisan consideration the Liberals remained that 1949 is virtually certain to be a general-election year and a budget with such practical relief for the pocket-books of the voters could not be looked on as anything but an election budget.

There are numerous practical obstacles in the way of an election in June which about three out of five observers in Ottawa believe possible.

POPULAR BUDGET—Page 2

Middle Income Group Heavily Favored in Cuts

"Luxury" Taxes on 10 P.C. Down From 35 to 10 P.C.

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, March 23 (CP)—A happy-days-are-here-again budget, spiked heavily in favor of the voter in the "little" or "middle" income group and featuring major income-tax slashes, was put forward by the government for public and parliamentary study.

For tax relief, the experts said it totalled either biggest or next biggest in Canadian history. It did provide these concessions:

1. The lifting of basic income-tax exemptions from $750 to $1,000 for single persons; $1,500 to $2,000 for married; $100 to $150 for dependent children; $200 to $300 for other dependents, plus a general reduction of existing tax rates and certain minor concessions—all retroactive to Jan. 1 this year.

2. Abolition of the so-called, war-induced "nuisance" taxes including those on soft drinks, candy, chewing gum, railway berths and parlor car seats, transportation of baggage, telegrams, long-distance telephone calls and extensive telephone use effective immediately.

3. Significant reductions—from the present 25 to 35-per cent rate at retail to a 10-per-cent rate at the manufacturers' level—in the war-dubbed "luxury" taxes applying to jewelry, cosmetic and toilet preparations, luggage, handbags, matches, smokers' supplies, pipe, ash trays, cigaret lighters, pens and pencils and desk sets—effective immediately.

Big Business Not Helped

Business didn't do so well in this budget.

Finance Minister Abbott, presenting the accounting to the Commons Tuesday night, conceded that he was juggling the corporate tax structure to lighten the burden on the business man who earns under $10,000 a year and increase it on the big fellow whose profit runs above that figure. Present concessions for mining, oil and gas exploration and new mines are being continued and extended.

In the income tax brackets approximately 750,000 Canadians were relieved of all tax liability by the 32-per-cent average cut.

Man, 111, Was Thinking of Trip Not of Dying

Decatur, Ill., March 23 — (AP)—A county case worker Tuesday reported the following conversation with Edward Harris, who celebrated his 111th birthday at his home here Sunday:

Harris: "I think I'll be leaving."

Case Worker: "Now, Mr. Harris, don't talk like that about dying. You still have many years ahead."

Harris: "Hell, I ain't thinking of dying. I'm just wondering about going to Kentucky for a spell."

FINANCE MINISTER D. H. ABBOTT presented Canada's record budget address Tuesday night.

Canadians Earned More, Saved More Than During 1947

Ottawa (CP)—Canadians earned more and spent more in 1948 than they did in 1947, Finance Minister Abbott disclosed in his budget speech.

Personal income totalled $11,960,000,000 in 1948, compared with $10,390,000,000 in 1947 and with $4,250,000,000 in 1939, the year of the outbreak of the Second World War.

Personal savings amounted to $1,161,000,000 in 1948, compared with $650,000,000 in 1947 and $320,000,000 in 1939.

The figures showed, said Mr. Abbott, that Canadians "saved approximately 10 per cent of the personal incomes at their disposal after payment of taxes in 1948, as against nearly seven per cent in 1947."

HONG KONG VETERANS GET PAY EXTENSION

Prisoner-of-war veterans of the ill-fated Hong Kong campaign will receive pay from June 1st, 1945, to two months after return to Canada, it was announced today.

Hong Kong veterans who were prisoners of the Japanese are requested to send their names, addresses, regimental number etc. to the Director of Pay Services, Army Headquarters, Ottawa, as soon as possible to expedite issuance of cheques.

BOYS UP TO CAPERS, TOSSING CRACKERS, POLICE WARN THEM

Another sign of Spring is noted in the usually cool police blotter.

Small boys, flushed with youthful exuberance on cutting up Spring capers in various parts of the city, according to a number of complaining householders.

Throwing of firecrackers seems to be the favorite sport of the younger fry, with many of them hurling the lighted cartridges at cars and houses. Police are keeping a watchful eye on the youngsters.

MISSING CAR FOUND ABANDONED

Ernest Evans, R.R. 1, Belleville, parked his car outside of Lizzie's Lunch, West Bridge Street yesterday—and when he returned it had vanished.

Police were notified and a young orderly located the abandoned vehicle outside 168 College Street this morning. It was undamaged.

Tie Up Your Pets Or Else —

Chief of Police Walter Probert today warned owners of dogs to keep their pets at home —or else.

Numerous complaints are being received by the police station from irate home owners who claim roaming dogs are damaging garden plots and lawns. Some of the dogs are travelling in packs and it is these that are causing the most damage.

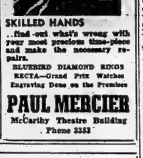
Action will be taken against owners who do not take the necessary action to keep their Fidos at home.

Garage Operators' Assoc. Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Quinte District Prince Edward Garage Operators' Association was held in the Kiwanis Centre Tuesday evening with approximately 45 members of the association in attendance. Both counties were well represented despite the inclement weather.

President of the association, E. C. Wood of Belleville, presided over the meeting at which John Robbins, manager of Garage Operators' Association of Ontario, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Robbins referred to the decision to retain the apprenticeship training school and also spoke on the value of co-operative advertising. Group insurance and hospitalization were also included in his talk.



Frank Murray of CJBQ also spoke to the members regarding radio spot advertising. Wayne Brett of Madoc won the door prize.

WOODS INCIDENT EVIDENCE TAKEN AT ROYAL PROBE

One phase of the Royal Commission inquiry investigating allegations of misconduct on the part of Magistrate Attorney B. G. Donnan and provincial police officers, was virtually concluded Tuesday afternoon as the last witness to come in connection with the Deni-Miki shooting at Navan, Ontario, remained to be called.

For the better part of the day Inspector Thomas Kennedy, of the O.P.P. C.I.B. department, was on the stand giving evidence and being cross-examined, by Constable J. E. Keays who had alleged that Sgt. Stringer of the provincial police had lied in giving a report of the Miki shooting.

Keays had charged that Stringer reported Miki had been killed in an exchange of shots and had claimed that he could prove only one shot had been fired. He asserted that Miki could have been taken alive and that Stringer had deliberately killed t a transient.

Investigation of Woods Accident

Today evidence will be taken in an exchange of shots and the result of which Keays alleged that provincial police officers and Constable G. R. Purdy had falsified police reports and had perjured themselves at the inquest held on an accident which occurred on the Foxboro-Tweed highway in 1947.

First witness in the Woods case is Constable Purdy—was called Tuesday afternoon with the constable appearing ill at ease with the hefty questioning directed at him by Keays.

Constable Purdy repeatedly referred to his inexperience as a police officer at the time he had assisted Constable Stringer at the Woods accident. Purdy stated that on the night of the accident he had assisted Constable Keays.

The following morning a statement had been taken from Woods and Purdy had charged him with drunk driving.

"I suggest that on November 8th you preferred two charges against Woods — one of drunk driving and one of dangerous driving," stated Keays.

"I did not," was the reply.

Purdy "went on to say that the dangerous driving charge had not been preferred at the time because of representations having been made on behalf of Woods.

"Did you not know that according to police regulations a charge of dangerous driving always laid when a drunk driving charge is preferred?" asked Keays.

"I don't know the regulations that well," Purdy replied.

Record Produced

Keays here produced a police record showing Woods had been charged with dangerous driving on Nov. 6th and suggested the date on the information had been changed from Nov. 8th to Nov. 6th.

"There was no reason to change the date. The charge was laid on Nov. 8th," Purdy said.

Keays referred to a delay by Constable Purdy in making out his police report of the accident and asked if he had had difficulty with the report.

Purdy said that he had been inexperienced and when he went to make out the report found he had no measurements of the highway. He said he had depended on Keays for instruction as he was the senior officer at the detachment.

Broken Guard Rail

Purdy told the Commissioner of going to the scene of the accident with Constable Keays and of this officer telling him that guard rails at the scene of the accident had been broken some time previous to the Woods accident.

"Constable Ervine informed me I had little to work on with respect to the dangerous driving charge against Woods and thought the Crown Attorney should be advised," stated Purdy.

"I had wanted to withdraw both charges," he went on, "as I was frightened and wanted to get out of it. I had never laid any charge under the code."

"Then the code is a very dangerous thing," suggested Keays.

Keays referred to Constable Purdy being paraded before Inspector Kennedy for refusing that the constable denied that he had been paraded.

"Not to my knowledge," he re-

Turncliffe Arrested at Point Anne For Non-Support of His Family

Accused of leaving five young children unattended in a backwoods shack 46 days in 18-below zero weather, Allen Turncliffe, father of the children, appeared in court today on a non-support charge.

Turncliffe was arraigned in Madoc before Magistrate J. Lloyd, Northbrook, Gordon Robertson, assistant crown attorney of Hastings County was the prosecutor. Turncliffe was arrested in Point Anne yesterday following the escape of sordid squalor and the subsistence of his family on spuds-rels and rabbits killed in the surrounding bushland by William Landry, 24-year-old brother of Mrs. Turncliffe.

In Care of C. A. S.

The children are in the care of the Children's Aid Society, William Lockyer, C.A.S. Superintendent, said, today that his society will apply for wardship of the five youngsters. The children are staying with friends in Belleville. She gave birth to her sixth child ten days ago in Belleville General Hospital.

When Provincial Police Corporal Stanley Palmateer found the children in the lumbermen's shack in Mayo township, 20 miles north of Marmora, they had been living on squirrels and rabbits. They cried with they saw the police and officials and asked them for food. The children, police said, were scantily-clothed, covered with sores and whimpering for nourishment.

The children are Carol, 7; Frederick 6; Rose 5; Shirley 4; and Betty 18 months. Freddie is in Belleville General Hospital suffering from a severe attack of impetigo.

Father Left With Mother

"Landry, who had been helping Turncliffe cut wood, went to the house on February 1st and the Turncliffes asked him to stay a few days with the children," Corporal Palmateer said. Mrs. Turncliffe was going to Belleville to have her child and the husband said he would be back. He did not return for 18 days and then only long enough to pick up the family allowance cheque. He left Feb. 20 and that was the last seen of him at the house.

Corporal Palmateer stated that he has not visited into the house. Landry said how glad he was we had come. He said he had scared the children with his rifle as the squirrel there was in the counter-pane and those kids."

Had No Money

"Landry was at his wits end to know what to do," Palmateer went on. "He hadn't any money and couldn't get any from the family any. He did manage to get some on credit from one store in the district, but that was four miles from the shack.

Bert Landry's merchants, it was stated, had given food to the family.

Superintendent Lockyer of the Children's Aid Society told the heart-rending story of the condition in which the children had been found during the past few days. They had no blankets, the shack was pored by gaping holes through which the wind whistled—no clothing was apparent and the children were wearing pitifully scanty for food. The place was filthy, he said, and not fit for animals to live in. The deplorable lack of clothing the children were wrapped in blankets when removed by police and C.A.S. and Red Cross officials under Mrs. Reg Blatherwick at Bancroft.

Say Stories "Track of Lies"

Mrs. Allen Turncliffe described as "a pack of lies" reports five days after children were abandoned and left to starve in a backwoods shack for 46 days.

The 25-year-old mother, clutching Robert William who was born only 15 days ago, defended her husband, Allen.

"I know everybody is against Allen back in Bancroft," said Mrs. Turncliffe, who was interviewed in her in-laws' Bay of Quinte shore home where she has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Boomhower.

Good Husband

"Allen has been a good husband to me and the children were always well taken care of," said the dark-eyed Mrs. Turncliffe.

Meantime, in a receiving home at nearby Foxboro, seven-year-old Carol Turncliffe admitted a liking for squirrel meat but said she never wants to return to the backwoods shack.

"I liked the squirrels better than the rabbits," she said. "We only cooked the legs you know. They were good. Uncle Bill made soup with them."

Uncle Bill is William Landry, Mrs. Turncliffe's brother, who shared rabbits and shot the squirrels.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 23 — (CP) — Prices edged along with light trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today as the market largely ignored the budget presented in the House of Commons Tuesday night. Base metal and western oils tended slightly firmer and golds slipped lower. Some industrial issues moved narrowly upwards, especially in foods, but key issues were slightly downward.

Volume for the first three hours was 410,000 shares, about 15,000 shares less than Tuesday's similar period.

Changes were generally held to fractions in the industrials and action slowed to a crawl from a busy opening.

Observers said that the partial elimination of double taxation on company earnings in the budget was largely outweighed by an increase in corporation tax of larger firms. A few issues moved on their own but generally traders appeared to ignore the budget.

RAWDON

Taught OSD Pupil Who Won Essay Prize

Rawdon — Mr. E. J. Chard of the Dept. of Public Communication, near Stirling, is receiving congratulations these days from his many friends in this district.

Mr. Chard is a teacher at the O.S.D., Belleville, and he coached Miss Flora Clark, who won first prize of five hundred dollars on her essay.

This is the 13th annual essay contest sponsored by International Printing Ink and there were over 1,700 competitors from secondary schools in United States and Canada. This is the first time that the first prize has been awarded to anyone in Canada.

Mr. Chard coached Miss Clark on the subject matter, "Printing and Free Government". He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard at River Valley and he has a brother Richard teaching at Toronto.

Straps Self In Self-Rigged Electric Chair

Arlington, Mass., March 23—(AP)—A young war veteran attired in blue pajamas was found dead last night in a self-rigged electric chair in the attic of his home.

Medical examiner David C. Dow said John Conti, 24, was a suicide by electrocution.

Police said that Conti strapped himself in the chair before sending a powerful shock through his body.

The electrical contact was made by two heavy electrodes at his neck and feet to a radio set.

When the set was snapped on, police said, the full force of electricity passed through his body.

The medical examiner expressed the opinion that death was instantaneous. There were deep burn. in the neck and feet.

Well Blows Wild, Catches Fire

Calgary, March 23 — (CP) — Oil well experts mustered their forces today to control a huge natural gas well in the remote Lac La Biche area of northern Alberta.

Central Lac La Biche No. 1, a "wildcat" well about 118 miles northeast of Edmonton, suddenly blew wild Tuesday and immediately caught fire. It is just six miles northeast of Stanolind Lac La Biche No. 1, which has been running wild for the last 10 days. The Stanolind well is not on fire.

COMMISSIONER

"I went to Keayv home out of curiosity because my name was apparently mentioned in a report. Keays was supposed to be making." he said.

Const. Purdy said he had assured Keays that it had been he, and not the Court, Reporter who had gone to the crown attorney's office to charge against LeRoy Woods withdrawn.

Admits Interview

He said he had written a letter to Keays indicating he had been in error when an injustice against LeRoy Woods,

He admitted being interviewed by inspector Moss over the week end and forth until Commissioner Mackay interrupted to instruct the witness to hold his answer until the question was completed.

At the time the witness was being questioned whether his report on the Woods' accident had been made on Nov. 17 or Dec. 18th.

Keays claimed that despite the inexperience of the witness the report appeared to have been made out by an officer with at least five years' experience.

Constable Purdy replied he had made out the report himself. He denied that he had been told that in his original report Constable Purdy had stated Woods had been driving. That the report in the Wood's accident this was not mentioned.

Constable Purdy stated it had been his interpretation following an interview with the crown attorney and Constable Ervine that the charges against Woods were being dropped. Accordingly he had made out the accident report without mentioning Woods' name. Constable Keays in his evidence in chief stated that he demanded that the charges be proceeded with after action had been deprived of his liberty.

Says Keays "Outraged"

On Nov. 26th Const. Purdy had written another report when he was outraged because the charges against Woods of drunk and dangerous driving would be dropped with.

Constable Purdy said Keays had been outraged when he had learned the Woods charges were likely to be dropped and had seemed peeved.

Keays, however, pointed out the only communication he had with Purdy as a member of the provincial police force was that from his (Keays) recommendation.

"That does not sound as though Keays was angry at you," suggested Keays.

Const. Keays then referred to June 7th, 1948, when police cars had escorted a Progressive Conservative procession from Belleville to Trenton.

Denies Liquor Unloaded

Const. Purdy stated the procession consisting of 15-100 cars had gone to Frankford, Stirling and back to Belleville ending up at the Old People's Home.

He denied emphatically that a quantity of liquor had been unloaded from two white police cars in front of a Trenton drug store.

"I saw no liquor unloaded nor did I help to unload any," he said.

"You are saying that on your oath?" asked Keays.

"I would hardly be that foolish," was the reply.

Under examination by Malcolm Robb, counsel for five police officers named by Const. Keays, Const. Purdy stated that Keays was not easily approachable and always gave the impression that he was engaged in great and heavy business.

As a result of Constable Keays' mannerisms Constable Purdy said he did not press for necessary information with respect to the Woods' case and had gone to Constable Ervine.

"I suggest the reason you wished to have the charges against Woods withdrawn was that you were afraid defence counsel would make a fool of you at the trial," said Mr. Robb.

"That is not what the reply.

It was brought out by Mr. Robb there were four other constable ite step on the part of Crown Attorney R. C. Donnan or by Constable Ervine to have charges against Woods withdrawn.

Const. Purdy stated that an assumption made by the Constable due to the indulgence of the Crown Attorney. Constable Purdy had made out a report in which no charges were mentioned. The constable stated he had never known of a drunk driving charge which had been withdrawn by the Crown Attorney without it going before the magistrate.

IDENTIFIED AS DENNIS' LOOT

Cleveland, March 23 — (AP) — Another $5,860 worth of stolen jewelry was recovered here Monday. The Federal Bureau of Investigation identified it as loot of Gerard Graham Dennis, accused society burglar from St. Catherines, Ont.

All corporation-tax changes effective Jan. 1, 1949.

"Backlog" Policy of Delaying Public Works Will be Continued by Govt.

Ottawa, (CP)—The Federal government probably will continue this year its long-time policy of postponing public works where possible, Finance Minister Abbott indicated in the fiscal portion of his budget address.

However, despite the full employment and high construction costs which are jointly responsible for continuation of the policy, Mr. Abbott hinted that it was becoming increasingly more difficult to postpone a number of public works projects.

Two General Principles

The "backlog" policy consists of two general principles. The first involves the planning of a number of large-scale projects which could be used to relieve unemployment in depressed times. The second consists of postponing all construction on these projects until the control of the government which can be postponed, except in areas where there may be local unemployment.

Mr. Abbott touched only on the latter phase of the plan.

"The budget provides that the prospective amount of capital expenditure on construction and machinery and equipment, combined with the present export level, appears likely to be sufficient to sustain incomes and employment this year at around their current levels.

"Although the supply of construction materials will be better this year, construction costs are still abnormally high and there is little evidence of any decline upon the industry."

The government policy, therefore, was to continue the postponement of construction work where possible. However, Mr. Abbott added:

"I must say that it gets progressively more difficult to apply this policy from year to year as really important requirements for construction of all kinds keeps accumulating—some of them repeatedly deferred since the end of the war.

Greater Needs

"Other needs, too, are constantly arising—some of them from, the increasing expansion in the defence program, others from more conspicuous developments, such as the need to provide improved airport runways and related equipment to accommodate the bigger and better planes now available.

"We have also given a fairly high priority to construction necessary to permit expansion in our government activities in the field of scientific research and the improvement of techniques and markets for primary production — government operations which they must complete for materials and labor."

Britain Takes Milk off Rations, Controls off Over 50 Raw Materials

London, March 23 (AP)—Britain took milk off the ration list on Tuesday and lifted controls on more than 50 raw materials.

Numerous other controls which have consumed mountains of paper and millions of man-hours in filling out forms were eased.

Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, called it a "bonfire of controls".

Milk has been allowed 2 1-2 pints a week and children five pints.

A few items such as synthetic next month.

Thinks Increase In Corporation Tax Unjustified

Toronto, March 23 (CP)— Ontario Provincial Treasurer Frost today said one of the changes in Federal taxes a "clear invasion" of the provincial tax field.

Mr. Frost welcomed the tax relief given to both individuals and small corporations in the Dominion budget, but he said an increase in the corporation income tax from 30 per cent on the first $10,000 of corporation earnings and increased it from 30 to 33 per-cent on corporation income over $30,000.

He said the increase was contrary to what the Dominion government promised to the provinces when it agreed to a 30 per cent tax, leaving the provinces to levy taxes within a range of 10 per cent.

Two Sweep Tickets From Same Book Have Drawn Horses

Calgary, March 23 — (CP) — Two Irish Sweepstakes tickets sold to two Calgary residents from the same book of tickets for the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes have drawn horses.

The lucky ticket holders, who stand a chance of winning the $100,000 grand prize in the sweepstakes are Daniel Welsh and U. A. Willse.

Two other persons are known to hold tickets that have drawn horses. They are Gordon Craig of Calgary and Mrs. Mary Christenson of Delburne, Alta.

MIDDLE INCOME

"There are no changes in the general eight-per-cent sales tax or the levies on postage, succession duties, tobacco or liquor.

An enthusiastic clatter of applause, with a mingling of approval from the opposition benches, greeted Mr. Abbott's 2-hour delivery of the 11,000-word text, despite a cold which deepened his voice at times.

Parliamentary observers agreed this was an election-year budget, patterned to meet the demands of the voters and they got support from J. M. Macdonnell (PC — Toronto) who praised the opposition financial critic, who told the Commons following the speech of Mr. Abbott's address that it was nothing more than a "bribery budget."

$87,500,000 Surplus

Mr. Abbott himself told the Chamber he was budgeting for a surplus of $87,000,000—against $375,000,000 last year — and that the Dominion's loss to the government through the tax relief budgeted would be $389,000,000. His advisers said that in the event of a set-in history and in a pre-war period would have eliminated the entire government revenue.

And, in his speech, the debonair minister dealt with the "middle" of the little man as against big business.

"The present economic situation is not such that it is more appropriate this year to encourage increased expenditures by corporations than by the capital expenditures by business.

"Business profits are already high, on the whole, and a large part of them is being devoted to capital expenditures . . .

"It would not be wise, I believe, to divert additional capital expenditures of this nature this year by general increases in corporation taxation. On the other hand, there is, in the tax proposals, some opportunity to satisfy increased expenditures by consumers.

Future Cuts Hinted

Then, in a possible hint of future tax cuts in the next budget, he added:

"We cannot complete this year all those improvements in the form and nature of our taxes that have been started in recent years, but those must remain on the long range forward."

Mr. Abbott coupled with the budget address an announcement of a new special session to set up government's emergency, dollar-saving import restrictions and the first formal ceiling on the price of food prices still kept under control.

The import relaxations cover such things as lumber, paints, varnishes, lacquers and mirrors while the decontrol steps touch butter, bread, flour, sugar and imported apples, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes and tomatoes—as price increases are expected, except possibly in the price of bread. The government subsidy used to keep the price also is being withdrawn.

Immediate Relief

Mr. Abbott's tax relief for the man who is being lopped off the tax rolls by the big increase: Employers are being authorized to make the changes in withholding immediately. Refunds covering the amounts these non-taxpayers have paid in this tax since Jan. 1 will be repaid by the government "as soon as possible."

For those who must continue to contribute to the tax through weekly or monthly, as the case may be, the new low rates will go into effect with the first pay-day few weeks and are expected to be in operation by mid-April. They will get credit for what they have previously contributed when they file their tax returns next year.

Mr. Abbott, presenting his third budget since he became finance minister in the Mackenzie Cabinet, said the government has decided to let grocers remodel their stores up to costs of $3,000 to bring the stores into self-serving places. Building controversy has been restricted to the most solely to construction or repairs to industrial and defence agencies.

Everybody said, however, new food ration books will be issued

Earnings of Ontario corporations

over $10,000 now would be taxed a total of 40 per cent —32 per cent Dominion and seven percent provincial.

It will only be passed on to the consumer eventually," he said. "If this doesn't happen, it will mean a further reduction in the new loss money to plow back in to plant extensions.

rubber, pine oil, turpentine and resin, which the government has been controlling, were turned back to private buyers and sellers.

Minister said the government has decided to let grocers remodel their stores up to costs of $3,000 to bring the stores into self-serving places. Building controversy has been restricted to the most solely to construction or repairs to industrial and defence agencies.

Everybody said, however, new food ration books will be issued next month.

Abbott Says Federal Govt. Constantly Seeking Ways To Improve D-P Relations

Ottawa, (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said in his budget speech that the government always had been "yields to no one in its desire to co-operate with the provinces."

"This government yields to no one in its desire to protect their rights and see them financially strong and independent."

He said, "It yields to no one in its desire to co-operate with them in that kind of constructive partnership which will best enable all governments to tackle and solve the complicated problems of today and, above all, to the Canadian people the measure of peace, prosperity and happiness they have a right to expect.

Spirit of Co-operation

"In search for co-operation, it will not let pettiness of spirit nor false pride or resentment stand in the way of mutual understanding and constructive results. It will constantly seek out ways of tackling mutual problems and developing practical solutions."

The taxation agreements with all provinces except Ontario and Quebec now are entering the third of the five fiscal years covered by the original agreements.

The agreements, under which the provinces rescind their personal income corporation and inheritance taxes, provide for annual payments, contributed to the provinces by each government of the provincial governments.

Fats, Cheese, Chocolate off Ration List in Maine-Et-Loire Dept. Despite Attitude of Goverment

Angers, France, March 23 — (AP)—Fats, cheese and chocolate go off the ration list in the Maine-et-Loire department today — whether the French government likes it or not.

Grocers and food dealers in the area have decided to give up asking for ration tickets for these articles, despite warning from the government that they would be liable to prosecution for removing these from ration before summer.

of which Angers is the capital, has a population of some 475,000.

Bakers in many French departments started the move last fall when they refused to collect without tickets. The government finally decided to go along and take bread off the ration.

Similar violations now are being urged for dairy products. There are rumors the government also is planning to remove these from ration before summer.

Income Tax Comparisons

(By The Canadian Press)

New income tax rates for Canada announced indicate these comparative tax figures in the Dominion, the United Kingdom and the United States:

Canadian income tax rates:

Income	Single person	Married childless	Married two children (under 19)
1,250	30	—	—
2,000	110	—	—
4,000	510	320	280
10,000	1,900	1,660	1,582

United Kingdom income tax rates, based in each case on earned income:

Income	Single person	Married childless	Married two children
1,200	126	42	90
2,000	426	276	240
4,000	1,050	936	720
10,000	3,606	3,476	3,320

United States income tax rate. Income is after the standard 10-per-cent deduction for charitable contributions, medical bills, etc.

1,200	99.60	—	—
2,000	232.40	132.80	66.40
4,000	603.04	454.80	332.80
10,000	2,123.68	1,631.44	1,380.96

will be replaced by a straight 10-per-cent tax while minor additions to the sales-tax exemptions include mail syrup, lacrosse and off-the-highway vehicles.

In the income-tax field, Mr. Abbott made a number of minor concessions.

Exemption Raised

For example, the exemption from the special 5-per-cent tax on investment income will be increased from $1,500 to $2,400 while the period for which relief on unpaid taxes accrues while land sold under seized lien will be reduced from 20 to 12 months.

The special allowance of $500 off the income of blind persons will be increased to $1,000 and refined to a bed or a wheel-chair for disabled persons. Home allowance will be extended to include the cost of a guide-dog.

Generally, under the new, lowered income-tax rates, three-quarters of Canadians still likely will pay no more than 15 per cent of their taxable income, with the net income-tax cuts average 32 per cent.

The budget speech contained no new tariff changes, but Mr. Abbott announced that the tariff concessions granted last year on imports of British cotton, linen and rayon piece goods will not be extended beyond the end of this year. This may mean an increase in the retail price of these goods.

WAS UNLUCKY

Mt. Sterling, Ill., March 3 — (CP)— Leo Redmond, 31, died Tuesday night of a bullet wound in the head, another victim of "Russian Roulette." Police said he was killed after he put one shell in the chamber of a revolver, spun the cylinder, placed it to his head and pulled the trigger. The gun went off.

Forecasts Deficit In Nfld. Union

Ottawa — (CP) — The Federal Government probably will spend more than $50,000,000 in Newfoundland during the first year of union, Finance Minister Abbott said in his budget speech.

The total special estimates will be introduced later to provide for expenditures in Newfoundland and Labrador, Mr. Abbott said, "probably exceed $50,000,000."

The estimates will cover family allowances, old-age pensions, hospital grants and other payments which normally go to the provinces as well as the $2,000,000 provided for the completion of union is March 31.

It has been estimated that the Federal Government will take in from the island $27,000,000 in revenues in Newfoundland. This leaves it with an apparent deficit of $23,000,000 on the first year's operations.

OUTSTANDING SCIENTIST DIED

East Orange, N.J., March 23— (AP)— Dr. Harvey C. Rentschler of Orange, a outstanding physicists in the United States, died early today after a three-month illness.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 23 — (CP) Prices crawled along in light trading on Toronto Stock Exchange today as the market largely ignored the budget presented in the House of Commons Monday night. Base metals and western oils tended slightly firmer and golds slipped lower. Some Industrial issues moved narrowly upwards, usually in foods, but key issues were slightly weaker.

Volume for the first three hours was 410,000 shares, about 53,000 shares less than Tuesday's similar period.

Changes were generally held to fractions in the industrials and action showed little travel from a busy opening.

Observers said that the partial elimination of double taxation on company earnings in the budget was largely outweighed by an increase in corporation tax of Margin Electric. A few issues moved on their own but generally trading appeared to ignore the budget.

RAWDON

Taught OSD Pupil Who Won Essay Prize

Rawdon — Mr. E. J. Chard of the River Valley community, near Gilead, is receiving congratulations these days from his many friends in this district.

Mr. Chard is a teacher at the O.S.D. Belleville, and he coached Miss Flora Collins, who won first prize of five hundred dollars on her essay.

This is the 13th annual essay contest sponsored by International Printing Ink and there were over 15,000 competitors from secondary schools in United States and Canada. This is the first time the first prize has been awarded to anyone in Canada.

Mr. Chard coached Miss Clark on the subject matter "Printing and Free Government." He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard at River Valley and he has a brother Richard teaching at Toronto.

Straps Self In Self-Rigged Electric Chair

Arlington, Mass., March 23— (AP)—A spectroscopist, who retired in black pyjamas was executed tonight after he had self-rigged electric chair in the attic of his home.

Medical examiner David C. Dow said John Costa, 21, was a suicide by electrocution.

Police said that Costa strapped himself in the chair before sending a powerful shock through his body.

The mechanical contact was made by rigging electrodes at his neck and feet to a radio set.

Costa's body was snapped on, police said, the full load of electricity passed through his busy opening.

Observers said that the partial elimination of double taxation on company earnings in the budget was largely outweighed by an increase in corporation tax of Margin Electric. A few issues moved on their own but generally trading appeared to ignore the budget.

Well Blows Wild, Catches Fire

Calgary, March 22 — (CP) — Oil well gushed wild today as forces today to combat a flaming natural gas well in the remote Lac La Biche area of northern Alberta.

Central Lac La Biche No. 1, a "wildcat" well about 116 miles northeast of Edmonton, suddenly blew wild Tuesday and immediately caught fire. It is just six miles northeast of Stanolind Lac La Biche No. 1, which has been running wild for the last 10 days. The Stanolind well is not on fire.

IDENTIFIED AS DENNIS' LOOT

Cleveland, March 23 — (AP) — Another $5,800 worth of stolen jewelry was recovered here Monday. The Federal Bureau of Investigation identified it as loot of Gerard Graham Dennis, accused society burglar, from St. Catharines, Ont.

"I went to Keays' home out of curiosity because my name was apparently mentioned in a report Keays was supposed to be making," he said.

Constable Purdy said he had assured Keays that it had been he, Purdy, not Constable Mackay, had gone to the crown attorney to have charges against LeRoy Woods withdrawn.

He admitted being interviewed by Inspector Moss over some report which had been wrong but denied the inspector had asked "why he had been crazy enough to get LeRoy Woods off."

"Inspector Moss may have been thinking that, but he certainly did not say it," said Purdy.

Questions and answers were being fired rapidly back and forth when Commissioner Mackay interrupted to instruct the witness to hold his answer until the question was completed.

At the time the witness was being questioned whether his report on the Woods' accident had been made on Nov. 17 or Nov. 18th.

Keays claimed that despite the inexperience of constables his report appeared to have been made into the file officer with at least five years' experience.

Constable Purdy claimed he had been told by Sergeant Irvine that the Constable Keays pointed out that in his original report to Constable Purdy had stated Woods' accident had been caused when he had been drunk, yet in a later report to the Woods' accident this was not mentioned.

Constable Purdy stated it had been his interpretation following an interview with the crown attorney, Mr. Justice Irvine had left the charges against Woods were not dropped but withdrawn — he had made out the accident report without mentioning charges. Constable Purdy said the evidence in chief stated he had demanded that the charges be preferred with as a man had been deprived of his liberty.

Says Keays "Ordinated"

On Nov. 26th Const. Purdy had written Keays that Irvine had not had been instructed that the charges against Woods were serious and dangerous driving would be proceeded with.

Constable Purdy said Keays had been "outraged" when he had learned Woods' charges were being dropped and had seemed peeved.

Keays, however, pointed out the only commendation received by Purdy as a result of the province's special police had resulted from his (Keays) recommendation.

That does not mean that although Keays was mad at you," suggested Sterling.

Const. Keays then referred to June 7th, 1948, when police car had escorted a Progressive Conservative procession from Belleville to the Old People's Home.

He denied emphatically that a quantity of liquor had been seized in the car and that he had always gave the impression he was engaged in great and heavy business.

As result of Constable Keays' memorandum to Inspector Moss he did not receive the necessary information with respect to the Woods' accident, said Keays to Constable Irvine.

"I gave the reason you wished to have the charges against Woods withdrawn was that you would avoid defence counsel would make a fool of you at the trial" said Keays.

"That is right," was the reply.

It was brought out by Mr. Robb there were no charges laid against the step on the part of Crown Attorney Irvine. Constable Purdy said Constable Irvine to have the charges against Woods withdrawn.

This had been merely an assumption made by the Constable due to the indulgence of the Crown. Accordingly Constable Purdy had made out a report in which no charge was mentioned. The constable stated he had never heard of a motion to withdraw charge which had been withdrawn by the Crown Attorney without it going before the magistrate.

Budget Highlights

No extension beyond July 1, 1949, of tariff concessions on British cotton and rayon piece goods.

Minor additions to sales tax exemption include malt syrup, lactose and off-the-highway vehicles.

Tax on train berths and parlor-car seats (various rates) repealed immediately.

Taxes on long-distance calls, extension telephones, telegrams and cables (various rates) repealed immediately.

Five per cent tax on buses repealed immediately.

Tax on carbonic acid gas (50 cent sa pound) repealed immediately.

New relaxations in emergency import controls announced — effective April 1.

Principal import relaxation takes form of general increase in import quotas of broad list of goods.

Import restrictions lifted entirely from certain items, including lumber, paints, varnishes and lacquers and mirrors.

Credit of 10 per cent of amount of dividends received on common shares will be allowed against personal income tax of shareholder.

Present three-year carry-forward of corporate losses for tax purposes to be extended to five-year period.

Tax on first $10,000 of corporation income reduced from 30 to 10 per cent; rate on income over $10,000 increased from 20 to 33 per cent.

All corporation-tax changes effective Jan. 1, 1949.

"Backlog" Policy of Delaying Public Works Will be Continued by Govt.

Ottawa, (CP)—The Federal government probably will continue this year its 'backlog' policy of postponing public works projects unless relieves unemployment in depression times. The second consists of postponing all construction work under the control of the government which can be postponed, except in areas where there may be some local unemployment.

Mr. Abbott touched only on the latter phase of the plan.

The Finance Minister said the prospective amount of capital expenditure on construction and machinery and equipment, compiled before the present export level, "appears likely to be sufficient to sustain income and employment this year at around their current levels.

Thinks Increase In Corporation Tax Unjustified

Toronto, March 23 (CP)— Ontario Provincial Treasurer Frost termed one of the changes in Federal taxes a "clear invasion" of the provincial tax field.

Mr. Frost welcomed the tax relief given to both individuals and small corporations in the Dominion budget, but he said the increase of three per cent on corporation income over $10,000 was unjustified.

The budget reduced taxes from 30 to 10 per cent on the first $10,000 of corporation earnings and increased it from 20 to 33 per-cent on corporation income over $30,000.

He said the increase was contrary to what the Dominion government promised to the provinces when it agreed to a 30 per cent tax, leaving the provinces only taxes within a range of 10 per cent.

Earnings of Ontario corporations over $10,000 now would be taxed a total of 40 per cent—33 per cent Dominion and seven percent provincial.

"It will only be passed on to the consumer eventually," he said. "If this doesn't happen, it will mean the corporations will have less money to plow back into plant extensions.

Two Sweep Tickets From Same Book Have Drawn Horses

Calgary, March 23 (CP) — Pair of 100-to-one horses were sold to two Calgary residents from the same book of tickets for the Calgary Hospital Sweepstakes have drawn horses.

The lucky ticket holders, who stand a chance of winning the $100,000 grand prize in the sweepstakes are Daniel Weiss and U. A. Wiltse.

Two other persons are known to hold tickets that have drawn horses. They are Gordon Craig of Calgary and Mrs. Mary Christensen of Delburne, Alta.

There are no changes in the general eight-per-cent sales tax or the levies on postage, succession duties, tobacco or liquor.

An embryonic platter of applause, with a mingling of approval from the opposition benches, greeted Mr. Abbott's hour delivery of the 18,000-word budget speech which deepened his voice at times.

Parliamentary observers agreed this was an election-year budget patterned to meet the demands of the voters and they got support from C. M. Macdonald (Liberal, Muskoka — Ontario), opposition financial critic, and other Commons following Mr. Abbott's address that it was nothing more than a "bribery budget."

$87,960,000 Surplus

Mr. Abbott himself told the Chamber he was budgetting for a surplus of $87,000,000—against $173,000,000 last year — and that the revenue — loss to the government through tax relief would be $369,000,000. His advisers said later this was the highest in history for any five-year, would have eliminated the entire government revenue.

And, in his speech, the debonair minister said this was the period "to put our financial affairs in order" by general reductions in corporation and personal taxes. "The time is there is, as I have already said, some opportunity to satisfy increased expenditures by consumers."

Future Cuts Hinted

Then, in a possible hint of future cuts, Mr. Abbott added, he said:

"It cannot complete this year all those improvements in the form and nature of our tax laws that we should like to make this year, but we can carry them a long way forward."

Mr. Abbott coupled with the budget the announcement of a further modification of the government's emergency, dollar-saving import controls, leading to lifting of price ceilings on a number of items which still kept under control.

The import relaxations cover such things as lumber, paints, varnishes, lacquers and mirrors while the price ceilings go such butter, bread, flour, sugar and shortening, honey, celery, lettuce, onions, spinach and tomatoes. No change in rationing controls except possible in the price of bread. The government subsidy would be raised when the price also is being withdrawn.

Immediate Relief

Mr. Abbott's tax relief for the year 1949 is provided by repeal of the income-tax rolls is immediate, effective April 1, being designed to stop pay-cheque deductions immediately. Refunds covering the period Jan. 1 to March 31 to payers have paid in tax since Jan. 1 will be made by the government "as soon as possible."

For those who must continue to contribute from their pay cheques weekly or monthly, as the case may be, the budget speech will go into effect within the next month or two, and the relief will be in operation before April 30. They will get credit for what they have "overpaid" since Jan. 1 when they file their tax returns next year.

Mr. Abbott, presenting his third budget since he became finance minister, said the chief member he was estimating 1948-49 revenues at $2,750,000,000 and expenditures at $2,390,000,000. As for the annual revenue-losses through tax changes he listed them as follows:

Personal income tax—increased exemptions and reduced rates $200,000,000; credit for dividends $12,000,000; excise taxes repealed $79,000,000; excise taxes reduced $1,000,000.

To a minor degree, these losses in taxpayer to the federal treasury of $12,000,000 through the new corporate tax structure.

Rate Increased

This provided that the tax on the first $10,000 of corporation income would be reduced from 30 per cent to 10 per cent, but that the rate on income totalling more than $10,000 will be increased from 20 per cent to 33 per cent. A credit of 10 per cent of the amount of dividends received will be allowed against the personal income tax of a common shareholder.

In addition, the present three-year carry-forward of corporate losses for tax purposes is being extended to five years.

For mining, oil and gas companies, Mr. Abbott extended through to the end of 1952 the present tax allowances for mining, oil and gas exploration expenses and extended through to the end of 1950 credit for deep-test wells. The three-year exemption for new mines is carried forward to include mines coming into production in 1950, 1951 and 1952.

In smaller tax fields, Mr. Abbott repealed both the special 5-per cent levy on the manufacturer's selling price of buses and the tax — 50 cents a pound — on carbonic acid gas. Taxes on matches, now at varying rates, will be replaced by a straight 10-per-cent levy while minor additions to the sales-tax exemptions include malt syrup, lactose and off-the-highway vehicles.

In the income-tax field, Mr. Abbott made a number of minor concessions.

Exemption Raised

For example, the exemption from tax on interest paid by a person on investment income will be increased from $600 to $1,200 while the period for which interest on unpaid taxes accrues while a taxpayer is in the armed forces will be reduced from 20 to 12 months.

The special allowance of $500 off the income tax of veterans who will be extended to those confined to a bed or a wheel-chair while the exemption for dependance will be extended to include the cost of a wheel-chair.

Generally, under the new, low-rate income tax structure, three-quarters of those still liable will pay no more than 15 per cent of the taxable income and 90 per cent income-tax cuts average 22 per cent.

The budget speech contained no reference to United Kingdom dollar pound that the tariff concessions granted last year on imports of United Kingdom cotton and rayon piece goods will not be extended beyond July 1 this year. This may mean an increase in the retail price of these goods.

WAS UNLUCKY

Mt. Sterling, Ill., March 3 (CP)— Leo Redmond, 19, died Tuesday night of a bullet wound in the head, another victim of "Russian Roulette." Police said he was killed after he put one shell in the chamber of a revolver, spun the cylinder, placed it to his head and pulled the trigger. The gun went off.

Abbott Says Federal Govt. Constantly Seeking Ways To Improve D-P Relations

Ottawa, (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said in his budget speech that the present government "yields to no one in its desire to co-operate with the provinces."

"This government yields to no one in its desire to protect their rights and keep them financially strong and independent, he said. "It yields to no one in its desire to co-operate with them in the field of constructive partnership which will enable all governments to tackle and solve the complicated problems of today and give to the Canadian people the measure of peace, prosperity and happiness they have a right to expect.

Spirit of Co-operation

"In this search for co-operation, it will not be pettiness of spirit nor false price for undue emphasis on any financial arrangement, understanding and constructive results. We will constantly bear in mind our ways of tackling mutual problems in a co-operating practical solutions."

The taxation agreements with all provinces except Ontario and Quebec expire by ordering the third of the five fiscal years covered by the agreement.

"It would be unfair under which the provinces rented the personal income-tax field to the Dominion in return for a lump sum annual payment, to contribute to the strength and independence of the provincial governments.

"It is a travesty to suggest, as has been done so many times in this House in recent weeks, that they have weakened provincial autonomy or created an undue degree of centralization in the country," he said.

The agreements were business-like arrangements, subject to renegotiation at least a year before their termination date, and they did not "involve the element of dependence on the receipt of one jot or tittle of constitutional power."

Some critics of the government had said the provincial governments should be paid flat-rate subsidies rather than the rentals, based on the proportion and value of the gross national production. Early Subsidies Large

Fiscal-need subsidies would involve the provincial governments to "come hat in hand to the federal government and plead for additional grants on the basis of need rather than of right."

Mr. Abbott pointed that in the early years of Confederation federal subsidies made up as much as 77 per cent of the ordinary revenues of the original provinces. The amounts derived from the tax rentals and federal subsidies now accounted only 30 per cent of provincial revenues.

"If you measure that by the test, it is amply clear that we have far less centralization and far more on the basis of subsidies than the Fathers of Confederation had in mind," he said and provided for in making Canada," said Mr. Abbott.

Fats, Cheese, Chocolate off Ration List in Maine-Et-Loire Dept. Despite Attitude of Government

Angers, France, March 23 — (AP)—Eats, cheese and chocolate go off the ration list in the Maine-et-Loire department today — whether French government likes it or not.

Grocers and food dealers in the area have decided to give up asking for ration tickets for these foods, ignoring wanning government rationing authorities.

The Maine-et-Loire department of which Angers is the capital has a population of some 475,000.

Bakers in many French departments started the move last fall when they'd sold bread without tickets, the government finally decided to go along and take bread off the ration.

Similar action now are being urged for dairy products. Meanwhile, the government also is planning to remove them from ration before summer.

Forecasts Deficit In Nfld. Union

Ottawa — (CP) — The Federal Government probably will spend more than $50,000,000 in Newfoundland during the first year of union, Finance Minister Abbott said in his budget speech.

The $50 special estimates will be introduced later to provide for expenditures in Newfoundland and he estimated they will "probably exceed $50,000,000."

In the province's new family allowances, old-age pensions, hospitalization and veterans' payments which normally go to the provinces, as the first year's installment of $5,000,000 in federal grants-in-aid to the province for that first for the completion of union is March 31.

It has been estimated that the Federal Government will be able to raise $27,000,000 revenue in Newfoundland. This would leave a net deficit of $23,000,000 on the first year's operations.

PROGRESS

One of the most unique and unusual works of reference is being produced in Britain, a dictionary of colors for interior decoration, the first of its kind ever to be published. Behind it stands the British Color Council as sponsor.

Many know a great deal about color and some think there are not so many colors after all but this dictionary would soon correct that idea. It contains standard specimens of 378 different colors, illustrated on both plain and matt surfaces as well as on pile fabric.

Well might the seven years put into the work be considered a short enough time for what is being achieved with this undertaking.

Modern science is exploring untold numbers of wide fields which would have been uncultivated but for the progress of discovery and invention. A second British achievement is the invention of a young English hospital attendant — a surgical knife which saves blood, returning it to the patient's body automatically and immediately. The new surgeon's knife as it cuts draws in the flowing blood, purifies it and pumps it back into the veins of the patient.

In these two stories of science is observed evidence of its progress in its various fields, in the one case, the artistic, the other having to do with healing of the ills of man.

POSSIBILITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Canada, with its east and west washed by the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, its north bounded by the frigid polar seas and its south bounded by considerable stretches of lake and a friendly neighbor, is by its natural envelopment certain to be a nation with a vast trade.

Our forbears could little have foreseen all this just as we find our vision limited and unable to penetrate the future. But they had and we must have faith. The growth in the past few years gives a hint of the advance which lies ahead.

This country bears all the signs of development which only happen to a country fairly young as far as years and generations go. Like the United States, Canada was hidden behind the veil until the time of ripeness arrived and Columbus and Cabot came to reveal the coming new world with immense possibilities, a great many of which have been achieved already.

ROOM FOR EXPANSION

Possibilities in the Atlantic Pact are pointed to in the speech by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain who called it "not, on occasion" when he rose a few days ago in the British House. He said that the North Atlantic Pact "obviously cannot be extended to cover all parts of the world, nevertheless the area from Greece to Persia includes many countries with whom we have special long-standing relationships. The maintenance of their independence and integrity remains of vital concern and we believe the signature of the Northern Atlantic Pact will reinforce general security." He went on to make special references to Greece and Turkey, the one he called "our ally" and the other "our old faithful friend." These are receiving British assistance and are making progress in defending their independence and integrity. He stated that "our actions in supporting that independence and integrity are clear expressions of our interest in the security of those countries and represent a policy we shall continue to pursue."

That the purpose of the Atlantic Pact is to make a real beginning on the widest possible basis of collective security in its true sense he stated and expressed the hope that political conditions may become such that this collective security system may if an understanding can be arrived at expand to cover the whole world."

That is the ideal towards which the nations of the new Pact look. Mr. Bevin brought out the significant fact that this might be the first occasion the United States of America has ever felt able to contemplate entering into peacetime commitments for joint defence with Europe. Hence the undertaking is one of paramount importance, it is one of the most famous historical undertakings made "in common with the rest of us."

The world of free nations who enter this undertaking do so in the hope and expectation that the step will bring that security and harmony for the common civilization of the democratic peoples "for many generations to come."

PERSONALITY

Can these be taught or do they spring
From something heritage must bring:
The merry twinkle in the eye
Assuring friendliness is nigh;
The warmth within the welcoming hand
That all can feel and understand
Which speaks a language, clearer far
Than words, how'er polite they are?

I often wonder how and why
So many pass their fellows by
As if indifferent to them all,
Leaving no memory to recall.
Merely the nod of greeting, then
Back to their own affairs again.
Of friendship not the slightest show,
To be forgotten when they go.

Early to train the mind we start,
But what about the human heart?
Can hearts be tutored to reveal
What others must be left to feel?
And, is there any way to teach
The art of that unspoken speech
Which, at the briefest meeting's end,
Changes a stranger to a friend?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SPORTS

I would be the last man to discourage any kind of genuine, healthy, and invigorating sport. I like them all — except the ones that kill or maim as their objective. And I refer to the killing of birds and animals — just for sport.

I recently read that in Nova Scotia alone, during the years of 1947 and 1948, over 6000 deer were slaughtered. And for the last 29 years of open season the total number of moose killed was over 22,000. Last year in this same Province 1,400 moose were killed.

Why such wanton slaughter? How long will these beautiful animals last if they face such a barrage? Some will argue that they are pests and destructive. In some cases they are, but that is no reason for exterminating these inhabitants of the wild.

When I was a boy the gentle and dignified passenger pigeon was being wiped out by very scarce. By 1914 there was not one in all the country, in 1869 a flock of them near Kentucky was estimated to contain 2,230,000,000 birds. They flew at a great height in columns said to be 150 miles in length. When they rested they covered 40 or more acres and were very destructive. Hunters so were killed without mercy, all manner of means being used to slay them out. Well, they got them. They are no more. The last bird in the world in the Zoological Gardens at Cincinnati.

A great protector of the wild life on this continent was Jack Miner at his bird sanctuary at Kingsville from Windsor, Ontario. He loved birds, as he loved human beings. Thousands of ducks and geese visit his great acres for safety, food and hospital service. Jack is no more, excepting in spirit, but his great work is being carried on by his sons.

When I last visited this Jack Miner sanctuary I saw a great barrel of aluminum tags that had been taken from the legs of birds that were placed there by this group of bird lovers. Each had on it a brief line of scripture, and the tags had come from all over the North American continent. Genuine sport lovers, who never wantonly kill, own a debt to Jack Miner and his sons, they will never be able to pay! Hudson would have loved Jack Miner.

Focal infection was pretty popular twenty years ago. The theory of that time was that disease-producing germs, such as the staphylococci, Pneumococci or Streptococci first gain a foothold in some part of the body, particularly in the tonsils, in the tonsils, in the gums or in or about the teeth, and from where they multiply rapidly and keep in fine condition, until some fine day they achieve a break through, invade lymphatic channels or the blood stream, and travel through the circulation to some distant part of the body — say the lining of one or more joints — where they lodge and ramify, and establish a focus and the host develops rheumatism or arthritis.

For years the dentists seemed avenly divided. About as many urged immediate extraction of pulpless teeth as advised retaining them. Until infection makes the teeth useless or threatens to impair general health, in the past decade, however, the radicals have been poping down, as it seems to me, and the conservatives have been keeping more pulpless teeth in service. This wiser practice has come about, perhaps, as a natural consequence of the common sense or sanity in medicine—medical charlatans are not so much in evidence as in the mouth of a patient or no particular importance and ordinarily to be trusted to look after all his or her teeth pulled. Selfrespecting dentists do not seem ready to perpetuate the atrocity either.

Only a woman writes like a well educated person that her dentist "pulls all of beautiful teeth, recently had one tooth extracted because of gingivitis (gum inflammation). Now the dentist says the man had pyorrhea. I am puzzled. Do the radicals advises immediate extraction of all teeth. Or is there is anything you suggest.

As some readers know, I appraise women on the basis of beauty useful tooth, natural or artificial, as not less than $1000. teeth until recently when, for some unexplained reason the gums around my tooth become irritated, infected, inflamed, or strep- and the dentist applied real- tal treatment.

Since I have been sounding off about teeth and dentistry scores of dentists have told me how wrong I am about the nature, cause, prevention and treatment of pyorrhea. Some of these gentlemen, having rebuked me for my temerity, ignorance, or stupidity, facts of life to me, each accompanying to his own favorite concept of pyorrhea. The multiplicity of theories set forth with that exasperating air of self-assurance would be ludicrous were it not

For the great importance of the teeth in building and maintaining health, beauty, happiness, vita, longevity and life itself.

No, Ma'am, I don't offer specific advice, remedy or suggestion for your husband's trouble, whatever it may be. But I do say it can do no harm for you, your husband or any one else whose teeth be confronted with the prospect of artificiality, to get a dentist to read a little book called Save Your Teeth by a well known Virginia physician. For 25c my send twenty-five cents and stamped self-addressed envelope. This booklet has a page or two about pyorrhea alveolaris (Riggs' disease, interstitial gingivitis) — which is as much consideration as the condition merits in my case. I mean to say that pyorrhea is not a distinct disease but rest the more noticeable manifestations of physical degeneration.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Education for Girls

Do you approves of physical education for girls in high school? Also competitive sports such as basketball? (Miss M. A.)

Answer—Physical ed, including gymnasium classes and swimming should be compulsory for girls. Competitive sports — the mere fact that she is a young female debars her entirely from these regular classes. Basketball and other competitive sports are screen sports and schools come to college and fail to pass the public, are fine for high school girls.

Peroxide and the Teeth

I brush my teth with peroxide daily. Is this harmful? Will this do any harm? (Mrs. W. H. L.)

Answer—A good dentist says an occasional brushing with peroxide is harmless but daily use of it may injure the enamel.

Ten Dollars?

I am subject to sore throat. Had my throat examined by a specialist. He said I have fartingitis. What can I do for it? (Mrs. J. C. B. C. H.)

Answer—Pharyngitis is a ten dollar word for sore throat. The specialist told you what you told him. I suggest that you consult a physician next time.

Too Much Acid

Have you any pamphlet dealing with too much acid in the system? Sister has history of stomach ulcers. (Mrs. E. C.)

Answer—I don't know what too much acid in the system would be. Send stamped self addressed envelope for pamphlet Yankee Secrets on Acid Control and Digestion.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

It is so easy to let somebody else feel your superiority. Sense. Small expense. For instance, in traffic, when you come to a traffic light and you are first in line.

Alongside, quietly sneaks another car; maybe on the outside of you, maybe, wrongly, on the inside.

Just before the warning light comes on, there in your neighbor driver a quiet alertness. Maybe he accelerates his engine . . .

He wants to beat you. He intends to beat you. A trivial little contest that goes on all day, all night, all the world over, wherever men drive cars is about to take place. Because you were first in line, you feel you have the right to lead the procession when the jump comes with the green light.

The light blinks green. You tramp on the gas. You leap forward in front of the driver you leaps too. You shift gears. You speed. You, deliberately, you let your rival take the lead . . .

You have let him feel good. He doesn't know it. He thinks he has beaten you. He gets a small glow from it, especially if he is an old crock and your car is a smart new one. You may have the better car, he thinks, but he is the better driver . . .

Seldom if ever do we do this.

The normal thing is for the man with too much acid in the system to take the lead by force and with a touch of arrogance of self-esteem and ego. It is we who must feel good. Even in so tiny a matter as this commonplace incident in traffic, we must assert our superiority, feel well, not the other fellow.

Yet so amusing and mellowing is it to kid the other fellow into thinking he is good that it is worth a millionth of it, so don't practise the trick all day, every day, rather than the opposite.

For the weird fact is that by making the other fellow feel good, you make yourself feel better.

Better than he, that is.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

SPARKLING WHITE FUEL SAVER!

If you want to make your basement look neat and attractive — and save fuel at the same time — you'll be interested in a new Johns-Manville product called White Finish Asbestocel.

Asbestocel is an improved insulation for heavy and range boilers. It is sparkling white and cleans easily. Dirt and stains come off with a damp cloth. This good looking insulation does not shrink, will not pull apart at the joints, and you know it's fireproof because it is made from asbestos.

Not only is Asbestocel attractive but it saves many times its cost in fuel. It can cut your fuel needs up to 10 per cent every year. For complete details on J-M Asbestocel, write Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto, or see your nearest plumbing and heating contractor.

Confederation Bill Requires Now Only Royal Assent

London, March 23 (CP)—The House of Lords Tuesday gave third reading to a bill containing authorization for the Confederation of Canada and Newfoundland.

The bill already has been passed by the House of Commons and now needs only the royal assent to become law.

The measure is known as the British North America Bill. Newfoundland is due to enter Canada as a tenth province March 31.

Zoo Animals Scant as Oysters Collection Valued at $350,852

By SHAUN McGULLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London March 23 (CP) —Giraffes, pythons and similar pets are as scant in London as apartments and oysters, and the cost is no better.

But there's no clamor to buy what's not there, although the jungle stock exchange has slapped a few points since assessors last ranged Regent's Park zoo.

Stocktaking there is an annual event. This year evaluation covered 300 species of mammals, 420 of birds, 200 of reptiles and amphibians, and 150 of fish.

The collection was evaluated at £98,713 ($350,852) compared with £117,833 a year ago.

As in most other trades, valuation of zoo stock is based mainly on supply and demand. That's one reason given for the slump.

At the moment rhinos and hippopotami are a bit expensive at "a cool two thou each," as Edwardian Bloods once nonchalantly murmured.

Said a zoo official:

"We assess the zoo stock for our own amusement. Naturally, we get hordes of cranks who tell us how we should look after the animals, but nobody has offered to buy them.

"If they did, it would cost them a packet. Take a rhinoceros. It would cost £2,000 in the trade but actually £3,000 would have to be spent on a special house before it could be taken away."

Down in the lower branches a white jacketed penguin rates £75 while a king penguin is a roosty £200.

Further down electric eels are worth £23; gudgeons is 6d, and common frogs and toads are yours for three pence.

NEW PHILOSOPHY OF EDUCATION

Get ready for a great shock. Do you realize that practically every college in this country finds it necessary to test its entering students in order to discover whether or not they can read adequately? Sometimes students who have had high standing in high schools and program of school come to college and fail to pass the reading test.

Bewildered by this situation, I asked some educators recently if this really meant that these boys and girls could not read's newspaper. They declared that sometimes very bright students could not read a news article with any degree of satisfaction. It appears that the progressive educational methods have rendered pupils-tudes of young people in this generation— and very often unusually bright young people—practically unable to read the English language with understanding and enjoyment. There are many young people who cannot look up a word in a dictionary because they do not know the order of the letters in the alphabet. Others cannot file papers because of a similar lack of knowledge.

Certainly the young people are not at fault in this situation, but this should awake to the realization that a new kind of educational philosophy has been in the past thirty years during which declares that a child must be led, never driven. The result is that frequently pupils not only do not learn to read; they do not learn to live, for there is a lot of drive in life and a lot of discipline.

$575,000,000 FEDERAL SURPLUS FOR 1948—49

Abbott Does Not Expect Increase In Cost of Living

Post-War Price Inflation Appears to Have Ended

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa (CP)—A surplus of $575,000,000 for the 1948-49 fiscal year was reported Tuesday night by Finance Minister Abbott in his budget speech to the Commons.

This compared with a surplus of $670,000,000 for 1947-48 and of $275,000,000 for 1946-47, when a string of 11 consecutive deficits, caused by the 1930-35 depression and the Second World War, was broken.

Revenues for the 1948-49 year, which ends March 31, were estimated at $2,768,000,000 and expenditures at $2,193,000,000. In the previous year revenues were $2,809,000,000 and expenditures $2,139,000,000.

Mr. Abbott gave the figures in the fiscal portion of his speech, which preceded the section containing proposed tax changes for the coming year.

If no tax changes were made in 1949-50, he estimated revenues would total $2,800,000,000 and expenditures $2,390,000,000, leaving a surplus of $410,000,000.

Other Points Outlined

Mr. Abbott made these other points:

1. The post-war price inflation appears to have run its course.

2. Canadians are unlikely to see any significant increase in the cost of living this year.

3. He does not expect in the near future any serious decline in the main high level of expenditures in North America, on which Canada's current prosperity is based.

4. Canada's reserves of gold and United States dollars now totals about $1,065,000,000, compared with a low of $502,000,000 in December, 1947.

5. In the search for co-operation with the provinces, the Federal Government will not let pettiness of spirit nor false pride nor tender emotions on purely financial questions stand in the way of mutual understanding and constructive results.

6. The surplus reduced the country's net debt to $11,800,000,000; the funded debt is $15,800,000,000.

7. Federal expenditures in Newfoundland during the coming year will total more than $50,000,000.

Close Examining

Mr. Abbott recalled that in his budget speech a year ago he had forecast a surplus of $482,000,000. While revenues had been $36,000,000 greater than he estimated, expenditures were within one per cent of the estimate.

Direct taxes, which include personal and corporate income taxes, the excess profits tax and succession duties yielded $1,369,000,000, or $51,000,000 greater than a year ago. They accounted for 56 per cent of the total tax revenues.

Indirect taxes, which include all customs and excise taxes, yielded $1,070,000,000, or $63,000,000 less than a year ago.

"The greater yield in direct taxes is a reflection of higher incomes and profits," said Mr. Abbott. "The decrease in indirect taxes is the result of the lower rates of duty under the trade agreements and the restriction of imports under the emergency-exchange conservation act and the removal a year ago of the armaments tax, the sales tax on prepared and packaged foods, and certain other indirect taxes."

Post Office Revenue Up

Non-tax revenues from the post office and revenues from investments totalled $316,000,000, or $31,000,000 greater than last year. Special receipts and credits, chiefly sales of surplus war assets and sundry refunds, amounted to $117,000,000. This was $135,000,000 less than a year ago.

On the expenditure side the principal decrease was $229,000,000 in demobilization, reconversion and defence expenditures. This decrease was almost balanced by increases of $203,000,000 in ordinary expenditures and $21,000,000 in the debt charges of government-owned enterprises.

Mr. Abbott said if amounts which could not be classed either as revenue or expenditure were taken into account $778,000,000 was available during the year for cash outlays.

Of this amount, $450,000,000 was advanced to the foreign-exchange control board by Canada. This increase in gold and United States dollar reserves, and $57,000,000 was loaned to the United Kingdom and other countries to finance purchases of Canadian products.

Loans and Investments

"Then we made loans and investments in Canada to the amount of $69,000,000, $71,000,000 of which were advanced to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for housing construction and housing loans," said Mr. Abbott.

"The total for all these loans, investments and advances is $396,000,000,—and when you deduct that from the $778,000,000 of cash available you get a cash surplus of $182,000,000.

"To this cash surplus were added $234,000,000 resulting from sales of securities from our sinking fund investment account. The resulting $406,000,000 we used to make a net reduction in our funded debt, and the remaining $54,000,000 served to increase our cash balances."

The greater part of the reduction in the funded debt resulted from the repaying of approximately $250,000,000 in refundable portions of the personal income taxes of 1943 and 1944, and the refundable portion of the excess profits taxes of 1943.

Defends Policy

Mr. Abbott again defended his policy of budgeting for a surplus in times of prosperity.

"I think most Canadians will regard the policy we have followed as one of simple common sense," he said. "Yet some honorable members opposite have insisted that we should have less prudent, that we should not have attempted to reduce our debt this year, that we should have borrowed to pay off refundable taxes or to finance the increase in our cash balances.

"While arguing that taxes should have been drastically lower, they have also been urging higher and higher expenditures on a bewildering variety of projects.

"I ask myself how anyone can take as serious and responsible criticisms of this kind. They ask us to believe that the people of Canada would have been better off this past year had taxes been substantially lower, and our debt substantially higher.

"This is not the case. Large tax reductions last year would have come too early, to be of real value to the public as a whole, because public expenditures, even without reductions, was large enough to buy everything available—and there was still too large, and buying pressure forced up the cost of living. Lower income taxes in 1948 would have meant a higher cost of living."

Supplies Improve

The improvement in consumer supplies, he said, has brought a welcome halt to the increase in the cost of living. The index of living costs had remained almost constant since September. Decreases in food costs had offset slight increases in other items.

"Some further increases may occur in a few items," he said. "But I think we are unlikely to see any significant increase in the cost of living this year—unless, of course, there are crop failures—and it is quite possible that there may be some decreases.

"Prediction is a world- so full of uncertainties must always be hazardous, but there is a wide measure of agreement both here and abroad that, barring the three major catastrophes of war, crop failure and widespread industrial work stoppages, the post-war price inflation has come to an end. .

Mr. Abbott reviewed Canada's trade position and said the debit balance with the United States has been reduced by $650,000,000, and the credit balance with all other countries has gone down by $400,000,000, leaving a net increase in the Dominion's over-all credit balance of $235,000,000.

Budget Fiscal Highlights

Ottawa (CP)—Highlights of the fiscal portion of Finance Minister Abbott's budget speech:

Estimated surplus of $575,000,000 for the 1948-49 fiscal year, compared with $670,000,000 for 1947-48.

Total revenue for year estimated at $2,768,000,000, a decrease of $101,000,000.

Total expenditures estimated at $2,193,000,000, a decrease of $6,000,000.

Estimated net debt at end of fiscal year $11,800,000,000, down $575,000,000.

Canada's reserves of gold and United States dollars now at $1,065,000,000 against a low of $502,000,000 in December, 1947.

* * *

Post war inflation appears to have "run its course" and the government believes it "quite possible" there may be some decline in cost of living this year. Prices of some commodities may be down a little.

* * *

Goverment expects "something like" the present level of employment and income will continue throughout coming year.

Net Debt Shows Big Reduction

Ottawa (CP)— The term "national debt" seems to be disappearing from budget speeches. In his budget financial review in the Commons Finance Minister Abbott referred to the "net debt" and "funded debt."

Canada's total liabilities were shown as $16,647,000,000. That is the entire amount of money the Dominion treasury is obligated to pay in the event of instant liquidation.

Of that amount $13,585,000,000 is in government bonds and that is the "funded debt."

Against the "total liabilities" the treasury holds "active assets" such as cash, working capital in departments, loans and advances, investments, provincial debt accounts, deferred charges and sundries, amounting to $5,150,500,000.

Taking those active assets from total liabilities leaves what Mr. Abbott calls the "net debt" which is $11,796,000,000. All these figures are estimates of the standing at March 31, 1949.

Savings Bond Sales At a Higher Level

Ottawa, (CP)—Sales of the third series of Canada Savings Bonds, offered to the public last October, total $248,000,000 to date, Finance Minister Abbott reported in his budget speech to the Commons.

This compares with total sales of $288,000,000 in the second series offered a year previously.

Lipstick, Powder Puffs, Candy Will be Cheaper

BY KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 23. (CP)—Yes, girls, Mr. Abbott's budgetary sun shines on you also. It means lower prices for earrings, purses, lipstick, rouge, powder and a box of chocolates. It offers a weapon against that beast who's been saying the reason he didn't give you jewelry was because it costs too much.

Earrings which have been going for $1.25 a pair, now should be on sale at $1.10. Chrysler's what a drop from a 22 to a 10-percent excise tax means.

And if you have had an eye on an expensive purse to match Easter outfit, you can afford a second look at the price-tag. If it was $25 Tuesday, you should be able to buy it for around $21 today.

Powder which once sold for $2.50, now should go for around $2.20 lipsticks, once $1, should sell at 85 cents.

If you like candy, you will be able to buy more for less. A box of chocolates which formerly sold for $1 now should go for around 70 cents—unless the manufacturer decides to increase the price.

If you smoke you won't be able to make cigaret money stretch any further. The sales tax remains on all cigarets although cigaret lighters and ash-trays should stow a drop in price.

The government has lifted price ceilings on flour and bread. That could mean a further increase in the 13-cent loaf. Lifting of ceilings on canned fruits and vegetables may cause a change in prices.

While there are large stocks of this food in Canada "and no overall price increase is expected, what will happen to the family grocery-bill should these stocks become depleted.

Women's Activities

BETHANY W.M.S.-W.A.

The March meeting of Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. R. Ritz on Wednesday, with 13 members and five visitors present. During the day a quilt was quilted. At 2.30 the W.M.S. meeting was held.

Reports were given and business dealt with. It was decided to have a pie social in the church on Thursday, March 31. Mrs. S. Cooley offered her home for the next meeting. The roll call is to be answered with a Bible verse pertaining to "Easter". Mrs. Douglas Tummon will be in charge of the program.

The theme of the worship service "Thy Kingdom Come" was in charge of the president, Mrs. W. Casey, following the suggested program in the Missionary Monthly.

Mrs. Horace Casey, group leader, opened her part of the meeting with the hymn, "O Spirit of the Living God". A reading was given by Mrs. J. Ritz, also a Temperance reading by Mrs. R. Ritz, entitled "The Day of Miracles is Not Past". Mrs. G. Kerr favored with a solo "O Touch the Hem of His Garment". Casey, "Which Are You?" followed by a Christian Stewardship reading "A Parable Comes Alive", by Mrs. C. Ritz.

Spring Hats

A cloche and a sailor

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A cloche and a sailor.

HERE ARE TWO hats with which to greet the Spring. We start off with a young and pert little cloche of soft violet straw faced in purple velvet. Matching velvet is used for the string band that ties in a bow in back. On one side a violet stem flaunts a mauve pink flower. Yellow rough straw is the material of this ever-welcome sailor that typifies the new millinery. The rust brown veil is draped over the flat crown and ties under the chin and makes a simple but effective trim.

RHEUMATIC PAINS, STIFFNESS

Don't suffer the stabbing torture of rheumatic pains another day. Use Buckley's Painless White Rub. Its 7 medicated oils must penetrate faster . . . bring quicker relief or double your money back. 30c and 50c.

Flower Caps for Spring

By PRUNELLA WOOD

IT IS ALWAYS a good feminine move to top one's Spring hat with posies . . . so much so, that of late we've been keeping our hands in by wearing flower-trimmed Winter hats.

But it seems to this department that the flower-bedecked sailor, above, has a fresh look which should get its picture in the papers just as Spring really comes in. The cap sits well back on the head and is piled high for a tiara effect. A slim whip of gray feathers, premises the model from looking even the least bit like a florist's set piece (or a milliner's) although the entire whimsy is built from pale blue-violets, violet blossoms.

History of Cement Address Given To Optimist Club

"The manufacture of cement is the most complex of all chemical industries," stated Mr. Harry Brown, Chief Chemist of Canada Cement Company's Plant No. 2 in his address to the Optimist Club on Monday night.

He told of the Point Anne plant with its giant rotary kiln, third largest in the world. This kiln has a production capacity of 175,000 tons of cement per year. Presently operating at full blast, with unflagging fires giving temperatures up to 2,600 degrees farhenheit, the kiln is 450 feet in length and 9 feet in diameter. It will be supplemented in June by an equally large kiln and its full complement of machinery. Point Anne will then reach a production of 8,000,000 sacks per year.

Ancients Used Cement

Mr. Brown gave the history of cement manufacture from the everlasting pyramids of Egypt, through the building of Greece and Rome. The master-builders of the Middle Ages felt that their deficiencies in cement making were due to the loss of some Roman secret, but with the revival of scientific freedom in the eighteenth century, the fault was traced to carelessness in chemical preparation and in application.

Portland stone, fore-runner of Portland cement, came into being as a result of the search for an hydraulic lime, needed particularly in the building of lighthouses. Its name was derived from its similarity in appearance to the grey stone of the Portland quarries in the Isle of Wight.

In concluding, Mr. Brown emphasized that, while vast progress in the mechanics of cement manufacture has led to the development of the largest moving machinery in the world, and has made possible the building of our modern age, yet, in the chemistry of cement, many questions are still unanswered, as great a puzzle to chemists of today as to the builders of the pyramids.

Mr. Brown was introduced to the club by Optimist Harold Bashkin, and their appreciation of the address was ably expressed by Optimist Mac Smith. Project chairman Grant Badgley presented his report on a proposed Leonard refrigerator prize contest, and boys' work chairman Roy Robinson announced that the club's annual Boys' Week would be held May 2 to 8.

Children left in bush shack 48 days are seen after being brought to Bancroft to a Children's Aid Receiving Home at Foxboro, north of Belleville. From left, they are: Shirley, Betty Ann, Carol and Rose Turncliffe. All are under 8 years of age. Father Allen Turcliffe, faces charge of non-support.

Concert Assoc. Discusses Need For Second Series

Last Monday evening over 90 persons were entertained at a banquet given by the Belleville Community Concert Association in St. Thomas Parish House. It was given as a gesture of thanks and appreciation for the splendid work by these individuals in obtaining renewals for next season's concerts from all those who had attended the present series of four recitals which will end this April.

Mr. John Deacon, the president of the association for the coming season, introduced to those present the many new officers who are taking over for the next year. Mr. Deacon himself succeeds Mr. Russell Hackborn, the retiring president, while Mrs. W. H. Finkle gives her position as campaign chairman to Mrs. Dorothy Bradley. A comparative newcomer to the city, Mrs. Fr. H. Aspinall will fill the position of secretary, formerly held by Miss Leona Riggs.

250 on Waiting List

Mrs. Bradley thanked all those present for their splendid co-operation in helping her wind up this renewal canvassing so successfully that a campaign for new members was unnecessary, owing to the fact that at present the entire 1040 seats available have been taken up by present members for next season's series of concerts. There is a waiting list now standing of nearly 250, who will be denied these concerts unless a second series can be inaugurated to entertain these music lovers.

The guest of the evening, Miss Mary J. Pollock, travelling representative for Columbia Artists Service of New York explained fully the situation as it stands at present, that it is doubtful if it would be advisable to start this new second series or continue on in the present way for another year until the many necessary details of arranging this new series can be satisfactorily attended to.

Further Discussion Later

Following Miss Pollock's informative talk, an open forum discussion was held so that any present could voice their views, pro and con as to the advisability of either continuing on as before, or inaugurating the new projected series. In this open discussion the problem of receptions for the performing artists was also given serious consideration, and both topics are to be given a thorough hearing before the executive committee in the near future.

Music was supplied by Alec Gordon at the piano, and a vote of thanks was given to Miss Helen Sulman, the convener who arranged and carried out the numerous tasks which culminated in such a successful banquet for one and all.

POPULAR BUDGET

And if it is not possible to have the voting before the end of June expediency dictates that it be put off until October. In July and August great masses of people leave their normal residences for summer resorts. In September great blocks of voters are too busy with the harvest to listen to politicians.

Parliament is due to take a long Easter holiday and Prime Minister St. Laurent plans a trip to the west coast to show himself to the people and get acquainted. It will be his first tour of that scope since he assumed office.

He has fairly well indicated he expects parliament to reconvene after the recess which bars a dissolution in that period.

Mr. Abbott, happy and debonair and obviously delighted that he could present a budget that would please the vast majority, accepted all opposition jibes with good humor.

But many Progressive Conservative members accepted his statements as having a direct bearing on the forthcoming election.

"Who are you kidding?" was one remark when the minister spoke about the benefits brought to the people by the present government.

There was a constant chorus of "election year" from the opposition as the minister unveiled his tax concessions.

Mr. Macdonnell observed that the minister had produced "a lemon in 1946 so he could cut a melon in 1948."

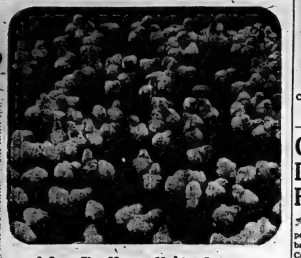
Herb. L. Minard Visitor in City

A noted visitor will be in Belleville for a brief visit on Thursday in the person of Herbert L. Minard. A close observer of Chinese life and politics from the closing months of the Japanese war through the post - war days of reconstruction and civil war, to the present-day high point in Communist advance, Mr. Minard has just returned from China.

He is the guest of the local YMCA under whose auspices he is visiting the city. He will meet with a few interested friends of the Association in the YMCA on Thursday evening to share some of his unusual experiences.



Mr. Minard was responsible for both civilian work and YMCA Army and Navy service in Chungking and Shanghai as well as rehabilitation work in the war-devastated Nanking area. He has gained first-hand insight into the dramatic and tragic events of post-war China.

As an ordained minister he served the civilian population as well as the Army troops. As a Rotarian, he was secretary and chairman of the Program Committee of the Nanking Rotary Club.

In his years in the United States prior to the war, Mr. Minard attained many distinctions. He graduated from Chapman College, Los Angeles, and continued his studies at Drake University and at the University of Southern California where he received his Master's Degree in history and education. For seven years he was editor of one of the leading religious weeklies "The Front Rank" and responsible for young people's literature.

He was honored as president of the National YMCA Young Men's Assembly. He was a delegate to the World Conference of Christian Youth at Amsterdam and to the International Young Men's Conference of the YMCA.

He brings to Belleville a most interesting story and viewpoint on the critical eastern situation.

Hundreds of Volunters In Foreign Legion Turned Away

By CARL HARYMAN

Paris, March 23 — (AP) — Despite serious losses in the Indo-China fighting, French army authorities are turning away hundreds of volunteers for the romantic Foreign Legion.

Most of the volunteers are German, as are some 6,000 of the unit's 20,000 total strength.

"We can take our pick," said the spokesman, a former officer of the Legion who would give all the typewriters in the ministry to get back. "So, we enlist only the best — experienced professionals, technicians and whatever specialists we happen to need."

Appeal to Germans

The professional standards of the Legion have always inspired respect in military-minded Germany. The Legion would include even more Germans, except that the French authorities have decided that it ought not to have more than 30 per cent of any one nationality.

After the Germans, Spaniards are the most numerous in the Legion. Despite its name, the Foreign Legions is not barred to Frenchmen. Contrary to legend, there is only a handful of British and Americans.

Before the Second World War, Czarist Russians were a mainstay of the Legion. Those who were in have been permitted to stay, but no new Russians, either white or red, are taken now.

About half of the Legion's strength is in North Africa, its traditional stamping ground. Some of the old color disappeared after the war, when the two cavalry regiments were mechanized. Only one "mounted company," which comes under the head of infantry, remains.

Now the Foreign Legions get the tough assignments in Indo-China where Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh has been fighting the French for two years. This kind of fighting is the Legion's meat, but its accomplishments are still military secrets.

200 to 300 Recruits Monthly

Some 200 to 300 recruits are accepted monthly, on the average. The old rule still goes — the best legionnaire can call himself whatever he pleases and no questions asked. The Legion command, however, takes fingerprints and measurements and makes an investigation — to be sure that neither war criminals nor any other kind of criminal uses the Legion as a hide out.

Danish Parliament Guarded as Pact Debate Begins

Copenhagen, March 23—(Reuters) — Extra police were on duty outside and inside the Danish parliament buildings today when the Lower House began its debate on the invitation to sign the Atlantic Pact.

Newspaper correspondents covering the debate were checked at several points before being allowed into the Chamber.

Denmark's communist party ordered members to rally outside parliament later today for what was expected to be the biggest demonstration in the party's history.

Police officials said they had taken every precaution against disorder.

Today the Social Democrat Deputy, Julius Bomholt, opening the debate for the government, said adherence to the pact was Denmark's only course.

"We do not believe that Russia is preparing for war and we do not share the communist view that America is a war-monger," he declared.

"But an isolated Denmark is a finished Denmark."

2 Plane Crashes In Two Days Air Lift Toll

Hamburg, March 23 (AP)—Two R.A.F. plane crashes in two days have added six deaths to the ever-growing toll taken by the Berlin air lift.

The three-man crew of an R. A. F. Dakota were killed Tuesday night in a crash near Luebeck. Monday, three members of the crew of a British civilian air-lift plane were killed near Schwerligland.

The six-lift fatalities now total 47—28 Americans and 19 Britons.

Tuesday night's crash came as the plane was making its final approach, an official British account said. The plane was carrying manufactured goods from Berlin to western Germany.

Skeleton Mystery In Twice-Searched Essex Cottage

Whalebone Corner, Essex, England, March 23 — (AP) — Who left the skeleton in Ada Kent's cottage?

Miss Kent, old-time actress, disappeared 10 years ago.

Twice, since 1939, the cottage at this Essex beauty spot was searched. Not a trace was found of the aged spinster. Tuesday police broke in at the request of a bank where Miss Kent had a small deposit.

They found a well-dressed skeleton nearly laid out. On a table was an untouched supper tray and a bottle labelled "Poison." Near the body was a volume of Shakespeare, open to "Romeo and Juliet."

Was the skeleton that of Miss Kent? How did it get into the twice-searched cottage?

Murder, suicide, natural death?

The coroner has ordered an inquest which will try to find the answers.

Schedule of Income Tax Rates

Ottawa, March 23 (CP)—Text of resolution to amend the income tax act to provide

1. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, the following shall be the exemptions from individual income tax:

(A) $3,000 in the case of a married person and persons allowed a deduction equivalent to that of a married person and $1,000 in the case of all other persons; and

(B) $400 in the case of dependents not eligible for family allowances, $150 in the case of children eligible for family allowances.

2. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, the schedule of graduated rates for individual income tax be replaced by the following schedule:

On the first $1,000 of income or any portion thereof, 15 per cent per annum; or

$150 upon the income of $1,000; and 17 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $1,000 and does not exceed $2,000; or

$320 upon the income of $2,000; and 19 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $2,000 and does not exceed $4,000; or

$700 upon the income of $4,000; and 23 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $4,000 and does not exceed $6,000; or

$1,160 upon the income of $6,000; and 28 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $6,000 and does not exceed $8,000; or

$1,680 upon the income of $8,000; and 30 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $8,000 and does not exceed $10,000; or

$2,280 upon the income of $10,000; and 35 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $10,000 and does not exceed $12,000; or

$3,060 upon the income of $12,000; and 40 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $12,000 and does not exceed $15,000; or

$4,260 upon the income of $15,000; and 45 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $15,000 and does not exceed $25,000; or

$8,650 upon the income of $25,000; and 50 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $25,000 and does not exceed $40,000; or $16,150 upon the income of $40,000; and 55 per cent upon the amount by which the income exceeds $40,000 and does not exceed $60,000.

10 P.C. Dividend Deduction

3. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, there may be deducted from tax payable by an individual resident in Canada 10 per cent of the amount of his income that is from dividends on shares, having no preference of any kind, in a corporation resident in Canada that was liable to corporation tax in the taxation year; provided that in the case of dividends deemed to have been received from a personal corporation the deduction shall only be 10 per cent of that part of the income deemed to have been received by the shareholder as a dividend that the income of the corporation derived from dividends is of the whole income of the corporation.

4. That, with respect to income of corporations earned on and after Jan. 1, 1949, the present rate of tax of 20 per cent shall be reduced to 10 per cent on the first $10,000 of income and increased to 25 per cent on incomes in excess of $10,000 with corresponding changes in the rates in the case of consolidations.

No Interest After 12 Months

5. That interest on unpaid taxes on income of the 1946 and subsequent taxation years on which no assessments have been issued will cease to accrue 12 months after the date for filing the return in place of 720 months.

6. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, the business loss that may be deducted from income shall include losses sustained in the five years preceding and the year following the taxation year in the place of the three years preceding and the year following the taxation year.

7. That, for the purpose of computing income of the 1946 and subsequent taxation years of a member of the clergy or of a religious order or a regular minister of a religious denomination there may be deducted the value of the residence or other living accommodation enjoyed by him as such member or minister to the extent that it would otherwise be included in his income or the rent paid by him for the fair rental value of such a residence or living accommodation.

8. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, the exemption from income or an individual in respect of dividends received by him shall not be reduced because of exempt income of the spouse.

9. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, all amounts whether in the form of lump sums or otherwise, received by shareholder as a dividend, whether before, during or after their employment, shall be included in computing income of the employee unless it is established that they cannot reasonably be regarded as consideration for entry into the employment, remuneration for services or consideration for restrictions on the activities of the employee.

10. That, for the 1946 and subsequent taxation years, payments made for a wheel chair may be included in the medical expenses for which a deduction from income may be made for the purpose of computing taxable income.

11. That, for the 1949 and subsequent taxation years, $500 may be deducted from incomes for the purpose of computing taxable income of a taxpayer who, throughout the whole of the taxation year, was necessarily confined by reason of illness, injury or affliction to a bed or wheel chair.

12. That special deductions from income to taxpayers engaged in exploring or drilling for natural gas, oil or minerals be allowed for expenses incurred during 1950, 1951, and 1952 operations on the same basis as for expenses in 1949 operations.

13. That the provision for the exemption of income derived from a metalliferous or industrial mineral mine that came into production during the calendar years 1946 to 1949 inclusive during the period of thirty-six months after the mine came into production be extended to exempt income from such mines that come into production during the calendar years 1950, 1951 and 1952.

15. That tax concessions under statutes of Newfoundland shall not apply in respect to taxes imposed by any act of the parliament of Canada.

B OF M PERSONAL LOANS MADE AT LOWEST COST

Rate of ½ of 1% a Month Means Monthly Charge of 27 Cents for $100. Loan, Repaid Over 12-Month Period

"It still comes as a surprise to many people that only 27 cents a month will cover the cost on a $100. loan from the B of M," says Henry Becker, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, which is regularly making personal loans at the lowest cost. "Almost every day someone comes into the office and asks if it is really true that money can be borrowed at such low rates."

This is the whole story. If you need money and are in a position to make repayment, you can borrow with ease from the Bank of Montreal at a cost of 27 cents a month for each $100., repayable in twelve equal monthly instalments. You can borrow less or more for shorter or longer periods; the cost is proportionately the same. There are no handling charges, deductions or extras.

The next time you need ready cash drop in and talk the matter over with Mr. Becker, or Mr. Stammers, the accountant. You will find them eager to serve and assist you, all in strict confidence.—(Advt.)

'World Peace Talk' Set To Open in New York Called Move by Moscow

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, March 22 — (AP) — The "world peace" conference opening Friday in New York is viewed by the United States State Department as one of a series of moves by Moscow to oppose the new North Atlantic Security Pact and further other Soviet aims.

Officials said today this was why the United States government is barring 11 delegates from Britain, Europe and South America.

However, 21 from Soviet Russia and Eastern Europe are permitted entry, and the State Department explained this apparent contradiction this way:

The 21 are official representatives of their governments, and are entitled to official visas. They are not excludable under immigration laws. The others, however are not attending the conference as foreign government officials, and are excludable.

The State Department emphasized Tuesday it is standing firm despite an appeal to State Secretary Acheson from Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer. He is chairman of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, which is sponsoring the three-day meeting.

In New York, Governor Thomas E. Dewey said in a statement that he believed the scheduled meeting was "a communist - front affair" but would make no move to prevent it.

Moscow's interest in the New York meeting was evidenced by the composition of its seven-man delegation, which includes Dmitri Shostakovich, internationally - known composer. The chairman is Alexander Fadeyev, novelist and chairman of the Soviet Writers Union. Records received by the State Department show that he has charged British as well as American leaders with following Nazi policies.

Upper Canada College Hands Rockets 9-1 Defeat to Win Series in Two Straight Games

(By Norm Lynch)

A kind of stage fright seemed to have settled on the mighty Belleville Junior Rockets last night as they made their first appearance in the spacious Maple Leaf Gardens against Upper Canada College for the second game of the playdowns. Before the air of excitement had died down and they got back into their old familiar stride the collegian team had handed them a 9-1 defeat to take the series in two games straight.

The boys can hang up their skates for now but because they lost these games to the Toronto team does not mean that they were a losing team. It must be remembered that this Belleville team had not once been defeated by any other team in the league. They were a great team and a team of young champions, but their downfall was the U.C.C. team who were the faulty link in the chain that might have led them to a championship. Upper Canada is a very heavy team and have a stonewall defence that is a definite threat to any opposing team.

Rough Rugged Game

It was a rough and rugged game and despite the fact that the score was 2-0 in the first period the Rockets had a definite edge in the play for the most part of the period. Had it not been for Bill MacKay's splendid goaltending the score might have been very much larger than it was. It was not until the last half of the third period that the Rockets got really warmed up but obtained very little in the scoring department. Again it was Peter Jones who knocked out that big goose egg that prevailed on the scoring sheet when he slipped through the opposing defence and slid one past Doug Orr. Jones has had a great season and has the makings of a great hockey player.

"Holy Joe" Nolan was another one who, when he was used to the unusual surroundings as compared to our own arena, played a terrific game for the losers doing a grand job on the defence and carrying the puck into enemy territory with no little skill. He too, at his rate of play, may some day be another hockey great.

Upper Canada did not play an altogether clean style of hockey. There were 11 penalties handed out and our boys" settled only three of them. They have a great tendency towards elbowing and tripping which helps to take a lot of clean sport out of the game. They did, however, have some passing plays that really clicked when they were in on the Belleville nets and there was very little that MacKay could do to stop the puck from going into his net.

Bill Hewitt, son of the well known hockey broadcaster, had a good night netting three markers and setting up another for Kennedy who counted once. Cork, a heavy man on the defence, tallied twice, both of them unassisted. Sayoz picked up one counter and also set up both three of Hewitt's goals. Bell and Wahlroth were the other marksmen for Upper Canada.

The teams:

Upper Canada. Goal, Orr; defence, Cork, Addison; centre, Kennedy; wings, Hogarth, Ball; subs, Hewitt, Boughner, Sayoz, O'Sullivan, Wahlroth, Metcalfe, Merchant, Hedges.

Rockets: Goal, MacKay; defence, Schrieder, Taylor; centre, Trussell; wings, Green, D. Skermark; subs, Nolan, Graham, Hogan, J. Semark, Bone, Jones, Wright.

Canadian Ships Needed to Carry Ore

Washington, March 23 (AP)—House passage sent to President Truman Monday a bill to allow Canadian ore ships to carry ore between United States points on the Great Lakes until Dec. 15, 1949. The original emergency authority for operation of the ships expired last Dec. 31. The Canadian ships are needed because of a shortage of United States ore carriers on the Great Lakes.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

IT'S NOW OR NEVER FOR NYLONS

Belleville hockey fandom will get the opportunity to see what is going on in this more or less secret "B" series in Memorial Arena tonight when the Peterborough Legionnaires, fresh from two outstanding victories over Kingston Nylons, clash with their Limestone City foemen in the third game of the best-of-five semi-finals series.

Nylons, minus the Liftlock lads are playing the brand of hockey that should make them a distinct threat to a National Hockey League team, have rolled up like the well-known accordian. They flashed superb hockey to defeat the C.N.R. Diesels three out of four games and many rinkside experts here figured they would be the team to meet the Legion's more or less imposing record up around Peterborough way.

Bat Ned Vitarelli's crew, the cream of the senior "B" crop in their circuit, was not daunted by the imposing record and vaunted strength of the Nylons. They rose in their hockey wrath in Peterborough last Friday night and handed the invadres a decisive 9-1 setback flinching home six markers against the willing stocking lads in the third period.

• • •

With Kingston "experts" claiming the Nylons were tired from the strenuous series with the Diesels from the sleepy old Metro, and that Monday night will would be anything but pleasant for the saucy Vitarelli gang, events turned out to be not only surprising, but also amazing and astounding.

• • •

Wet ice, a hostile crowd that packed the venerable Jack Harty ice igloo to the creaking rafters and the hometown record of the Nylons, held no fears for the dashing Legionaires. They held the Nylons by the palms of their hockey mitts, turned defeat into a rout and the rout into a near debacle as they plastered a 13-2 shellacking on the astad that played brilliant hockey up to the first introduction to the Vitarelli style of play.

• • •

Now, the Nylons, like the Diesels are up against the well-known wall with their stalwart backs firmly planted against it. And from the wild past performances the hometown rooters had better pull some hockey rabbits out of their hats of wisardry if they expect to prolong the series—or win it.

• • •

As was mentioned in the pillar before, we do not believe that Legion is that much better than the Nylons. True, they are a fast-breaking squad of hockey opportunists who take advantage of every break dealt them and are very solmon around the nets and well-balanced in all departments. But the Nylons until the, whatever it is, infiltrated their hockey systems and caused them to look like a team that could be beaten five times games. Tonight will tell the tale. Game gets under way at 8.30.

THINGS AND PEOPLE

Sundridge and Marmora clash in Memorial Arena Saturday night in an intermediate "A" playdown series . . . Strong possibility that Hespeler and Gananoque may play here on Thursday or Friday in an intermediate "A" playdown tilt . . . It's hay-day for artificial rinks now that the weather man is pulling the quietus on those of a natural character . . . Bo-Hum, soon the rassilin' fraternity will be causing the faithful to shriek at their frivolous antics . . . Sam Mulholland, 'its reported, who did the most of his pedal flagging with the Philadelphia Rockets this winter will be seen in a Detroit Red Wing outfit next season . . . Soccer meeting at the YMCA tomorrow (Thursday) night . . . Fields of interest being shown and a new league of six teams or more will blossom forth from bode sprouted last week . . . Everybody interested in this should attend the conclave which gets under way at 8 o'clock . . . Prospects are anything but bright for a Belleville entry in the Central Ontario Baseball League this season . . . Commercial Softball League will hold it's annual in the immediate future . . . Prospects point to the loop being bigger and better than in 1948, with all players being eligible . . . It sat back the sugar daddy of the St. Catharines Terpees Junior "A" fifty g's to pornin the squad . . . Hear the lads garnered forty a week plus bonuses . . . Wayne (Weiner) Brown, Madoc flash, was a member of the Terpees during the season of 1946-47 . . . "Lanc" Carson, trainer of the Rockets Juniors, was knocked for a loop by Old Man Pneumonia and did not make the trip with the boys yesterday . . . Rockets were guests of the U. C. C. hockey team at the college last night prior to the game . . . Feed 'em and weep.

THE FIRST FOR HASTINGS

For the first time in history an Ontario Minor Hockey Association championship has come east of Bowmanville. The honor fell to the smart little Hastings Midget "D" squad which defeated the Cayuga Juniors in the Hastings Monday night in the second game of the goals-to-count series. Cayuga defeated the Hastings kids 4-1 in the first game but the new champions eased back into the picture before 700 cheering home town fans to score a 7-1 victory and win the round and the championship.

• • •

Secretary Jack Christie of the OMHA and Otto Hardwick, executive member and mayor of Bolton were present and presented the brand new championship trophy to the winners. Bill Hervey and Percy Hervey of this city, who have been doing some outstanding officiating in minor hockey playdowns were the officials at the game.

PHILLY ROCKETS DISBAND

The Philadelphia Arena, owner of the Rockets' ice hockey team, which operates in the Eastern Section of the American Hockey League next season, Peter A. Tyrrell, the Arena's president and general manager, announced the other day.

The Rockets' club will be disbanded and the players disposition of its franchise at the annual meeting of the American Hockey League in May.

• • •

"Since our return to the American League for the 1946-47 season, we have been unable to compete on an equal basis with the strong teams in the league," Mr. Tyrrell explained. "Therefore, we intend to ask the American Hockey League for a suspension of our franchise until such time as we will be able to complete our planned new building.

Abbott Does Not Expect Increase

Must Develop Outlets

He referred to the loss of some European markets because of the shortage of dollars and said "to the extent that those markets are closed to us, we must develop alternative outlets."

He added:

"While attempting to overcome the immediate difficulties, we must persevere in working out the constructive solution through trade agreements on a wide, non-discriminatory basis, and by other measures of a basic character that will assist those countries that buy from us to find dollar markets for their own exports, in order that they may pay for what they would really like to get from us."

He reiterated his opposition to barter deals and said the inevitable effect of these bilateral, discriminatory deals was to diminish the total volume of world trade.

Touching on Dominion-Provincial relations, he said the government was not attempting to centralize power in Ottawa through taxation agreements with the provinces.

"The simple fact is that the tax rental agreements promote and encourage provincial autonomy by making the provincial governments better able to carry out the heavy responsibilities assigned to them by our constitution," he said.

Ready to Co-operate

"This government yields to no one its desire to protect their rights and see them financially strong and independent. It yields to no one in its desire to co-operate with them in that kind of constructive partnership which will best enable all governments to tackle and solve the complicated problems of today and give the Canadian people the measure of peace, prosperity and happiness they have a right to expect."

Detroit Red Wings Edge Habs 2-1 While Maple Leafs Blank Bruins 3-0 in Playoff Games

Detroit, March 23 (CP)— Detroit Red Wings prepared for a long seige here today in their quest for the Stanley Cup following Tuesday night's marathon playoff game that took the National Hockey League champions 104 minutes and 32 seconds to eke out a 2-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

Hero of the game was rookie Max McNab who broke up the game after 44 minutes and 32 seconds of overtime play. The 24-year-old centre, who was born in Saskatchewan, scored the winning goal while Montreal's powerful Kenny Reardon was sitting in the penalty box.

Goalie Bill Durnan didn't have a chance on the shot—a 10-footer—which struck Glen Harmon's leg and dribbled over the goal-line.

The victory gives Wings a one-game lead in the best-of-seven series which will be resumed here Thursday night.

Detroit's first goal was scored by Gordie Howe in the second period when he fired a low, left foot shot that beat Durnan cleanly.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard sent the game into overtime just eight minutes short of regulation time. He swept down the boards out in on the net and rammed the puck between Harry Lumley's skate and the goal post.

A hard-checking defensive game, it provided a crowd of 13,-367 fans with some breathless moments.

Wings held a slight edge on the offensive, outshooting the Montrealers 34-31.

The overtime period saw Lumley and Durnan engaged in a tight netminding duel. Both were brilliant.

McNab's goal came just four seconds before Reardon's penalty expired. The Detroit players swarmed around McNab after he scored.

But despite the win, manager Jack Adams and Tommy Ivan weren't predicting the outcome of the series. They pointed out that tight defensive play was expected from the start of the series, and they saw no reason why it shouldn't continue.

Coach Dick Irvin's only comment was:

"It was one of those breaks—would have gone to either team."

Lineups

Montreal — Durnan; Harvey, Boudrias; Mosdell, Richard, Chamberlain. Subs: Riopelle, Plamondon, Carveth, Harmon, Fillion, Reay, Gravelle, Lach, Reardon, Leger, Laycoe.

Detroit — Lumley; Stewart, Quackenbush; McNab; Couture, Pavelich. Subs: Kelly, Reise, Lindsay, Gee, Howe, Horeck, Abel, Polie, McFadden, Enio, Fogolin.

Referee—Frank Clancy. Linesmen—Sibby Mundy, Ed Meghan.

Boston, March 23 — (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs, who started the season in anything but Stanley — Cup style, blanked Boston 3-0 last night in their playoff opener with the same form they used to knock the Bruins out of the National Hockey League's semi-finals last year.

Working for their third successive title, Toronto carries a one-game lead into the second tilt of their best-of-seven semi-final series Thursday night in Boston. After that, the games move to Maple Leaf Gardens.

The winner of the Toronto-Boston series will meet the victor of the Montreal-Detroit series for the cup. The Red Wings hold an edge on Montreal after edging the Canadiens 2-1 in their first game last night in overtime.

A packed Boston Garden—13,-909 — saw the Leafs outplay Boston throughout the game and tailor-made to each period, while veteran goalie Walter (Turk) Broda held off the Bruin attacks to earn his second shutout of the season.

Early in the first period Toronto got their first marker while Boston defenceman Pat Egan was in the penalty box. With the play buzzing around Frank Brimsek's goal, Bill Ezinicki passed to Harry Watson who slipped the puck past Brimsek on an angle shot from the side.

A Boston attack early in the second session backfired when a shot by Kenny Smith bounced off Broda's pads almost to the blueline. Cal Gardner picked up the loose puck and passed to Watson, who scored with a high shot at 7:25.

Max Bentley got the final goal of the game in the third period, taking the puck on Joe Klukay's clean pass.

Conn Smythe, Toronto manager, said the turning point of the game was when Broda kicked out two Boston shots when the score was 1-0 and Watson came back with his second goal.

Boston players agreed they were "badly outplayed."

Toronto — goal, Broda; defence, Boesch, Barilko; centre, Bentley; wings, Klukay, Thogren. Subs: Thompson, Morrison, Watson, Kennedy, Ezinicki, Lynn, Metz, Gardner, Juzda, Kowal, Dawes.

Boston — goal, Brimsek; defence, Egan, Crawford; centre, Ronty; wings, Peirson, Smith. Subs: Sandford, Henderson, Peters, Egan, Warwick, Dumart, Schmidt, Harrison.

Beau Jack, Two Others Suspended

Boston, March 23 — (AP) — The Massachusetts Boxing Commission today reported suspension of boxer Beau Jack and 11 other fighters and managers, including two Canadians.

No details were announced on Jack's suspension except that it was "in co-operation with the National Boxing Association."

Bantamweight Clement Bolduc of Sherbrooke, Que., was suspended for a year from March 7 "for competing in Lowell, Mass., Golden Gloves Tournament as an amateur."

Armand Prince, another Sherbrooke bantamweight, was suspended for a year for "aiding in Bolduc's appearance in an amateur tournament."

Seen above is the gallant little Midget "C" squad of Marmora who fought their way through a strenuous schedule and playdown series to reach the Ontario finals. They were defeated last night by the powerful Fergus team in the championship series, but were by no means disgraced. They flashed a fine brand of hockey and they are rated as one of the best midget teams to come out of Hastings County. Marmora and the county are proud of their record. Pictured above are Front Row, Left to Right: Percy Gray, manager; Bernard Kouri, Tom Parsanuk, Murray Walker, Bill Drummond, Jim Hickey, Bill Jones, Bernard McNally. Back Row, Left to Right: Bill Brown, Ray Darragh (captain), Buck Mantle, Allan Mumby, Pete Nicolson, Claude Trumble, Dick Meehan, Tom Brooks, Mel. Borland, (coach).

Fergus Defeats Marmora Midgets To Win Title

Guelph, March 23 — Fergus Midgets captured the OMHA Midget Championship here Tuesday night when they defeated Marmora 6-2 in the second game of a home-and-home, goals-to-count series.

Fergus won the first game in Marmora last week 3-1, thereby capturing the round 9-3.

The Dr. Roger Mitchell Trophy was presented to the Fergus team on the ice after the game by M. Whelan, vice president of the OMHA.

A five goal splurge in the second period sewed up the game for Fergus, the score was tied 1-1 at the end of the first session. Marmora notched their second goal in the last minute of play.

Centreman Don Gear, a fast-skating tricky stickhandler, led the Fergus attack with three clever goals. He was in alone on two other occasions but shot into goalie Bill Drummond's pads.

Rugged little Gord Morney scored twice for Fergus and played a standout defensive game. Bob Hanna notched their other counter.

Buck Mantle fired both Marmora goals and was their best all-round workman on the night's play. Ray Darrah and Claude Trumble turned in strong games for the Eastern Ontario champs.

Fergus' goalie, Jim Dobbie was the outstanding player on the ice. He handled a variety of hard shots with the assurance of a veteran.

The game was played on a soggy ice surface. Puddles of water appeared after the first period, making combination play almost impossible. About 1,500 fans watched the game, most of them from Fergus.

The lineups:

Marmora: Goal, Drummond; defence, Darrah, Trumble; centre, Brooks; wings, Mantle, Brown; alternates W. Mumby, Nicholson, Meehan, Paranulk, Walker, Hickey, McNally, Jones, Kouri (sub goalie).

Fergus: Goal, J. Dobbie; defence, Twaddle, Hanna; centre, Gear; wings, Landoni, R. Dobbie; alternates, Mooney, Langdon, Brown, Moir, Mueller, Clarke, Simpson, Campbell (sub goalie).

Referees: Shepherd, Hespeler; Lewin, Galt.

Summary

Black Hawks Not Fooling Next Season

(By The Canadian Press)

Hot potato football!

That's what new coach Annis Stukus intends to teach Edmonton's team in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. He makes no bones about his intention of drilling the Edmonton club along the lines of play used successfully by Toronto Argonauts.

"Today's football fans want to see wide-open football," said Stukus at Winnipeg. "We'll give it to them. We'll throw that ball around so much those other oldtimers will get dizzy trying to find it."

Then Big Stuke, on his way west from Toronto to take up the chores of building Edmonton's new entry in the western circuit, made reference to the fabulous "Argo luck."

"Sure, we'll use a lot of Argo plays," said Stukus. "We'll even put the old Argo bounce to good use. But don't ever think that the Argo bounce is all luck—it isn't. Those boys chase that ball so much they actually wind up knowing where it'll bounce. And that's the way it will be with us."

George C. Machum, chairman of Canada's British Empire Games Committee, said at Montreal that rumors of appointment of a coach for the track team are groundless.

Machum was commenting particularly on reports that Ben Cook of Winnipeg, who coached the Canadian track entry at the Olympic Games in London last summer, was in line for the job.

Machum said no decision at all has been made. The only appointment so far is that of Jack Davies of Montreal as the team's general manager.

First game in the best-of-seven final for the All-Ontario Junior Hockey Championship between Barrie Flyers and South Porcupine Combines will be played at Toronto Saturday.

Dates for the next three games were fixed for: March 28 at Barrie, and March 31 and April 3 at Timmins. If additional games are necessary they will be played at Toronto but dates have not been set.

Alvin Dark, Boston Brave shortstop voted the 1948 rookie of the year in an Associated Press poll, has no fear of the sophomore jinx.

"Sophomore jinx? What's that? Whatever it is," he confided. "I'm not going to have it. I intend to have a better year. I'm sure I know the pitchers better, and I've improved a lot in hitting and fielding.

Dark, whose speed, fielding and .322 batting average helped the Braves win the National League pennant, explained that his unfamiliarity with enemy pitchers was responsible for his slow start last year.

President William Tobin of Chicago Black Hawks said Tuesday that Roy Conacher, Hawks' left winger, will receive a bonus for winning the individual scoring championship of the National Hockey League. Conacher registered 68 points, while his teammate, Doug Bentley, finished second with 66. Conacher is from Midland, Ont.

Tobin said that Charlie Conacher would return for his second full season as manager of the Black Hawks. Netted by the Hawks' fifth - place finish, Tobin said he is prepared to bid as high as $50,000 for a rugged defence player.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League said Tuesday they had invited two 17-year-old New Yorkers, Eddie Bjornsen and Norm Divinsy, to try out at their amateur camp at Guelph, Ont., this Thursday.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

Toronto, March 23 (CP)—Just as most Canadian Indians have put away their hunting bows in favor of the white man's rifle, Australian bushmen are giving up hunting with the boomerang.

The bushmen for generations hunted with the L-shaped weapon. But now the duck-skinned inhabitants of Australia's tangled bushland use the boomerang for recreation, seeing who among them can throw it the farthest and not seeing in care one way or another whether it comes back to the thrower.

The state of affairs came to light at the Canadian Sportsmen's Show, where Ralph (Toronto Telegram) Allen interviewed Bud Carieli, a boomerang expert from —of all places—Oklahoma. Carieli gives boomerang demonstrations as part of the show.

"Carieli learned about boomerangs right at headquarters, on a native reservation near Sydney, Australia. He was doing a vaudeville turn as a roper and bullwhip cracker in Sydney some-20 years ago and a native chief gave him several demonstrations of the ancient tribal custom of slicing off an enemy's head and still getting your ammunition back.

But even then the boomerang was becoming a piece of sports equipment.

Cracking The Whip?

Rumblings of behind-the-scenes dissension in Ontario racing circles have been heard ever since plans were announced for a new floodlighted harness racing track at nearby Thornhill and the murmurings prompted Jim (Globe and Mail) Coleman to ask in his column whether a split exists.

Recalling that in a statement last week I.C.R.A. President James Heffering threatened to "fight" promoters of the Thornhill track project, contending that I.C.R.A. tracks have facilities for harness racing and that Toronto area facilities meet present needs, Coleman commented:

"The next meeting of the I. C. R. A. should be interesting. It will be established then if Mr. Heffering cracks the whips over all the racetrack proprietors or if —as is the case with any other fully-elected president of a business organization—he is responsible to his directors for his public statements."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Again and again comes the argument as to how two suits in the same hand should be bid. Horse Sense rules: 1 With equal lengths, first bid the higher rank; with different lengths, first bid the longer.

Its purpose is to tell partner the length of each. As result it advises him the division in every suit. The aim is to give him a chance to help decide which suit is best for trumps.

A suit once biddable must have at least four cards. A suit of re-biddable character has no less than five cards. They may have more. Until they are known to have more, partner assumes the minimum.

Open with a bid of one heart and partner thinks you have four. On the next round bid diamonds and partner believes you have four and four in the reds. Why? The higher rank was bid first.

What else can he have a right to assume up to there? He knows you must have 13 cards in your hand. If eight of them are reds, five of your cards must be black; three and two in the black suits.

On the third round rebid diamonds and partner knows you have at least five of them. Having bid the higher rank first, the diamonds are not the longer. So, hearts are also five. You have three blacks.

But take a hand like this:

♠ A K J 9 7
♥ None
♦ 9 3
♣ A Q 7 6 4 3

Open with a bid of one club, the longer of two biddable suits. Then bid spades. Having failed to bid the higher rank first, you promise longer clubs than spades, five and four.

On the next round you rebid spades to show five of them. Having bid clubs first, however, the clubs are longer. So, partner sees you with six clubs and five spades. You show two reds.

Get a pack of cards and go over three weeks. All of a sudden it will come to you. Also will come to you that horseless, your partner, has been giving you the business for years.

Cobourg Hoop Teams Clash With Belleville

Basketball will be the feature attraction at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening when Cobourg's ladies' and men's teams will play exhibition games with the Belleville Y. M. C. A. ladies and the Pappas Intermediate team. The first game between the two ladies' teams will commence at 8 p. m., with the second game at 9.00.

These two ladies' teams have met on three previous occasions and each time Cobourg has emerged victorious. However the Belleville team is determined that they shall revenge these defeats on Thursday evening. According to Jerry Kyle, coach of the Belleville team, the girls have improved considerably and with a few breaks coming their way Cobourg will be defeated. This game will be the last for the Y girls this year as preparations are being made for the coming netball season. All basketball fans are urged to see this game.

The second game will see the Pappas team in action against the Cobourg Intermediates. As next Saturday evening is the Belleville team is to meet Broadview Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening in the first game of a best two-of-three series in the Ontario Intermediate basketball league, they should spare no effort to see such stars as Bill Spafford, Jim Hamkin, Allen Galbraith, David Lockyer and George Miller in action this evening. The first game of the league on Saturday night. The Cobourg team made a creditable showing in their league, but were beaten out by Peterborough. An excellent game is in store for all enthusiasts of this game. Belleville has not had such a fine basketball team in some years and their excellent showing to date is an indication of the high ball they are playing. A capacity crowd is expected at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening to see Belleville's intermediate basketball teams play.

Sacos Roll High Score in Major B Loop

Sacos topped the scoring in the Major "B" (Tuesday) League at Recreation Alleys last night, defeating the "Cut Out" crew by three points to one with a high aggregate score of 3215.

The Ontario Intelligencer Inkspots hit the win column again, turning back the "Just Us" team by three points to one. In the other game Blacks Masts defeated the ANAF team by four points to nothing.

Ontario's Bookkeeping System Under Discussion in the House

Toronto, March 23. (CP)—The Ontario government's bookkeeping system was the subject of a bewildering three-hour discussion in the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature today.

When some members whose accounting experience was limited to income tax returns lagged behind, Provincial Treasurer Frost and Liberal financial critic J. G. Brown (Lib.-Waterloo North), a Hansard reporter was summoned to take a verbatim account of the discussion that members could pore over at leisure.

The committee was appointed at the request of Mr. Brown who described the provincial bookkeeping in the legislature as "a throw-back to the horse and buggy days."

Provincial auditor H. A. Cotton said today he would have "no objections" to certifying the accounts each year and including in the balance sheet an accounting of the accumulated surplus. Mr. Brown had suggested that the provincial auditor should follow the procedure of the auditor-general of Canada in signing the public accounts to indicate his certification. Mr. Brown said the accumulated surplus was carried over from year to year without a detailed account.

Mr. Frost suggested there was no purpose in putting a surplus account in the balance sheet. It consisted of certain assets and on the parliament buildings on which values were set 25 years ago. The 1948 accumulated surplus had been reported at some $86,000,000. This would encourage taxpayers to say "we've got an $86,000,000 surplus, let's go out and spend it." Actual value of assets included in the accumulated surplus would be only a fraction of $86,000,000.

Asserts Russia Has A-Bomb Secret May be Manufacturing A-Weapons

Washington, March 23 (AP) — Dr. David Bradley, atomic medical scientist, said that Russia not only has the atomic bomb secret but "may be manufacturing atomic weapons."

The belief that the United States has a monopoly of atomic knowledge is one of the "four fatal delusions" which have Americans unready for a possible atomic war, said Dr. Bradley, the author of "No Place to Hide," a report on the Bikini bomb tests.

"What we should fear most is an uniformed, mentally unprepared American public ... civil defence will be totally unworkable without a clear appreciation by the people of what they are up against."

These are the four delusions, Bradley reported:

1. "The myth of the 'secret'—the idea that we have some and can keep the secret of making atomic bombs."

2. The delusion of "industrial know-how."

"This is at best a very temporary advantage. Anyone who can make (an atomic) pile can make plutonium."

3. The delusion that atomic weapons are absolute weapons ... They are not. They have clear limitations and obvious strategic and tactical uses."

4. "The last equally absurd, equally dangerous delusion is that current effort to play down the bomb—that atomic weapons are really of no great account."

By Tape Recorder Radio Stars Assured of Perfect Performance

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 23. (AP) — Midweek medley: highlights and sidelights in the Hollywood news.

In Hollywood radio circles, everyone is talking about tape. That's the modern method of recording air shows. By using the tape recorder, radio stars are assured of perfect performances, or at least as good as the material with which they have to work.

After seeing the machine work, I'm convinced it can do anything but make Jimmy Durante sound like Dennis Day. It has drawn mike-shy stars like Joan Crawford and Clark Cable to the airlanes.

The appeal is simple: the stars can read their lines as many times as they want the sound cutter picks the best one. No audience, no nerves, no fear of stumbling before an audience of 20,000,000.

Shows can be taped in the stars' free time or on Sundays avoiding conflict with film shooting schedules.

Bing Crosby can afford to smile as more and more programs switch to tape records. Not only because he was two years ahead in making the move. His money is behind the tape recording firm.

Other Gleanings

Funny guy, that Bing. Concerning publicity, he's as independent as hog on ice. But no star endorses more commercial products. He is being seen locally on billboards, winking and chewing a sandwich. What can he do with all that free bread?

AT THE McCARTHY — Vera Ralston and George Brent in the intriguing drama "Angel on the Amazon," currently playing at the McCarthy Theatre. Along with "The Gentleman from Nowhere," featuring Warner Baxter.

So you think Hollywood is a cozy little town where everybody knows everybody else. Think again. Van Johnson still claims he never has seen Wally Beery, although they have worked on the same lot for years. When Claudette Colbert and Robert Young went to work on "Love Is Big Business", it was the first time they had seen each other since they did "I Met Him in Paris" 12 years ago . . .

AT THE CAPITOL — Charles Winninger portrays the role of an old vaudeville trouper who lets his heartiness that vaudeville will come back strongly than ever in "Give My Regards to Broadway," starring Dan Dailey, Jr. Technicolor hit now showing to capacity audiences at the Capitol Theatre and will hold over until Saturday. Matinee daily at 2.00.

POPULAR DAISY

Melbourne, Australia — (CP) — W. A. Comesdow, of the Victoria Royal Horticultural Society says the lowly daisy, an Australian native daisy, is becoming popular in the United States. The daisy, which the South Wales grows to a height of five to six feet.

INTRODUCED BY DUTCH

Tea was introduced into Europe from the Orient by the Dutch in 1645.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was darning holes out of socks and sighing big sighs to herself, saying, Oh dear, such a life. I mean time matches on, she said, and pop said, By golles that's a fact, and nobody seems to be able to do anything about it.

I know you'll think it's silly of me, but I've been feeling a little wistful for more than a month, in fact ever since Saint Valentine's Day, ma said. I don't want you to think I didn't appriciate your bewtiful heart shape box of heart shape chocolits, and I realize that a little healthy weight is no great drawback to contentment and happiness, but just a some my mind keeps barking back to the days when I tipped the scales at practically nuthing, and every Valentine day you composed a poem addressed to your Slim Princess. I know you think it's silly of me, she said.

On the contrary my dear, pop said. In fact the whole thing is the most touching coincidence. But I don't think I'll tell you, you'll think I'm silly, he said, and ma said, Now William I want you to tell me immesedjily, she said.

Well, I had a Valentine poem in my head, but I didn't tell it to my Slim Princess all made up in my head, but I didn't let it out on paper, pop said, and ma said, Well why not for land sakes?

You mite of thawt I was silly, pop said, and ma said, William Potts, if you dont recite it to me this very second, our speaking terms will be over.

The result being pop recited it and ma thawt it was wonderful, being:

Oh who minds a little over-deepoise
In the social relations of geris and boys?
Oh under the plumpness I can see
My own Slim Princess who waits for me.

Ship's Captain Says Tientsin Communist Held, is Paralyzed By Mass Slow Down Strike

Hong Kong, March 23 — (AP) —The Hong Kong Standard today quotes a British ship captain as saying Communist-held Tientsin was paralyzed by a mass slowdown strike in protest against Communist rule.

The captain, who was a commander in the Royal Navy in the Second World War, said industry of all kinds in Tientsin was almost completely stagnant.

He added that foreign-owned factories and business had shut down and appeared to entertain no prospects of resuming operations in the foreseeable future.

The captain, whose name was not given, said Communist authorities were helpless to provide end of the war with Japan.

for the city's unemployed and as a result Tientsin was more of a liability to the Reds than an asset.

(While the captain is anonymous, he may have been the skipper of the British ship Hunan which called at Tientsin's port in February.)

The captain quoted one Communist official as saying although they were not prepared to fight Russian for the return of Dairen and Port Arthur, the Communists would use partial resistance and boycott those ports in an effort to make the Soviet position untenable.

Dairen and Port Arthur have been in Russian hands since the beginning of an era of peace and happiness for our part of the world."

Red Radio Says Peace Talks Soon In China

Nanking, March 23 (AP)—The communist radio heard here said "peace negotiations ... will take place very soon."

It was the first public announcement by the communists' that they have decided to talk peace, although other broadcasts have hinted at such a move.

The statement was incorporated in a scathing attack on acting President Li Tsung-jen and Premier Ho Yong-Chin and his new cabinet The radio asserted the "Kuomintang (government party) leaders will now have an opportunity to prove their real desire for peace."

Earlier an adviser to the president had said the negotiations would take place shortly after the government nameds its peace delegates.

Israel and Lebanon Sign Armistice Pact, Hailed as Dawn Of Era of Peace, Happiness

En Naqura, Lebanon, March 23 (AP)—Israel and Lebanon signed an armistice agreement at the Customs House here this morning.

The armistice pact, second signed by Israel with one-of her Arab neighbors, was hailed by the head of the Israeli delegation as "the

The armistice agreement was reached by Israel and Lebanese delegates last Sunday and today's ceremony was the formal signing.

The first armistice in the Palestine war was signed at Rhodes Feb. 24 between Egypt and Israel.

Three main points of the armistice call for evacuation of Israeli forces from Lebanese soil within 30 days restoration of the Israel-Lebanon border to the position of last June 15, and a reduction of their fronting armed forces.

Mine-fields in the mountainous former battle areas will be cleared by both sides, but each will maintain an armed force along the border which the armistice limits to not more than 1,500 men for each.

They also agreed to exchange prisoners seized during the fighting.

CLAIM VISAS DENIED

New York, March 23 (AP) — The leader of the forthcoming "World Peace" Conference claimed Monday night that American visas for 12 European and South American delegates have been denied or revoked. Dr. Harlow Shapley said the action affected four British delegates, four Italian, three French and one Brazilian, and called on the state department "to take immediate action to grant the visas."

Smoker Held

Seventy members of Post 78 Canadian Legion attended the smoker held in their hall. D. F. Fyke was in charge. Two films, captured from the enemy during war time and music were followed by the serving of refreshments.

Film Council Meets

Newfoundland was the topic for discussion at Monday night's meeting of Picton Film Council. John Arnaud a former resident of the new province, stressed the economic value of the country, and gave a word picture of the people. Films were shown.

STIRLING

Quaker Oats Entertain With Pancake Supper

Stirling—On Monday evening the Quaker Oats Company, of Peterborough, entertained the Rawdon Jr., Farmers and Jr. Institute with a pancake supper and films. Mr. Jack Dunham opened the meeting.

Miss Gladys Clarke and Mr. Bob Phillip were chosen delegates to attend the conference at Guelph. The films were "Calgary Stampede", "Caring for Chickens", etc.

The pancakes were enjoyed by all. Mr. Robert Hoard read the "Scandal Sheet". Miss Jean Hagerty was appointed for the scandal sheet for next month.

Dancing brought the evening to a close.

U.S. Destroyer Runs Over Sub, No Casualties

San Diego, Calif., March 23—(AP) — The U.S.S. Perch, a troop-carrying submarine, and the destroyer Orleck collided during manoeuvres Tuesday night just southwest of San Diego.

The navy said there were no casualties on either ship. The Perch was carrying Marine troops, but the Navy declined to say how many.

The destroyer, the Navy said, apparently "ran over" or scraped the submarine, which was submerged at the time of the collision. The Perch immediately dove to clear the Orleck and then surfaced.

Remember That Night

By Margaret Corman Nichols

Melancholy swept over her in a rush. She thought, "I'd like to run away from loving Philip and from being a failure. But I can't run away from either."

Philip had been in England for several weeks. And though much had happened to him in his life, he would never forget his sensation on seeing Lilyan after their weeks of separation. Driving out to the picturesque country house she and her father had taken, he had arrived in mid-afternoon and Lilyan had opened the door. And before she spoke, before he touched her or kissed her, he knew that he no longer loved her. Holding her in his arms briefly before they went in to see her father, he had felt shaken with disappointment and anger, not with Lilyan but with himself.

She was as lovely as he remembered her. She was as lovely as when he had believed he loved her. The green frock she wore that day brought out the dark red lights in her hair and made her soft eyes that changed color the shade of her frock. She had been so happy to see him she had cried a little and then they had gone in to see her father.

Seeing him, a sick old man, Philip had felt severe at his discovery, knowing that Owen Kane thoroughly approved of a marriage between Lilyan and him. He called Philip, "My boy," and said, "My physician tells me I'll be in shape to travel in a few weeks. England is fine but I want to get home."

And Lilyan and Philip had gone into the garden.

"It's been so long!" Lilyan cried. "Let me look at you, darling!" But suddenly her eyes were puzzled and a little frightener. "You've changed to me, Philip! You — you haven't changed your mind about us? We've been away from each other a long time and I thought perhaps . . ."

He ached. Should he tell her? He couldn't! Perhaps this awful lack of feeling would pass and he would find he still cared. He could not hurt her. She had been through a difficult time. Moreover, he was afraid of what a shock might do to her father. And so there was nothing for him to do except pretend that it was as it had been before she left New York.

He smiled. "Do you think distance and time would change my feelings, Lilyan?"

Her voice was a little breathless. "I didn't know," she said. Then, "Father is so much better. We'll be married any time you like, Philip. I think Father would like us to be married as soon as possible."

That had been weeks ago. Tonight in a London Hotel (Lilyan and her father had moved to town and had a suite on Bond Street below) he stood before a window and smoked a cigarette and tried to face his problem honestly.

There was but one thing to do and that was to marry Lilyan. The past weeks had been the most miserable he had ever spent and though he had been close many times to telling her that time and distance had changed his feelings, he lacked the courage. Her love for him, complete and unselfish, shamed him.

He thought, "I've got to go through with it! She isn't to blame. In New York I asked her to marry me, begged her to marry me. That there was small comfort in knowing that Lilyan would make him a splendid wife.

Later that evening at a party he said as they were dancing, "Don't you think it would be a better idea to wait until after the play opened before we are married? I'll have that off my mind and we can take a long honeymoon."

Beautiful in white lace, she looked up and smiled sweetly. "Anything you say, Philip. But let's sail quite soon. Yes, I would prefer having married at home—in church."

He could not tell her that he had always said he would never be married in church. He remembered saying to Brenda quite gaily once, "If ever I do get married, the wedding will be quiet and unpretentious and a chartered plane will take us on a honeymoon. That's my idea of the proper way to get married — up in the clouds actually as well as emotionally!" Now, he thought, there would be weeks of preparation.

A long letter from Tommy came the following day. What was Tommy up to now, Philip wondered. His mouth amused, he opened it and read Tommy's riveting account of his elopement. Then he read, "You didn't do Karen such a big favor after all, Phil! She's a heel, taking the credit of taking her to Bernie Tappen. The play has closed. It was pretty bad. Karen got a line or so from the press. Maybe I'm crazy, but I think that any girl who wants to be an actress as much as she does must have the goods. Now she's out of a job."

He asked about Lilyan and concluded, "I guess you'll be joining the younger married set soon. Boy, there's nothing like it!"

Philip did not hesitate. He went directly to the telephone and called Brenda Bond in New York.

"Philip?" she asked over the Atlantic. "Nothing is wrong, I hope. Did you get me out of bed to tell me you and Lilyan are married?" She laughed. "If so, then I guess you've been busy, but please let me go to sleep again."

He put his mouth close to the telephone and spoke in deep, clipped, clear tones. "Nothing occasionally," he said. "Can you hear me? Are you getting this?" and being assured by Brenda that she was hearing almost perfectly. He talked a long time. When he asked how much the call had cost and was told, he made no comment. It was worth it.

Brenda Bond called Karen one morning when she and Roxanne were having breakfast at the table by the window.

Hearing a low, friendly voice say, "This is Brenda Bond," Karen's eyes were instantly wide and excited. Roxanne put down a glass of orange juice and listened, frowning.

Brenda said, "I heard about your unfortunate experience in the Tappen play. But you must learn to expect such things, my dear. They happen to all of us. One of my plays closed after the first night. I'd like you to come to see me tomorrow morning, Karen. Come for dinner. I think what I have to offer to you will interest you." She laughed quietly, "I haven't forgotten you, you see."

Karen stammered her thanks. After Brenda had said good-bye, Karen still stood holding the receiver. She looked at Roxanne. "Brenda Bond asked me to dinner tomorrow night. What — what could she want with me?"

"Take it easy," Roxanne said. "I'm afraid I think she has something for me! Afraid!" She smiled nervously. "She said she hadn't forgotten me. She couldn't forget that night at Helene Hamilton's party, Karen." Her thoughts were whirling. "But suppose she does have something for me in Tappen's play! She's hearing now . . ." Suddenly her throat ached. Her eyes were out of control. "Oh, that's too good to be true."

Roxanne said, "Something's up. Important people like Brenda Bond don't seek out young actresses and invite them to dinner. It makes a nice fairy tale but it doesn't happen. Maybe Philip is behind this."

Karen shook her head. "Oh, no. I'm sure he isn't. He's in England. He's been there for weeks. And he's so much in love he doesn't care what's happening to his play. He probably won't be here when it opens. He doesn't care about me. That night at Tommy's he was furious with me. But I don't know how I'm going to wait until tomorrow night. Why couldn't she have said tonight?"

It was one of the longest days of her life and there was still another day to endure.

That night Roxanne wore the black net frock Philip loved.

"If you can stop wondering why she sent for you, I'd like to tell you something, Karen. Something about me. I met a man, a young man, a couple weeks ago. He's a good sort. Do you think I should . . ."

In an instant Karen forgot herself. Looking steadily at Roxanne, she said, "You're telling me if I think you should. Jay and he interested in men and perhaps love somebody else as you loved Bill. Yes. You've been living in the past. Now you can't live on a memory. You might never love another man the way you loved Bill but . . ."

"I never will. You said you felt married to Bill. That's how much you felt you belonged to him. That's how I feel about Bill."

The tears sprang in her eyes. "But why shouldn't I have fun? Try to — anyhow. I don't want to spend the rest of my life in a night club. I want to get married. Bill told me how wonderful marriage could be. You won't blame me or think I've gotten over him if I . . ."

"Bill set you free," Karen said gently. "That was his plan."

"That's what he thinks. I'll never be free of him. But if I could meet some nice man — he needn't have much money—I'd marry him. This new man is nice. You know, it takes a while for a man to realize that every girl who sings in a night club isn't a gold-digger."

She picked up her wrap and silver bag. "I may be late. I'm going to see Eddie after the show."

Newfoundland

Europe was hungry and John Cabot brought back news, in 1498, of great catches of fish along the Grand Banks. Soon hundreds of ships sailed to the waters just off Newfoundland—to bring back the largest catches in their history.

When British claimed the Island, fishing ports grew up along the coast. For many years the honour of governing the colony was given to the Captain of the first ship entering port each year. It was a strict rule. Then, in 1855, Newfoundland won responsible government of elected representatives.

It took a war for the world to recognize the rich resources of Newfoundland. The demands for the Island's products—fish, steel oil, minerals and lumber—led to a prosperity never before known.

On March 31st, 1949, we welcome into our confederation of provinces a neighbour whose road has always run parallel to ours—Newfoundland. Our interests are common . . . our ideals the same. Together, we shall go forward to greater achievements. We'll prove anew there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited!

Just how much room is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144-page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. T.L.C. SEEKS SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

RAPID CONSTRUCTION

A flash fire on March 17 destroyed the home and all the possessions of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunet of Belleville. They had no insurance. On March 19 at 8:00 a.m. friends and neighbors started to build the Brunets a new house. By 4:00 p.m. the following day, the home was completed even to wiring and paint and sufficient furniture had been donated to furnish it. This photo shows the building before the exterior covering had been applied. The house is 12 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 15 feet high. — (CP Photo.)

$2,000 YEARLY PAY CUT WILL BE CONTINUED

Ontario Cabinet Ministers Will Leave Salaries as First Announced

Toronto, March 24 (CP)— Ontario cabinet ministers will continue to take a $2,000 pay-cut to avoid what Provincial Treasurer Frost described as having "the same of the government strapped through the political mud."

Mr. Frost told the legislature Wednesday that because opposition members had made "very derogatory references" to the government's intention to restore the $10,000 cabinet ministers' salaries, voluntarily reduced to $8,000 by the government of former Liberal Premier Mitchell Hepburn, the ministers would continue to receive the lower salary.

In an uproarious debate, led by Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver, the government's action was described as "an ignominious retreat."

The debate became too much for T. L. Patrick, (PC—North Middlesex), chairman of the committee of the whole House, when government members tried to shout down the loud-voiced Mr. Oliver. Mr. Patrick was unable to maintain order.

Above the protest of cabinet ministers, the lanky Liberal leader boomed charges that the government was "disorganized and confused." No attempt to outshout him came even close to succeeding.

"Go back to the farm," screamed Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

"After looking at your face from Monday to Friday," Mr. Oliver retorted, "the only place I can find solace is on the farm."

As Mr. Oliver reviewed his attempt to bring a halt, "at the suggestion of the premier" to oppose the salary increase, Mr. Frost called out: "Will you ask my honorable friend a question?"

"No you can't, unless you can outlung me," Mr. Oliver replied.

E. A. MacLeod (Lab-Prog—Toronto Bellwoods) described Mr. Frost's explanation of the government's position as "a pitiful recitation of self-righteousness."

Mr. Frost told the House the work of ministers had increased and income taxes were "exceedingly heavy." Service on the executive council should not be limited to those who could afford to serve.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, March 24 (CP)—Synopsis: The clear skies over most of the province today will be obliterated by cloud early Friday. Temperatures will continue mild Friday with temperatures again rising above the freezing point in all regions. Rain will advance into the province from the southwest on Friday with the precipitation reaching the Toronto-Windsor line by noon.

Mississippi Bursts Through Levee, Driving Residents From Homes

Baton Rouge, La., March 24 — (AP)—The Mississippi river broke through a levee today and sent residents fleeing from their homes.

The break occurred about 4:10 a.m. (CST) about three miles north of Port Allen, across the river from Baton Rouge.

Within three hours the water had moved three miles in from the river. One highway was covered to a depth of three feet.

Sheriff's deputies and volunteers patrolled the roads, urging residents to leave their houses.

Port Allen is a town of about 3,500. The area being flooded is occupied almost entirely by sugar plantations. It is sparsely populated.

Rate of the advance of the water was difficult to determine immediately. Sheriff's officers said nothing could be done to check the spread of the flood until it reached comparatively higher ground.

May Extend Debate

There may be extended debate on a measure providing for the continuation of the board established to purchase products needed to fill orders from the United Kingdom. The measure is due to come up for debate today.

Another item which must pass is one which extends financial assistance to gold mines. The mines saw the price of their product reduced from $36.50 to $35 an ounce in 1948 when the Canadian dollar was raised to par with the American dollar.

As a result of that action by the government, a bill was passed granting special assistance to the gold mines, in the way of tax concessions and other help.

Before the Commons embarked on the special debate, there were several developments.

Shopbreakers Use Taxi in Getaway After Two Thefts

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) —A gang of shopbreakers used a taxi as a getaway car early today after stealing hundreds of do'lars worth of cigarets and cash in two midtown cigar stores. An attempt to rob a third store within less than an hour was foiled when occupants of two upstairs apartment called police.

A thirty, black - toothed" gunman held up another tobacco store in North Toronto and forced store manager Bernard McEnroe to hand over the money.

Baby Undergoes First Operation On Aesophagus

Toronto, March 24 — (CP)— The three-day-old son of Provincial Constable R. E. Bagg of Haileybury, has had his first operation to correct an incomplete aesophagus and today was "doing as well as can be expected."

J. H. W. Bower, Childrens' Hospital superintendent, said the child had received the first operation Wednesday and would have a second, possibly tomorrow.

Rushed 300 miles from his home to hospital here, the baby is being fed through a tube inserted in its stomach.

Mr. Bower said the deformity prevents passage of food to the stomach and, although the mortality rate is high even after operations, the baby would die from starvation without them.

Bevin Says Economic Boycott Of Soviet Zone Could Mean War

London, March 24 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons Wednesday night that a total economic blockade of Soviet-controlled eastern Germany would lead to war. He contended such a shut-off "means sanctions, and sanctions mean war."

He added, however, that materials which could be used in a war against the western powers should not be shipped to eastern areas.

The western Allies' counter-blockade hat stoped the movement of goods through their zone to the Soviet area of Germany, but east German officials supplies from several western countries over other routes, mostly by sea.

Bevin, speaking in a debate on European affairs, said the west already has "saved" France, Italy and western Germany from Communism.

He spoke after Conservative Harold MacMillan had told the House he expects Russia will offer "a fake appeasement" and seek a treaty ending Allied occupation of Germany.

MacMillan predicted also the Russians will attempt "quite shortly" a coup in Yugoslavia and Greece in an effort to seize control of the eastern Mediterranean.

In the House of Lords, where a similar debate was held, Lord Pakenham, Minister of Civil Aviation, warned that "there is danger of war this year, and I am afraid there will be for a number of years to come."

Bevin, who will leave for Washington Friday to attend the signing of the North Atlantic treaty, assured the Commons that "western Germany is safe. I don't believe that they will go Communist now."

"I believe eastern and western Germany will unite," he added, "I do not think anyone can stop it."

He said the British-American air lift supplying blockaded west Berlin will be stepped up. It now carries 7,000 to 8,000 tons of food and materials a day.

GOVT. APPEARS 'OVER THE HUMP' ON CONTROL BILL

Wartime Control Bills Due to Expire Soon

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 24 — (CP) — The government appeared today to be "over the hump" with its control legislation.

The bills controlling some of the wartime controls are due to expire by the end of this week or by the month-end at the latest. However, the present temper of the Commons indicates the measures will pass before the week is out.

Members Wednesday passed by a vote of 146 to 57 a bill extending the Foreign Exchange Control Bill under which the government applies restrictions against imports from the United States and other countries in order to conserve U. S. dollars.

With that measure out of the way, members turned to a resolution to a bill extending the life of the Crown - owned Canadian Commercial Corporation. That resolution eventually was adopted and the bill was given first reading.

From there, members went to a bill, also given first reading, that would make the existing supplementary payments to rural mail carriers part of their regular contract earnings.

Family of Five Burned to Death In Farmhouse

Circleville, O., March 24—(AP) —A family of five persons burned to death in their white frame home early Thursday when fire destroyed their tenant house on a farm, 12 miles southwest of here.

The victims were:

Leonard Estep, 28, tenant farmer; his wife Pearl, 25, and their three children, Jean, 4, Beverly, Billie Jean, 7 months.

A neighbor discovered the fire about 3 a.m. and called the Circleville fire department. The neighbor said she observed no activity about the house until the firemen arrived.

Attacks Increase In Corporation Taxes as 'Unfair'

Vancouver, March 24 — (CP)— Increased corporation taxes in finance Minister Abbott's budget are "unfair double taxation" hitting the "little fellow," Henry D. Bicks of Montreal, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here yesterday.

He said the government is "most unfair" in increasing corporation taxes. "It is relieving the little fellow in income tax and making him pay more in tax."

Corporations are owned by small shareholders, he said. "And Canada hasn't even realized it yet."

"Even Socialist Britain doesn't tax corporations between shareholders as the government has."

However, he said, he welcomed the increased income tax exemptions.

He said virtually all $50 Victory Bonds will be turned back to the government because "living costs went up to the point where people had to sell them."

"People have been living outside their incomes. These tax cuts should enable people to save once more. I hope so, for the good of the country."

Plane Wreckage Found on Shore Of Lake Ontario

Henderson, N.Y., March 24 — (CP)—Coast Guard officials said which disappeared March 16 on a flight from Buffalo to Montreal was found today on the east shore of Lake Ontario, about seven miles south of Henderson.

It was not known immediately whether the two occupants of the flight plane had been killed.

The two men are Pilot Eugene Hevey of Barenbrugge, 45, of Elmira, N.Y., and Stuart N. Johnson, 40, of Mansfield, Pa.

The finding of parts of the wreckage was made by Coast Guard Brayton E. Peck. Peck said the parts, which included the motor and axle, apparently were washed ashore from the lake.

The sheriff said the serial number of the plane also was found and that it tallied with the number of the missing four-passenger Stinson.

Air force rescue units had been searching for the plane since it was reported missing. Flights were interrupted yesterday by rain but were resumed today.

Attendant Bound And Robbed By Two Bandits

Brantford, March 24 — (CP) — Gas station attendant Art Vickers, last night was bound hand and foot by two bandits and robbed of $130 from the station's cash register.

Just before closing time at Kirby's service station, two men asked permission to use the washroom, Vickers told police. When they emerged, one stood near the entrance and pulled a black revolver from his pocket.

They forced Vickers into the grease-pit section of the station and bound him with cord and tape. The attendant struggled for half an hour after the men fled before he was able to get free.

The bandits also took his wallet containing personal papers and $10. He did not know whether the duo escaped on foot or in a car.

TWO-YEAR BAN MOOSE HUNTING URGED IN ONTARIO

Scientific Study Plan On Moose Population

Toronto, March 24 (CP) — A two-year closed season throughout Ontario on hunting of moose was recommended today by the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario Legislature.

The whole province has never before been closed to moose hunting. During the closed season the Lands Department would make a scientific study of the moose population. At the end of the two years the department would decided the close season was no longer necessary, hunting might be resumed in the following year.

F. O. Robinson (C.C.F.-Port Arthur) said he thought the decline in the moose population went "beyond the hunters' take."

"It was a matter for a real scientist."

Lands Minister Scott said Northern Ontario outfitters were "reaping their biggest harvest ever." This would be a good time to close the season and restore the moose population before hunting dropped off.

The committee also recommended that the deer-hunting season in the Parry Sound district be shortened. The present bill's date was shortened would be left to the discretion of the department. Present season is 15 days.

Fears Fur Deer

C. W. Fox (Lib.-Fort William), said he couldn't find "one per cent of the people not associated in a monetary way" with deer hunting who favored open season on deer.

"If the present rate of depletion continues with the ravages of dogs, there will be no deer soon will be no deer left."

Mr. Robinson said deer were not accessible in the lake-head area as a few years ago. The average man couldn't afford to hunt deer any more because he had to spend days going back into the bush and hiring guides. He was not prepared to support a closed season in all of northwest Ontario but consideration should be given to conserving oiled areas.

John Fullerton (P.C.-Algoma) and W. S. Gemmell (C.C.-Sudbury) said deer were plentiful in their districts and a closed season was not warranted.

The committee recommended that the changes be made in northern Ontario deer-hunting seasons.

The committee agreed with a recommendation of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters that a prospector's licence be strict use of airplanes in hunting areas to transportation only. Hunting from aircraft would be forbidden.

Mr. Scott said similar legislation was in effect in the Yukon, west Territories and "it strikes me as sound."

The legislation would prevent hunters from circling an area, landing and getting the lead overair and then landing on a nearby lake to unload the game.

Mr. Scott said he planned to amend present legislation to prohibit use of planes for killing of wolves.

Low-Rental House Plan on National Basis Sought

400,000 Are Represented In Submitted Brief

Ottawa, March 24 (CP) — Allembracing social security measures on a contributory basis, along with resumption of price controls, lower taxes and a wide variety of other legislation, were sought today by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in its annual legislative submission to the federal cabinet.

Canada's biggest labor congress, speaking for about 400,000 members, presented these additional proposals:

1. Establishment of a low-rental housing program on a national basis with federal aid.

2. Extension of the scope of the federal labor code adopted last year.

3. Establishment of the 40-hour week week for labor employees in industries under Dominion Labor Department jurisdiction.

4. A "sound" immigration policy under the Department of Labor, which would balance immigration with Canada's ability to absorb population without unemployment. A government-labor-management immigration commission would administer immigration matters.

5. Enactment of a national bill of rights to guarantee citizens' freedoms.

6. Aid for Canadian shipbuilding and shipping and amendment of the Canada Shipping Act — termed "a relic of the dark ages" — to bring its labor sections into line with Canadian practices.

7. A coastguard service for both the coasts and the lakes.

8. Establishment of new steel production mills to overcome the shortage of this product.

Headed by President

9. Maintenance of the CBC as a government-owned utility with full control of licences for the operation of all Canadian broadcasting stations.

10. Extension of the voting franchise to all over 18.

The Congress submission, presented by a group of its officers headed by President Percy Bengough, declared: "the fear of unemployment and illness has again reared its ugly head among our people." Old age pensioners lived in a state of misery. Even under the present relatively high state of employment, many hundreds of workers had exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits and were in dire need.

In its broad social security program, which was in a considerable basis for all citizens, the Congress proposed:

CHIEF AND FIREMEN INJURED, CHURCH IS DESTROYED

Centenary United Church in Point St. Charles Gutted in Blaze

Montreal, March 24 — (CP) — District Fire Chief Patrick Roche was seriously injured and a number of other firemen suffered minor injuries early today in a three-alarm $250,000 blaze which gutted Centenary United Church in suburban Point St. Charles early today.

Hospital authorities said that Roche was suffering from "severe internal injuries." He was crushed when the first of two smoke explosions which rocked the structure toppled a huge stained-glass window and a portion of the stone wall onto him.

Fernando Sartori, 27, a fireman, also was in hospital from injuries received when he was thrown from a ladder 30 feet in the air by the blast.

The church, located at the corner of Charron and Wellington streets, was built 57 years ago. Firemen, specialists lined the streets in darkness to view the fire, believed to have started in the cellar at the rear. Throughout the entire lower floors of the church before moving upwards.

Rev. Norman Hillyer, minister of the congregation, almost tearfully told reporters that a new organ, bought recently at a cost of $17,000, was destroyed.

'All I Want is to Get My Family Back' Turncliffe Says at Court Appearance on Non-Support Charge

Allen Turncliffe,

Sobs breaking his voice and tears glinting his eyes, twenty-nine-year-old Allen Turncliffe, father of five children found abandoned in a backwoods shack twenty miles north of Belleville, told newspapermen Wednesday that all I want is to get my family back."

Turncliffe's five children ranging from eighteen months to seven years, were found in a half-starved state, nearly naked condition in a tarpaper-covered shack by police, Dr. Hunter and Children's Aid Society officials. They had subsisted for 46 days on meagre quantities of food supplied by their uncle William Lander and mainly on squirrels and rabbits shot by him.

Turncliffe was charged with non-support by police while the Children's Aid Society laid charges of desertion. The latter charge will likely be dropped, Superintendent William Carnew, Attorney Gordon Robertson.

Turncliffe was arraigned before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in the Madoc court room yesterday on the charge of non-support.

Not Asked to Plead

He was not asked to plead following his demand for counsel.

"They would not let me phone for a lawyer," Turncliffe said.

"Have you any lawyer in mind?" asked Assistant Crown Attorney Gordon Robertson.

"I want a D.V.A. (Department of Veterans Affairs) lawyer."

"Why a D.V.A. counsel? Are you a war veteran?" asked the Crown.

"Yes," said Turncliffe.

"With what unit did you serve."

"I served seven months with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment," Turncliffe answered. Mr. Robertson smiled his brows at the word, "periods."

Meant Parades

Later it was revealed that Turncliffe meant "parades" not "periods."

Due to the accused's demand for counsel the hearing was laid over to Monday, March 8th.

Mr. Muldrew's brother was represented by Superintendent William Carnew and Mrs. Anderson McLauchlin applied for temporary wardship of the five children. Crown Attorney Madge Trate Lloyd deferred action on the matter until the father's case was disposed of.

The children, clothed in new dresses, coats and shoes were brought into the court room. They did not see their father. They smiled and chatted shyly as newspaper photographers flashed bulbs.

In an exclusive interview with an Ontario Intelligencer reporter Turncliffe said he had no intentions of deserting his family. He had returned, he said, and stayed for two weeks, before leaving again for Belleville where he had secured a job at Point Anne.

Had Arranged for Truck

"I had made arrangements for a truck to move my furniture and family to Belleville," he stated. "Had the promised truck not waited another day, this would never have happened."

William Landry, a brother of Mrs. Turncliffe who gave birth to her last baby a few days ago and is at present staying in Belleville with friends, however, told a different story.

"He (Turncliffe) didn't seem to care very much about his children," she said.

"He even made arrangements to give his family away," the dark 24-year-old lumberjack charged." He told me he was going to send the two oldest girls to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Etta Hart, Toronto, and place the other three children with people in the district."

"He said he was fed up with everything."

"It was no way for Allen to act," said Landry.

"I thought the world of those kiddies," he went on, "and I couldn't see them suffer."

Ran Out of Food

Landry, police stated, spent over fifteen dollars, all the money he had, for food for the children in the earlier days, then when this supply ran out he resorted to shooting rabbits and squirrels for sustenance for the youngsters.

Grocers Ken Estford, Delior, and Eddie Maher, Hermon, provided food to nearly fifty dollars.

Landry, a crack rifle shot used a .22 to bring down the squirrel and used a snare to get the rabbits.

"I had no trouble getting 'em once I got a bead on 'em," he smiled. "I never wasted more than one shot on each squirrel or rabbit. I can bring down a buck rabbit travelling at fifty miles an hour."

Landry stayed with the children until food supplies ran out and the spot of squirrels and rabbits in the district had dwindled to practically nothing. He killed 50 and rabbits and 40 squirrels all told.

"I did not want to go to the police, thinking that Allen would be back, then I had made up my mind to report the matter when police and other people walked in."

Left Job to Help

Landry had been engaged in wood-cutting with Leslie Turncliffe, Hungerford township relative, when the accused asked him to look after his family for a few days while he took his wife to Belleville to hear her sixth child.

He left the job to take care of the Turncliffe family.

Turncliffe was brought back to the Hastings County jail by Provincial Police Corporal Stanley Palmateer of Bancroft who investigated the case.

The young father broke down as he was led from the, courtroom, and tears ran down his face.

HIGHWAYS ALL BARE

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) Highways Department officials today reported all highways south of North Bay bare and dry. Crawford roads in the southern section of the province are rough in spots.

Highway No. 11 from Hearst to Long Lac in Northern Ontario still is blocked but department officials said they expect the road to be clear within a few days.

The flood threat is reported to have eased and only one stretch of road on No. 9 highway, between Orangeville and Arthur, is flooded. Nine inches of water covers the section.

Red Cross Drive Has Passed $5,000 Mark

With the majority of workers still to report, the local Red Cross Campaign Committee reports $5,150.00.

Workers have been hampered somewhat with colds and 'flu.

Closing date is set for March 31, but will be held open a few days for those who find it more convenient to make their contribution after the month end.

The quota this year is much higher on account of the free blood transfusion plan and the comprehensive work on behalf of veterans and the handicapped.

The Belleville District includes this year the counties of Prince Edward and Hastings. Every municipality, village, town and organization in the two counties should have a share in supporting the Red Cross in its work of mercy and preparedness, to meet emergency and disaster wherever and wherever they strike an individual or a community. The Junior Red Cross was among the first on the job when little children were found badly in need of food, clothing and attention in the north end of our own county. When disastrous fire struck at Sunderland not long since, the officers of a neighboring Red Cross branch were on the spot next morning with supplies and help. When tornado struck Coe Hill and district, truck loads of clothing and bedding were rushed from Belleville, along with liberal cash help, were on the job in a few hours.

"The work of mercy never ends. It needs the support of all.

If you have not been canvassed, then drop into the most convenient bank and make your contribution. Any and every shortcoming bank will be pleased to accept your gift and issue a receipt on behalf of the Red Cross.

Time is short—work is now, and help Hastings and Prince Edward do their Red Cross obligation. If you prefer, mail direct to the district campaign office, Riggs Motor Sales Ltd., 260 Front St., Belleville, Ontario, 'Phone 2233. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

Sheet Metal Defeat Machine Shop in First Game of Semi-Finals

Sheet Metals of the Northern Electric hockey league took the first game of the league semi-finals defeating the Machine Shop 6-4 in the two-game goals-to-count series.

It was good hockey with the teams tied at two-all in the first period, both clubs counting one each counting for Metals and Lupinette and Bonisteel scoring for the Shop.

Barrett put Metals ahead in the first minute of the second period but Lang got that one back minutes later, Metals then scored the Metal goal and the period ended 3-3.

The Shop again tied the game in the third period when Pinsent scored but Metals took over midway through the period with two quick goals by Saltzer and Saltzer.

Referees York and Fisher handed out five penalties, two of them majors going to Thrasher and Longhurst.

OBITUARY

MRS. J. L. FLANE
(Madoc Township)

Madoc, March 24 (Special) — Mrs. J. L. Flane passed away at her home in Madoc Township on Wednesday, March 16th, in her 70th year. She had been in failing health for several years.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Casselman, she was born at Cloyne and resided in the Plane Settlement since early childhood. Her husband predeceased her in 1945. In early life she was an adherent of the Standard Church.

She leaves to mourn her passing five daughters, Mrs. Arnold Casbel (Louise), Mrs. Reuben French (Evelyn), Mrs. Walter Wilson (Della), of Madoc, Mrs. Harold Coulter (Viola), Gas. and Miss Ruth Plane of Belleville; three sons: Walter and Roy of Niagara Falls, Ont. and Melville of Madoc; twenty-four grandchildren and one great grandchild. Also surviving are four sisters: Mrs. Eliza Dunn and Mrs. Ada Dunn, of Wellington; Mrs. Lena Chard, Belleville, and Mrs. Mary Quinn of Youngstown, Alberta; seven brothers. George and William of Huntingdon Downs, Alfred, Amos, John and Clifford of Bancroft; David of Smiths Falls and Frank.

The funeral service which was held at her home on Friday, March 18th was conducted by Rev. R. J. Robertson of Ivanhoe Standard Church. The Scripture reading was Psalm 23 and the text, Eccl. 12:5. The hymns were "Higher Ground Leader" and "The Arms of Jesus". Mrs. C. Stevenson and Mrs. R. Stevenson of Ridgedale rendered "We'll Say Good Night" here.

Interment was in the family plot in White Lake Cemetery.

The bearers of the lovely floral tributes were seven grandsons of the deceased. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Melvin Martelle, Geo. Rooke, Samuel Woods, Oscar Reynolds, William McBeath and Clyde Devolin.

CLARENCE CHARLES LONG
(Shannonville District)

Clarence Charles Long died early Wednesday afternoon at his home in the 3rd. concession of Tyendinaga township, near Shannonville, after an illness of two months' duration.

The late Mr. Long, who was in his 75th. year, was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long and lived all his married life on the homestead where he was born. He was engaged in farming and was well known and respected in the district. He was a faithful member of Trinity Anglican Church, Shannonville, and took an active part in the affairs of the parish, having served as a warden for many years.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Roxanne Gay, one daughter, Miss Hilda Long, Belleville; two sons, Arthur Long, at present serving with the Tyendinaga township; one sister, Mrs. Walter Nind, Wellington.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

ECHO OF WINTER

Brampton, March 24 — (CP) — Though spring has definitely established itself, nine property owners here heard an echo of winter. A fire was started under a local bylaw with failing to shovel snow from their sidewalks. Each was fined four bits but a ninth will appear in court on a personal summons.

BURNED TO DEATH

Mattie Point, Nfld., March 24 (CP)—Burt Young, 44, burned to death at this west coast Newfoundland village Wednesday when a home in which he was staying overnight was destroyed by fire.

MOSCOW CALLS HOLLYWOOD MOVIES "TRASHY"

London, March 24 (AP)—Moscow radio said today Hollywood movies are 'trashy, inartistic, reactionary propaganda.' An unidentified commentator, heard in London by the Soviet Monitor, said typical American pictures are filled "with criminals, vampires and morally degenerate people as heroes."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) — Industrials continued Wednesday's upward turn in moderately active dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The group showed a wide list of gains ranging up to more than two points. A few key base metals were also strong, er and several golds tightened. Western oils slipped slightly from previous advances.

Volume for the first 3 hours was 472,000 shares, about 62,000 shares more than Wednesday's similar period.

The bulk of the increased activity was in several base metal stocks that slid downwards following news of a price reduction in zinc by a United States seller.

Industrials rose steadily with almost every group showing moderate advances.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 24 (CP)—Prices were steady on a small supply on the local livestock market up to noon. Only 30 cattle and 100 hogs were received and were added to 70 head left from yesterday's trading, reported the Dominion marketing service.

A few good light steers sold at $20.50 and some medium to good heifers were $19-$20.25. Butcher cows sold at $13.50-$17 and a few choice fed yearlings were $22.

Hogs were steady at $31.75 for grade A and $31.35 for grade B1. Sows were steady at $24.50 dressed.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

Buffalo, N.Y., March 24. (AP) —Cattle 300, including 50 Canadian steers and heifers; beef cows $17.00 to $18.00; good dairy type heifers for slaughter $19.00 to $21.00; good weighty sausage bulls $21.00 to $22.00.

Calves 100; good and choice nearby $29.00 to $31.00.

Hogs 450; good and choice hogs eligible to 2.00.

Sarcastic Questions, Answers Feature Commission Hearing

The Mackay Commission today was told how to tell Provincial Police cars apart.

The all-white cars with a black hood, testified Cpl. Sam Ervine, were used for highway patrol work.

The black and white cars—called "Holsteins" by Provincial officers—were used for criminal investigation work. Plain cars of any color were driven by staff officers.

It all started as Cpl. Ervine and Cons. J. E. Keays kept up a running battle before the Commission room as investigating Cons. Keays allegations, of misconduct by Crown and police officers.

Sarcastic questions and equally-sarcastic answers flew back and forth as Cons. Keays questioned Cpl. Ervine about a traffic prosecution in which the constable claims there was a miscarriage of justice.

Cpl. Ervine repeated that he thought they had no evidence to proceed with the charges against Woods.

Cons. Keays said they had a statement from Woods, testimony that Woods was drunk and a smashed car.

"That would not be sufficient evidence to warrant a charge of dangerous driving?" asked Cons. Keays.

"No", said Cpl Ervide.

Cons. Keys said Cpl. Ervine could have found another witness, a man called Bronson.

"Bronson was not a man, he was a boy about 16 or 18," Cpl Ervine said.

Says Evidence Suppressed

"And his evidence was suppressed by Cons. Keays said.

He asked Cpl. Ervine if it was true if "the contemptible Keays" could not "keep up morale in his own detachment."

"That is true," Cpl. Ervine said. Cons. Keays read a report he had made out on the accident.

"That report is misleading," Cpl. Ervine said. He said Cons. Keays had put words to one of the witnesses, Bruce Pine, until after Nov. 17.

"Are you serious?" asked Cons. Keays.

"I'm serious."

"Are you taking your oath?"

"I'm taking my oath."

"I know you're not trying to mislead the court," Cons. Keays said. "You can't think that fast."

"That's right," Cpl. Ervine said. "One must be careful of you, Keays, because you're such a fast thinker and the rest of us are so slow."

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Two hundred different crimes were punishable by death under English law at the time America was colonized.

Cons. Keays said with no attempt to conceal his sarcasm.

He produced a report in number he said he found in a ditch at the scene of the accident.

He said he found it Nov. 20.

Cpl. Ervine said it had not been there Nov. 17 when he examined the ditch. The rubber showed no signs of deterioration and couldn't have been in the ditch for more than one or two days.

"If Cons. Keays testified under oath that he found this in the ditch on Nov. 20 would it be perjuring himself?" asked the constable.

"He might be mistaken," said the corporal.

At the Woods trial, Cpl. Ervine said, he had testified that three guard rail posts, near the scene of the accident, had been broken Sept. 28.

Cpl. Ervine repeated that he thought they had no evidence to proceed with the charges against Woods.

Cons. Keays said they had a statement from Woods, testimony that Woods was drunk and a smashed car.

"That would not be sufficient evidence to warrant a charge of dangerous driving?" asked Cons. Keays.

"No", said Cpl Ervide.

Cons. Keys said Cpl. Ervine could have found another witness, a man called Bronson.

Teen-Age Couple To be Questioned

Minneapolis, March 24 (AP)— A teen-aged couple and six days ago are central figures in a Wisconsin slaying mystery.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Babich, taken into custody here Wednesday night after a wide-spread search. The hunt started when the body of Patricia Bringham, 16-year-old sister of the bride, was recovered Sunday from the Milwaukee River near her West Allis, Wis., home.

Milwaukee officers, who said they want the Babichs for questioning, will bring the couple there today. They are expected to arrive in time for Patricia's funeral.

The newlyweds, held in jail overnight, denied any knowledge of how Patricia went to her death. They told police they had heard Patricia's body was found, but had kept silent because of fear their parents would annul their marriage.

Find Two-Year-Old Ready to Shove Baby Down Chute

London, March 24 (CP)—Police declined today to lay a "baby snatching" charge against a cultprit—aged two.

Passers-by Wednesday discovered the boy about to shove seven-weeks-old Gail Rolands down a coal hole. The 11-pound baby had already been brushed about the head with a stick, lifted from his carriage and the coal hole's iron cover raised for dropping him six feet to the basement beneath.

Police said this was the fourth "baby snatching" attempt by the two-year-old but they can't do anything about it until he is eligible to appear in juvenile court.

Lewis Orders Miners To Return to Work

Pittsburgh, March 24 — (AP) — John L. Lewis today ordered his 463,000 idle coal miners to return to work Monday.

The order was directed to miners east of the Mississippi who have been idle since March 1.

In a work stoppage Lewis said was meant as a memorial to dead and injured workers. Lewis said it also would protest appointment of Dr. James Boyd as head of the United States Bureau of Mines.

The mine closings have cost the diggers some $30,000,000 in wages. During the mine shutdown, coal-carrying railroads laid off more than 70,000 employees.

C.C.L. Sharply Disciplines Left-Wing Group

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, March 24 — (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor sharply disciplined one of its left-wing union affiliates today and immediately began consideration of even stiffer measures against it as a second.

The C. C. L.'s executive council — its nation-wide policy-making body — suspended from the council the Canadian director of the United Electrical Workers Unibe, Clarence S. Jackson of Toronto.

Then it promptly began dealing with a recommendation from the C. C. L. leadership that the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers be suspended altogether from the Congress for defiance of a C.C.L. order that it get out of organizing fields in Ontario.

Attacked Leaders

Jackson was put off the council, which consists of the Canadian heads of C.C.L. unions, for an attack on leaders of the Federation of Labor in the U.E.W. News, the official publication of that union.

The editorial, attacking the Federation chiefly because of its support of the Atlantic Treaty, accused the C.F.L. leaders of "union-splitting", "war-mongering" and "ruling Hitler-like tactics."

When the C.C.L. gathered today to consider its annual legislative proposals to the Dominion Government, the Ontario Federation brought charges against the union.

In its charge, the Federation accused the U.E.W. with a "deliberate attempt to destroy" it.

Later, Jackson said in an interview that the council had "stepped outside democratic procedure" because it condemned his union without a hearing on the merits of the disputed editorial.

The U.E.W. chief said he had been allowed only to discuss the motion for his suspension, and not the editorial itself.

$2,000 YEARLY

almost two weeks because of a face infection, and expected the matter of ministers' salaries would be given "calm and impartial consideration."

In view of the criticism, cabinet members Pursey Pearson urged the premier to disregard the needs of the situation" and expressed the desire to reduce voluntarily their statutory salary by $2,000."

Before reaching the treasurer's department estimates which were later approved, the House divided three times on matters of procedure.

Speaker M. C. Davies ruled Mr. Oliver could not introduce a bill to reduce ministers' salaries. The House upheld his ruling 44 to 33. The House divided again 45 to 33 to uphold another ruling that the bill be removed from the order paper. The House divided for the third time, 45 to 33 on Mr. Frost's motion that the House consider estimates.

Opposition members voted together each time.

Earlier in the sitting, Welfare Minister Goodfellow introduced a bill limiting the amount of yellow or yellow-and-red coloring in margarine to 1 6/10 per cent, compared to the three to five per cent coloring allowed in butter. Mr. Goodfellow said the limited coloring would distinguish butter from margarine but would not give the butter substitute a "distasteful appearance."

CHIEF AND FIREMEN

feared that, in the event of another explosion, the church tower might collapse.

School children who a short while ago lost the use of Riverdale School when it burned down also suffered. Following the burning of the school, the children were taught in temporary classrooms situated in Centenary Church as well as other churches.

When school time rolled around this morning, some were again without a classroom.

The first alarm was turned in at midnight, and the second and third within an hour. The "under control" was not sounded until 2.58 a.m.

Neighboring buildings, which were separated from the church by a grass lawn about 10 feet in width, were not seriously damaged.

Police Lt. James Moore, who arrived on the scene shortly after the outbreak occurred, said that the fire seemed to "run like lightning through the building."

IMPROVEMENT

Recovery of France from the war and the tests of the post-war period is seen by observers. France went through the ordeal of occupation by the Germans and was the country in which the Western Allies indicated their great might and ability to smash Hitlerism. There were signs of confusion in that land for some time but as the crisis in Europe has grown more tense the people of France have shown their ability to meet their troubles. The plan of Premier Henri Queuille who took office last September is seen to be working. In Sunday's voting, the Montreal Gazette reports, Queuille's supporters generally won out in the local elections in France. The popular vote showed a personal victory for the de Gaullist forces but that, says the newspaper, "detracts nothing from the reassuring impression that France has attained the greatest degree of equilibrium in many years. Communist power to disrupt and confuse appears definitely on the wane in France, which also seems to be the case in Italy, on the basis of most recent events."

These facts would tend to indicate that France is bound to play the role in world affairs for which she is fitted and which she has played in the past.

News of her growing stability and restoration of equilibrium is a pleasant note to the world that looks to France as one of its great states.

NEW TRANSLATION PLANNED

A project which will attract the attention of many people is the undertaking under way in Britain by the Church of England and concerning a new translation into English of the Bible. Two years ago the initial suggestion came from the Church of Scotland General Assembly. Since that time the idea has been discussed from all angles at a series of special conferences. A statement by the Oxford Cambridge University Press which will hold the copyright makes it clear that there must necessarily be many years of drafting and criticism before the final manuscript can be produced. This new work is not intended to displace the Authorized and Revised Versions now used in all English speaking churches of the world. It will be a totally new translation into modern English made from the original languages. The committee will draw upon the services of scholars of all religious denominations.

The history of translations of the Bible is one extending over long periods of time. In English they began with paraphrases of portions of the Scriptures, the earliest being made by Caedmon. Then there was the Wycliff translation between 1356 and 1380. The first printed version of the New Testament was by Tyndale. His New Testament appeared at Worms. In 1539 came Cranmer's Bible, the first printed by authority in England, a royal proclamation of 1540 ordering a printed copy be placed in every parish church in the land. In 1557 appeared the entire Bible. It completed the publication of the English Bible in three years and was the work of Coverdale, Whittington, Goodman, John Knox and others. This was the Geneva Bible and was generally adopted by the Puritan party. It was the first printed in Roman type and omitted the Apocrypha. Later came the Bishop's Bible, based on Cranmer's. In 1582 the New Testament was translated from the Latin Vulgate and appeared at Rheims and the Old Testament with notes was issued at Douay. In the reign of James I of England the work of translation was committed to six scholars only 47 men had a part in it. The completed task appeared in 1611. This is usually referred to as the Authorized Version marked by majestic English and general accuracy. It has become the treasure of the English-speaking people.

BARBARA ANN GIVES A LESSON

But Barbara Ann herself skated from minor to major triumphs to become a world figure. Doubtless various circumstances contributed to her success, but as in the case of many others in many fields of activity her success must be attributed to indomitable perseverence. As a result she has earned a place in the gallant brotherhood of those who have said, "I'll can be done!"

Countless thousands have been thrilled, and other thousands will yet be thrilled, by the perfection which Barbara Ann has achieved in her chosen field of activity. But possibly even more important is the fact that she has taught a lesson. That lesson is comprised in one word. That word is perseverance. — Ottawa Journal.

JUST FOLKS

NEGLECT

Time was she'd look about and say:
"The walls should papered be."
But, these are needs, with her away,
I never seem to see.
Now here's another spring to face
With much that should be done,
But why repair an empty place
Where all the dreams are spun?

I know she'd say: "We ought to paint.
The walls and floors are bare."
For time has left on them
the taint
That proves the lack of care.
But there must be the will to do
The work from year to year,
And she who would the home renew
No longer can be here.

The spring is coming on again,
The need for paint I see,
But still I let the place remain
The way it used to be.
What matter now the stains of wear?
I blindly pass them by.
Since she's no longer here to care,
No longer care can I.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

MARCH 14th, 1919

Some interesting statistics about Belleville. The first town council was held in 1850 and was composed of twelve members; three members from each of the four wards and the mayor and members were: Samson Ward, C. O. Benson, — McAnaugh and Jacob Bonter; Ketcheson Ward, S. F. Davey, Dr. R. Holden and Samuel Sleeman; East Ward, Jonathan McCurdy, John Coulter and Edward P. Boaster; Coleman Ward, R. F. Coleman, Burleigh Hunter and John Donaldson. The three members sent to organize B. F. Davey and F. McAnaney were nominated for the office of Mayor. Upon a vote being taken Mr. Davey was elected, he receiving eight votes and Mr. McAnaney received three votes. Only eleven members were present at the meeting. Mr. W. Sawyer was the first town clerk. At this time there were 1360 acres of land within the town corporation. In the year 1839 the First Quarter Session was held with Chas. Conger presiding. Edward Murney was clerk of the peace and A. D. Moodie was the Sheriff. During the year 1840 the Methodist church was erected in the then village of Meyers Creek. It was a Methodist Episcopal church and in 1870, an Anglican Church was erected.

MARCH 14th, 1919

Two solid oak and beautifully carved sanctuary chairs were dedicated on Sunday at St. Thomas' Church by the Rt. Rev. F. J. Sidney Du. D.C.L., lord bishop of the Diocese of Ontario to the memory of the late Rev. Canon C. W. Burke. The inscription on the chairs reads: "To the memory of Rev. Canon Burke. Born in Dublin, May 24th, 1825. Rector of St. Thomas' Church, Belleville, from 1874 to 1907. Departed this life Jan. 31st, 1907."

A meeting of St. Michael's Athletic Club was held for the purpose of organizing a baseball team this season. J. C. Trusdell acted as chairman. There were about forty fans and players present and the prospects for a strong team to enter the city league is bright.

Charles Bawden was appointed manager of the team and the following general committee was appointed: J. Murphy, Alex. Fahey and Pat Drumm. It was decided to hold a dance shortly to raise funds for club expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown, Octavia Street, entertained a number of friends at their home last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Clydale of Peterborough are the guests of Mrs. Andrew McCreary, Geddes Street.

Mr. J. Adair May and Mr. Harold McCoy, two well known machinists, have left for Cobalt.

Mrs. Daniel Foster, corner of Foster Avenue and Dundas St., will celebrate tomorrow the 83rd anniversary of her birth. many friends will be pleased to extend congratulations and good wishes.

Mrs. Charles Wilkins, Pinnacle Street, will celebrate tomorrow the 90th anniversary of her birth and will be at home to her friends during the afternoon.

50 YEARS AGO

Mr. Walter Fanning, Jr., left today for Montreal.

Mr. Goodwin, College Hill, has left for British Columbia.

Mr. W. W. Chown has returned home after a successful business trip to the Province of Quebec.

Mr. J. S. Edgecomb of Hamilton has been appointed processor at the canning factory here and has arrived in the city with his family.

Mr. Tom M. Nash has transferred his agency for the Cleveland bicycle to Mr. Thomas Schuster and will take a position as travelling salesman with the W. W. Chown Company.

Car No. 7 of the Belleville Traction Company left the track near No. 1 fire hall about eleven o'clock this morning. Some considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the car back on the rails. Manager James Deedy stated that in his opinion the motorman was running too fast at the turn. No one was injured.

LOW-RENTAL CONST. S. ERVINE TESTIFIES AT INVESTIGATION

1. A national health insurance act embodying accident and hospitalization benefits and medical, dental and surgical benefits.

2. Substantially large payments for old-age and blind pensioners, without the means test.

3. Inclusion of mothers' and widows' allowances, now paid provincially, and increases in these payments.

4. Extension of the coverage of unemployment insurance to all workers and the increasing of benefits "in line with increased living costs."

The Congress' price control policy includes the continuance of subsidies on basic commodities to bring about reductions in consumer prices and resumption of the wartime 100-per-cent excess profits tax on corporations with subsidies and eliminate profiteering. Wheat Board Control Bill

To guard against further price increases on necessities, the Congress suggested, the Government should set up a price control board—with labor representation on which applications for price increases would have to be made.

On housing, T.L.C. said that the Dominion undertake, in co-operation with provincial and municipal governments, a "nation-wide low-rental home-building program financed by national credit and designed to house, under decent conditions, ex-service personnel and those in low-income brackets who cannot afford 24th, 1940 rentals of family allowances would be taxable.

On taxation, the Congress asked reform of the income taxes and with boosting of the income tax exemptions.

It sought to have the exemption for married persons lifted to $2,000 and for single persons moved up to $1,200 per year. Exemption for each child would be $400. Allowances of family allowances would be taxable.

On unemployment insurance, the Congress recommended placing immigration under the labor department and barring all private immigration schemes.

Health, physical education on a per-capita basis was advocated.

Declaring there was a national need for a modern merchant marine, the Congress said new ships should be built in Canadian shipyards, now sadly in need of orders if they were to remain in business.

For shipping, vessels of Canadian registry should be operated under Canadian standards and working conditions should be in accordance with Canadian standards, adequate employment security should be guaranteed; and no subsidies be paid to ships or vessels withdrawn from Canadian registry.

During the sitting, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced that the Canadian Legislative Acts necessary to weld the Union of Canada fully with Newfoundland were received Royal assent in London.

In the Senate, meantime, the bill continuing controls on domestic rents, some food and clothing prices, and building priorities was discussed.

Senator Arthur W. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, criticized continuance of rent controls, saying they discouraged home-building. He said there were tenants living in luxury on cheap rents in costly homes when they could afford to pay more. In effect, he said, rent controls were "a gift to the landlords" because the tenants were there.

Senator W. H. Dennis (L. Quebec) said controlled rents were based on the original costs and he knew of cases where this particularly needed sympathy. He said he sympathized especially with the tenant who lived in fear that his rent might be jumped at any time.

In the Commons debate, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the government should limit extension of the foreign exchange control board to one year. He urged the government to take the initiative in calling international action to restore currencies, including sterling, on convertible basis.

Finance Minister Abbott said this could not be done by one country alone. He assured Drew that it was "useless" to expect or desire an immediate "free market little time yet."

Trade Minister Howe sponsored the resolution extending the life of the Canadian Commercial Corporation, and said that since the Corporation was established in 1946 it has purchased $275,000,000 worth of Canadian goods for foreign countries. Besides, it has negotiated $100,000,000 worth of purchasing contracts for the defence department.

There were many suggestions from the opposition that the board be used to barter Canadian surplus goods for products available abroad. Mr. Howe said that was not the purpose of the Corporation. The Trade Department had representatives in most countries seeking markets for surplus Canadian goods.

Mr. Howe said it was necessary to extend the funds of the Corporation because an international situation might arise where it would be essential to increase Canadian stocks of essential materials.

He said that the threatened situation in Malaya, for instance, might cut off tin supplies to this country. The Corporation, faced with such situations, had to be in a position to stock-pile.

EVERYBODY'S NUTRITIONAL DEFICIENCIES

Depending on circumstances such as season, climate or knowledge of dynamic economy every one of us are more subject to nutritional deficiencies than others, but with few exceptions practically everybody, child, youth, adult or elderly, suffers more or less from nutritional deficiency, due to the modern custom of substituting mainly on refined carbohydrates — starch and sugar — which yields most of the calories in the everyday American diet.

Use a source of calories instead white flour and refined white sugar are cure-alls. They are plentiful everywhere, they keep well in storage, they may be carried or shipped at low cost, they are as easy to digest as any other foods of comparable caloric value and they are always the principal items in the everyday diet of rich or poor.

Yet refined white flour and refined white sugar are cure-all foods, by which I mean to imply that although they fill you up quickly enough and even give you a quick spurt of energy if you are weary or exhausted, they do not really satisfy hunger nor "stick to your ribs"—enable you to carry on with your work or play without becoming quickly tired out.

Hunger is a direct call of the body for the raw materials required for its processes or functions, and carbohydrates are only one of the materials. Others are proteins (lean meat, cheese or curd part of milk, white of egg, the gluten and gliadin and other proteins of wheat, rice, corn (ye, barley); animal and vegetable fat or oil; and minerals and vitamins.

From years of research; I have concluded for growing children, youths, adults and old folks alike, owe most of their functional and health deficiencies to their inadequate daily intake of three vitamins and three minerals, namely vitamine, riboflavin and vitamin D, calcium, phosphorus and iron.

I'm a poor hand at taking medicines, but I do recommend, occasionally like the mule under the veterinary's care, I have no fear of this. But I eat these three vitamins and three minerals as a supplement to my diet every day, because I believe they keep me in fine fettle. I recommend this daily supplementation of the diet for everybody, especially for growing children and elderly people. If you'd like further information about it send a stamped self addressed envelope and ask, in writing, please, for the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Varicose Vein and Varicose Ulcer

Question—I am a victim of phlebitis and has some varicose veins but praise be, no sign of ulcer so far. (E. B.)

Answer—Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcers.

Stars Fright

Husband likes to sing and has a good voice. Whenever he has to sing in public he gets so nervous that he stays at home. He is actually ill and his voice tightens up. (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer—Escape fright. He should begin ten days or two weeks beforehand taking one grain of quinine sulfate (in tablet, pill or capsule) three times a day after meals. Keep it up after performance. Be careful the drug is quinine sulfate and not dangerous nostrum that has the name quinine in it. Also but virtually none in the tablet.

Weak Foot or Strong Feet

A great deal of treatment by physicians and chiropodists gave me little relief. I invested in a carrier and a self addressed envelope to your booklet The Care of the Feet. The suggestions therein have brought me complete relief — at a small outlay — and about my strong feet—my feet seem to be received by angels in the heaven. But no more, thanks to your fine teachings. (F. T. S.)

Answer—The booklet Care of the Feet is available to anybody who sends me a self addressed stamped self addressed envelope and asks for it in writing. (Please do not use a clipping.)

WHAT'S THE HURRY

One trouble with us is that we hurry too much. Hurrying is good sometimes, when it is necessary, and when we know where we are going. But very often we are not just to "save time," and it is not easy to know what we "save" at that time after we have "saved" it. Even worse, we occasionally hurry so fast that we completely miss our original destination in our haste.

Of course, speed is often important and the doctor, the fire engine, the ambulance, and the telegram all enhance our security and convenience. But the awful toll left on our society by excessive speed is painfully visible. "Safety" campaigns are faithfully waged, but automobile accidents. Other thousands for whom the pace of life has become too much suffer mental hospitals.

These are the striking tragedies, most of us in more commonplace fashion, will die in bed, but whenever he has driven recklessly, or walk

British Film Likely to Win All Top Awards

Hollywood, March 24, (AP)— The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences hands out its 21st Oscars tonight, and it looks like Britain's show—at least.

If this be heresy in Hollywood, then Build my gallows high. Because I honestly think Sir Laurence Olivier and his majestic "Hamlet" should win the best actor and best film awards.

Jane Wyman should get the nod as best actress, in "Johnny Belinda".

Miss Wyman's only serious worry, I think, is Olivia DeHavilland's performance in "The Snake Pit". And Sir Laurence could be displaced as best actor by Lew Ayres, also in "Johnny Belinda".

A British picture has never won the top award. This year, for the first time, two British films, "Hamlet" and "The Red Shoes", were nominated. Other contenders are "Johnny Belinda", "The Snake Pit" and "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre".

By usual Hollywood standards, tonight's 21st annual awards will be a modest event, held for the first time in the academy's own 950-seat theatre. The program has been condensed (or "cut") to 90 minutes.

Clips from winning picture of the past, a feature of previous programs, have been eliminated. But three new Oscars will be among the 27 major awards: one for best foreign-language picture and two for best costume design (in black-and-white and color films).

Bleachers for 250 were erected today, outside the theatre. Six searchlights, against last years' 15 were grouped around the entrance. Cost of the affair is estimated at $40,000, a far cry from the original "plan of a $115,000 dinner party for 4,000 persons on a major studio sound stage.

Master of ceremonies will be Robert Montgomery. Last year's winners Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Edmund Gwenn and Celeste Holm will present the awards in best actor, actress, supporting actress and supporting actor categories, respectively. Other Oscars will be presented by Louis Jourdan, Jeanne Crain, Ethel Barrymore, Deborah Kerr, Ava Gardner, Arlene Dahl and Glenn Ford.

SHANNONVILLE

Shannonville — The regular monthly meeting of the Shannonville Home and School Association was held in the local school on Monday evening. The president, Mr. William Spencer, was in the chair.

Miss Fox's room won the prize for the most parents of pupils present at this meeting. The treasurer Mr. Walter Brant reported $154 on hand in the treasury. The membership convener, Mrs. Fred Louis, reported 71 members, two new members having joined the association since the last meeting.

Committee Appointed

The committee appointed to inquire as regards purchase of a new piano reported there was nothing satisfactory to report as yet. They were empowered to spend up to $150 if necessary.

Sewing Club Organized

Mrs. Fred Louis suggested that the women undertake the project of a sewing club. The finished articles to be sold to aid to the association funds. The organization to be put into effect next Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Louis.

A letter from the United Church Sunday School board of management was read, suggesting the need for a unified program in recreation for the boys and girls of the community. Mr. Crispe supported this motion, mentioning there was little to interest the boys and girls. Mr. Reynolds suggested a field day for the schools in this area. Several made contributions to this discussion and further details as to this suggestion will be given later. Mrs. James Vesterfelt spoke of the recreation clubs in England, and the same possibilities in Canada. Miss Verna Fox spoke of a visit to Toronto last year of school children where they visited many points of interest.

Program, Musical Numbers

Carl Fuller sang a pleasing solo with guitar accompaniment. Ernest Crispe and Carl Fuller played a duet on the mouth organ and guitar and Frank Phillips did a step dance. The closing musical number was a duet by Carl Fuller and Frank Phillips with Ernest Crispe playing a guitar accompaniment.

Training of Children

Rev. E. M. Caldwell gave an interesting address taking as his subject "Your Child and God".

He began his talk by quoting the complaint of a parent to a teacher that the latter was not training the child in the Christian truths. Parents make such a golden opportunity in teaching their children reverence for the good and reverence for God. Mr. Caldwell stated lessons for good citizenship should be taught at home. He spoke of the expression of wonder on the part of the child when God and many of the mysteries of life. One of the questions a child so often asks is "why did Jesus die on the Cross?" Mr. Caldwell asked if parents did not love the child who was mischievous. If these children are not loved they are often become criminals. "We supply their physical needs, so why should we not give God to them?" inquired Mr. Caldwell.

Effect of Good Pictures

Mr. Caldwell spoke of the great benefit of hanging good pictures in the home where the child would be influenced toward that which is Christian, and and quoted from personal experience.

The program convener, Mrs. Jerry Dafoe, thanked Mr. Caldwell for his fine address and also the boys who contributed to the musical portion of the program.

Mrs. James Vesterfelt assisted by her committee served refreshments. The next meeting to be held in April in the school.

MOIRA

Moira—The March meeting of the Victory Class, and Mission Band was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ketcheson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McIntyre visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. McTaggart, of Thomasburg

Mrs. A. Gobeen of Norwood, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Farrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson have moved back from Frankford to Moira and are occupying their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott were in Kingston on Monday.

Miss Shirley Hazzard has been spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, while recuperating from a badly burned hand.

Mrs. C. Townsend and Ralph are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Foster.

Mrs. Morrison of Belleville, and Mr. W. Emerson of Massassaga, spent the weekend with Mr. John Emerson.

Moira Y.P.U. Entertained

On Friday evening Moira Young People's Union entertained Rodin, Thomasburg, West Huntingdon and Eggleton Young People in Moira Church. Douglas Thompson presided.

The Thomasburg Union provided the worship service; scripture lesson was read by Marilyn Carleton and Guy Thompson, Ruby Bateman led in prayer.

Margaret Haggerty sang "Calvary Rugged" and "Did Your Mother Come from Ireland." Mary and Norma Bailes sang "The Old Rugged Cross." A sing song led by Mr. Burgess, was much appreciated.

Games and refreshments followed.

STATE MERGER

The merger of Kolhapur State into Bombay Province took effect recently. The state has an area of 3,200 square miles and a population more than 1,000,000.

Models of Show Entertained by The Auxiliary

The Hospital Auxiliary entertained at a charmingly arranged luncheon yesterday at Golden Acres, when the guests of honor included the models who took part in the Fashion Show held recently under the auspices of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Gilbert Scott presided and was assisted by Mrs. H. Wray, convener of the Fashion Show.

A vote of thanks to the models who included Mrs. W. Harden, Mrs. J. March, Mrs. F. M. Carscallen, Mrs. E. Buchanan, Mrs. J. Forrester, Mrs. G. V. Faulkner, Mrs. G. Currie and Miss Agnes Marie O'Connor, was responded to by Mrs. Forrester, who in turn thanked Mrs. George Slobin, commentator of the Fashion Review.

In thanking the models Mrs. Scott said it was also of great importance to remember all those who worked so hard back of the scenes to make the show a success and she thanked Mrs. E. Doolittle especially for her great assistance.

Associated with Mrs. Doolittle were Mrs. McGill, Mrs. Ashbury, Mrs. Thunder, Mrs. E. Shapiro, Mrs. Sadie Rose, Miss O'Sullivan and Miss Brooks.

Others included in the group behind scenes were Mr. Shapiro, Mr. Shulman, Mrs. and Mrs. Grant Ashley, Mr. Douglas Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. G. A. Morton, Miss Clarke, Miss Sipitalk, Miss Hayden, Miss Barrie, Miss Ferguson, Miss Doucet and Miss Hannah Harrison.

Mrs. S. Rose presented the models with a gift of lottery on behalf of the J. A. McNabb Company and thanked the models for their co-operation.

Votes of thanks were given to the pianist, Mrs. W. Wareham, the ticket committee, Mrs. A. H. Ketcheson, Mrs. P. Alford and Mrs. A. Lewis; to the stage committee, Mrs. R. H. Tanner, Mrs. R. E. Peterson and Mrs. Malcolm Robb to the Beauty Salons, the Vogue, Lorraines Hairdressing and the Greta Wray Salon, and to Barber and Sons, florists, and Tucker and Company, for the use of a piano.

Arrangements for the luncheon yesterday were in charge of Mrs. F. McGuire, and Miss Dickens.

Wives Supporting Pensioned Vets To be Assisted

Ottawa, March 24 (CP)—A change in income tax regulations—chiefly of interest to wives who support disabled and pensioned veterans—is contained in the budget, finance department officials said Wednesday.

The clause provides that "the exemption from income of an individual in respect to a spouse supported by him shall not be reduced because or the exempt income of the spouse."

This does not change in any way the provision of former years under which a person could claim full exemption for a spouse not making more than $250 a year.

Any amount of $250 earned by a wife, for instance, is still subtracted from the husband's exemption. Thus, if she earns $350 he can only claim $1,900 exemption for her.

Where the clause does apply is in a case where money received by the dependent is tax-exempt. The most frequent example is a husband on pension.

Under this provision it doesn't matter how big the pension may be, none of the amount need be subtracted from the exemption claimed by the wife who supports her husband.

Previous to the change, a veteran's pensio. was considered in the same class as earnings. If he received a pension of say, $600 a year, his wife's exemption would be reduced by $350—the difference between $250 and the pension.

The Finance Department brought out another point on income tax which hasn't been decided yet.

Last year a wife could earn up to $750 without her husband losing his married status as an income taxpayer.

A department official said it is possible the figure may be raised to $1,000 this year.

Democracies Want Peace But 'Not At Any Price'

—Alexander

Berkeley, Calif., March 24 (CP) Viscount Alexander Wednesday told the student body of the University of California democracies want peace but not "peace at any price."

The Canadian Governor-General said certain "extremely evil and dangerous" world forces have to be resisted if the heritage of democracy is not to be lost.

Viscount Alexander, who had American troops under his command in the Second World War, said in an address prepared for delivery that his welcomes plans for mutual aid throughout the western world—an indirect reference to the Atlantic treaty.

"I believe this is the best way of ensuring against a third World War," he declared.

"Peace we pray for, but not peace at any price," he said.

"We shall not be worthy of the heritage handed down to us by our forbears," he added, "unless we are prepared to stand up for our ideals and, if need be, fight for them."

In these shifting times of trouble and uncertainty," Lord Alexander said, "it is some comfort to know that the western nations are aware of the dangers which threaten, and it is heartening that at last they are moving towards a policy of mutual defence.

Time Element Factor

"In this move towards security and the defence we all value, we may well inquire whether time is on our side.

"The time factor plays a very important part in peace as it does in war, and here the democracies, as opposed to the totalitarians, are at a certain disadvantage because decisions on big issues of policy must have popular support.

"But once that support is forthcoming, the strength and purpose behind the action to be taken is a power and force which no poential enemy dare ignore, or if he does, he will do so at his peril."

Safety Education Prime Function For Good Work

The Central Ontario Division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association held their meeting last night at the Hotel Quinte. It was attended by a large number of representatives of firms in Belleville and district.

Mr. Ian McKay, works manager for the Canadian General Electric plant in Peterborough, was the guest speaker. He gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Our responsibility in the education of accident prevention."

Mr. McKay said, "Our responsibility in the education of safety is that of educating those who work for us and those who work with us. Safety education is one of the prime functions necessary for having a good business. This education is our responsibility, challenge and opportunity. Accidents can be reduced if an effective program is made in the business.

He stated that "In 1948 there were 179,211 accidents reported to the Workman's Compensation Board and there were 357 killed; in 1947 there were 369 killed in Ontario. These following suggestions may help to lead to an effective program in accident prevention. Educate yourself in accident prevention, educate your supervisors and educate your operators. The special responsibility is to the top man.

Leadership is one of the most important factors in the management of business. The qualities of such leadership are a combination of good businessmen and a good business, contagious enthusiasm, square dealing and a genuine warmth that will make the employees want to do what is asked of them in safety.

In conclusion Mr. McKay said, "We must educate everyone for safety education if we are to prove that we are our brothers keeper."

$600,000 Blaze Razes Furniture Factory, Yard

Quebec, March 25 — (CP) — Fire crews today were still pouring water over the smouldering ruins of a $500,000 blaze which Wednesday night razed a furniture factory, saw mill, lumber yard and one large house, in suburban Beauport, in Quebec's east district.

Voluntary crews and snow blowers joined in with the fire fighters from Giffard, Courcelle and Quebec to halt the spreading flames.

No one was seriously injured. The fire broke out about 7 p.m. and blazed away for five hours.

Joseph Grenier, elderly president of Joseph Grenier Ltd., was taken to hospital after suffering a stroke on learning news of the fire.

Three voluntary firemen suffered minor burns and were treated on the spot.

A watchman, Sylvio Parent, was taken home in a state of collapse after he suffered nervous shock, acute indigestion and partial asphyxiation. Parent was in one of the buildings of the factory rubble in a $1,000,000 blaze.

U.S. Immigration Answers Davis

Toronto, March 24 (CP)—Harry Davis, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), said Wednesday night that Canadian steamship companies with ships calling at United States ports have been notified that they will be required to place crew lists with the U.S. immigration department every two weeks.

Davis, in a statement, said "restrictions" were being placed on Canadians sailing Canadian ships to U.S. ports.

At Buffalo, Arthur J. Karnuth, U.S. immigration director, denied that restrictions have been placed on Canadian seamen.

Karnuth said that for years there have been reciprocal arrangements between Canada and the United States to provide for the examination of seamen of the two countries to determine their eligibility to enter either country. Identity cards are issued to seamen after they are passed, he said.

Churchill Finds West Goes Beyond His Fulton Speech

New York, March 24 — ((CP)) —Winston Churchill said on Wednesday that he thinks the Western World now has gone even beyond the ideas he expressed in his sensational speech at Fulton, Mo., in 1946.

The wartime British prime minister told newspaper men who met him on the Queen Elizabeth that he read only recently the Fulton speech in which he advocated a strong western bloc opposed to Russia.

"I didn't feel inclined to go back on any of it," Churchill said, grinning in obvious recollection of the furore the speech caused when it was delivered.

"As a matter of fact, if it were delivered today it would be behind the event, rather than in front."

Frost Critical Of New Budget

Toronto, March 24 (CP)—Provincial treasurer Frost said Wednesday in the Ontario Legislature the Federal Government's action in increasing corporation taxes was a "direct violation" of the spirit of the Dominion-Provincial tax agreement.

The agreement provided that the Dominion undertook to reduce its rate of tax on corporation incomes by "at least 10 per cent.'

In his budget address Tuesday night Finance Minister Abbott proposed to tax corporations 51 per cent on profits over $10,000. Previously the Federal Government levied a flat 30-per-cent tax on all incomes.

"In the result, the gain to the Dominion of Canada in revenue from corporations in the amount of $6,500,000 will come mostly frm Ontario," Mr. Frost said.

The minister's proposal would "trespass on the minimum corporation tax reduction to which the Dominion government agreed in the 1942 tax suspension act.

'Ominous Shadow' On U.K. Purchases In Canada Seen

Vancouver, March 23 (CP)— The contention Canada sooner or later may have to choose between continued control and free exchange of goods was made Wednesday by Henry Birks of Montreal, President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In an address to the Board of Trade, Mr. Birks said there is "an ominous and prophetic shadow" of further sharp restrictions in British purchasing from Canada.

Recently recurred from Britain, he said the United Kingdom is throwing up a "picket fence" or protective controls and regulations which threatens Canadian trade.

He said last year loans from Canada and Marshall-plan dollars filled the $400,000,000 gap between purchases from and payments to Canada.

"We all know these dollars are not going to last forever," he said. "We know also that Britain has no intention of going into debt if she can settle her trade balances in other ways.

"Already the ominous threat is casting its shadow over the Dominion."

Mr. Birks saw more hope in the recent creation of a Canada-United Kingdom committee of businessmen, but feared that British policies are leading away from multilateral trade.

Trackless Area Shrouds Lost Missionary Priest

Churchill, Man., March 24 — (CP)— A trackless area of the far north today shrouded the whereabouts of 35-year-old Rev. Joseph Bullard, missionary priest unreported since last September.

The crew of a civilian aircraft is searching for Father Bullard. The search area northwest of Hudson Bay was placed under federal health department quarantine earlier this month to prevent the spread of a poliomelitis epidemic which broke out at Chesterfield inlet, 250 miles north of here. Thirteen Eskimos died during the epidemic.

Father Bullard, a member of the Oblate Order, has worked among the Eskimos north of this Hudson Bay port for most of the eight years he has spent in Canada. Members of the Roman Catholic Church hoped he would be found safely in some isolated settlement.

Cpl. Stanley Palmateer of the Ontario Provincial Police, who went with Children's Aid Superintendent William Lockyer to investigate and care for the children.

Communism in Canadian Unions Due For Blast

Ottawa, March 24 — (CP) — Communism in Canadian unions is due to touch off a double-barrelled explosion here this week.

The issue involves internal eruptions in both of Canada's major labor bodies — the 400,000-man Trades and Labor Congress and the 350,000-man Canadian Congress of Labor — over Reds in unions.

First development probably will come this afternoon with the eviction of the Red-tinged International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers from the C.C.L. unless it backs down from its defiance of a Congress order.

And on Friday the intra-union battle over Communism in the other Congress is scheduled to break out again with a meeting between the T.L.C. executive and the Congress segment that has been pressing its leadership to kick Communists out of the Congress.

On the Canadian Congress of Labor row, C.C.L. informants said its leadership would recommend to the executive council, meeting here today, that the smelters union would be expelled for its refusal to back out of the Timmins and Port Colborne organizational fields on instructions from the C.C.L.

The latest blowup comes from refusal of the union to back out of the Northern Ontario and Port Colborne fields after the C.C.L. decided organization work was going poorly there and it would take over the job in those areas to turn over the accumulated membership to some C.C.L. union.

Leaders to Clash

In the Trades and Labor Congress, the Friday meeting will bring together President Percy Bengough and Frank Hall, the anti-red rail union leader whose rebellion against T.L.C. handling of Communists in its ranks has caused a major upheaval in the Congress.

Called by the T.L.C. executive itself, the meeting is the showdown Congress officers and the top Canadian head of one of these — the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

In his battle to have Reds thrown out of the T.L.C., Hall is generally supposed to be backed by the A.F.L., whose executive in February rebuked the Congress for not taking a more vigorous policy against Reds in its ranks.

In reply to that blast from a February meeting in Miami, Fla., President Bengough last month told the A.F.L. to keep its hands off the internal affairs of the T.L.C., a close ally but an autonomous one.

It was after this fiery denunciation of A.F.L. attempts to "dominate" the Canadian Congress that the T.L.C. executive called the meeting of Canadian chiefs of the international unions, who make up about 75 per cent of the T.L.C.'s membership.

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) — David White, 27, of Toronto, today was charged with theft of $1,800 in 50-cent pieces from the east-central district home of Jack Tolchard. Police said they had recovered $285 of the stolen money, taken from empty anti-freeze tins last Sunday.

SAYS FORMER GESTAPO MAN RELEASED BY SOVIET

Vienna, March 24 (AP) — The Socialist party newspaper Arbeiter-Zeitung, says a former high official of the Nazi Gestapo has been released from prison on orders of Soviet occupation authorities. The paper says Johann Sanitzer, wartime Gestapo chief in Vienna, has been taken out of an Austrian jail where he was serving a life sentence.

Ridley College Builds Memorial Hall, Hospital

St. Catharines, March 24 (CP)—To commemorate the sacrifice of 81 Ridley College old boys who fought and died in the Second World War, a $250,000 hall and a $100,000 hospital are to be built on the college grounds. It is expected that they will be ready for use by the autumn term of 1950.

The hospital will be known as the Richard Reynolds Schmon Memorial Hospital, named for a graduate killed in action while fighting in the United States Third Army under Gen. George Pattoi in France Nov. 5, 1944. Funds for the hospital were donated in part by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Schmon.

The Old Boys' Association, parents of students and friends of the school provided the rest of the funds for the erection of the memorial buildings, just as they made possible the construction of a chapel in memory of the 81 Ridley old boys killed in the First World War.

Work on the buildings is to be started immediately, H. H. Griffith, Ridley College headmaster, announced today on behalf of the Board of Governors.

The memorial hall to stand between the present school house and Gooderham House, will seat approximately 300 students. Complete with kitchens and pantries, it will contain a war science department with laboratories for chemistry, physics and biology, as well as a musical training room. On its facade there will be a tower in which it is hoped some day to instal a carillon.

20-Bed Hospital

The 20-bed hospital, with a solarium for convalescent patients, will have quarters for its nursing staff and doctors. It will be built just north of the Memorial Hall, with the approach to it through the archway of Gooderham House. A covered passage will connect the hospital with the new kitchens in the Memorial Hall.

Richard Schmon, whose name the hospital will bear, was born Aug. 1, 1921, and attended Ridley 1930-38. Son of an executive of the Ontario Paper Company, he played outside wing on the senior rugby team 1937-38, defence on the senior hockey team, was boxing champion in his class several years, won both intermediate and senior track and field championships and earned first colors on the gym team. He was an officer in the cadet corps for years and second-in-command in his last year.

He attended Princeton University 1939-40 and was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in English in January, 1943, at a special wartime commencement. Continuing his interest in athletics when he went to Princeton, he played hockey, was left end on the senior rugby team and served as captain of the rugby team in the 1942 season. He was chosen leader of the 1943 class day exercises.

He enlisted in the United States Army, went overseas in the spring of 1944 and was attached to the 313th Field Artillery Battalion in the 80th Division, part of Gen. Patton's Third Army.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Schmon, and a brother, Robert, a student at Ridley.

Mackenzie's Column: Poles Give Social Brush-off to Yanks, Britons

By LARRY ALLEN
(For DeWITT MACKENZIE)
(Associated Press News Analyst)

The social "freeze" is on in Poland. Both Americans and Britons are getting the brush-off from the Poles.

Poles not only are not coming to social events organized by members of the American and British colonies. Many times they don't even trouble to answer invitations.

Those of the American Embassy who like to entertain complain that it is not a question of setting a date and inviting Polish friends. If the American host hopes to attract a Polish guest the procedure is to telephone the Pole and ask him to set the date.

The government's official spokesman says, however, that no Pole is required to get official clearance to attend any Anglo-American affair.

Nevertheless, the brush - off goes on.

Ivory-Hued Oleo In Prospect For Ontario and B.C.

By The Canadian Press

Ivory-hued margarine is in prospect for Ontario and British Columbia, the only provinces preparing to regulate the coloring of the butter substitute, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Both Ontario and Alberta intend to restrict the amount of moisture in margarine, with Alberta insisting on a distinctive wrapping.

Saskatchewan wants the federal government to call dairymen and provincial representatives into conference to set standards Failing that—and if its provincial government has the power — Saskatchewan will fix standards itself for the making of margarine.

Quebec has banned manufacture and sale—but not possession—of butter substitutes. Prince Edward Island is continuing its ban pending an appeal by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture against the recent removal of the federal prohibition making and selling margarine in Canada.

Manitoba discussed margarine legislation but shelved it. The provincial governments of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are still watching the situation.

Newfoundland, which becomes Canada's 10th province March 31, has made and sold margarine within its own borders for years. A condition of confederation provided that Newfoundland could go on using margarine, regardless of the fate of butter substitutes on the mainland.

Coloring Limited

Legislation providing for ivory-colored margarine was introduced Wednesday in the provincial parliaments of British Columbia and Ontario. In each case, it proposed that the amount of yellow or yellow-and-red coloring be limited to 1 6-10 per cent.

The Ontario government measure meets in part a request from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, which asked in a recent brief that the coloring of margarine be made distinctly different from that of butter, preferably some other hue than dandelion-yellow.

It is proposed to issue licences to Ontario margarine manufacturers and to set standards for quality of the butter substitutes and the amount of moisture they contain.

Alberta legislation, also given first reading, proposes to prohibit importation, manufacture, handling or sale of margarine unless it is wrapped or packaged to show clearly that it is not butter. The bill also provides that margarine must contain no more than 16 per cent moisture or less than 80 per cent fat.

Margarine is on sale in all provinces except Quebec, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia.

$150,000 LOSS IN HARDWARE FIRE

East Anus, Que., March 24 — (CP)—Loss was estimated at $150,000 in a fire which destroyed the St. Cyr Co. Ltd. hardware store in this eastern townships town, 12 miles from Sherbrooke.

Occupants of an apartment above the store were driven out by the fire but no one was injured.

Three hours after the fire started, an explosion, believed due to small-arms ammunition, was heard.

Rundown Man Surprised With Syntona Results

Got Bad Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Unable to Sleep Well, Rheumatic Pain Set in Back, Limbs and Muscles, Stomach Out of Order. Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

MR. R. C. POWNALL

"Because of the grand results I got by taking Syntona I am glad to recommend this medicine to other sufferers," said Mr. Robert C. Pownall, 580 Colborne Street, London, Ontario, in a recent report.

"For a number of years I was troubled with gas, indigestion and heartburn very bad after my meals. My entire system became rundown. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. Sore recently rheumatic pains set in my back, limbs and muscles. I got so I could not sleep well at night, became nervous, couldn't sleep well at night and felt completely fatigued and worn-out in the mornings.

"After trying everything I knew of I went to the drug store and there they recommended that I try Syntona. I must admit I wasn't very hopeful, but soon after I began taking it I noticed a change. I began digesting better. As I continued the dizzy spells, indigestion and heartburn cleared up and I could enjoy all my meals.

"Although that is only a few weeks ago, I have since then improved so much that the aches and pains are gone away, I am free of headaches and I certainly feel fine."

Why not let this pure herbal medicine help you, too? It is inexpensive, easy to use, and contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.
